Monster Book 7

-As of now:

- 2444 species and Ryugen finished his last mission
- Redison PRIME and other Redisons united the timeline into the Grand Timeline
- It's only been about 6 months since the last book creation
- COVID-19 is dying down, most people have the vaccine (in the United States) and my senior year is starting soon…

The Heroes/Warriors

1. Solar: Takes care of the baby Korean Color puffle monsters that are also elementals and have their own unique fighting styles (Taekwondo) when Shobe was in it. Also adoptive father of Redison
2. Redison, Fury (my bakugan like partner, basically Drago), Sabone, Phoenix (Daredevil, a once evil puffle that caused trouble and we created the Jail dimension where all villains reside now, and Daredevil broke out to which Redison and the other Philippine puffle monsters fought him, but he became Phoenix after purification technique was invented)
    a. Redison Personality: A natural born leader. Fiery in personality, serious and soul-blazing when in battle, focused when in battle, more strategic but also tends to be impulsive and acts on his heart. Brave and heroic and the leader all look up to (the ideal me). Weakness, he succumbs to the darkness within him (Dreadison) and tends to get depressed and loses hope sometimes, gets overwhelmed easily as well
    b. Color Scheme: Red, Gold, White, Black, Silver, Rainbow/Crystal
    c. Shin Redison Xenith (Redison) (Elder Redison now, or the original puffle plush Redison) is now Celestial Sword Sage, Shin Redison ArchXenith (wields a powerful staff and can summon any sword and weapon)
        i. Average height, Fiery personality, Flaming red hair, bright orange eyes, Crimson Trench Coat with gold and white flame designs on it and his symbol at the heart of the coat. Inner shirt is a bright red shirt with a phoenix symbol on it, wears navy blue jeans, gold and white sneakers, and has the brightest smile on his face
        ii. In Archxenith form, still wields staff but now dons a shining white monk robe with rainbow flames and gold phoenix designs on it with his symbol on the hood, the back, and the front
        iii. To avoid confusion of the many Redisons in existence
            1. Shin Redison ArchXenith (plush Redison) will be called Redison by my family, Alison, and my friends maybe... but public name will be Xaesar Regis Xenith (By University time, Redison will absorb all past avatars and take the name as Xaesar)

2. Redson will be known as Ren
3. Redison Kaixenith is known as Kai

d. Sabone Valkyrie (my sword from Spain Valkyrie and Sabone, my first puffle on Club Penguin website) fused with the powers of the Blue dragon, transcending into Ultimate Starfire Dragon Rider, Sabone Valkyrie Nova (Based on Motor Nuclear mn-q03)
   i. Slightly shorter than Redison but taller than Redson, he has dark blue unkempt hair and sky blue eyes, wears a navy blue jacket with a sky blue and gold dragon on the back and jeans, a red shirt with a gold V on it, and red and blue sneakers. A lot more energetic than Redison
   ii. Loyal, brave, heroic, impulsive, doesnt think, just acts on his heart. Pure of heart and always upbeat and positive. Enjoys swordfighting and in battle keeps his happy upbeat personality which boosts his fighting style. Weakness, gets bored easily, distracted most of the time, and impulsive actions tend to get him into trouble during battle (The actual me)

3. Redson, Magmagrabber (Marcus)(based on Main character of Wonderful 101), Hune (Menehune Fire puffle monster from Hawaii 2015)
   a. With the ultimate power of the Golden Dragon, Redson evolved into Ultimate Dragonic Saber, Golden Flare Redson (Based on Motor Nuclear mn-q01 (Yellow dragon)
   b. He inherited his fiery personality and burning curiosity from his father, as well as his fiery red hair and orange eyes. Not as formal as his father, he wears a red hoodie with a golden dragon design on the back and his symbol on the front, jeans, an orange shirt with a sun on it, black and red sneakers, and crimson glasses.
4. Raidos (Basis time)
5. Raijin (Basis)
6. Rizor
7. Raiz
8. Kronos, Blade, Ragnus, Surge (Explorer, 7th grade)
9. Rizing and Dusky (Braces)
10. Rez
11. Rey (Son of Redison and Rosie)
12. Ryan
13. Lumino, Arak, Reggie
14. Sigmus / Magmus / Furno / Sam / Gary / Garett (All same, dimensional counterparts)
15. Brisingr (Torch) / Crimson
16. Sieg
17. Sieger, Tyler Siege

18. Singe, Drayden
19. Blaize
20. Kaizer
21. Pyro
22. Sear
23. Saar, Valkyr (Spain Tour with PBC Summer 2018)
24. Vulcan
25. Blitz
26. Fenix
27. Ignys/Bernie
28. Asheere/Flair/Flarion
29. Sabre
30. Redison (30th hero)
31. Redson (31st)
32. Leonidas/Leon/Leo (Cancun 2019)
33. Roy
34. Xander
35. Xavier
36. Xozyn
37. Xanthus
38. Xenith
39. Phenexenith
40. Xandar King
41. Ryouzyn/Ryuzu
42. Ryder
43. Raizen
44. Kaizune
45. Redison II (Successor the Red star and the Grand Hero Eve Core), Scar
    a. Scar: Evolves to be Scar Z, Scarlord, Scarlord Oblivion, and a new form later on… the partner of Derek (Dark Will of the Alterverse and Valhellaverse). Redison with a darker hue of red (crimson ish) and a large scar over his right eye that glows when magic is used.
46. Xaesar (Xenon), Redison The Absolute King, Redison of the Zeroth Future, Redison D (Red D)
    a. Redison the Absolute King is from the War of the Absolute Story Arc. Rules all magic in the future as the final Redison and ultimate hero
    b. Redison of the Zeroth future is Redison of the future where I die early before becoming an adult (zero future or zeroth future). Purified to become ruler of Origorem while dark and evil spirit of him is absorbed by Dreadison (Partner of Dark Will)
    c. Redison D: Redison Doppelganger, and partner of Will D (doppelganger), uses powers of the Gemclone. From the Diamantium arc

47. Regis or Reggie (as shobe calls him)(Radon)
48. Kaizenith (Redison's new reincarnation), Ryugen (Argon, and the 3rd noble brother like Xaesar and Regis), Aragon (Ryugen's new ally and Argon new incarnation. The wild primitive outlaw puffle monster from Alison's universe that travels with Ryugen)
    a. Kaizenith transcended to his ultimate hero form as he combined with the Black Dragon of Universes, evolving him into Infinite Sword God, Kaizenith THE LORD OF SABERS (based on Motor Nuclear mn-q04 black dragon)
    b. Ryugen evolved from his Supreme Dragonic Emperor form and fused with the dual crimson dragons, evolving him into Supreme Dragonic Kaizer, Ryugen The Emperor (Based on Motor Nuclear mn-q03 blue dragon, except red and there are 2 dragons instead of just one)
    c. After fusing with the powers of myths of the worlds of Alison's universe (Outlaw-verse), Aragon met the Primitive Dragon of judgement and fused to become Primitive Dragonic Kaizer, Aragon The Judge (Based on Motor Nuclear mn-q02 white dragon)
49. Ryugen, the brother of Regis and Xaesar. Wields Ryugen Buster Hero Saber, a powerful sword similar in design to the Ryutsueder from Kyuranger, a sword that is more of a cane that can transform into a rifle. Also wields new Twin Star Busters which can transform into twin blasters and combine to make a mighty sword.
50. Redison Omnis (OG redison)/Redison K0982
    a. Redison PRIME: The original hero and the original Redison that was known as a regressor. Design is very similar to Redison's design except his trench coat is black and hair is crimson. Piercing eyes
    b. Redison Daiki (Redison D6084): Redison the Phantom Thief who wields the powers of dimensional cards and Phantom Redisons as Kaito X Rogue. Similar to Redison PRIME in design except he wears a top hat, bow tie, and dress shoes, and wields the PhantomRide Gun instead of a sword. In "The End of Times" arc, Dyson R6042 took over Redison Daiki's body and Redison Daiki himself was put into Dyson R6042's body. Redison Daiki's thief nature to create phantom Redisons was because of the feeling of Redison PRIME when he kept reviving as he felt lonely since he made friends, then left them, over and over again. With the glitch, one Redison (that became the variant as Daiki) took small trinkets and objects of magic to become his friends, but with Dyson Rogue's mind in his body, that desire was maxed out, hence the timeline collapse and disaster. When in body of Dyson Rogue in his old timeline, he gains the memories of Dyson R6042 and determined to make changes while in this timeline and meeting his supposed brother Lance (who gets memories of the old lance of this timeline), both form alliance and make friends. When the war is over, back in his old body and with his memories and new powers, he explores the universe of magic, more as a mercenary and traveller as he works for Redison PRIME and Redison Omnis, collecting more friends and changing timelines when ordered to (and safely, now with new magic abilities)

c. Dyson PRIME: The son of Redison Omnis and Lyra (Alison's main character). In his universe, Lyra died of a disease when he was really young, and his father was not around,. Met Redison PRIME who offered him a chance to go back to his mother and leave his home to create a new life, along with brother Lance. Went back and became second in command general of Lyra, but during teleportation, Lance let go (due to the turbulence) and got blasted to Dyson R6042's time. Eventually returns to his old timeline and gaining the memories of Redison Daiki (who was in body of Dyson Rogue during the time), he makes his changes to this timeline, bringing back his mother, Lyra, to life, while also making amends to his brother Lance and now assuming the role of Ace Time Police officer as the universe Dyson PRIME is from and the universe Dyson Rogue is from, fuses together
d. Dyson R6042 or Dyson Rogue: Son of Redison Omnis and Lyra of another timeline. He became a psychopath and killed his parents and brother. He wants power and nothing but destruction. Found a way to travel dimensions, bumped into Redison Daiki, switched their consciousness and sent Redison Daiki (in the body of Dyson R6042) back to the home timeline..

51. Main heroes are:
    a. Sabone
        i. The wonder hero who got ultimate power as the next hero and first blue hero of the Xenithverse
        ii. Valkyr evolved and separated into Apex Sword of the Heavens, Valkyrion (Based on Apex Ruler, Bastion)
        iii. Valkyrion gives Sabone a clone of himself he creates to unite with Sabone granting him his Dragonic awakening as Long Zun Dragonic Emperor, Sabone V2 (similar form to Garga (buddyfight ace) but also Long zun Liu Bei Gundam from SD Gundam World Heroes) granting him the powers to unleash different dragonic forms (Meteo L Drago, Lightning L drago, all forms of Longinus (from Beyblade), Blue Valkyrion Dragon (his own dragon), Jaou dragon (Kamen rider saber), etc)
        iv. When Redison unleashed the powers of Arkaijin and the Imaginary Gift, he gains his own ultimate form in the heavens as the Ultimate Transcendant sword, while Sabone was granted the power of all magic of the mortal universe (as the new hero) and the ultimate Dragonic force, symbols of the ancient dragons and puffle monster symbols of magic empower Sabone's swords with magic light (similar to the Four Yin Demon Decapitator with the symbols, except with blue fire of Sabone).
    b. NEMESIS

        i. A side hero and hero of the underworld plane.
        ii. Characteristics: my dark and more aggressive side. Silent, angry all the time, short tempered, depressed at times, self-deprecating, a loner, and aggressive in nature
    c. Haon
        i. A balanced warrior that is said to be the embodiment of the strange environment that is the universe of my mind and imagination. Changes constantly, unpredictable, a mix of all 3 other heroes. In constant thought, anxious at times, overthinking

Other characters (of friends and family)

- Trojan characters (my friends from PVHS)
    - Emiya's spirit warrior (Stringfellow): a violet warrior that excels in hand to hand and magic
    - Alison's characters:
        - Lyra (Argo form (gold)) (based on Alison's love of the stars, this is her original character in her own stories she writes, and the argo form is based on her Swedish background). Uses her magic staff to summon astral magic
        - Lume (Enlightened (silver)): a character I made for her as her spirit warrior (until I learned of Lyra). Wields a spear that can allow her to use light magic and transform into a greyhawk
    - Suhani's spirit warrior: the rose quartz colored Patellia, a dagger wielding princess that can launch petal shaped blades infused with magic. A true beauty that accels in speed and intelligence
    - Chloe Rozalsky's spirit warrior: magenta warrior known as Roze, a masquerade type that wields masks (based on Chloe's acting background), and wields a magic sword of the sky
    - Saathvika Vegasina's spirit warrior: Emeraldine, an ancient priestess that wields a powerful magic staff, that uses jeweled magic
    - Saniya Bhatnagar's spirit character: Sapphire Crested princess, wields two crescent moon blades and wields Sapph-fire magic (she likes her Croissants)
    - Natasha Beloshapka's spirit warrior: the red and orange blazing Lioness Aldra, a fiery humanoid beast deity that wields power flames of the stars (based on her fiery and beast like personality of a lioness)
        - Aldra evolved from her Lioness form into Tarot Mystic, Aldra, a mage of great power wielding specialized tarot cards made of a mysterious magic material
    - Chloe Connor's spirit warrior: The sea blue siren Cyropa, a powerful siren sorceress that wields the power of the oceans (has a beautiful singing voice and is a beauty herself)

- Taylor fisher's spirit warrior: The Winged Huntress of the Woods, Arda wielding the magic of nature, she is a master of the bow and arrows, and wields animal instincts (a boy scout (she is a girl), likes to hike, part of environmental club)
- Felix Shen's spirit warrior: the Flutist of Dusk, a shadow musician that controls a strange form of spirit magic (a great flutist who is in the phoenix youth symphony)
- Oceana Covington's spirit warrior: Selenar, an enchantress of the moon, fate, the stars, and the seas (based on her knowledge of computer science and her athletic ability as a swimmer and hiker)
- Ayush's spirit warrior: Jay, based on the blue jay puffle I gave him (imaginary) when we were in 5th grade, evolved into the blue winged knight that is strong in analytic ability (based on his comp sci skills), and fast and a great soccer player.
- Megan's spirit warrior: Meg, a master programmer, cybersecurity mage, and inventor and CEO of Howelling Industries, who created the boost and trial specs (tamed versions of the Overclock ability that Redison made) for the PRIDE Strike Morpher (what the trojans use to armor up into their customized battle armor)
    - Arsenal: PRIDE Strike blaster
        - Boost Lens (increase all stats overall), Trial Lens (increase magic flow but for only 60 seconds, tamed Overclock mode)
        - Howelling Predator Visor (Visors based on Powered Custom from Go-busters): Increased senses of instinct and general attack power (speed and attack), increased risk of losing rationality. Summon pack of wolves (energy)
- James (Jimmy) Gaudet, was my best friend in Elementary School along side Victor, but he was my first best friend. Using the "now obsolete" puffle maker, he made his partner Rex, a green puffle (his favorite color) and leaf abilities and I gave it a sword as its special attack (Rex Sword!). Named after Captain Rex in Star Wars The Clone Wars. Rex eventually also had associates, Pyrex (a fire rex) and Goldrex (Not to be confused with Golderex). I also had a puffle in CP called Skyrex
    - Jimmy went to BASIS for a bit and then went to Whispering Winds and from there, I havent seen him since, besides one time on a drive by when getting my driving permit. Now at Horizon, and I havent been in contact with him unfortunately…
    - All of his monsters evolved and after years of thought, I decided to take them back since he probably doesnt remember puffles at all.

The Main Puffles Reimagined (renamed) and other characters related

1. Xaesar Regis Xenith (Xaesar Regixenith): Redison reimagined under the new form of the Regixenith group and ArchXenith
2. Family of Xaesar/Redison from the Aezoreverse (not actual puffle plushies)
    a. Ryan and Martha: The father and mother of Redison from the Aezoreverse. Redison is the second child. Died when Emma was very young, leaving Regulus to raise his brothers and sisters
    b. Regulus, the eldest of the siblings, is a master of the great sword where he infuses his magic fire abilities into the sword for stronger attacks. Although he has the nickname Reggie, he is the Big Boss! The older brother everyone wants: Responsible, calm, but calculating when need be.
    c. Carina: Wife of Regulus. A bold mother. Kind and always smiling but can show a very fierce side when with the kids, keeping them in line. Can cook a great meal!
        i. Ryan: First child of Regulus and Carina. Enjoys chess and plays online games a lot. Likes to read books and learn spells
        ii. Ryo: Younger brother of Ryan. Very energetic and likes to create. He enjoys coming up with ideas and stories and worlds. He also came up with some special attacks and abilities that he wields alone. Not much of a thinker though like his brother and more of the attack first before thinking
    d. Ren, the third child of Martha and Ryan, is proficient at the Twin swords (similar to Ren from Kamen Rider Saber) allowing for fast attacks. very energetic and competitive. Always wants to dual his brothers or sisters. However, he is a klutz so when living with Carina, Ryo, and Ryan, he tends to cause lots of messes. He is definitely the fun uncle though that Ryan and Ryo love! Carina on the other hand...well, not a fan of him
    e. Lina: The eldest of the girls and the fourth child. She is like Carina, a fierce but kind mother. She is more of a mother bear and is very defensive of her two kids, since she is a single mother (the husband left when Lee and Vega were very young)
        i. Lee: Son of Lina. Likes his fist to fist combat so he trains with Uncle Ren most of the time but he looks up to Shun since he is the cool uncle. Studies lots of martial arts and love his action movies
        ii. Vega: Daughter of Lina and older sister of Lee. :ikes to bake and listen to music but is not really a fan of fighting. Enjoys playing with spells and fusing runes though. Also more into her fashion, making special clothes that can actually enhance abilities.
    f. Shun, the fourth child and youngest son of Martha and Ryan. Wields a katana but is also known to be an expert in spirit magic summoning magic spirits to infuse his sword for powerful attacks. Known as the cool uncle among the kids. Strong but silent type. Responsible though like Regulus, and is very dependable (so Carina actually likes him a lot more and trusts him with most tasks)

g. Emma, the youngest of the Red siblings: A great Aunt but fierce like her sister. When Lina is busy, Emma tends to take Vega and Lee out for food. Emma loves her food though and is considered the foodie of the family
    i. Lina and Emma both wield spears. Infusing their magic, dance, and gymnastic skills, they have mastered different techniques with their weapons and magic

3. Roy RegiXenith: Redson/Baby Redison (Keychain Red puffle) reimagined. More into his technology to build and test.
4. Artie: Artison reimagined. The logistics of the team and younger brother of Xaesar (Xaesar is eldest and leader, followed by Artie (logistics)). Plans out the missions and can draw out infinite possibilities of strategies. Prefers to paint, draw, and play chess
5. Aaron: Younger brother of Artie (Thunder (Yellow puffle with fluffy hair unlike Artison) Reimagined). On the wilder side. A tad bit reckless but very energetic
6. Gregory/Greg: Greeneson Reimagined. Twin brother of Hans and younger brother of Artie and Redison and older brother to Dana and Aaron. More of the stunts artist and the go-to guy for missions such as rescue or stealth missions. Likes to compete with Hans though and gets in trouble because of it. Very hyped up, agile, and competitive
7. Hans: Hon Reimagined. Twin brother of Greg and younger brother to Redison and Artie. Older brother of Dana and Aaron. More cool headed and regal in his manner, he wields a trident (similar to the Jikokuken Kaiji). Has a stubborn streak and competitive
8. Dana: Dancer Reimagined. The youngest of the core 5 (but older than Aaron). Known to be the moral compass of the group, compassionate, kind, and talented in dance and singing. Loves to listen to music
9. Krystal: Crystal Reimagined. Best friend of Dana and shares love of music, compassion, empathy, but also loves to dive and swim
10. Joe: Flame/Joe reimagined. Loves to skateboard on his free time and especially shadow skate (use shadows to create places to ride such as bars to shred on)
11. Cedric: Snowy reimagined. Expert mage, focused in the magic arts, hard worker and very focused on his magic work such as rune making, etc.
12. Caleb: Cookie/Boxy reimagined. Loves cookies!! 2nd in command to Xaesar and best friend. When Xaesar is out on missions, Caleb takes charge at mission control
13. Brandon: Brownie/United/Chocolate reimagined. The genius scientist and inventor. Works with Roy to make new weapons
14. Japhar: Pharaoh (Blue puffle with Pharaoh hat) reimagined. Best friends with Damian, loves to prank, uses ancient egyptian magic
15. Victor: Viking (Yellow puffle with Viking hat) reimagined. Loves his viking helmet, very brave and stubborn but loyal. Loves to sail and wields his favorite ax

16. Frank: Frankencookie (Orange puffle with Frankenstein hat) reimagined. Loves cookies just like Caleb! Helps Brandon in the lab and is a huge foodie!
17. Damian: Dragon (Red puffle with black hat) reimagined. Loves magic tricks and is a master magician and illusionist. Loves to prank others
18. Sam: Serperior (green puffle that looks like Krystal) reimagined. Best friend of Dana and Krystal. Very adventurous. Loves to climb trees and run in the fields
19. Helios: Solar reimagined. Father of Redison and the wise support system for Redison when things get hard.

Z-End: Time police after Redison Daiki. Led by Dyson, the son of Redison and Lyra in the far future (of the Grand Timeline). Redison PRIME (now a timelord of this new timeline) recruited Dyson (Basically the "Dison" in Redison and the Y from Lyra), who at most has elemental control and can change form based on the elements (mastered air and water so far). Later on, he made friends and formed his team, Teddy and Brass (my two teddy bears) that now became puffle monsters in the far future, Dyson's brother Lance, the weapons expert, and a robot they call Guardian, a police car that can Dyson can armor up with to become Kamen Rider Sentry (Century). Dyson armors up with each friend as they give their powers to him to have different forms. Teddy is known for justice so he gives the powers of the Time Police (Z-End). Brass is known as the mischievous one, more likely to steal, giving Dyson the powers of the Phantom Thieves (Heist). Lance gives him the power of Arsenal (weapon creation and expertise), and later on, Guardian has a younger "brother" named Chase (a motorbike design for high speed, which armors Dyson into Chaser). In this world of magic, Teddy runs the elite team of this magic society, the time police. They work with the PRIME puffle monsters and watch over time and hunt down possible Chrono-Criminals. Works with Sentry and Chaser (and sometimes ends up fighting the Heist group). Based on Kamen Rider Ze End (Instagram fan kamen rider design)

Heist: Led by Brass, these puffle monsters are swift, silent, and mischievous in nature. Love the thrill of a good plan and heist, either stealing small things like magic artifacts in the market, or even traveling through time and making small adjustments through their acts of stealing in time. Later on, the PRIME puffle monsters and Z-End gave them a sport, a game of stealing trinkets that were worth points, and fighting to the finish, the Great Heist. Based on Kamen Rider Heist (a fan made Kamen rider based on Zi-O)

Sentry: The main team that works with Z-End. These puffle monsters, led by Guardian, are all robotic puffle monsters with magic Xouls. They usually take the form of vehicles, but can transform into their robot form with ease, and can armor up another puffle monster if need be. Chaser is their sub-division

Chaser: Led by Chase, this sub-division of the Sentry defense force is more focused on speed and chasing down criminals. Mostly motorcycle puffle monsters, very fast, more arrogant in nature, boastful, competitive, very energetic.

Aersenal: The powers of magic and weapons, Lance and Dyson's magic realm is led by the 2 brothers that put their imaginations together and created new magic. Dyson was an expert in magic, runes, etc while Lance was more interested in weapons, the many different kinds of weapons, and together, they created puffle monsters and a realm of magic that focused and encouraged putting imaginations together, to create new ideas.

Lumyse: Puffle monsters of the Pinnacles of the Light. Also known as the Enlightened, these warrior monks and philosophers have mastered the powers of Inner Light, similar to Qi/Chi and inner core magic, inner light uses a combination of life force, core magic, qi, and pure-hearted emotions to unleash great power. Alison's light type spirit partner (a spirit monster is a monster I make for a certain person based off of what I know of them or what I think of them, even though they don't play. In the case of Alison, she began playing (in a sense) later on and has her partner Lyra. Lume is a sorceress of light and can turn into a grayhawk at will). Their techniques are all kept in the great Scroll of the Enlightened, as it holds the thousands of techniques and inner light magic for mastery and creation.

Redison has been developing a dark aura...Possible foreshadowing to the warrior of bright reddish orange with his blazing sword fighting a warrior with a dark violet and crimson flaming sword...

Calistyr: In Shobe's book, the City of a Thousand Colors, she wanted characters that were based off of our lives, so she has a character named Hannah (just like her) and my character is Connor (no idea how it is spelled). Taking advantage of that, what if he had his own Monster book and PMU. He created his own CMU (Calistyr monsters) instead of puffle monsters (puffles never existed there). This CMU includes the City of a Thousand Colors that the main characters explored (basically he created the realms they explored) and the characters find him weird in the beginning of the book (but he was always the quirky one always talking to himself and coming up with story ideas) and when the main characters return, he says he is coming up with a city name when making a map and guidebook and asks the main male character how “name of city of thousand colors” sounds for the name of that city. The male character gets stunned and asks where he got the name and Connor just says just out of the blue. He finished his map and guidebook and signs his C as a signature (there is a C in the map and guide book the main characters used in the main world). Connor’s partner is The Apex Inferno, Alden, a blue flame warrior (Redison but blue). The fantasy universe he created (the CMU) is parallel and matches the PMU with the Grand Timeline Orazyre: In another story universe that is based off of our lives, William of that universe is named Brandon (I’ve been called Brandon and Connor before because I look like that). Brandon and his partner (his Redison) is a green oracle genius named Orazyr, and these 2 explore webtoons and many many stories and books and live in the Magic Infinity Vault that Brandon has, an infinite space of magic in which libraries of books of magic, weapons, portals, pocket dimensions, zoos of magic puffle monsters, etc live within. Basically the largest “Noah’s Ark” in the magical universe as he collects everything without affecting the timelines and creates his own universes.

New Character: Liam: a darker version of me that has gotten pissed off with the world, is just pure frustration, anger. Dark Will is the counter of me, who is more positive and happy, but since I have been feeling more like Dark Will, Dark will loses his function and thus, disappears. Liam kind of replaces Dark Will as the theoretical me that is an Alpha Male, makes his own decisions, has a full drive (like Shobe), but at the cost of his kindness and positivity. He becomes a full pessimist. Redison is still the same name but his form is Redison, the Hand of Destruction, and wields the Sword of Destruction (wields the Dark Aura).

Xol Raegem: Dark Will and Dreadison got a new form! After being banished to the Void of Blackout, by reaching out into the darkness they found the gateway into a mysterious temple in the darkness, finding the only light, a strange white puffle monster that glowed with the intensity of the sun. This strange spirit challenged to a fight, only for Dreadison to get beaten down with ease. The spirit revealed that this is to be done, for Dreadison to continue existance, this is the spirit of light, the counter of Liam. These puffle monsters wield the powers of Chained Swords, the sword is connected to the hilt by an extendable magic chain, allowing for long range attacks and a new style of combat, as well as trap abilites.

Pufvles: A new version of Puffle monsters, a far more advanced version of puffle monsters from the Wonderverse, the source of all inspiration for myths, stories, technologies, civilizations, ideas, etc. These Pufvles are stronger in magic, and live in a vast endless universe of magic that actually inspires the PMU. When Redison discovered the gateway in a mirror, but found a barrier that he broke to enter the Wonderverse, the PMU had shattered into shards. These Shards though began to expand into PMUs of their own.

Shatterverse: Puffle monsters from shards of the PMU. With the shattering of the PMU, nothing was affected besides the fact that gateways to all parts of the PMU had changed, as the portal locations changed to new unexplored areas in which the shards had been near. With exploration, fusion, etc, these shards grew and became PMUs of their own. Each puffle monster of this era has a shard symbol on them that grants a unique power that most Puffle monsters dont have Imagi: The barrier between the Wonderverse and the PMU was created by ancient creatures known as the Imagi. They created the Star Barrier, each point represented by the pieces of Imagination (and the 5 species of Imagi), the Body (embodiment of Imagination), the Heart, the Mind, the Soul (memories), and the Spirit (emotions) of imagination. With this star barrier broken, the PMU had also created 4 other versions of the pair (PMU and Wonderverse) as each species of Imagi arrived and worked with the puffle monsters to fuse the Shard PMUs together into one Ultimate PMU. The main PMU and the Wonderverse we discovered was helped by the "Body" Imagi, the Emobodiments of Imagination, who created their own Imagi Nations for them to settle in and with this, acted as a glue to fuse the Shard PMUs together. With this great fusion, it was possible to gate the Wonderverse and Pufvles together as well. Each Imagi group helped their own PMU and Wonderverse pair (so there are 5 PMUs, 5 Wonderverses, and 5 species of Imagi). The five types are:

- Body/Embodiment Imagi: Embodiments of imagination of all living things
- Heart Imagi: The heart of imagination, Stronger core magic and stronger emotions
- Mind Imagi: The mind and inspiration, source of inspiration for imagination. More intelligent and creative puffle monsters, Pufvles, and Imagi
- Soul Imagi: Holds the memories of Imagi and uses memories as inspiration for imagination and dreams. Have larger move sets then most through use of memory
- Spirit Imagi: Unleash the powers of spirits and the emotions of imagination. Imagination itself has an emotion, which grants unique powers of their own

Skoræa: The "Collapse" unleashed a dark energy wave that affected all Redisons of another universe. These Redisons began a hunt, fighting and killing other Redisons so only one remains. Redison Omnis (of this universe) controlled his killing instincts and found the only way to stop this war, through the Runes of Skoræa, which by writing on the Scroll of Skoræa, will make whatever is written on the scroll true, and accepted by history. Redison wrote that he be the only Redison in the universe in order to stop the war, by fusing all other Redisons into him. This made it that in all universes, timelines, etc, he would be the only Redison. So in all other timelines and dimensions, Redison no longer exists, unless he is in that area, therefore taking the role of Redison. Every time he travels into another dimension, timeline, universe, etc he will take the Redison form of that world (known as Skoræa silhouettes) as well as their personality and powers. In battle, he can change silhouette forms (and personalities) but also gain new abilities. When he first absorbed all other Redisons, they gave him advice and kept him company, kind of like ghosts or spirits, but in the end, they decided he was truly worthy to represent all Redisons and the spirits left him, leaving their silhouettes and personalities behind. Redison Omnis then became lonely and took the role as Redison the Wanderer, moving between realms, timelines, etc making friends everywhere he went. He eventually met Redison Omnis (of my universe) and Redison took him in, as Redison Wanderer wanted other Redisons as friends again, so he (and his PMU) fused with the Grand PMU, granting all puffle monsters the ability to wield Skoræa silhouettes, by taking the personality and form of their counterpart in another timeline/dimension/universe/etc. The original Skoræa puffle monsters though are still masters of the silhouette abilities and magic. Redison the Wanderer watches over his PMU and the silhouette magic.

Hiroki: The Redison spirits that were with Redison the Wanderer eventually created their own universe, as their memories and intermingling with magic energies from the Grand PMU and the Skoræa PMU made it possible to create their own PMU. These puffle monsters wield the powers of Hero Ki (Chi), which uses special symbols and energy to unleash the inner hero within each puffle monster. There are many “inner heroes” one monster can unleash that is unique to them. These “inner heroes” can also take puffle monster form (that can then unleash their own inner hero ki). Hero Ki gives magic flow more diversity, and eventually, Redison Skoræa and Redison Omnis found the Hiroki realm.

I.C.D.E.N (Immersive Cyberverse Developed Environment Nexus): In the far future, puffle monsters become things of the future. Digital creatures, characters with personalities. Humans can enter this ICDEN as a guest avatar as their mind is uploaded into a digital avatar puffle monster (they can be what ever they want), while their body is in a capsule (similar to “The Strongest Florist” from Webtoon). They can interact with puffle monsters while summoning and creating their own from their imagination. Humans can also freeze themselves in capsules and become a puffle monster permanently (extending life by 500 years since that is how long most puffle monsters live for), and exploring a digital version of the Earth, the PMU, and many more worlds. Based on Kurzgesagt video on Mind Uploading

Xol Eden: Dark Will and Dreadison after getting their new power as Xol Raegem, they become corrupted and unleash a dark serpent power, based on corruption of Dorian Gray and my connection with the temptation of the snake. Evil puffle monsters with their goal to make the Zeroth Future a reality

Ilbhen: Ancient elemental puffle monsters from SuperCPPS (Stone, Ice, water, and Fire). These puffle monsters control ancient power using a special enchanted form of magic. However, during the events of the PRIME battle and restoration of the timeline, their world was mysteriously not restored. The entire world was evacuated but they have no home, so they have been crossing dimensions through aura curtains ever since. The fire type elemental named Damian, is the strongest of them all. Rude, Capricious, arrogant, but powerful with fire and chain sword magic. Working with this brothers and sisters, he led the group, until they eventually arrived at an ancient tree where they established their base temporarily while they sent Damian and the family to search for a home. During one world, Damian lost his family as they all got ambushed when the people of that world were scared of them. Damian too almost died, but the rest of the family gave him the rest of their lifeforce and said their souls would take the form of ancient relics while their bodies would be stored with Damian. Damian got their bodies but with a blast, the relics were scattered before Damian could get them. He has been wandering worlds ever since. Redison eventually met him and they have been finding relics together to bring back Damian's family.

Sundari: Puffle monsters from an apocalyptic future of the magic universe in which "The Convergence" of all magic universes and PMUs resulted in a destruction of all, creating a wasteland in which all are fighting out of survival. In one region, based off of Phoenix, Arizona and other desert regions, there is a massive power outage that takes out Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas. In the deserts, huge sandstorms and dust storms rage, making everything almost invisible, and with no power, no A.C… Redison enters this realm during a storm outside and discovers the new life and style in this future. Mostly gun use and wear cloaks and masks to shield from the sand and dust. Interesting combat. Heroes are Redison (Lone Gunner Style), Lyra (Star Sniper Style), Rose (Dual Revolver style), Sundara (Sonic shock style), Redison Joketsu (Vape-orizer style)

Joketsu: Vape puffle monsters from a dark alternate universe in which I do vape, skateboard, and graffiti. Redison becomes Redison Joketsu (Vape-orizer), based on Kamen Rider Night Rogue or Blood Stalk.

Xaculon: Based on Marvel Future Revolution, idea of puffle monsters from the Utopic Parallel, a great universe of magic in which the collisions of infinite Magic universe and PMUS created a paradise hybrid as all were kept together in the form of a clump, allowing for all to explore and mingle.

Neo-Trojans: I've heard of the senior shootout, so on campus, all of my friends have characters of their own battling in a great battle royale under the new battle system. Emiya has a violet warrior that excels in hand to hand and magic, Alison has Lyra (Argo form (gold)) and Lume (Enlightened (silver)) (both spear wielding sorceresses), Suhani has the rose quartz colored Patellia, a dagger wielding princess that can launch petal shaped blades infused with magic, Chloe Rozalsky has magenta warrior known as Roze, a masquerade type that wields masks (based on Chloe's acting background), and wields a magic sword of the sky, Saathvika has Emeraldine, an ancient priestess that wields a powerful magic staff, that uses jeweled magic, Saniya has Sapphire Crested princess, wields two crescent moon blades and wields Sapph-fire magic, Natasha has the red and orange blazing Lioness Aldra, a fiery beast deity that wields power flames of the stars, Chloe Connor has her sea blue siren Cyropa, a powerful siren sorceress that wields the power of the oceans. Taylor fisher has Winged Huntress of the Woods, Arda wielding the magic of nature, she is a master of the bow and arrows, and wields animal instincts. Felix Shen has the Flutist of Dusk, a shadow musician that controls a strange form of spirit magic. Colors remaining are crimson (Liam?), white,

Souleri: Puffle monster spirits from my new story about "The Once Known Hero", basically the idea is if I became a superhero with all powerful magic, I may end up bragging about it and being open, but this lead to bad guys killing and taking everything I ever loved away from me, leading to me committing suicide. But a year later, I wake up as a ghost, and given my powers back, a second chance to be a hero as part of the Souleri realm, a parallel universe of spirits, where all the dead go, to still live a normal life, but with magic powers. As the hero, I fight off bad guys in the mortal world as well as in the Souleri realm. I meet all my friends and family, getting their forgiveness and gaining new powers, while also making new friends along the way. There is a time when I go rogue and unleash a violent form, but at the final battle, when the bad guy of the Souleri and the bad guy of the mortal realm fuse, I unleash an “ultimate form” to defeat them. Based on Kamen Rider Ghost. These puffle monsters are the Souleri, the spirits of the parallel universes that watch over loved ones and have special powers of their own.

Castrus: Lyra C. (Caitlin’s Lyra, who Sear once had a crush on, but Lyra vowed to kill him on sight), built an armor that absorbs and adapts to any power in the galaxy while also using special magic of her own. Redison was able to copy this power and enhance it after getting the chip to her armor when Redison Joketsu used Devil steam on it, which acts as a virus to any magic force, once it enters, all magic energy is moved to focus on defending against the “corruption” that the Devil steam can cause, which renders magic flow useless. Redison Omnis fixed the armor while also taking the data from the chip and created puffle monsters out of them. These puffle monsters live in their own astral system of magic planets, galaxies, aliens, etc. Also based on Alison’s and Caitlin’s space story idea about private companies ruling the galaxy and what not Serpens: On the jungle planet of Serpens in the Hydra star system, Redison Omnis found rest there after getting hunted down by Lyra C. These aliens are a very strong but very territorial alien group (part snake) that descended from the legendary Hydra. They were terrorized and discriminated throughout the star systems until they found rest in this new star system and planet. They mastered the magic of hiding, using a special magic enhancement on their scales to become invisible, or use their scales as storage for magic energy. Redison became friends with them, and they treated him as one of their own. Eventually became part of the PMU after Redison built a secret magic portal for each Serpens type and their descendants to enter the PMU.

Senki Arc: Elseworlds of infinite universes that were created before the events that created Xaculon and Sundari, begin to cause a glitch in which the all PMUS begin to collide with the main PMU and Xaculon and Sundari are part of the PMUs colliding. Leads to the death of all PMUs but a grand rebirth as elemental types multiply into new types (based on Still force, sage force, etc)

Senki: Puffle monsters of the mysterious Chronicles (Puffle Monsters Senki) that created the elseworlds and timelines within those elseworlds. Wield the power of creation and story making through their great creativity

Elshard: Puffle monsters of the elseworlds. These alternate puffle monsters have special abilities and personalities as well as a special symbol that distinguish them from other puffle monsters as they come from their elseworld. The many elseworlds are based off of Redison taking forms of the many heroes and forms they take in Genshin Impact, Valorant, League of Legends, and Elsword.

Vheldar: The embodiment of the mysterious death of all PMUS, lives within a void of destruction and non-existence. These dark puffle monsters use great powers of destruction and a strange void force of magic.

Eldevyr: Puffle monsters that created the new Forever PMU and embodiments of the new Infinity Forces of creation and magic that created this new PMU and everything within it. Embodiment of the infinite realities that were created as the timelines were freed to split into infinite forms and branches. Embodiments of the new elemental magic forms (based on sage force, still force, etc)

Kaisehn: Legendary puffle monsters that follow the path of the sword. Each puffle monster has their own “blade style” and different techniques. Redison discovered this school in Ako’s backyard, in which he learned the blade styles of all puffle monsters from all worlds, unleashing the powers of different spirits and imaginary forces. These puffle monsters use the powers of their spirit masks, as their puffle form is more of an Oni mask, but with their mask splitting as they transform into their monster form, their unique Imaginary Force is unleashed, allowing them to unleash their special blade styles and techniques. Based on anime style sword fighting and normal fighting as well as Genshin Impact magic (constellations, abilities, etc). Based on Swordsman Oni from Genshin Impact, have very long hair

G-Pufles: Elsword magic abilities, ruled by Redison Xaviour Genesis, the ultimate Redison of another universe from which he represents the good and pure wishes I make with my luck, he is the future form of Redison in which I go through what God wants, and returns as a guide. These puffle monsters are the ideal magic forms of all puffle monsters in existence in the far future that I followed God’s path.

Dominatrix: Puffle monsters of the paradox of wishes, a strange dimension ruled by Redison Dominatrix (based on Add Mad Paradox from Elsword) that uses special Paradox Dynamos that allow them to create paradox voids and tears in time and reality, defying and rewriting laws of magic freely through their aura and abilities

Darkwish: Ruled by Redison Baron (based on Kamen rider Dark Kiva), these dark puffle monsters are based on the design above stated. Created by the Dark Wishes I made when I kept wishing I would die before my birthday, but now after getting hope for the future, I now wish I will live for a long time to which Redison Genesis arrives to fight them off. They are also based on stained glass (similar to the Fangire from Kamen Rider Kiva), meaning their many parts store a dark wish power, and since they are made of many pieces of stained glass, they can use many types of dark wish power.

Wishmason: Based on the Spellmason dragon from Dragonvale, these puffle monsters are the purified forms of the darkwish puffle monsters. Use special wish magic and ideals stored in their glass shared instead, making them twice as strong in magic. Live in a stained glass magic universe.

Essencia: Puffle monsters of the virtual book on the website that became put into robots in the far future (when website becomes popular, robots are given these codes and personalities and powers, so puffle monsters are given physical form) (based on Nasods and Code: Eve and her forms)

Cypher: Cipher code monsters, in an infinitely vast digital library of symbols, code, etc. Ruled by Redison Cypherion (based on Add Dominator from Elsword), cypher holds a strange virtual book of monsters within a popular website and each type created within this website is placed in this virtual universe that users can use to interact with or play as them.

Ixha: Based on Kamen Rider Ixa, humans work with a Ixha puffle monster to armor up and fight shadow grims, led by the mysterious warrior wielding the Sword of Grimm, Kamen Rider Grimm, as he wields the Sword to switch forms between power and speed form by flipping, while also using archer form and storm form (double edged staff). Catch phrase is, “This is the end of your story…” before a kill (based on my stick fighting with Shobe playing sword fighting)

Grimmoire: Puffle monsters that wield the legendary powers to create Grimoires of ancient magic and hold a vast infinite library of grimoires within them to unleash spells, artifacts, etc. Similar magic of Kamen Rider Grimm as they work with the Grimms, shadow creatures that are actually the spirits/essences of artifacts and spells within a grimoire that a puffle monster may hold.

Arckieon: Powerful puffle monsters of special Ki known as Arcane Ki. These legendary puffle monsters use special Ki such as ki of violet dawn or Ki of Crimson Sun, Orange Burst, Yellow/golden storm, Verdant Valley, Azure Tides, White Frost, and black drake. Ki of violet dawn based on Return of the Blossoming Blade (Webtoon). Use different weapons, magic abilities, and fighting styles that their unique ki and arcane ki power.

Gettyeon: Puffle monsters of the Getty Center museum in LA. The special magic within, holding all the paintings, sculptures, garden, etc makes it that each painting, artifact, sculpture, etc has their own story to tell and is a portal to their own universes in time (where many puffle monsters reside in). With the many many paintings and sculptures, puffle monsters from all over time (in which those paintings, pottery, etc come from) mingle, sharing cultures, languages, technology, etc as each universe in time is advanced in their own ways as they use the technology of the time period but also use futuristic tech from far far into the future as well as the modern tech we have today. When we visited, Redison created a portal to unite the world's.

Galleonites: Puffle monsters under Captain Buck (Bucky) Harrison, a long lost brother of Redison. Long ago during the star fall that created Redison and his family, it burst into many pieces leading the pieces to fall in certain regions, the stars that created Redison, Artison, Greenison, Hon, and Dancer (the stars of prophecy) landed in Winnipeg, while other stars fell in different places. 2 star fragments created 2 brothers, Harrison and Ivyson (Harry and Ivan) and landed in Northridge, California (near Ako's house). Based on the idea that someone was selling Spanish Galleons nearby in the area, I came up with the ideas of Harrison and Garrison as part of a crew that sailed the skies on the galleons. Harrison leads the Galleonites, puffle monster buccaneers that share Harrison's love of exploration and discovery. These puffle monsters are masters of sailing, navigation, as well as marksmanship and swordsmanship. Each have the special ability of "Song of the Sword" that allows them to unleash a special power based on a verse of a song sung by the Naval Spirit that granted the pirates their magic and lives within their boat, as well as the ability of "Blast beat" (similar to Song of the Sword except for their guns), and "Eye of the oceans" (allows for view of enemy ships and analysis of ship, as well as a future attack). Each Galleonite has their own specialty in battle (anchors, hooks, daggers, swords, guns, rifles, etc) and therefore different special abilities.

Ivaldyne: Puffle monsters of the craft, led by Ivyson. These puffle monsters are master creators of any magic object, weapon, artifacts, spells, and even magic types itself. They live in a universe of creative freedom, giving inspiration for ideas to create new puffle monsters, magic types, etc.

Garrisonites: rival of Harrison, and star-fragment brother. Found also in Northridge, he is an emperor knight and strong military commander that all his soldier monsters respect. They all have special combat abilities (based on King Arthur Gundam from SD Gundam world heroes) and can use inner power to their max as they can unleash armored aura forms, maxing out their strength to unleash special attacks.

Aernas: The star that burst into pieces that created the prophesied warriors (Redison), Ivyson, Garrison, and Harrison, was reincarnated and reborn in the far future and burst again into pieces, creating a new generation of "ison" puffle monsters to become heroes of their own universes, to expand the PMU. These Puffle monsters are ruled by another brother of Redison from a star fragment known as Addison. Strange, alien puffle monsters with powers based on characters from Grand Chase game (prequel to Elsword). These puffle monsters are from a parallel universe of magic that use different forces of magic energy. A different reality of the PMU created by the choice that I focused on playing PC games such as Grand Chase, Elsword, etc instead of Club Penguin

Medison: Based on Malkuth-Meleth from Vanguard. This star-fragment brother of Redison is a powerful healer. From the future in which I stay on track as a Physical Therapist. These puffle monsters in the far future have mastered medicine to the point that all life has become immortal. This was achieved by Redison's star fragment in the far far future, Medison, who eventually evolved his brothers and sisters as well as Redison to become immortal. They have mastered genetics as well, making it possible to genetically modify puffle monsters to give them any ability they want, any magic power, any body alteration, etc

Reyalite: Ruled by Morrison, the ruler of infinite realities, different complete forms of the PMU except due to the power of choice and conviction (Chi'karda). Based on the 13th Reality series. These puffle monsters are masters of Chi'karda that use the powers of choice and can view summon the powers of their Alterants, their forms from different realities. They are indestructible as they are all Reality Echoes (existing in multiple realities at once). Powers similar to Generation Stride (Vanguard G). Each PMU reality is different and each Reyalite puffle monster is a monster from each reality (they have a unique symbol that represents their home reality, as well as a special core symbol that holds their core magic). The heroes of each reality is based on the many many forms of the characters in League of Legends (Skins), Genshin Impact (skins), Elsword (jobs and skins), and Grand Chase (avatars)

Ki:Merha: Magical world of living magic clay, based on the Last Dragon Chronicles series. These puffle monsters are like the Clay dragons (Pennykettle dragons) and dragons from the dragon world of this book series universe. These puffle monsters use ancient dragonic magic to bring life to clay monsters on Earth and unleash unique Earth abilities in the dragonic realm. These puffle monsters are more dragonic in looks but each can use different aspects (similar to the dragon form in Kamen Rider Wizard) to unleash different special abilities such as claws, eyes, horns, the head (magic breath), wings, tails, etc

C0:P3RN1C@: Based on the Mortality Doctrine, Virtnet, the Tangents, and stuff from The Mortality Doctrine series. These strange digital puffle monsters are from the very far future in which humans have mostly been inside the digital universe and programming, hacking, etc basically makes one a god, a powerful figure allowing them to create their own spaces in the digital universe and unleash special powers and abilities. These puffle monsters are the embodiments of the digital universe created by the imaginations of the programmers and humans who eventually learn how to program. The digital universe becomes known as C0:P3RN1C@. Also based on Yugioh VRAINS

MAD FUTURE: Home of Madison, A girl born of the star fragment in the far future. Born in the universe known as the MAD Future, a negative reality of the PMU, in which the negative energy drove her mad, to the point she became a dark force through her "Madness form"...puffle monsters of this mad future use similar powers and mutations Reylians: Puffle monsters under Redison Supreme Xoul Rex Regem Aster (a form similar to Genesis from Elsword except with color scheme of Spriggan Requiem (Beyblade Burst). Descendants of the red (Redison) star fragment as infinite as the stars in the sky. They come from all time periods, universes, realities, etc and all rule their own species, realms, worlds, etc that are also known to be Reylians. They came to Redison when the black star of the END was slowly destroying existence and realities.

Nyxe Pyeta: Puffle monsters of silence, peace, and calm hidden within the stress and darkness of the Zeroth END/Hope. These puffle monsters are those of silver, crystals, forgiveness, etc. These ancient puffle monsters are similar to Nyx Pieta form of Noah in Elsword using the powers of Hope, calm, peace, and silence. Softer colors and lots more silver in their design.

Zeroth END/Hope: The conclusion of the Zeroth Future...Redison of this world has similar abilities to Dreadison, Scarlord, and Liam's Redison, but he is 10 times stronger than all of them combined as he uses a different, more powerful form of dark magic. By taking the magic energy around him, he changes them to a Zeroth Hope form. Brings the conclusion of the Zeroth Future by ending all futures, realities, etc. Difference between Zeroth future and Zeroth END/Hope is that Zeroth future is a future, the future without me, while the Zeroth END is the end of all my possible futures, including the zeroth future. This Redison represents the dark flames (crimson and violet) vs Redison Xoul Rex Regem Aster (the bright white, red, and gold flames) (The dream I had about dark flames sword vs the bright flames warrior)

Astra Reus: Created by the Reus Ex Machina, a powerful relic that made it possible that the stars that created each puffle monster would multiply, be reborn and shatter into fragments, become star trees, and be reborn once more to repeat the cycle forever, creating astral representatives like the Reylians, one basic fire type monster can now have infinite different representations of him/her as they were all created by the same star that lived eternally. These astral puffle monsters that use the powers of their star to unleash special magic and abilities while also connecting with their "astral brother or sister" (one from the same star fragment but in a different world, reality, etc), to unleash a special ability. These universes of stars and star fragments are separate from the PMU as they are more of a library or database in which Redison Xoul Rex Regem observes. Each main star is its own bookshelf with the fragments and many reincarnations of it as the books.

The World without heroes: Lyra C. (wielding the astral blastsword and wonderride book of her Space World), Redison Joketsu, and Redison, who doesn't exist in this world so he takes a new form known as Rashad the Revenger, a cyborg warrior with a robot arm and tech-enhanced other arm and legs, that controls fire and is a master sword wielder and weapon specialist (based on Raven from Elsword). Lyra enters this world when chasing down Redison Joketsu trying to kill him, while Redison enters this world to observe and intervene when necessary. This world is based on the Maze Runner Series, a world ravaged by a disease and a solar flare where some live in a giant maze...also based on Horizon Zero Dawn and Horizon Forbidden West. These puffle monsters have a mix of cyborg tech, Vape-orize tech, and Pandemic Tech

Uprising arc: Redison with the hero deity power in the 31st century becomes a tyrant after getting the dark infinity power. The dark infinity force causes a split in the plane of magereality (holds the PMU), leading to other sub planes (neoplanes) to fight back and enlist Redison to help after attempting to kill him so as to not have Redison in the 31st century

Neoplanes: To fight against the Hero Deity power, these sub planes had magic that changed forms into classes, similar to hero deity powers as they give an Omni power (can use any form of magic) but with certain special abilities and attributes. The different neoplanes have different classes that are ranked from lowest (or on same level) to highest class

- Shino, masters of shadow magic and use of sword and shuriken: Ninjas, Masters, Samurai, and Shogun (highest)

- Feudal, the chivalrous universe in which the PMU is now structured like the Feudal system long ago: farmer, craftsman, weaponsmith, joker, the knight, crusader, lord, prince/princess, king/queen, Emperor/empress
- Raina, the PMU in touch and in sync with nature: scout, trapper, ranger/archer, hunter, tamer, sage, elder, chief
- Sorcery, the PMU but more focused on magic (books, spells, etc): magician, mage, wizard/witch, high mage, sorcerer/enchantress, the supreme
- Dungeon, the PMU in a more game format with a modern form of magic and magic dungeons with unique elements and magic to them: thief, soldier, brawler, tank, strategist, assassin, mercenary, sniper, guardian, boss
- Bilblios, the PMU in which all puffle monsters are authors or artists, unleashing the powers of imagination and creativity to the max: scribe, avatar, sculptor, painter/illustrator, author, creator, destroyer
- World of no heroes, the PMU in the 31st century that is separated from the Dark Infinity Empire of Redison: Chef, coder, hacker, sou chef, baker, prep chef, medic, doctor, sword, shield, defender, psycho, maestro, pharaoh, revenger, banker, psychic, genius, navigator, sailor, geologist, geneticist
- Dark Infinity/Zenith, the universal super empire of Redison the Zenith Tyrant, but was used against him after finding the class magic within the universe within the resistance: Rookie, Hero, Saver, overlord, kaiser, deity, hero deity, Zenith Deity

League of Doom: After the Zeroth Hope, the power divided into the 3 main evils, Dreadison THE END OVERKILL (Berserker masks and Doom blades), Scarlord THE END OBLIVION (Cannons, guns, artillery), and Redison CRIMSON THE END (Hands of Destruction) as they fight Redison Zenith Tyrant (31st century emperor). The question remains, as 5 days remain till my birthday, will the dark wish of death take me away? These evil puffle monsters are more artificial...During the Ƶenithian rebirth, Redison CRIMSON THE END and Liam was absorbed by Redison and Liam of the Altrian universe (Altraverse), but, Redison CRIMSON THE END and Liam were preserved as The powers of the artificial puffle monsters created by the powers of the other 2 titans of the League of Doom. So now Liam and Redison CRIMSON THE END are now different from Liam and Redison Altra. These artificial dark puffle monsters have a lot of gear and weapons (blasters, cannons, blades, etc) making them much larger in size during battle. Higher defense and attack but easy to hit.

Xzenithian (or Ƶenithian) Rebirth: As of now, all puffle monsters are now renamed as the Ƶenithian race. After discovering PMU is a bad name, I came up with the Ƶenithverse and Redison went to meet The Puffle of the Beginning and End, who lives in the Lost Theater (a theater I made with my friend Alexis when I was very very young in Canada modeled after the Club Penguin Theater with the space stage). It is here that The Puffle of the Beginning code named J, acts as the playwright of reality, all puffle monsters are merely players in his plays, and the universe is his stage. Redison came to ask for a change in Magic, to rewrite his play for puffle monsters to be renamed to Xenithians, however, J wanted it to be named Zenithians, and after some argument, they came to consensus to fuse the letters (that I can't do write now but will try later). With this, all puffle monsters evolved further to gain a new class (neoplanes), have their own unique magic, and special abilities (more like Redison).

Uprising continued: Redison Zenith Tyrant went to the playwright J and asked for a change in the events that he wrote, that his subjects of his universal empire would be subjugated to him, for him to be the almighty ruler. J agreed, but of course added his own catch to the script that Redison Zenith Tyrant did not know about. He asked Redison to come up with a what if question, that if those changes became a separate world, those warriors became his soldiers to help conquer the universe. Redison ZT (tyrant) said What If, William gained his sister's anger, rage, and drive but kept his brains. With this, J created the Altrians, the counter of Ƶenithians and under Liam, a more driven but ruthless writer and genius that with Redison, created their own imaginary universe (to which the Altrians were the species) and Redison of the 31st century, was written to be Redison the Revelator, that in due time, when he would lose the uprising against him as Tyrant, the war against the Altrians would begin as he becomes a new character, the Revelator of the end…

Playwrights: Born of unknown origins, these powerful puffle monsters write the events of time and reality and hold the books of destiny for all. Only known playwright is The Puffle of the Beginning (Janus) or J. Live in the realm within the Lost Theater, a theater I made with my friend Alexis when I still lived in Winnipeg and I was Age 5 or 6 when we made it together (design was based on the Stage in Club Penguin and I added a space background). They have different “stages” within the Theater as they simulate their “plays” on the stage and watch it happen after having it performed on the main stage, the universe itself.

Altrians: The counter species of the Ƶenithians. These puffle monsters are stronger, almost equally powerful in magic, but more aggressive in their abilities. Their fighting style is either more offensive, a stronger defense with a counter, and a more offensive healing ability. William Ko of that universe was made as a What if, What if I got my sister’s drive, hunger for perfection, but sarcastic and raging nature? Liam (as he is called) and Redison, wield the powers of Crimson Thunder, a stronger more violent form of Red lightning (red lightning (when I was very very young) was what I called anti-cooties when the girls would give me cooties)), and Crimson Inferno (after absorbing Liam and Redison from the PMU, Liam and Redison of the Altrians gained their powers). Liam and Redison inherited the powers and personalities of Liam and Redison of the PMU (now XMU).

Memoire: In case I die due to the dark wish I made after wishing hard for it to not happen, within the monster book, along with all my stories, each friend of mine have puffle monsters of their own that shall develop individually as they evolve on their own throughout life, whether through heartbreak, love, hate, friendship, marriage, children, grandchildren, etc. These heroes include both the partners of theirs, their characters they imagine, as well as the characters I made for them based on their personalities and from what I know of them. Alison Lindstrom, Chloe Rozalsky, and Suhani Patel became my closest friends this year, along with Chloe Connor, to whom I had a crush on since my freshman year. Taylor Fisher, Oceana Covington along with all these people made my life worth living. Jimmy Gaudet, Victor Talapanco-quevas (probs spelled it wrong), Andrew Yuan and Aaron Wascher in BASIS, my crushes on Amar Aqel, Pauline David, Mary Hamadjian, Caitlin Campos, Saniya Bhatnagar, and so many other girls especially now in high school. Even in the Phoenix Boys Choir, the adventures I went on, the songs I sang, and the friends I made along the way, made it all worth living. I hope that one day, all my friends will see their potential, see what I saw in them, their bright shining future that I never could see in my own future. I also want to note something that drove me to make the darkwish, for future reference, for those who read this book if I do happen to die, that comparing yourself to someone else will only make you depressed. I compared myself to Chloe Rozalsky, someone who is beautiful, smart, determined, hardworking, and has the brightest future ahead that Ive ever seen. Because of that, while I supported her as best as I could, as I was told to look to my own future, I saw nothing, darkness, I was a lost cause, and that is what made me wish that I was no longer there, so I dont have to suffer anymore about that hopeless future.

These magical legendary warriors use the strength of my memories of them to become strong in their own way

Conwell: An Altrian species of puffle monsters. These legendary warriors were created by the Sword Spirit Conwell, who bonded with Redison as he became the Immortal Infinity Swordsman, master of infinite blades. These puffle monsters bond with their own unique sword spirits and grant them special abilities to summon infinite weapons of their style, but using the infinite weapons in different ways unleashes special abilities

Ehladriel: Based on the Archangel monsters from Summoners Wars, these Xenithian species came to fight off the darkwish monsters and after lots of prayer, they were successful as I was able to celebrate my 17th birthday today as I write this species (8/10/21). Besides the powers of wishes, prayers, and imagination, they also use the many abilities and keywords from Battle Spirits and Summoners Wars. They are angelic in design with wings made of their elemental power and they are purely attuned to that power. Also use complex runes, spells, and multi-stepped battle attacks (from Infinite Leveling: Murim and Return of the Blossoming Blade (Both Webtoons)).

Ijinn: Puffle monsters that are the Imaejinn but evolved to become a different species altogether. Use strange glyphs of magic that are, in a way, evolutions to the magical elemental forms. These puffle monsters are from infinite dimensions that the Ijinn created and live within, acting as the monitors of the war between the Altrians and Xenithians. Redison gains their powers after using it to explore through their Ijinn Curtain ability (similar to Aurora Curtains of Kamen Rider Decade). Use different magic cards and abilities making them as strong as the Altrians and Xenithians.

Zaoyu: Based on the mandarin words that mean “rain”, these Altrian puffle monsters of the magic future have strange abilities as they gain their powers from the elemental forces. However, these elements are different as it changes into armor as it falls upon them. Their leader Zhao has his armor formed as the rain falls on him and each drop spreads out like nanobots, armoring him up, so in a storm, he has full form and is enhanced in magic abilities. These Altrians also use different Ki fighting styles and abilities based on the martial arts of Ruler of the Land (on wiki) that wield the powers of the elements that grant them their power. Each element has a nanobot like ability when granting powers to these altrians, and these altrians and strange forms of elements live in a futuristic world like our own

Kuon: Based on the Four Sages or the Lords of Wise (from Kamen Rider Saber), these Altrians are known as Bladesingers, inventors of the infinite magic sword styles that each warrior has mastered while also unleashing unique abilities that enhance their specific combat style and ability. Have gold linings on them as their main symbol under the Kuon, the elite team, the A squad. Live in a great empire of magic that the Kuon rule as sages, kings, and warriors.

Jenesis: Redison Joketsu in the World of No Heroes, found a lab that was working on the next generation of super puffle monsters through genetic work. Based on the trailers for Kamen Rider Revice and the Vistamps as well as Kamen Rider Build, the fullbottles, halfbottles, etc, Redison Joketsu created a fusion of the genomes the lab made, while combining it with Vape-orize essences he collected from the Star world that Lyra C called home as well as the Vape-orize essences from this world as well, and combining his own core, DNA, along with the ultimate Genome the lab had created and the Jenesis bottle (Genius bottle from Kamen Rider Build), which combines all Vape-orize essences, he created the ultimate species of puffle monsters that he was able to teach them to use their abilities for good while hiding them in a new pocket universe he created using the powers the Jenesis Genome granted him. Fights against Lyra C (who uses SuperStar Senki) in epic showdowns. These Vape-orize puffle monsters can change their phase of matter from solid into smoke in seconds, allowing them to use different abilities that the smoke allows them to do.

4 Mirrors: We live in MD1 (Mirror Dimension 1), but in the bathroom mirror, there are 3 other “worlds” I see, in which a different William Ko and Redison are. Redison gathers the powers of all 4 to become the Absolute Saber, Sovereign Edge Redison. MD2 has the powers of tribute summon (2 to 10 monsters can be tributed and summon legends of their universe), MD3 has DNA Burst/Charge evolution, and MD4 unleashes a fragment of the infinite power within the soul. The soul has infinite fragments representing many parts of one person (what they are, what they want to be, what they envision, their hopes, dreams, fears, etc), which they grant a piece of to their monster in battle (or the monster unleashes the fragment of their own soul to max out and evolve to unleash their new form) (Almighty Evolution). The inner darkness (dark thoughts of evil, etc) is unleashed in Ankoku Evolution

MD2 (Tribute): Puffle monsters tribute summon and fuse their powers to summon greater monsters of this universe known as their Nexus. Based on Battle Spirits and Yugioh XYZ evolution, these puffle monsters can unleash their spirit, soul, and magic fusion as they enter a gate in which their souls act as a tribute to summon the form of a Nexus, a legendary deity like puffle monster of this universe that has many abilities and powers, almost omnipotent in a sense. Some puffle monsters evolve into their Nexus when used in Tribute with the required “tribute elements” while others summon a Nexus (associated only with their magic type). Redison of this universe has his Nexus, Xiegheart Brave.

MD3 (DNA Burst/Charge): Based on Digimon Savers, puffle monsters use DNA evolution. Depending on the area a puffle monster is in, a player partner grants their DNA and combining it with the region magic, fuses and alternates the puffle monster DNA, allowing for an infinite number of evolutions due to different forms of DNA given player DNA, monster DNA, the past evolutions (or past DNA alterations), and the region magic. Examples are Burst Evolution, Perfect Evolution, Defender Evolution, Berserker Evolution, etc

MD4 (Almighty/Ankoku): Puffle monsters that unleash a soul fragment granted to them to unleash a special form based on that piece of the soul (as explained above). There are many universes within one person's soul (each individual piece of the soul has its own universes in which a puffle monster gains their powers from). These puffle monsters live in their realm in which their soul most resonates with the soul magic of that realm.

Towers: A strange gear deity within the sword appears as a strange tower rises in the PVHS realm. This tower has a strange alien magic of its own in which each floor has its own universe of magic with their own unique monsters, with their own powers, abilities, and live in a new world of nature. Based on Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower. These puffle monsters are hexagonal in shape and 3 dimensional (like a dice from Dungeons and Dragons) with a gear (and eye symbol in middle of gear) like symbol (or a complex magic circle). There are an infinite number of towers and some towers are linked together. The original home of these towers is one giant flat universe in which there is tower after tower after tower everywhere with tiny spaces of fields, or canyons, or oceans, etc in between the towers (so ocean towers are different from volcanic towers, to mountain towers, forest towers, etc).

Sovereign Edge: These Xenithians have legendary magic powers based on Advanced Player of the Tutorial Circle as a strange circle of magic energy appears behind them as they unleash abilities and attacks powered by the Supreme Sovereign Deities of magic and great magic forces that keep the magic universe in balance and have created other magic universes such as the Mirror Dimensions (MD) in which Redison, working with the other MDs, gained the powers of the Sovereign Edge as the Supreme Swordsman of the Absolute Sword, the Sovereign Edge Infinite.

Xenobot: Puffle monsters made of Cluster cells (the nanobots like grasshoppers from Kamen Rider Zero One), and/or nanobots from Kamen Rider Eden (also from Kamen Rider Zero One). In this world, William Ko survives death and becomes immortal when he digitizes his consciousness into nanobots, to which Redison does the same. These nanobots are made up of specially evolved Xenobots (with puffle monster magic and technology in them), a recent invention that are basically synthetic lifeforms the size of almost a nanobot and is designed and programmed by a computer, so not robots or organisms…

Bang Bang Revolution: Puffle monsters from the new universe created by the scenario known as PV Senior Assassins, in which the seniors get to shoot each other with water guns (or anything to get them wet) in order to win a pot money in a giant game (Alison described as Hunger Games). The puffle monsters also battle, getting the Bang Bang Shooting Gashaat

(based off of Kamen Rider Ex-Aid and Kamen Rider Snipe), but Redison's magic evolved the Gashaat he got, evolving him to Bang Bang Revolution, a puffle monster universe version of the Senior Assassins game as the guns and weapons have magic abilities, etc. Each puffle monster type and color has their own elemental abilities, special guns, and one Tactical advantage (increased range, eye sight, never miss, etc) unique to them. As of now (August 18, 2021), unsure whether to participate or not but it starts soon…(Update, 8-19-21: Alison, Taylor, and Milly said no, and so did Chloe...Natasha is participating with someone else, I can either ask Saniya, Alex, or others)

Shengxiao: Based on Omniscient Reader (Webtoon) and all the lore behind the Omniscient Reader's Viewpoint (The korean original and finished version) and the Ganpyeongui and its ability of the constellations based on historical figures, mythological beings, heroes, characters, that became spirits and lived and created their own universes of magic based off of their stories and imaginations, creating alternate worlds. These constellations and scenarios eventually led to the collision, an event in which Earth in the year 2025 (after I am guessing Omniscient Reader on Webtoon fully posts all their episodes officially on the app), collides with the Xenithverse as well as the infinite other universes created by the constellations (the heroes, characters, myths, historical figures, etc) leading to demons appearing and destroying the Earth and the constellations and puffle monsters arriving onto Earth to incarnate into the humans of Earth and fight off the demons through the scenarios. After many years of battle, the demons are wiped off and the puffle monsters and constellations have become the humans as the human body was wiped off as the spirits took their form and using their imaginations, made more stories and characters to become monsters. They then chronicled it into a giant disc that was to be found in the past by Redison when he awakens them into the Xenithverse of 2021. All Shengxiao puffle monsters unleash the powers of their constellation / spirit / xoul and unleash their unique abilities, traits, etc either historically, magically, etc. Their universe is all the universes they live in and created as constellations and the new Magic Earth that was revived after the Demons war.

Xiegerevolution (Xieger Revolution or Xieger Evolution): Redison Xieger (Sieger) is an alternate Redison of another universe in which William Ko gains powers after meeting Redison Xieger, and becomes the super hero known as Xaber, a master at wielding magical swords and special abilities. Redison has a split personality disorder that causes him to change between his infinite personalities depending on magic form and realm/area they are in. This was due to how Redison Xieger was once a king of a great realm of magic but when under attack by the Voidtex race, he saved all of them by absorbing the whole universe (purging the Voidtex) into himself, but leading him to sleep for years and float through space till he landed on Earth. When the Voidtex appear again, Redison's personalities split into their own representatives to which William and Redison search for and gain the trust of them to gain their abilities. These forms include a hyperactive speed form, or a gunman with a southern accent, or even a regal, arrogant form and master swordsman with wings (known as Korvus (after absorbing the Korvus persona) when Redison and I explore Wales (Amar's school at night when a voidtex is spotted there)). Unleash the powers of the Xiegerevolution to unleash these abilities, personalities, characters, etc (each character has their own unique special power).

Voidtex: Each and every soul has a dark side that they try to hide. This dark side (in Wendybird Webtoon) is known as a shadow. In the Xenithverse, the shadow is known as a Voidtex, the dark side of the soul that is found deep in the Void of the soul. In this case, Dark Will is my “shadow” and Dark Will has his own shadow. This shadow and Dark Will make a pact and fuse, granting Dreadison a new form as the ultimate Voidtex warrior. Using the abilities of Dreadlock (use chains to lock a certain ability), and many others, this newly evolved Dark Will summons Dreadison through the powers of Voidtex (a vortex appears below similar to Xyz evolution in which Dreadison enters and unleashes the powers of the shadow within him). Use different “voids” (or dark sides of souls / shadows) to gain different abilities, weapons, forms, etc.

New Character: The explorer, hero, and Main Character of “The Unexplored Country” (a new story universe of the Xenithverse)...the first sentient character that evolves based on the absorbing of personalities and magic energy, and the self proclaimed, greatest swordsman in the universe, Kurenai Shindou (known as Shin, Kai, and Ren as well). Travels between infinite worlds and changes Earth on his own, discovering Earth’s hidden magic within it, the unexplored country within Earth, and the unexplored country within the Xenithverse and other universes.

New Character: The author of “The Unexplored Country”, Koniro Shun, a sentient character that is the author and omniscient reader and writer of fate of all the characters and magic life in “The Unexplored Country”. Observes Kurenai on his adventures and challenges him while creating more worlds based on Kurenai’s adventures.

Shindou: Puffle monsters of Kurenai’s Universe. He has Redison as his Constellation (in which he holds the powers of Redison and wields it as his own). These puffle monsters are written by Koniro monsters and all are sentient of the fact they are part of a story universe (therefore, using their knowledge to change their destinies, but are at ends against the Koniro, the authors of their fates). They live in the main universe of “The Unexplored Country” but have the powers to wander the universes. Their universe eventually fused with Redison

Koniro: Puffle monsters of Koniro’s universe in which they are the writers of fate and destiny, controllers of magic fate and events, and control the settings and worlds of The Unexplored Country. Always against the Shindou as they write their fates, descriptions, and characteristics, but the Shindou change it by their own free will. Their universe fused with Redison eventually Jing: Puffle monsters of the fusion of the Kurenai species, the Koniro species, and the magic of the Xenithverse, in which each individual has a pact with a spirit that acts as a double, being there behind them like a ghost, but in combat, can fight with their host, so one warrior vs a Jing Warrior is a 1 vs 2 fight as the spirit can fight on its own or work with the host. Based on Kamen Rider Revice, these puffle monsters live in a universe created by the fusion of all the worlds (Xenithverse, Koniro, and Kurenai) and use spirits of magic from all worlds. In their universe, the spirits can take a corporeal form (similar to Kamen Rider Vice in Kamen rider Revice) so then its a 2 person fight, but can also work as a spirit form and unleash unique abilities (different pros and cons for corporeal form and spirit form). Jing is based off of Jingshen 精神 which means spirit in Mandarin (in PVOnline Honors Mandarin Chinese 5-6 right now), so in the Xenithverse, jing is a bond, a spirit pact. The stronger the bond, the stronger the special joint abilities.

Sword-Breaker: What if Redison never used swords, but mastered the skill of magic and hand to hand combat? Becomes the warrior known as the Sword Breaker, that using his new core magic ability, breaks a sword or weapon with its own magic core and absorbs it into a new symbol covered in the material of the weapon it was once the core of. These new symbol is used by Redison to unleash new forms such as Panzer form (heavily shielded, high strength, and high blast power) and Blitz form (lightweight and lightning fast strikes). Based on Raven from Elsword.

Thaumaeverse: Based on Minecraft mod of Thaumacraft and the Aether mod of Minecraft and Biomes O' Plenty Minecraft mod. Also based on the ending of Kamen Rider Saber (the rebirth of the Wonderworld based on all stories, hopes, and dreams of humanity). These puffle monsters live in the infinite wonderverses of hopes, dreams, and the infinite stories told by humanity and all creatures and puffle monsters alike. Wield infinite symbols that they can collect, infinite weapons, and powers all through their imaginations and abilities. Create their own infinite potential and gift. Their own core, armors, etc are all their own to create with their imagination. Each puffle monster of this group has their own wonderverse (with their own puffle monsters within the wonderverse that too has their own wonderverse, each based off of their unique personalities, traits, imaginations, experiences, stories, etc) that grants them their unlimited force of magic power.

Spark: Based on the AllSpark, all factions of Transformers, Vector Sigma, and the many other lore of Transformers (dinobots, creators, the primes, etc). In this universe, puffle monster like creatures that evolved far beyond imagination, takes the power of transformers, transforming into form to survive, granting them unique abilities and powers in each form. The creator of this was the Vector Sigma, a great power core that created all Sparks, granted them a body with a magic core (similar to Vector Sigma) and made them a unique multiverse singularity (only one of them exists in all universes). These Sparks were created almost as advanced as the Xenithians are now, except in the beginning of time, so to present day, they have evolved further and found the Xenithverse. They used their cores (like Vector Sigma), and with their hybrid magic ability, created more singularities to exist.

Dateline: Redison changes form and the worlds he creates changes based on who I end up dating. As part of another "What-If" universe, this looks into Redison's forms based on who I date. Given I date Alison, Redison transforms into a mage form (like Lyra) or a pirate form (who doesnt like a suave buccaneer). If I date Chloe Rozalsky, Redison takes a form similar to Caesar Legend Gundam (from SD Gundam World Heroes) and masters the masquerade ability. If I date Suhani, Redison would take a more "knight" like form (as her knight in shining armor).

September begins...Maoh Arc and Chapter 1 of Senior Assassins

- Maoh Arc: Redison's dark power went all out as if a strange spirit possessed him, and became the Demon Overlord (Maoh means Demon Lord in Japanese), prophesied to destroy all existence. Redison takes the Crimson Maoh Form (similar to Kamen Rider Fifteen). Fights Dreadison Voidtex form and fights even PVHS guard (new powers). Connection to the strange Utopias that are appearing...
- Chapter 1 of Senior Assassins: I got a partner for the game (Ayush Lenka, an old friend of mine from BASIS who came to PVHS during my sophomore year). We payed the money but when he slid the money under the door, apparently it was stolen, so we had to redo the form but didn't have to pay again thank god. September 1st is the start of Senior Assassins. Ayush and I are team 26 of District 5 (Hunger games idea I guess). Ayush however got out because he thought the assassins wouldnt get him (we even knew who our assassins were and who their assassins were), but they got him first since he was being cocky...We are out as of September 22, 2021.

District 5: Puffle monsters of District 5, a peaceful realm of magic that got thrown into the war of Districts by the mysterious Gamekeeper (Charlotte Moenich, a junior who is in my AP Research class at zero block) and now is fighting the other districts for total control over all the districts of the realm of Epridyne. Use the special ability of Analysis and Tracking. Analysis allows them to learn more about their target using a status scan like ability, seeing one ability of theirs and hearing their thoughts for only one minute. Tracking allows them to place a tracking spell on them and view into what they see as well as view outwards as to where they are.

District 7: Once on good terms with District 5, this trading center of a district was thrown into the war of Districts as well. Redison (part of District 5) has to eliminate an opponent of District 7 in order to take their flag… (Malory and Marlo Hill are our first targets for this chapter). These puffle monsters have the special ability of "Force" and "Trade". Force makes it that the opponent is forced to give information and cant lie (used only every 8 hours). Trade allows for them to take an ability temporarily (but gives information truthfully in return) to use.

Solis Imperium: Redison gains a new form based on the Knight Emperor form of Elsword (Master form) with the Sword of the Sun. The metal on the armor is basically star crystals that can change power and form based on the abilities Redison uses.

Imperium Xenith: Redison evolves his already extremely powerful final form (Genesis from Elsword) and fuses it with the powers of Solis Imperium after infusing all the powers into the sword he forged himself with all his powers and might into it, The Arcregixenith Sword Almighty, Haohzenken (or Haohzynken). This legendary sword unleashes the powers of Solis Imperium as well as the powers of heroes, gods, etc. Wields it alongside his other personal Sword of Xenith Heroes (the rainbow sword I drew) and his form evolves to have armor similar to that of Sanzang Strike Freedom Gundam (the crown (head part) and the armor, but combined with the color scheme of Spriggan Requiem (beyblade burst) and the cloak and floating blades (blades from Garga from Buddyfight Ace and cloak from Genesis from Elsword)). These puffle monsters are from the infinite utopias that began to collide in the Xenithverse. The powers of the Imperium Xenith is actually an astral symbol that connects all worlds, -topias, and universes together by a strange magic force. With the destabilization of the universes after Redison unleashed the dark powers of Maoh, the other utopias (piratopia (pirate topia), puffletopia, gaiatopia, etc) decided to come and grant their powers to Redison to fight off the Maoh and restabilize the astral code again. Each puffle monster has their own special symbol that is hidden within their astral code that is unique to the “topia” they are from and can unleash a special power to unleash their Xenith form (a super evolved version of their unique abilities and traits from their “topia”), gaining an aura mask and aura armor (mask idea similar to SD Gundam World Heroes). All are as powerful as Sanzang Strike Freedom Gundam and the other Gundam from SD Gundam World Heroes

Maoh: Based on the ideas of the Demon Lord (causing the apocalypse) and the idea of the Dead Zone from Kamen Rider Drive and evil Dr. Strange from Marvel’s What If (when he absorbed mystical beings to gain power but went mad), my anger and hopelessness for the future embodies into a crimson skull that wraps around Redison and transforms him into the Crimson Maoh (Demon Lord) himself, granting him a dark, evil power that is ten times stronger than his other forms. He uses the abilities of Dreadstone, a strange material that the demon lords control that is similar to the Hiden metal from Kamen Rider Zero One, as well as the forbidden spells of Maoh, such as blood magic, absorption, and the bringing of the End, as well as unleashing power from the Dead Zone, a strange realm of a raging magic that fuels these puffle monsters. All Maoh puffle monsters (Demon Lords) live in the Dead Zone and rarely surface, with the Crimson Maoh being the only one that surfaced.

Overclock: Based on the overclocking term I learned in IT Essentials about how the BIOS clock is sped up for increased performance (at the cost of possible damage later if there is constant use). Redison had created this as a device for Roze (Chloe’s spirit monster) should the school ever need defending and if Redison should stray the path and become rogue. Redison created puffle monsters that can master this ability, the power to overclock. By speeding up their Kronos Core (their circadian clock of magic), they can increase their stats and power and unleash stronger powers and abilities. Can be regulated to “de-evolve” and return the Kronos Core to normal given there is damage and instability after long use. Very few puffle monsters have mastered the abilities of Overclocking, evolving into an overclock form and even using variants of overclocked magic and powers (different type puffle monsters have different overclocked abilities, and if mastered, can evolve into different overclocked evolutions). The puffle monsters who live in the Overclock dimension all have mastered the powers of overclocking innately, as they move time freely.

Mystere: Puffle monsters based off of the story of Mystere, a cirque du soleil show we saw during the Labor Day Las Vegas trip in fall 2021. Have a strange form of magic due to being more conceptual forms of magic and species

Vegas: Puffle monsters that are native to Las Vegas (the strip mostly). These puffle monsters have the extra stat of “luck” and “probability” for criticals, attacks, etc. All magic types are the same. Magic varies based on shows and imaginations of those who are in Las Vegas

Doom Clock: As part of the Maoh arc, Redison and I fuse after our dark feelings burst out and corrupt us, transforming us into the Crimson Maoh. During a battle against Alison, Taylor, Chloe R, and Megan using new Trojan Gear (similar to Go busters), Redison X Will fusion used Overclock to unleash Doomclock (The demon lord of all time). Uses their powers to steal “time” from the Krono Core and because of this, weaken them as their power flow is now much slower and energy build up is slower Wonder Savior: What pure goodness left in the Redison X Will fusion breaks free of the chains of Purge Revolution form and now takes a new form as it enters into a new sacred sword that it created and transforms into a warrior to wield the mighty sword, now together known as the wielder of Holy Sword of Wills, Redison Excalibur The Wonder Savior. The powers of the Holy Sword derives from the imagination and powers of Will (me) and Redison (as well as all puffle monsters in existence) and the spirit within the holy sword of Wills, Excalibur, combines with these powers to change forms (Holy Sword Breaker, Excalibuster, or Holy Explosion, Excaliburst, Holy Flare, Excaliburn, Holy Storm, Excalibolt, etc). Wield the powers of all the swords, Savior Symbols (the sword form change), and all magic to defeat The Purge.

Purge Revolution: As part of chapter 1 of Senior Assassin's, a purge (safety item is useless so you are all vulnerable now) was announced by the Gamekeeper on Tuesday September 7th, 2021 (Dad’s birthday) . The Crimson Maoh evolves further with the powers of the Purge, now evolving into the Ultimate Redison X Will Fusion (Crimson Maoh Redison THE PURGE), based on Supreme Heavenly Emperor Dragon, Dragonic Overlord THE PURGE. Holds unknown destructive power, thought to have the potential to destroy all worlds, unleash a purge of energy and power. The purge eventually ended though...but there is no telling when it will return for the following chapters. The Crimson Maoh destroyed most of PVHS, only to be stopped by Wonder Savior Redison and Redison (wonder savior eventually fused back to Redison), and was then sealed again. Should the darkness rampage again, Redison now has the powers to stop him

Viruson: Based on the idea of the game disease from Kamen Rider Ex-Aid and the idea of me getting super powers as well as how Chloe Rozalsky is working on bacteria and stuff in their class now (its first semester of our senior year in September), when I got sick (at the end of August, something that is very rare), this virus had evolved and during the “virus” incident when shobe’s phone got hacked, the virus had evolved further, leading to a fusion of a digital virus and biological virus, and combined with Puffle monster magic, created a strange and dangerous creature known to be Redison. This Redison was different though. Could shape shift into different forms, use a hijack ability or a health-block ability (get them sick), immortality (like the Zombie Gamer from Kamen rider Ex-aid), and the ability to clone and evolve over and over again. He wrecked havoc on the PV Campus and still does. Fighting against Meg and Roze (Chloe R’s monster) as they are fighting with a vaccine to defeat him. He created other puffle monsters like him with similar ideas in which Redison made them promise they would not destroy everything and then cured Redison (the virus) to become pure hearted Dreamory: Puffle monsters created by William from the dream world. After Sydney Wolfert talked about Dejavu in dreams, I told her about how in some of my dreams, I recall other dreams I had as if they were my memories (which they sort of are). This gave me the idea of how there is a William in the dream universe and me and that the memories that Dream Will recalls, are actually just normal memories (when they are memories of my past dreams, or what I thought were past dreams when maybe they weren't but my dream version made it like it was a real memory). So Dream Will is an entirely different entity, so he has a unique Redison of his own. This Redison is a sword, literally. He can transform into a sword for Dream William to use (Dream Will gets armor as well when equipped with the sword), as well as transform into his warrior form (similar to Number 39, Utopia from Yugioh Zexal), and wield sword like abilities and armor (his arms have blades on the forearm that can magically charge up and extend into blades) as well as summon infinite magic swords. These puffle monsters come from the imagination of Dream William, which make them very different because the imagination is based off of experiences and things seen, and the Dream world is different and memories Dream Will has are different so his imagination is different.

Reiki: Based on the anime my friend Ayush showed me called The Rising of the Shield Hero and the idea of the Legendary Weapons actually being ancient spirits that take the form of weapons that are popular from the world they summoned their wielder from (for every kind of plant, creature, material, magic, etc, there is a new form the weapon can take) and the idea of the self contained dimensions within the multiverse, each with their own media, geography, rate of time, magic, etc, these puffle monsters herald from a differently imagined version of the Puffle monster universe as they are really spirits that can transform into their legendary weapon or vassal weapon forms and grant their powers to their champions they summon from other worlds (other alien puffle monsters) to grant their power (so a power fusion since the champion also has their own powers that mix with the powers of the spirit).

September Arc 2: Redison had recently finished 106 missions, so he wanted to kind of step back and look to other warriors as heroes, choosing 3 candidates, Caleb (Boxy), Greg (Greenison), and Sabone V. They all fight at PVHS against each other in a competition to find the Hero Gauntlet (morphin brace from Go-Busters) and my ID Card to unleash the ultimate power of Redison as a hero. Characters are all the trojan characters, Proxima Midnight (a robot trojan that defends campus at night), which Sabone uses an astral spell to become Proxima Midnight after defeating him, turning him into a symbol for Sabone to evolve himself into an armored form (Zentinal System). Only Chloe R and Megan use Morphin blasters while others use morphin brace. This later became a war in the end against the mysterious Qiongdun, a dark warrior of another distant universe who's goal was to eradicate all pure magic.

Zentinel: Sabone V, the dragonic Valkyrie, becomes candidate for hero. At PVHS, he fights Proxima Midnight, and destroys him. With this, he uses a spell that basically transforms Promixa Midnight into an armor (a body), basically he places his consciousness, soul, mind, etc into Proxima Midnight, and with his Dragonic magic and Starfury magic, combines with the dark power of Proxima Midnight, to evolve form as the Dragon (originally from MNQ-03), turns into a dragon with wings with heads and 10 eyes (5 heads kind of like Raid Luinor/Rage Longinus from Beyblade Burst Sparking), known to be Percival Midnight Form (Percival the bakugan), a dragonic knight with more purple and black colors (from Proxima Midnight) and the knight powers from Sabone V himself. Sabone V eventually creates another robot similar to Proxima Midnight that acts as a day guard, known as Luinor, and Sabone V uses this armor and becomes the silver knight, Luinor (Dragon becomes a form based on Guilty Longinus/Luinor from Beyblade Burst DB). The robots become special symbols that only Sabone V uses to transform and evolve through fusing the robots and himself to gain a special ability and form. He eventually finds a digital library of different ideas of robots that can be made, and taking this data, he gives the robots Zentinel magic (dragonic magic, knight/valkyrie magic, and star fury magic) and given Puffle monster magic, these robots become special puffle monsters that use abilities just like Sabone V does, by taking an armored form and changing and evolving, but also act as armors that Sabone V can use to transform into. Live in their own universe of magic that highlight their powers and auras (their dragonic power)

Combo-Z: Caleb/Boxy uses the powers of combos to take many forms. As the next hero candidate, in the past, he never had a specific form and power (since Lava and magma are more fire based elements), so he works with different warriors that share the Combo-Z power to gain new forms (Bombardier, Apollonir (knight form), Beast form (Dawn and dusk shapeshifting beast forms), etc). Redison found this power developed into a universe of its own in which Caleb summons his “combo partners” from this universe as these puffle monsters share the ability and grant it to Caleb and to other puffle monsters in this universe. All have different abilities. A very social group, love friends, groups, etc

Sazuke: Greeneson’s power as the ultimate ninja warrior and scroll master. Greeneson as a Pseudo-hero (given a trial period on hero powers to evolve his form and powers). Unleash the powers of the Ethereal Winds and the Shurrikane (based on Twin Swords Hayate from Kamen Rider Saber). Unleash ninpo and other techniques. These puffle monsters live a secret existence in the hidden realms of magic. Hidden in the shadows of others, each shadow hides one universe of magic these puffle monsters live in, and they can travel to other realms through shadow jumping and meeting other ninjas. Each puffle monster has their own unique clan and special ninpo and scrolls, and each shadow of a person has their own unique clans and groups of ninjas

Howelling Predator: After research in the Core Predator realm, Redison grants this power to Megan in the form of a Custom Visor (GB Custom Visor from Go-Busters) to add to her blast (PRIDE) morpher and grant her Predator form. Meg’s normal forms use the powers of Wolves and blasters (similar to Kamen rider Vulcan from Kamen Rider Zero-One), and has two wolf head blasters that float beside her and fight with her as assistant powers or defensive tactics. In Predator form, it matches Kamen Rider Vulcan Assault Wolf in form (in a way). All stats are quadrupled but there is no safety on it. Summon as many spirit wolves as needed for a “pack” attack or become the great predator herself to attack with her pack. Loses her “humanity” at times and goes rogue, requiring her to either be defeated, or for her visor to be taken off. No control yet as of now…

Core Predator: Redison finds the beastial and primitive power within the core of magic (found underground of the Earth near the Earth's Core) and the puffle monsters that live in this primitive realm of magic in which their beastial instincts and impulses aid in their survival and grant them their unique abilities of magic (more attack, less defense). These puffle monsters have no "humanity" and are pretty beastly as far as culture and society goes, but their nature is noble, in a primitive fashion. Use their beastly instincts to unleash greater power and can summon spirit beasts for assistance in battle.

Izeiken: The powers of Equals that Chloe Rozalsky and Roze obtains when on trip in Boston, Massachusetts after meeting a strange warrior that looks like Redison. He tells Roze about his philosophy and how the world right now has those who are stronger and those who are weaker, but says what about a world of those who are all equally strong. He gives Roze a power he has been working on in the form of a custom visor (based on the GB Custom Visor from Go busters) which grants Roze the powers of this Redison, that in the future if I go to Harvard and become more education and philosophy focused, has the power to equalize all magic in a certain radius (similar to powers of the sword Iseiken in SD Gundam World Heroes). This Redison leads his own utopian realm of puffle monsters with their own unique abilities and powers but are equal in power and have the ability to equalize.

Oracles (pronounced Ora clees) or Solgazer: Artison, another candidate for hero, unleashes the powers of Horus the Oracle, a powerful mage that uses illusion magic to create a mystic field in which they can control the reality in the field. Artison's ability for analysis on infinite possibilities and strategies allows him to unleash the powers of the Solgazer to full potential through the power of Sol-vision and the ability to create a powerful Oracle field (created the sun court in the field where a powerful solar laser blasts down on the opponent). Anything he paints/draws with the staff or anything he envisions can also materialize before him as an ally and lives in the universe created by the Oracle Field magic

Sepkenshi: Based on Swordtember designs and Xiangjian (Sokenshi) monsters from Yugioh, these legendary swords and weapons were creatively made through the imaginations of many (that participate in Swordtember). These creative ideas take the form of puffle monsters that unleash the powers of the swords/weapons they are, maximizing their powers or gaining new abilities and forms based on the imaginations of others that see them and remix them (both in their head or actually draw them out)

Genomancers: Based on Genomes of Kamen Rider Revice and Genemancers from Dragon City. The future of super puffle monsters bioengineered to become the ultimate warriors and created by the Genemancers of the Xenithverse. These puffle monsters have special modified genes that allow them to unleash unique abilities that most puffle monsters don't have. They can also copy the genes of other puffle monsters to gain special abilities. Use the abilities of Remix, allowing for a maximized Genetic ability

Ascended: The more pure form of the Corrupted. Unleash the powers of the heavens and change forms by unleashing pure emotions, ideals, principles, values, etc. Unleashes the power of deities as well, using magic from the dimension of the Ascended, a pure realm of extremely unfathomable power stored in the flow of magic that is created by their library of wisdom.

Cyborg/Feburn: Redison from an alternate world becomes a cyborg (in an injury for some reason, I get a robot arm and Redison matches that). These puffle monsters are all similar to Stacy from Kikai Sentai Zenkaiger, part robot and part monster. They use the power of the gears, their own personal gears of magic (to unleash special abilities and armaments of their own), attack gears, or summoning gears (summon other warriors that they control, such as evil clones of their opponents, given they created a gear for them). Live in a very industrial world similar to the dark star in SD Gundam World heroes and Kikaitopia (from Zenkaiger).

Ryzior: I imagined a form in which Redison masters all forms of magic metals and all forms of magic crystals (all elements and magical energies transform into metals or crystals), in which Redison wields his Haohzenken Infinity (the Sword of Heroes plus his own Haohzenken), which mastered and contains all magical energies of the Xenithverse (in a crystalized form), and the sword Ryzior, a powerful sword made of all universal magic energies that transformed into metals that Redison of the Steel Age wielded and passed on to Redison to save his spirit as he rules both worlds. These puffle monsters were once part of the Steel Age universe, a realm of magic in which all magical energies become metals instead of crystals. Their civilization is more industrialized and advanced (more modern vs fantastical) with Redison as their ruler. However, as the corrupted redison wreaked havoc in the universes (Redison taken over by the corrupted power whenever I feel overwhelmed by feeling), his world was hit and in the war, he began to die, only for Redison of the Xenithverse to find him and wield the blade of kings, now wielding and ruling both universes as he fused the Ryzoverse (Universe of Ryzior) with the Xenithverse to become one. The Ryzior puffle monsters wield their own magic metal (kind of like a birthstone) as their armor, weapons, etc and can unleash the potential of the metal to the max. Very different from the Xenithverse monsters.

Waverider: Hans becomes a psudohero in the “What if” of becoming hero and evolves to wield the Anchor of the Time, which controls not only the seas and tides, but also control time, speed, and other godly powers. These puffle monsters are known to be ruthless but civilized, advanced and ever-changing like the sea. Live in an evolved realm of Atlantis Island (an island I came up with in Quail Run which was just a dark patch of grass or clovers in a sea of green grass) that has now become a universe under the power of Hans and his legendary Anchor. The anchor can become a spear, chained Anchor, and a trident, wielding different abilities based on forms. These puffle monsters wield similar weapons that control both time and the sea.

Corrupted: As I become more overwhelmed with life’s challenges and disappointed in regards to romance, Redison unleashes a corrupted form (based on Dragon City’s corrupted flame dragon, or corrupted pure dragon, etc). This Redison eventually took a separate form as all the memories of evil Redisons ever known combined into one evil Redison and William that use the powers of Corrupted (and have puffle monsters under their command). Eventually put under the Durzan group after being defeated by Redison’s new Ryzior form. Known to have a black and red sun behind them and emanate a black and red aura Qiongdun: The singularity of darkness and evil, combined name of Qiongqi and Hundun (the 4 perils of Chinese Mythology). Form based on Qiongqi Strike Freedom Gundam from SD Gundam World Heroes, this Redison and Dark Will are one and the same, the sole ruler of darkness. He planned it that 4 champions of darkness will rise and once all 4 reach their full power, he will absorb them and unleash his master plan, to destroy all universes of good. He absorbed the original existences of Dark Will/Dreadison, Derek/Scarlord, Liam/Redison, and William/Corrupted Redison (all of them besides Corrupted Redison and William were under the Durzan (evil but controlled by the Xenithverse HQ to fight only other evils) group after being defeated and magically edited (so their existences split) with one existence (their original) being pure evil, and the other existence to be Durzan)). By absorbing the pure evil from each champion, all their memories and powers, he also absorbed all other dark universes of magic and fused it with his own, now evolving to become the sole singularity of darkness. He can shapeshift into any form and summon any dark warrior needed. This Redison/Will wields a staff similar to Qiongqi Strike Freedom Gundam that can transform into any weapon given the magic energy to change forms such as the legendary sword, spear, etc. All puffle monsters under his rule are from the dark worlds and universes and bear the dark mask that unleashes their darkest desires

AGE-2: Qiongdun was successful in destroying all of puffle monster existence, (similar to how the Puffles were exterminated but only for them to evolve as Monsters (and for some survivors to hide away and evolve separately)). However, 3 different versions of this evolution and rebirth were found. In this age, all puffle monsters came back in the form of spirits (based on the Digimon spirits) and fractal monsters (the fabric of puffle monster magic takes the form of individual souls and units), to which both strengthen each other and can fuse to unleash greater forms. Live in a more spiritual utopian universe of magic. Unleash spirit fusion, spirit harmony, etc

AGE-3: Similar to AGE-2 except in this case, they returned in the form of digital entities and combined with our digital footprint and aura (the DNA from Digimon Data Squad) (personality, memories, photos, search history, interests, etc) take the form of puffle monsters which unleash extremely powerful abilities that are unique to them. Live in a digital universe made up of our memories, pictures, social media, data of history, etc. DNA burst, DNA warp, and other abilities are used by them

AGE-4: The puffle monsters return in the forms of themselves, biological life forms alien to Earth. However, using the powers of Genomes of humans, animals, and plants alike (of Earth) (based on Kamen Rider Revice), and the powers of their Rebirth-Eggs (Digi-eggs) unleash their new powers. Live in a universe more affected by nature, genetics, etc. Fuse with the Genomes or use the powers of the Rebirth-eggs to unleash greater abilities and forms

AGE-5: The golden warrior known as Sanzoh, the opposite of Qiongdun, rose as the king of the heavens and was tasked with the rebirth of the puffle monster universe after the 4th Age had been destroyed. In order to do this, he brought created new artificial life forms in the form of warriors and found the spirits of the heroes (all my puffle plushies and puffles on Club Penguin website) where they entered the new bodies and gained new abilities, new personalities, and new souls. Each of these legendary heroes became rulers of their own element of magic with their own warriors that were created based on the original designs of the artificial warriors created by Sanzoh (based on Sanzang Strike Freedom Gundam from SD Gundam World Heroes and Sanzo Damashii from Kamen Rider Ghost, both of which are based on Sanzang, the Buddhist Monk thought to have inspired the Chinese story, Journey to the West) and the 3 warriors (Sun Wukong, Sha Wujing, and Zhu Baijie). Each of these puffle monsters (the leaders) are all as powerful as the hero form of Redison and past heroes, and the puffle monsters that were modeled after them to become the next generation of puffle monsters of the universe are almost as strong. Each hero below has their own universe to themselves with their own group of puffle monsters with similar abilities as them but evolved after gaining other abilities through time and contact with other worlds. 20 species total as part of AGE-5 (so this counts as 20!! and not 21 or 1).

- Redison becomes the Sword swinging flaming swordsman of magic (Infinity Sword style)
- Boxy unleashes the powers of the beasts (all can shapeshift into different animals or use animal abilities based on the animal sign given to them)
- Frankencookie unleashes the power of the Undead
- Artison becomes the creative warrior of art and vision, the ability to create through art and light
- Thunder now becomes Horus and wields the powers of light and the sun
- Viking becomes the God of Thunder (like Thor) and wields Stormbreaker (his weapon in Endgame)
- Greenison becomes King of the Ethereal winds and skies
- Serperior unleashes the powers of nature as the Sage of Gaia
- Hans becomes the Oceanic Emperor
- Pharoah becomes the ultimate pharaoh of the infinite desert, controlling sand, heat, sandstorms, cacti, mummies, pyramids, scarabs, scorpions, etc
- Sabone gains the color of Indigo and becomes the Cosmic Dragon (unleashes dragonic power and asteroid abilities)
- Snowy gains the silver color and becomes the Lunaris warrior, wielding both lunar magic and ice magic
- Joe: Master of the shadows and darkness. Unleashes shadow abilities and lives in the darker corners of the universes
- Dana/Dancer becomes the master of technology as she controls dimension and reality defying tech abilities and weapon
- Disco (on CP website) becomes the master DJ and uses the magic of rhythm and music
- Krystal becomes the master of the mind, psychic, and crystal ball magic (as well as tarot cards and horoscopes)
- Brownie/Brandon unleashes the powers of the Earth (rock, stone, etc and mastery in invention to create massive weapons of stone or golems that act as soldiers or even armor)
- Dragon/Drake, uses the powers of Lupin and the powers of the Dragonic rings as mystical teleportation abilities for stealing things for his collection, eventually turned good and only steals to copy the information for the Encyclopedium Universum, the core of all magic and data of AGE-5

- Renee/Ren, Prism (the rainbow paper puffle Shobe made for me): The rainbow puffle I had from CP, becomes a warrior as he/she keeps all the universes in balance with each other as they fused together (in a way) with bridges, and keeps the harmony in place, fusing different magics together to create new powers
- Golderex (both a CP Gold puffle and paper puffle Shobe made me with gold glitter glue or paint) : The legendary king of puffles (the Gold puffle) was revived again and now acts as the keeper of the Encyclopedium Universum (based on The Watchers from Marvel comics) and the guide and playwrights of fate and destiny, creating and destroying when needed. Has close ties with Sanzoh

September Arc 3 pt 1, Return of the King: After the final fight and destruction of Qiongdun, the dark warriors he absorbed had evolved after being absorbed for a while and gathering power. Dark Will and Dreadison fused with Corrupted Redison and WIll, and gained the powers of absolute darkness (and the staff of Qiongdun), becoming the rulers of the dark universes he gathered. Meanwhile, Liam, the aggressive version of me (who wished to sacrifice my kindness to become more driven), and his Redison fused with Derek and Scarlord (from the Alterverse), so now Liam has an evolved Scarlord (that took the aggressive Redison's powers and abilities), and Derek fused with Liam. Lastly, after a long journey and adventure, Rex returns after a long adventure with his group of swordsmen. Rex has evolved to unleash his own unique symbols and abilities to change forms (swordsman to Marksman), and the other "rex"s on his team also arrived at PV to find me. Rex has now become as strong as Redison, the hero of and Main Character of his own universes, stories, etc, in which his team are like Redison's group. Rex arrived for a union of the two universes (the Rex universe, or Universe of Kings of magic), all powerful regals that can use special Rex symbols to change forms and gain armor/extra abilities. So now there is Liam and Scarlord RX and Dark Will and Dreadison Maoh that are now the dark lords, Rex has returned, but also, the tournament to find the next Hero continues as the Hero Brace and card have not been found yet. Chloe and Megan have been fighting lately since Megan's birthday is coming up and genetically, getting the vaccine could kill her, and Chloe doesn't feel safe around Megan so she doesn't want to go to her birthday dinner. In the story world, Roze and Meg have a showdown after an argument with both them and the other heroes that came to observe the fight, teleported to another dimension created by the Hero brace...

Rex-verse: Puffle monsters of all the universes where Rex is the main character and like Redison, has his own stories, weapons, special abilities, and is all powerful like Redison. The puffle monsters of this world are very similar to those of the Xenithverse but they are more battle focused and stronger in magic abilities considering Jimmy's gaming skill and knowledge in the past (so the ideas of Monster magic would be different). These puffle monsters are also similar in design to Arthur MK-II Gundam from SD Gundam World Heroes, and other Gundam from SD Gundam World Heroes. Use the armor/mask ability to unleash their special forms and max out their magic. Rex is the main character of his own story basically. Monsters also based on all the Swordtember 2021 designs on Instagram, as they take the forms of their own Rex monsters (kings of battle or magic) and wield the main symbol of their royalty, a special crown made of their magic aura/energy either crystalized or a spiritual crown.

Hero Type NEXT: The hero brace/gauntlet and card that contained the powers of the hero that Redison created had finally appeared during the showdown between Meg and Roze. The other monsters also saw it and it was then that the Hero brace and card fused and created a portal of light that transported all of them to a massive arena where they found puffles with the “glasses” part of the hero brace, as their own eyes. These puffles looked futuristic in design and their glasses hadn’t seemed turned on. It was only as the challengers walked in that the Hero gauntlet and card transformed into a warrior that fought the others to find the worthy hero in the end. Sabone had been victorious in the end after connecting with his true power and defeating all the other opponents by also mastering the ability of Hero copy ability and use as its own. The gauntlet and card (now in warrior form) revealed himself to be a sentient warrior that gathered powers and information as it watched over all the puffle monsters and hero candidates and their most recent adventure, gaining the sentience it needed for its primary task, which was when the eyes activated and the other puffles awakened. This new futuristic magic dimension was home to the next generation of heroes, as these robotic puffle monsters are all as strong as Redison as a hero. Based on Kamen Rider Drive Type NEXT.

New Hero: Sabone, the first puffle on CP website, combined with Valkyr and evolves to become the ultimate swordsman of the mortal plane. Valkyr eventually separates to become the Apex Sword of the Heavens, Valkyreon while Sabone becomes the Apex Creator and Hero Pixlites: Puffle monsters created by the powerful mages and ancients as forces of magic to unleash spells and abilities in assistance. These puffle monsters were created by the knowledge of the Books of Prophecies and given these powers, were created to be all good. Eventually they evolved into greater forms and gaining stronger abilities and magic. Based on the Pixls from Super Paper Mario and the story line (Count Bleck and Timpani, the Tribe of the Ancients and Tribe of Darkness, the Light and dark prognosticus). These evolved forms match the forms of the “ancient sages”.

Qitian Dasheng: Meaning “The Great Sage, Heavens Equal” and referring to Sun Wukong’s self-proclaimed title, and based on the form of Qitian Dasheng Wukong Impulse Gundam Douzhan Shengfo from SD Gundam World Heroes. These puffle monsters are mostly white in color but have two halves of color, representing the two universe clusters (Omniverse/xenithverse) they created/ are the representatives of, with each Onniverse/Xenithverse representing a color on their body (as the red and blue on Wukong), and granting them the use of unleashing aura forms (the silhouette forms) using magic from their xenithverses. Symbol of spiritual awakening and rising to reach my higher purpose in life and hope for the future, the light of the future. Arrives as heralds of the new hero Sabone and blesses him luck in his fights and adventures ahead.

Koro: During the war of the crown, a new puffle monster species emerged as the personifications of the crown particles of magic that flowed. These puffle monsters control the crown particles as they have a crown core particle that allows them to control the other particles and performs feats of magic. Based on the Webtoon called Phase, and how the main character controlled these particles that turned into flowers and healed someone (another main character). These puffle monsters are elemental of course so particle transformations take different forms (flames, rocks, flowers, blades, ice, etc). From the mysterious Koroverse that awakened as the mysterious crowns (HOCO) appeared at PVHS for the nominations of HOCO royalty begins and the war of the crowns begins. Each of the puffle monsters have a crown made of the mysterious crystalized particles on their head that symbolize their power and enhance their particle magic control. Live in the Koroverse that is nature made of these crown particles. Puffle monsters also made of the crystalline particles as armor, weapons, etc

September Arc 3 part 2, War of the Crowns: The Homecoming royalty nominations began and ends on Friday. I am hoping to be given a second chance at royalty maybe, who knows? I sorta still dont have a date but thats ok, I can figure it out when I get there. In the monster world, Sabone has risen as the Knight and hero of the Mortal plane, while Redison has risen as the Apex Immortal Xabre King ruling from a higher plane (in a sense) leaving one hero as the hero (or Anti-hero) of the Demons/underworld plane, who arrives at PVHS looking for worthy opponents to defeat and feast on their power (doesn't kill them but leaves them near dying and with their powers "copied"). Eruzahd (the dark clone of Sabone, like Dreadison) arrives at PV to cause trouble. Meg fights back with C.L.A.W (Creations Linked Auto Weapon), a claw that can switch to fist form and claw form and can allow her to change forms (get lenses) at will. Meg was utterly defeated in a swift end and her energy was taken away as this dark king unleashed giant hands that grabbed her and absorbed her lifeforce. Meanwhile, at Lindstrom Laboratories, Hi-jack (Alison's brother's spirit monster, an expert parkour master and creative engineer using magic for parkour and stunt gear as well as making custom gear for Lyra and Lume), finished some new weapons for Lume and Lyra to try as they plan to defeat the powerful Anti-hero they now named, NEMESIS. There are also legends of the mysterious ghost that haunts the PVHS world as well as the mysterious Crown of Troy, a strange relic of extreme power and pride energy…

Arkaijin: Based on the Concept of D&D Campaign map and universe creation, May be an intro for having others play the Xenithverse and monster worlds… Another new version of monsters...https://www.wistedt.net/2020/12/13/how-to-create-a-dd-campaign-world-a-step-by-step-guide/ (use link as guide to create campaign world maybe if spare time to work on it). Redison plays as the Lord of Sabres, Wargodlock class (or Eldritch knight/Hero Deity), species is Xenithian (made up species of mine, that is a multi-class system where they can switch their class and abilities, holding only 2 classes). All deities, constellations, legends, fables, spirits, etc granted him strength as the ultimate sword (based on the Four Yin Demon Decapitator sword from Omniscient Reader and how the constellations granted the sword ultimate power and made the main character a fable). These puffle monsters that live in this new universe (in theory, called the Arkaiverse right now), are known as fables, legends of their own stories, with their own universes of lore, myths, powers, abilities, and powered by the imaginations of many. These fables unleash the powers of the stars infinite, all the stars in the sky are theirs, and can form unique combinations of symbols to form in the sky to empower them. Deities, spirits, and other elemental forces can also grant the fables powers. Redison rises as the Ultimate Sword and is granted the ultimate powers of universal creation, imagination, and the powers of the stars infinite from all universes in all time and space. Each star grants a special ability or boost, each constellation the stars form is unique to each “fable” as well as the powers each star grants. They see their own constellations vs how we see our own. Redison unleashes all powers of all stars and constellations to create worlds and manage the universe of the Fables, as these Fables are the ones that manage the Xenithverse from a higher plane

NEMESIS: The demon lord anti-hero/villain that is the hero of the underworld, as Redison is the hero/deity of the Heavens, Sabone is the hero of the mortal universe, and NEMESIS (or a new name eventually, is the hero of the Underworld). He was woken up through the Ouiji circle and summoned to PV as he looks for challengers and absorbs their powers through the powers of masks and uses a black hole ability and giant hands to grab and absorb life force to gain their energy but not kill them. These puffle monsters are from the underworld spirit realms in which they use a different form of magic that is more focused on power sacrificing and tributing as well as soul absorption and life force use techniques.

Windsong: A mysterious group of puffle monsters that wield daggers that also act as flutes, allowing for a strange music to be played as a spell...known as the sirens of the woods and the whispers in the wind, the moment one hears their song in the wind, it is only a matter of time that is the last song they hear, use special magic with the dagger

Gunlance: Dynamite (wields explosive gunlance with grenade launching and bomb abilities and explosive blade and shield), and Thunderbolt (wields magic gunlance with electric crystal at the end to unleash electric shocks and shocking shield). These 2 are visitors of PVHS as representatives of the gunlance realm of the Puffle monster universe in which Monster hunting began as the Puffle hunting pattern resurfaced, so these puffle monsters are more tough and stronger in combat to fight back.

Charge Blade: The ax and sword combo from Monster Hunter (the other 2 weapons above are also from Monster hunter). Crimson Vortex / Crimson Firegle, an imagined Redison wielding the legendary weapon that controls the flaming winds and vortex. Fujin, wields the Earth splitting charge blade, based on Kamen rider buster. These 2 are visitors of PVHS as representatives of the Charge blade realm of the Puffle monster hunter universe in which puffle hunting resurfaces (except now as monster hunting), so these puffle monsters evolved to master a certain weapon and power to defend themselves and eliminate their threats.

Bowgun: Ares, using special heavy bowgun that allows for adding symbol energy and with blade at end to unleash both a blast and slashing ability. These puffle monsters mastered the powers of the bowgun as their weapon of choice and are master marksmen in their ability charging and other skills as a hunter

Kuvira: After finding an ancient energy circle, mortal puffle monsters tapped into the power of the Great Sages, legendary spirits that provided unlimited power, both magical, physical, and spiritual. These spirits merged into puffle monsters creating a new species (with their own elements, abilities, culture, etc) now as warriors similar to the Avatar (Based on The Legend of Korra and how the spirit of light Raava fused with Wan to become the avatar and their role as the bridge of spirit world and human world), unleashing a vast array of powers and variations of their magic abilities that their newly supercharged core symbol provides. Sabone evolves after permanently fusing with the supreme sage and head of the Kurviraverse as these puffle monsters spread their great knowledge to all universes

Araavis: A harmonic convergence (based on the Harmonic Convergence from The Legend of Korra) of puffle monster energy after the three heroes of the heavens, mortal realm, and underworld are all awakened (Redison, Sabone, and Nemesis respectively), created new supreme puffle monsters as heroes of their own planes of reality (their own mortal realms, heavens, underworlds, etc) to which they would have their own generation and cycles of heroes to create more puffle monsters and diversify magic further. These puffle monsters (and ones created by them) are all almost as powerful as Redison, Sabone, and Nemesi given their own hero force (a power they try to control and master over time). Live in their own individual and unique planes of existence which the 3 heroes fused to the Xenithverse eventually through Cosmic Bridges. Infinite number of these universes created as they were created by the infinite combinations of symbols of the grand spirit circle created by the fusion of the Kuvira spirit circle, Nemesis spirit circle, and Arkaijin spirit circle, and using spell, other puffle monsters can use imagination energy and their unique core magic to create their own Araavis universes.

October Arc 1: Crown Wars continued: The Homecoming royalty race is still in action, HOCO is coming up and apparently its behind the bleachers (which a bunch of people are saying is dumb so they are not going). Shiva, Saniya, and Ira, (and probably Saathvika), are going bowling instead and as much fun as that sounds, I asked Alison, Suhani, Ira Vaidya, Sydney Wolfert, and Karina Ligasan (all said no in the end). Suhani said no specifically because of the culture clash and how her parents may not be ok with it (so she never mentioned I asked her out to her parents), and I never asked Chloe R out because Mom said hold off till Prom, but it wasn't a good thing that I asked other girls out (in the case, I shouldnt have asked at all). Anyway, STUGO is also offering free tickets for those who have the most liked Hoco proposal on Insta and guess who hasn't been asked out or plans on asking out again anytime soon! This guy! Meanwhile, swim season is on the final month and the SAT is coming up in November as well as most University applications as the future begins to crawl closer...In the puffle monster universe, the idea of Nomic! Still continues and ever since the spirit nexus and universes created by the 3 heroes and the arrival of new heroes, PVHS has their hands tied with new invaders. The mysterious Nexus of Infinite Realities was discovered, and the warrior known as Eruzahd, the inner darkness of Sabone and I (my inner darkness and Sabone's inner shadow and darkness fused to create Sabone's version of Dreadison (D(ark)-Azure (with an H before A) backwards) arrives in PV…and Suhani is deep into her new lab work at UofA, which in Monster world, Petallia (Suhani's character) finishes Project Eden, a genetic project that has the power to genetically mutate others in battle or genetically enhance, as defense against invaders, which proves problematic...

Ahkarith: Puffle monsters with the powers of the Power Rings (based off of Green Lantern and the Lantern Corp). These power rings fuse with their lantern charger and creates a powerful core of magic in which their core symbol is supercharged. These puffle monsters overflow with energy as they unleash their emotions, auras, and imagination into a vast variety of magical energy constructs of weapons, spells, etc. Live in an infinite cosmic universe of magic created by these power rings and energies in which the puffle monsters established their own cultures, worlds, civilizations, technologies, etc. Set as a campaign map idea for D&D in the future when I join the club Longkaryth: Puffle monsters with the powers of the 10 Rings and magical martial arts of Ta Lo (their magic universe is based off of magical land of Ta Lo (from the movie) and magic and mythical creatures in it). They described how there was once massive cities with advanced technology and magic, etc. These puffle monsters are those who live and prospered in these advanced and infinite realms of magic within this dimensional plane. They use the powers of their local magic and fuse it into special rings that grant them different abilities and can use as weapons (similar to Shang-Chi and Wenwu). Combine with their special core symbol and unique rings (which have their own unique symbols carved into them), unleash special attacks in combo with their unique martial art style.

E-Gen: Suhani is working on another lab at UofA doing Cancer research which is something I am super proud of her for, but kind of bummed at the same time knowing her future is brighter. In the monster world, her character Petallia finishes Project Eden, a genetic project that grants a form and power to genetically mutate or enhance in battle. Puffle monsters gain that ability of Eden after gaining a mysterious energy that allows them to fuse their magic abilities with the main Eden Genome Stamp (Vistamp) and gain the abilities to create mutations, enhance, etc. Based on Kamen Rider Revice. These mutations allow for different special abilities that most puffle monsters dont have (such as elemental changes, so a fire type with water or lightning type attacks and abilities) but also allow for certain stat enhancements and body type enhancements, granting different innate abilities as well based on their body type (a more tall and slender body grants more fast attack abilities, while a more bulky and dense body grants innate defense abilities). These genetic modifications makes for a more diversified community of puffle monsters. Live in the modern universe of the XMU since there is no home world for them

ÆGÆON: Alien puffle monsters that were created by the mysterious Maestro of Reality and all dimensions. Based on the Battlerealm and Battleworld and how many heroes were taken from their home dimension and as they enter this space, dimensional counterparts are created as well, these puffle monsters represent these heroes as they grow up in this infinite shattered and diverse universe of the many many cultures created after being left by the heroes millenia ago. These puffle monsters used the powers of the ISO-8 dust to create new powers, infinity stones, relics, artifacts, and new magic system, constellations, and even their own home worlds to live in after repairing all the damage done, while also absorbing the core powers of the dust allowing them to create what they want with their own imagination. Began to appear on the PVHS world after a doorway opened to the PVHS world, the first time they were freed in thousands of years as all can come in, but no one really leaves. The dimensional counterparts and their home dimension/universe with special abilities, or grew up differently and changed in powers, form, etc joined with the Aegaeon Grand Universe (the battlerealm) and the small wars that play out, eventually lead to magic fusing and hybrid realms being created with their own puffle monsters. Each zone has their own unique culture, emblem, colors, powers, armors, weapons, special ability, skills, stats, etc. Based on Marvels Contest of Champions

Viceyx: Pronounced Vice-ix. Unleash the inner darkness, the deep inner evil and shadow of one and transform it into a puffle monster of pure savage and dark magic. Contracts make them stronger. As Redison from Corrupted William was originally the darkest most inner evil and shadow of Corrupted William, his fusion with Scarlord and Derek's fusion with Liam leads to Liam's shadow and inner evil to fuse with Scarlord, evolving him into the ultimate warrior of shadows and inner darkness (takes form similar to Wukong Impulse Gundam Konzenkoou form as well as the shadow that corrupted Peter completely (in the webtoon Wendybird)). These Viceyx puffle monsters use the inner dark desires and savage nature and dark secrets to unleash forbidden powers. Locked away in the deep dungeon dimension where they are unleashed when necessary and usually locked up by their owner themselves

Dashikiri: Dark Puffle monsters under the command of Dreadison Maoh, who now wields the staff of Qiongdun that can wield both spell abilities and can transform into the handle of a mighty giant sword of absolute darkness. Uses the ability of absolute darkness to control his warriors of darkness while also switching between a spell-caster form and long range to a short-ranged melee sword fighter. These dark warriors also use inner evil shadows and soul energy as well but mostly use the energy of negative feelings (hopelessness, jealousy, sadness, etc), vs Viceyx which is the inner darkness of pure hatred, desire to commit a dark act, etc. Known for their martial art styles and weapon mastery as well as they are under the Emperor of Absolute Darkness, Dreadison Maoh Qiongdun. Dreadison can unleash the ultimate evil and absolute dark powers from the shadow of darkness within Dark Will and unleash his dark mask form, which grants him insane boost in power and special final ability. Live in a darkened empire of magic (more imperial Japanese style) and based on Nobunaga Gundam Epyon. Much more violent in nature and power

Kingdom's Hearts: Puffle monsters created by the mysterious Heart of the universes, in which they wield the powers of special Keyblades and can open gateways through keyholes and discover the hidden power of the hearts within a puffle monster, allowing them to unleash a legendary ability through the powers of the Keyblades they can wield. Based on the lore of Kingdom Hearts and the Keyblades. Their forms are based on their special ability, Keyblade, Keyblade armor, etc. By reading up on Sora, I was able to get ideas on creating my personalities for both heroes (Redison and Sabone) in order to make them seem more human. Use the powers of keychains and gears as well to upgrade their cores, armors, blades, and even the keyholes and Kingdom Heart universes themselves, creating alternate universes of magic with their own puffle monster warriors, stories, hearts, keyholes, etc and are known to all be pure in heart as they used their pure power to fix the original Kingdom Hearts worlds and disappear, finding the puffle monster universe

Masaru: Magic based off of Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower (the magic colored circle of aura that appears behind the magic user) and the Destruction Technique used by the main character (Asura Flame Blast). Uses strange aura flowers and arms, weapons, etc, these puffle monsters use the mysterious powers of myth and stories that are created from memories, experiences, and their imaginations as well as their very soul-fire to power these aura constructs. The flowers represent the blooming power of their aura force. Live in a magical realm similar to Ta Lo from Marvels Shang Chi Movie, in which they focus on improving their aura powers

Zetar.io: Today, October 6th, 2021, I apparently became the new CS Club President as the others seemed to like me (after I had made a joke to vote for me, which I did, saying I would make the computer science club great again (in a Trump voice)). Redison becomes the president and ruler of a new digital world where computer science and the powers of the Code Crowns reign supreme as the warriors known as Avatars make this virtual universe of magic better. This universe is a public domain for all species of monsters to access as they provide their input, code, ideas, etc in this space, an ideal version of my puffle monster universe in the far future, maybe. Use the power of mental imagination code (Zeta code), allowing them to unleash their full potential and abilities

Sakai.ro: Sabone too became president of his own company down in the mortal universal realm. He ruled the digital paradise on Earth known as Sakai.ro. These puffle monsters use special digital armors and KOREs, special cores that represent their form and powers as a Saver, a digital force of magic empowered by unique code that they create and the powers that they got from their unique code (language, type, etc) called KORECode. Based on Kamen Rider Zero One and the powers from it.

Vitalantis: Powers of puffle monsters blood. Based from the NHS blood drive on October 8th, 2021 and how I donated for the first time. Blood is understood as lifeforce, in this case, lifeforce can constitute power and magic. So puffle monsters that master the powers of blood can unleash powerful abilities controlling lifeforce, fate, etc. They can control others but also gain their abilities by fusing blood with their own or using a blood powered spell. Each puffle monster's blood is unique and has its own special power. From my own blood, came a puffle monster born of the blood, the very first Omni-blood puffle monster that became the ruler and leader of the Vitalantis puffle monsters. Based on Kamen Rider Eden (from Kamen Rider Zero-One)

Hao: The strange but powerful turtle of light and balance. One of the 4 Mythical Beasts and embodiment of the 4th Hero as Redison is the Phoenix, Sabone the Dragon, Nemesis the Lion, and now Haon the Turtle. Haon is the pinnacle of peace within the mind and lives in the universe of the ever-changing mind, a dimension in between and beyond the mortal plane, underworld, and high plane. Based on the aura from Rashad Goodman from Beyblade Burst Dynamite Battle, these puffle monsters unleash powers from their home universe of the mind and are all as powerful as Redison, Sabone, and Nemesis, but also unpredictable as their powers and forms are ever-changing. All are shining with their crystalline cores but also bare a Halo on their head (and around their symbol)

Zhrago: My bakugan partner (with Redison) was based off of Drago (since I liked Bakugan at the time), but was later renamed Fury. Fury had evolved over and over again (taking forms based on Bakutech bakugan (Flare Dragaon, Rise Dragaon, Jigen Dragaon, etc)) eventually in Monster form fusing with Sabone, unleashing a greater power! Wielding the powers of all dragons and the powers of the Dragon of Creation and the World-Linking Key, Drago Uno (from Buddyfight) that became a sword as the World-linking KeySabre, Zhrago Omnis (after fusing with all other Zhrago emblems, which are within their own world-linking keys and have their own special abilities), Sabone as the Zhragaon Emperor unleashes all Zhrago Emblems and powers from each world. All puffle monsters from the worlds under one specific World-linking Zhrago Key, wield that unique power granted by the key and can wield their own unique and smaller key blades to unleash their special abilities and powers. Fury rules over all the Zhrago types as the new king under Sabone. Have the powers to change forms as well (their dimensions) using an emblem dimension change (based on Jigen Dragaon's form changing)

Ravaa: Divya's monsters have the powers of song in which the music and lyrics are a powerful spell. Using that power, Sabone found a stange power core within that force that was linked to the PVHS Universe in which ouija circles have been made to summon spirits but those spirits were not from the underworld or spirit world but in face, a strange dimension of magic and multiple dimensions at that. The circles were linked to the Ravaa dimension, a multiverse of infinite dimensions and worlds in which puffle monsters unleash their unique ability to harmonize with other beings and unleash special fusion abilities through the harmonizing of their spirits and souls. The power of music and lyrics as spells in the end are part of the harmonic system as a strange harmonic song is played in a fusion and a certain lyric unleashes a special ability or attack. Each puffle monster of the Ravaa dimensions have an energy harmonic ring that shines and widens as other puffle monsters and beings sense the ring as their rings collide. A ring collision and perfect harmony can unleash a special fusion, song, lyrics, etc, as well as a special new unique form of magic being created to become a puffle monster

Redicarnations (October Sub Arc 1): In the universe, Redison passed away and was reincarnated as Redison Kaizenith, basically Redison II (there was a Redison II but he was just named after Redison). When Redison passed away, a great wave of chrono force created an infinite number of successors in different universes, timelines, dimensions, etc。 In the main timeline, Redison Kaizenith became the reincarnation of Redison but eventually gave back his position to future heroes (and back to OG Redison later on). In an alternate timeline, Redison Kaizenith becomes a hero as powerful and as long as OG Redison, and stays hero for ages, and during this time, met up and united the other infinite successors that could have been, so that there was really only 2 grand timelines, one of Redison OG and one of Redison Kaizenith (Redison II). However, Redison II too passed away into a new dimension, and reincarnated as Redison III. This Redison discovered this dimension in which all Redisons pass away into, and found future Redisons, his future reincarnations, and all parallel successors of the infinite universes. Redison III has the ultimate power of both Redisons as well as his own power, unleashing a special ability to take any elemental ability and maximize by infinity to unleash the power to create a multiverse of universes based on that one element

Zenitheon (Zeneeth eon): Ruled and embodied by Redison III, he unleashes the powers of both Redison I and Redison II and his own core power to take one element of power and maximize it to infinity to either create infinite universes and multiverses that are attributed to that one magic power alone, or to destroy an infinite number of universes and multiverses with that one power. These legendary puffle monsters of these universes they create and destroy are embodiments of their own multiverses, based on the Celestials, Eternity (the anthropomorhic beings that each universe in the multiverse takes the form of) and Cosmos (First Cosmo, 2nd Cosmo, etc) from Marvel comics. Use powers of their celestial like powers as they reached beyond the universal legend status as ultimate puffle monsters. Redison III became known as Redison Zenitheon, changing his title as he had evolved beyond the plane and gained a new form from Kaizerion. Each puffle monster have a cosmic body in which they have planets and stars in their designs that grant them special abilities, in addition to their core symbol

Beyond Redison/Aeternumverse: Rulers and creators of the Aeternumverse, based on the mysterious island of Aeternum from the Amazon game New World, except expanded into a grand multiverse of universes, timelines, worlds, etc based on each Redison's individual world and history (and their monsters worlds and histories). These Redisons are all successors of Redison I, or Redison II, or any other main timeline Redisons. When they pass away, they enter this higher universe of the Aeternumverse as the creators of fables, legends, stories, etc that determine the reality of the future heroes and characters. Similar to the Eternals from the MCU in powers, such as creating with their mind, the blue flame, the uni-mind, and other powers of legends, deities, etc

Kaizerion ÆDGEUS: Ruled by Redison II, The owner of the Kaizerion Destroyer (based on the Vestal Destroyer from Bakugan), known to be a very eccentric guy. United the would-have-been successors of Redison I or successors in other timelines, dimensions, etc. Travels to other worlds on his ship and can transform it into a giant robot (like Kingexcalibur from Kamen Rider Saber), or he himself can transform into a giant warrior to wield his ship as a sword (Kaizerion God Destroyer Sword) or as a gun (Kaizerion Supernova Destroyer Cannon). Redison II is known as Redison Kaizerion, originally Redison Kaizenith, but after being king for ages as Kaizenith, he realized it was time to evolve further as Kaizerion and travel the universes of magic. Puffle monsters of his universe are based on weapons and story of Xenoblade Chronicles II and I, using weapons, powers, cores, etc based on the game.The heroes that Redison Kaizerion united are the heroes of their own special unique universes and the successors of Redison I (in their universe) with their own puffle monsters with their own special abilities and unique functions. Redison II found them and united with them after he was chosen as the primary successor of Redison I.

Endgine: A strange group of puffle monsters that unleash the powers of the dark gears of the end of the world. Eventually evolved and purified by the mysterious Eyes of the Titans and the Ark-Deity Emblems (based on the Landorous, Sharknorus, Odinorous, etc (from Insta)), as the eyes of the titans connected with the emblems of creation and transformed the gears of the End of the World. Each have their own Ark Engine within their core that empowers them to unleash rune gears, Titan Eyes, and other powers of creation that allows them to function as the creators of the universes of magic once more.

Archanal Shift/ Korinyte: Redison (in the DND universe) masters his unique martial art of Arcanal Energy manipulation to control elemental magic like “Bending” from Avatar The Last Airbender. Unleash auras like Greatest Raphael (Beyblade Burst DB, Rashad’s Beyblade) with the powers of rings and magic circles and ancient energy of celestials. Redison brings back his initial observations of monster magic reacting with the DND universes and came home with which the magic energy hybrid took the form of a new puffle monster (the powers of Arcanal Halos and the mystical martial arts of arcanal magic energy manipulation for spell creation, elemental bending, etc)

October Arc 1 Resolution: Crown wars are over. Megan resigned as President of the Computer Science Club leading me to do it. We are definitely now more distant, and so are Chloe Rozalsky and I. I talked to her a bit at the Homecoming game but I think our friendship is dead now. Suhani and I are also feeling a bit more distant and so are Alison and I. I guess this is the transition into University as we drift apart from each other...Homecoming was a lot of fun! I met up with Helen, her brother Ethan, and her date Nate and Nate’s sister Jasmine and her date. Ethan had a date who was at the dance and I had none. We met at Desert Ridge, got sunset pics, and then ate at CPK. Suhani (as beautiful as ever) came in as well eventually. I left and met up with Kali at Teastop and we hung out for most of the dance. Eventually met up with Alison and Brandon (her neighbor and friend), and Suhani was dancing alone so we all hung out together for the dance. I didn’t see Chloe much though. Just gave her a flower that Zosia and Riddhi gave me. I felt Alison and Suhani had a small connection as they danced together so much more naturally than when I danced with Suhani. It's getting cooler outside now. Swim season is ending, Internship is getting more challenging, and University stuff is approaching as the second phase of QuestBridge is coming this Tuesday and Barretts is coming up later.

October Scenario: Civil War: A new zealous group from the PVHS Elite Defense force split off from the main group and formed their own group known as Red Nexus, using robotic technology and character magic experimentation (through hijacking of IDs), something that the PVHS Elite Defense force stood against, created their champion warrior Aeneas against PVHS Elite’s new champion, Hektarus. Eruzahd and Sabone watch as the 2 fight to the finish...The magic though of Characters from Students and puffle monster magic unleashed the Inner Magic Red Nexus within Aeneas and purified him, granting him a monster form and ultimate powers as Arkaizer, the legendary knight that leads the Aeneas puffle monster and protects them as their hero. The Red Nexus Corporation disappeared as it became the corporation of the universe of the Aeneas puffle monsters, leaving the PVHS Elite Defense force as the primary form of defense and Hektarus as the main warrior fighting Eruzahd and Sabone as well as any other invaders.

Aeneas: The warrior of Red Nexus, a group in Troy (PVHS World) that created a warrior based off of the legendary hero Aeneas, Achilles (both from the story, the Iliad), and Redison. Red, white, and silver/grey in colors. Eventually, the puffle monsters magic transformed the robot champion Aeneas into a fully fledged puffle monster warrior that leads the Aeneas puffle monsters in their universe as their protector and hero

Hektarus: The warrior of the PVHS Elite Defense Force, fighters against the alien invasions of puffle monsters. Fighting against Aeneas for which group is the supreme defense group. Black, Silver/gray, and red in colors, eventually became the primary champion of the PVHS Elite Defense Force Æneas: Using the powers of the student ID that contains the power and imagination energy of each student and the code of each student being unique with past, present, and future student code IDs, puffle monsters were created as warriors and heroes like Redison. Each ID for each person created an infinite amount of puffle monsters, each with their own powers and stories based off of the person, and each puffle monster has their core ID and their human ID. By combining this, they wield a mysterious new power that is much different from other puffle monsters. Ruled by Arkaizer, (or the monster Aeneas). IDs can also fuse to unleash new abilities and create new puffle monsters. This power was found to have expanded to the fact that each human being in existence had their own ID (known as IDE or ID of Existence), leaving the Aeneas universe to expand infinite-fold as each ID in existence created new puffle monsters, and those new puffle monsters fused their core IDEs and Human IDEs with others to create new hybrid powers.

Arksword: A visitor from the East arrived...Born in the Philippines to a loving family, named Bill James Arksword (basically a doppelganger of me, kind of like in those movies where we were long lost distant cousins), became famous as a movie star in action movies (Disney+ movies, marvel, etc), and as a story writer, became a director in movies but also wrote many stories. With this fame, he travelled the world to many cities and countries, had many experiences, made many friends, learned many things for his stories to come to life. He had 51 generations of heroes, just like Redison, with his main character being coincidentally named Redison as well. His friends are also story writers and travel with him, giving him a variety of characters and interactions in the Arksword universe. Redison Arksword wields the Zenryoku Arkkai Cannon (based on the Zenryoku Zenkai Cannon from Kikai Sentai Zenkaigers), as well as the Legendary Arksword itself. Uses the cannon and sword to unleash powers from all of Bill's stories as well as his own. Each generation of heroes has their own unique motif of monster magic in their own universes and stories.

Arkken: An alternate me that uses the powers of Arkken gateways (based on the Sci-fi film Doors: A World Beyond) in which it asks "What if I lived elsewhere or spent a month to a year in a certain area" with examples of my lives if I lived on Catalina Island (Avalon) or if I lived in China for the summer, or stayed in Japan for a few weeks, or Korea, etc. Redison Arkken (Ark Ken (sword)) wields the powers of the heroes, characters, and magic that these alternate personas of me created, as their Redisons fuse to Redison Arkken, the traveller and creator of the Gateways and infinite alternate universes within those gateways. Example, Redison and me from Catalina island have different stories and characters, and magic as experiences there are most likely different from experiences if I lived in China for the summer or for a cultural exchange program.

Gigamons: Puffle monsters from the universe of the Gigas. Based on a game concept I made for a Kajam (basically a repl.it codejam (code challenge) in which this was a gamejam (game making challenge) and prize is $10K should we win for “Most fun” or $2K for Best Story) where the theme was “huge”, called Gigas Chess. The concept idea was the normal game of chess but, these pieces are giant towers (similar to the tower in Sword Art Online, and the tutorial tower from Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower), and these towers have different amount and types of floors where a certain group of puffle monsters live. For example, the knight has the attack floor (so puffle monsters of that floor live in their own civilization and have more offense focused abilities, and have a more battle/war focused culture), and an intercept floor (so these puffle monsters and their culture are more defending based and supporting others). Each floor has their own universe on it (and each tower has an elemental/magic alignment based on the Gigas that controls them), which has their own unique puffle monsters that have their core symbol, which tower and floor they are from, and which Gigas they are under, all of which (characteristic) have a special ability

Gigas: The titans that control the towers (pieces) in their war for cosmic control of all realms of magic. The gigas each have their own set of pieces, and act kind of like a deity to those towers and floors. Each Gigas has a special magical power/alignment which the towers and floors that the Gigas owns follows. There are an infinite number of Gigas in existence and they challenge each other in Gigas Chess as an act of war in order to conquer their little space of the plane of magic. Gigas are more humanoid in design

Titanites: Based on the game concept I made for the Kajam (10-18 to 10-25 in 2021) with that theme of “Huge” similar to the Gigas Chess, called Titan Wars. Gigas Chess was a chess game, but Titan Wars is a grid turn based strategy game (similar to what I wanted for Blade Chronicles), except that these puffle monsters fight on the backs of titans as these titans battle it out as well. These are the puffle monsters that live on the back of the titaneons. Each Titaneon has an elemental alignment which determines the culture, magic, and nature of the world on their back (or body or even insides), as well as the special magic and abilities that the puffle monsters that live there, wield. With different Titaneon symbols as the core and special magic is provides, each puffle monster wields a special ability of their Titaneon as well as their own core magic ability. Also based on the Lion Turtles from Avatar The Last Airbender (TV Series) and the cities on their backs (at one point)

Titaneons: Similar to the Gigas, except they are more bestial or primitive in form. Taking the forms of giant beasts (like the elemental titans from Trollhunters, or the Temples of the Sun and Moon from Mune: Guardian of the Moon). These titan beasts have a special magic that affects the world that is on them or within them. Unleash a great power like the Gigas do.

Planet U: Based on the story of Microhunter (Webtoon) and a futuristic civilization in which powers and abilities are common and the people are pretty much like gods. Puffle monsters from an alien world with these abilities that bear the unique symbol and a source of their power known as the Urushin Halo (unleash the powers of Planet U)

Hakendai: Puffle monster of the supreme swords and blade kings. Sabone of D&D becomes the master of the Creation Blade and the Ha-o, or the Blade King. Using his legendary magic and mastery of universal magic as a god, he created a universe of Supreme Swords. Terms below are names and descriptions from Kamen Rider Saber (where I based this from). The magical Xaber Halo is behind them as a source of celestial power from the Creation blades and sacred swords

- 創世刃 (Chuàngshì rèn) or Creation Blade
- 刃王剣 (Ha-ō ken) : Blade King Sword
- 十聖刃 (Shí shèng rèn): Ten Sacred Swords
- Haken (Supreme Sword)

γenesis: Will the Genius, a strange version of me in which he maxed out his potential as not lazy and studied extremely hard and using his brain to max, made him a little genius like Ashley Garcia or Doogie Houser, etc. Created his own puffle monster known as γenison (Redison γenesis) that began to create and head the next generation of artificial super puffle monsters in this alternate universe. Bear the γenesis / Genγus halo (infinity signs around it and magic equations of extreme power)

Sorenczar: Soren (Sabone) becomes the God Emperor of the Xenithverse instead of Redison (who had risen to become the Transcendant on another plane, and technically a God Emperor), and as the ultimate overlord of the puffle monsters universe in this alternate universe, he reshapes the universe for all puffle monsters to be stronger, more diverse, and masters of the Core System, that each object in existence and created have a magical celestial core that acts as the identifier for that object. This core has a special attribute that provides the main power or unique trait of this object, creature, etc. Example is Ram / Mountain Goat core (unleash this core to control stones in air to become stairs to climb and increase speed and skill in climbing). Also based on Dune, Marvels Eternals, and Boboiboy FanArt of his elemental forms 24th Eternity: Legendary puffle monsters from the mysterious super universe of magic in which it is protected by 24 heroes in the form of one hero. In the span of 24 hours (which is slowed to 24 days for the puffle monsters), the 24 heroes switch over and over again as they move from world to world, solving problems after problems, in the span of 24 days. Example, one hero known as Eras, wields the legendary Messiah Arms (Swords of great power) and has his own personality as heroic, brave, and kind but reckless, immature, and indecisive. This hero fights in World 1 for 24 days (24 hours on Earth), and at the end of 24 days, he will disappear from World 1 and on World 2, Kora will wake up wielding the ring of celestials with the memories of Eras and what he did on World 1, and this will cycle through 24 heroes, with their own unique weapons, abilities, personalities, etc for each world, all timelines, dimensions, etc. These puffle monsters are from the infinite universes, timelines, and dimensions that these 24 heroes travel through and influence. In time, Redison and Sabone found them and granted them each, their own universe where their own body will not disappear and they will stay as individual heroes, each with their own culture, powers, etc

1. Eras: The Warrior of the Messiah Arms. Colors are Red and white. Personality: Heroic, brave, kind, but Reckless, immature, and indecisive (based on Buddyfight Messiah Arms)
2. Kora: The celestial sorceress and wielder of the Ring of Celestial Seas (creates energy constructs of weapons, etc). Beautiful, kind, selfless, and smart, but has a short temper, easy influenced, and gullible.
3. Zeus: Wielder of Trishula, the sword of thunder and exterminator of all evil. Violent, impulsive, and a loose cannon, but wise at times
4. Orus: The Hammer of the Heavens. Wields the hammer of the heavens. Strong willed, stubborn, and just, but sometimes too stubborn for his own good
5. Taylar: The archer of Eden, and wields the Bow and Arrows (and Crossbow) of Eden. Cunning, friendly, quiet. Not as sympathetic as others
6. Hunter: The shooter of stars, wields the magic gun (transforms into rifle, machine gun, etc). Analytical, Sharp insight, opinionated, but sometimes can get trigger-happy and tired easily
7. Jiun: Fist of the Ancients, the master martial artist. Great memory and athletic skill, but not really booksmart (no strategy)
8. Aruna: Rune artist and spell artist. She loves to draw and read, but gets distracted easily and overthinks
9. Sydany: Wielder of the Book of ancients, she takes pride in reading and knowledge, but is marked as too smart for her good, a smart-ass at times
10. Shindo: The silent ninja and scroll master. Silent, dedicated in his art, hardworking. Practices too hard though, and a bit too ambitious
11. Ace: The speedster and dagger of the shadows. Fast paced, always in a hurry, doesnt take much time to think though...
12. Horus: The wielder of spirits. Friendly to spirits and all. Very traditional but tends to be labeled as strange due to him seeing things others don't
13. Perseus: Master of the time and the Trident of the Sea of Eons. Wise, a great teacher, and inspirational. Cranky at times, overthinking things
14. Raiki: Claws and beastial instinct, ferocious, impulsive, and doesnt care about her looks (carefree), but she has no manners or communication skills
15. Aras: Staff of light, the bringer of light to the darkness. Kind, always helping, shining. Gets annoyed easily, annoyingly helpful as well
16. Arthure: Create anything through his imagination. Both of great power and help or destruction. Always in deep thought, exhausts easily, asks too many questions
17. Helen: The healer and master of the Palm of Energy. Wields Tai-chi like techniques to restore balance. Also purifies evil and dark spirits. Both a healer in magic and through words
18. Hera: In tune with her emotions and auras, wields the powers of virtues and emotions that grant each aura form a magic ability and power. Wields these auras as weapons through the power of her Mood Ring and the celestial representatives of these virtues and emotions. Quite emotional

19. Iris: The great psychic and mind-reader. Foresees the future through her magic eye and overwhelm with psychic powers. Creates illusions and hallucinations as well as imaginary psychic constructs as weapons. Always daydreaming...
20. Oliver: The illusionist and magician of cards. Wields magical card abilities to create traps, portals, etc. Loves card tricks, but always thinks everything is a trick
21. Sieger: The legendary shield hero. Protector of the innocent. Tends to feel overwhelmed as he believes it is his responsibility to carry the world on his back.
22. Falink: Wielder of friendship and bonds. Unleash the Link Force, using attributes of others and unleashing combos to wield greater powers. Focused on friendship and loyalty
23. Orion: The starwatcher and explorer. Wields the powers of constellations and the heavens as guidance in both battle, and normal decisions. Looks to the stars so much that he doesn't pay attention to the things around him but very curious at times when they do pay attention. Wield magic circles granted by the powers of the stars
24. Raizo: The crown of the heroes. Wields the magical crown that bends others to his will but also grants power to enact magical laws and rules that bends reality around him. Pure of heart and has best intentions but anxious at possible failings.

October Arc 2: The Absolute Time and Absolute World Order: I am one and ALL! The sovereign of the singularity of time, space, and all magic power arrives at PVHS. Based on Time Ruler Dragon (from Buddyfight Ace)...All will be erased and reshaped by the Sovereign and The Era of Xenith shall end…On Halloween, all spirits are freed as time is non existent for a brief period. All are alive, there is no death, conflict, all peace...This puffle monster partner is my partner in which I stick with Gold as my favorite color and as I am skinny and grow buffer, I become something more like Rashad Goodman from Beyblade Burst DB. Redison fuses with Golderex and becomes the Ultimate Sovereign of his universe. Reality becomes rewritten and the New World becomes reshapen as a blank slate as deities fight to reshape the world in their ideals and beliefs...Next week, Stanford is due for early action, basically the idea of holding my breath and how the future is being shaped now by my actions, how time will feel frozen on Halloween, the night before the due date. Redison's powers and Sabone's powers (as well as all plushies and main puffles) fuse to unleash the ultimate warrior that leads to preservation of the Xenithverse (old) and keeps the new Xenithverse, allowing for integration into the new slate after complete reshaping. PVHS remains untouched after the reintegration but...new threats arrive as Hektarus is pitted against the Sword of Evil...

Arkenson: Redison and Golderex fusion and the Absolute Sovereign of The Singularity of Celestials, the point of space, time, and reality in which all are collided. Unleashes the great pause of time in which for a brief moment, time is non-existent, as all things in existence become real and alive again to enjoy time on Earth once more. (Part of Halloween night). William in Arkenson's body as Arkenson is Will's avatar, he takes the form of Rashad Goodman (Hao form) from Beyblade Burst DB. However, when in battle, he transforms to look similar to Redison except more gold (based on Time Ruler Dragon from Buddyfight) and some white from Greatest Raphael (from Beyblade Burst DB). These puffle monsters are those from the singularity of time, space, and reality, wielding an ultimate power to recreate the singularity and wield all powers of magic. Part of Skinny William's universe and the Xenithverse Rewritten. Each of these puffle monsters have their own magic ArkClock (based on the Godclock from Buddyfight Ace) unleashing the powers of the singularity. Also has rainbow aura like Rashad Goodman and Greatest Raphael as the arrow on their head (like Rashad does, glows (from Avatar Last Airbender))

Arenson: Sabone (with Redison powers and hero) and Golderex fusion, and the reshaper of all time and reality. All of existence was erased but only one phrase came back from memory of the old world, "Don't judge a man until you've walked two moons in his mocassins" (from Walk Two Moons). This lead to the rebuilding of a world without hate, where everyone understood each other and took other perspectives to mind. A peaceful place. Based on the question from ASU Barretts Honors College Essay Prompt of how All Human knowledge is erased, and what statement or idea should be remembered and why? In this case, Mom suggested the quote of walking in someones shoes, and I realized how this would lead to lack of judgement and eventually, a more peaceful world. Arenson rules as the sovereign of this new Xenithverse, with their own types of magic that are more peaceful and less aggressive in their magic abilities but more creative and expressive. These puffle monsters are pure and have no knowledge of the past Xenithverse (now Xenithverse Preserved) and are unique in their own nature and powers. Also has arrow mark on head that glows when max power is unleashed using the powers of the new powers

Zenithsone: The One, Only, and All. Redison fused with all puffle plushies and Sabone as well as all heroes, and their families, etc. All heroes and characters fused as one warrior of Redison known as Zenithsone. He preserved all the good and diversity of memories of magic and everything in existence, of the old Xenithverse and created puffle monsters that embody these good and diverse memories of the old Xenithverse that was preserved and joins into the new slate of the Xenithverse reshapen. These puffle monsters have their home universe as the Xenithverse Preserved, ruled by Redison and Zenithsone, but also, they diversified and hybridized their magic with those from the Xenithverse Reshapen (of both Arkenson and Arenson). Based on Gaia Memories, all magic I ever learned about, and the idea of memories in The Giver (memories of the old world). Arrow marking glows when in sync with the virtue/emotion/idea they represent

Avatrison: Puffle monsters created by Will (skinny Will) that uses the unique powers of "Avatar", allowing for Will to become them in the Monster world, and for them to become Will or a copy of Will in the human world. William (skinny form in which I don't get fat) creates an infinite variety of characters in this reshaped universe as he creates his partner Arkenson, Arenson, and Zenithsone. He also created many many many other characters as well that like Arkenson and Arenson, can become him (or a copy of him in the human world) and Will can become them as they are his avatar. The fusion grants an ultimate and unique form of magic as well as a unique boost in power, especially when fused with their human (as the avatar) or when they control the human (the human is Avatar). Each fusion depending on the human avatar or them as the avatar of the human, can lead to an infinite variety of forms and powers. When in perfect harmony with their human avatar or when their human is in perfect harmony with their monster avatar, the arrow mark on their forehead and other markings of magic glow and grant a boost in power and a special ability

Absolute World Disorder (Absolute Dreadison): Dreadison and Golderex fusion arrives as he brings chaos through bringing back memories of the old world through certain puffle monsters known to be the “oracles” as they have their goal to reshape this new world with chaos and disorder. The antithesis of Zenithsone and based off of Omniscient Reader (the Webtoon) and how there are the readers who know the future of the reading (except in this case, these puffle monsters are those who have memories of dark things from the old world). Use the dark energy of the Dark memories from the old world and try to recreate the dark memory in this new world. Eventually purified under the Xenithverse P/R (Preserved/Reshaped) fusion, as they became Durza puffle monsters (which is also under Dreadison and Dark Will)

Iszu: Celestial Puffle monsters of the First Civilization that created the Relics of Utopia. In this case, the first civilization of the new Xenithverse after it was reshaped, and in the beginning of its rebuilding. These celestial beings used these great relics of power to unleash special magic from the old xenithverse but also further augment their powers as deities of both the old xenithverse and the current xenithverse. Part of the lore of Assassin’s Creed (game series) of the Isu and the Pieces of Eden.

Æsireon: Puffle monsters under the Assassins Order (based on the lore of Assassins Creed game series), the secret order that protects humanity from abuses of power, coercive rule, and injustice against the Order of the Ancients and the Templars. These puffle monsters have a vast genetic history of assassins before them, each with their own unique abilities, skills, fighting styles, weapon mastery, and stories. With the powers of the Aesireon circle and system as well as with the genetic history of ancestors and past assassins, these puffle monsters have the unique ability to explore the infinite timelines and histories of the Assassins (versus seeing the actual history through their eyes) they can explore infinite universes, alternate scenarios, etc with that ancestor acting as the player character and the avatar of the puffle monster using the power. These infinite universe explorations lead to the discovery and obtaining of an infinite amount of powers and abilities that they unleash as heroes against the darkness that is the Templar order Ænimus: Puffle monsters also under the Assassins Order but are known as the librarians of the clan as they have the unique ability to access memories of their ancestors. Through the use of the Ænimus system (Animus system from the game Assassins Creed), each puffle monster is able to explore their own ancestor’s universe of magic through their stories and history, while also entering the ancestor of memory as they become the puffle monster’s avatar in order to explore the history of their ancestor while also gaining the skills of them. Because of this, these puffle monsters are known to have the largest library of abilities and skills through the unique ability of inheritance of skills and memories of their ancestors from genetic memory from the Aenimus system.

Zenryoken: Extremely advanced alien robot-like Puffle monsters that have their power core as energy constructs in the form of gears (as the core of the gears and real special crystalized gears with the magic symbols and energy construct gears) based on Zenryoku Zenkai Cannon (from Zenkaigers), allowing for fusion of abilities depending on combination of symbols on each gear (core gear, arm gears, leg gears, etc). The champion of Zenryoken is known as Roku, the wielder of the Zenryoken (Zenryoku Sword, which is based on the Zenryoku Zenkai Cannon from Kikai Sentai Zenkaigers). Core gear has 10 elements (Fire, Lightning, Nature, Wind, Water, Ice, Dark, light, earth (stone), Energy (Cosmic, lazers, etc)) while the gear on the hilt has 5 symbols (Slash, Blast, Defend, Spell, Summon (elemental ally)). Other members of this legendary group are puffle monsters designed like Favorite Champ, Victor; History Maker Dragon; and Dragonic Overlord "The X" (all from Cardfight! Vanguard), and many other units like them. These puffle monsters come from the highly advanced universe of Zenryokun, a realm created by the Celestial Gear Gods and Goddesses that used their powers to create a realm of invention and innovation, a place where using their gears, a puffle monster can customize their battle style at will, but also create and invent anything with the powers of their imagination (creating a new power gear, weapon, battle mode, etc). By gear spinning, they can change their forms, gaining new abilities, or a large variety of unique abilities, fighting styles, weapons, etc. By forming the energy construct gears and matching them into a pattern as well as combination of their core symbol, they can unleash a Zenryoku Finale, by matching all their gears (now in energy constructs) and them spinning at top speed when connected and drawing out the core symbol they are using as their special move attack, with the sparks/energy generated from the spinning.

GodZenith: A purified (and Ultimate Evolved) form of Jaouken and supreme blade deities with powers from the Zenith symbol from 66,666 Years Advent of Dark Mage (Webtoon) (modified with a reflection of it and a phoenix with a sword and X at the center and surrounding floating blades and the S parts are dragons. All puffle monsters based on the Talisman species from Vanguard Overdress (Vairina), and are known to be the ultimate deities of magic with unlimited potentials and forms of power. The ideal maximum evolution of all puffle monsters (in one universe)

ZenithEmpire: Based on the dream 10-29-21 night of me as part of a guest (or a new member) of the Royals at the kingdom at the very top of the world and hearing we are a great empire with smaller kingdoms under us. In the puffle monster universe, this is the Zenith Empire at the top of the world, called Peaks of Zenith, beyond the highest mountains and structures on this Earth, is an infinitely vast empire of magic, cultures, landscapes, etc all ruled under one grand kingdom with their mighty castle at the summit of the tallest Peak of Zenith, in which the Royals rule. I played the new royal which in the monster world, becomes The Hero of Zenith, Soren (basically a Red Sabone that wields Myrtenaster from RWBY) and magic is used through magic dust. These puffle monsters wield their own magic techniques and arts as well as live in their own kingdoms under the mighty Empire of Zenith

Rajin: In the same dream as ZenithEmpire, I was a traveller, able to go to certain realms of magic and places using a strange portal system of some sort that allowed me to choose where to go (such as the Top of the World), New York, waterfalls and jungles, and flying through other fantastical realms, regions, etc on this Great infinitely vast world known as Rajin. These puffle monsters belong to the realms of Rajin, in which they have their own cultures, magic techniques, stories, etc

Jaouken: Was once the Supreme Sword of Evil, and the new powers of Eruzahd. When purified, it became The Supreme Sword of the Joker, a power greater than King (Redison), Queen (Rosie), Ace (Sabone/Soren), and Jack (Redson). The powers of the Joker have transferred from one to another warrior but known have been able to truly master it...until now. Phoenix/Daredevil becomes the master of the Jaouken (Joker sword), becoming a mighty warrior of great power to rival Redison and Soren/Sabone as he was always a potential hero (and is as old as both Redison and Sabone), and taking the data of Redison CP (Club Penguin Website Redison) through fusion, got full control of the blade, but also divided the sword into infinite pieces so all puffle monsters could unleash the powers of the Joker.

Shiranui-Jaouken: Eruzahd still wields the Sword of Evil as his supreme evolution into the Swordsman of evil and chaos, Shiranui. Unleashing the spirit of the dark warrior, he combines his dark dragon magic, Sword of Evil magic, and now the Eye of Shiranui, into one ultimate power...The eye of Shiranui represents my dark outlook on my future (due to my nature of rather enjoying the now vs prioritizing my future and the reason Chloe Rozalsky will get farther than I will, because I like now vs later). This is what will pretty much end me...Shiranui from Cardfight Vanguard. I find out here that in the end, dating Chloe will hurt us both in the end. I will hold her back from her full potential, and in the end, her performance as being so amazing will only hurt my own mental health due to my incompetency to be like her or good enough for her (in theory, and in negative view). In turn, I will end up being mean to her possibly. These clandestine puffle monsters all have an eye of Shiranui but use the powers of the eyes to unleash their special ability (similar to Shiranui-Jaouken)

SaiKo: Based on the Seiken Saikou Driver and Kamen Rider Saikou (from Kamen rider Saber). If I die early, the light part (positivity, good memories, good traits) becomes the Sword of Light as my spinny pencil is transformed into a blade of light with my soul in it. When wielded by Chloe Rozalsky, transforms to Rose Gold form, while Alison has Astral form. Unleashes a strange power unknown to all…Eventually transforms into its own warrior as the light solidifies into form to wield the sword of light and hope. He carries his own legacy of me as he creates more stories, puffle monsters to live on, and new powers more focused on hope and the light.These puffle monsters were created by the sword of light (Saiko) and can transform into their own blades of light and hope. Each have their unique ability but all have the powers of the Light of Hope (Holy light) with the spell “Let there be light!”.

Ortherus: Originally Megan’s new Rabid Genome of a Cerberus combined with Orthorus Wolf and in a predator state, but later Designed into the ultimate puffle monster to defeat Redison. In the far future of Genetics and puffle monsters, a strange puffle monster was created as the weapon of the future and the next hero as all heroes were genetically and artificially created. Through his training, Orrison (the next hero) learned of the legends of the great heroes, including Redison, and wanted to go to the past to battle him. In the past, his ability absorbed the powers of the Ortherus Vistamp (from Meg) where his dark blue aura and core transformed the genetic information of the Cerberus creature into a puffle monster spirit that fused with his own and unleashed his ultimate hero form as the Lone Hero of Justice with blue crystal armor (made of the eco armor of the vistamp) and the core symbol is fused with the stamp symbol of the Ortherus Vistamp. Vistamp based off of Kamen Rider Revice. Leads the puffle monsters of the Genomix universe under the Ortherus clan, an elite team of puffle monster heroes that were created to become the heroes of the universe. These elite fighters have mastered the Genomix ability (using a puffle monster genetics and evolving it into an armor, weapon, ability, etc), as well as mastered the Ortherus force (a predator instinct form that allows them to maximize their energy use and genetic potential powers, but decreases their strategy and slowly changes the gene as it fuses into them and creates a new Ortherus force for a puffle monster of the next generation to have)

Genomyx: Puffle monsters of the Genomix universe in the far far future in which puffle monsters are created through artificial methods, genetics, and a strange magic in the future. These are the ordinary puffle monsters of the Genomix abilities under the Ortherus Clan that watches over them all. Kind of like they are the citizens and the Ortherus clan are the leaders. These puffle monsters have their own unique genes and genetic information allowing them to share their genes as forms for armor, powers, weapons, etc. Can send and recieve genetic information to unleash different forms, get weapons, powers, etc. Genomix based on Kamen Rider Demons

ZVX (Zenith's Vault X): In the ultimate future of puffle monsters, the architects of reality, magic, and the universe created a vault of worlds, templates for magic creation, spells, books, and a vast wealth of knowledge beyond imagination, These puffle monsters (the keepers of knowledge) live in their vast dimensional vault and collect information as all puffle monster worlds are created through events of history. Created as the puffle monster universe becomes a kind of like Star Trek as the duplicator becomes a key tool in their society. In this case, the Puffle creator (a robot that created puffles in the past) evolved into the ultimate tool as it accesses the infinite libraries of knowledge of ZVX to recreate or create new stories, objects from any universe, from any time period, dimension, reality, etc and even recreate memories, emotions, and anything in existence as a puffle monster, or creates a brand new puffle monster with information from the ZVX. These puffle monsters are based on the Eternals, masters of Cosmic Energy and Zenith force, able to create any weapon, wield any magic power, illusion, create any object into existence, etc.

November Arc 1, The End of Paradise: The destroyer of worlds arrives, an interdimensional warlord based on Mewtwo/Necrozma (based on RE:PKMN). The herald of this danger discovers this destruction and the end of all worlds and travels to the other worlds to warn them as he arrives. As the fight occurs at PV, the war starts with the characters of Redison (from Rathari and REIGN, and main universe) fighting the Destroyer of the Worlds and working with the 7 nation army of Xeptar. Eruzahd and Sabone fights off Hektarus (the robot weapon created to match Redison, and in hopes, evolve far enough to destroy Redison).

Xeptar: Paper mache puffles were made from an art video so Shobe made me and herself some puffles (a crimson puffle, gold puffles, rainbow puffles, and many other colors). In this case, the gold puffle is an actual plush sized puffle that becomes a strong partner of mine (in this universe) as in this universe they existed when I first began collecting puffle plushies. My customized gold puffle becomes my partner as the legendary warrior known as Alexander Caesar the Great (Xandar). He leads the great universal empire of the 7 Nations, and although there are an infinite number of magic nations, they are under the main 7, and these 7 are under Xandar Caesar the Great, the leader of the 7 Nations Army. These puffle monsters are under the capital (Xeptarus) and more generalized in their abilities as they are hybrids of the united 7 Nations and the infinite other nations. Each of these puffle monsters have their own unique abilities but those under the 7 Nations have a special ability most dont. In this united realm, these puffle monsters use unique abilities as they have their own special abilities under the Xeptar Flag.

- Augustine: Augustus Regis the Great (the right hand man of Xandar Caesar) is a peridot colored puffle that leads the Augustine Nation, a great nation of magic that is known for their military magical prowess, but also their modern style of civilization with skyscrapers, industrial magic, etc)
- Ærgonas: Led by Naval Commander, James Argos, these puffle monsters are from the universal nation of naval power, pirates, submarines, navy, etc. These puffle monsters have their cities and moving cities as massive ships, titans, and other forces that control the seas. These puffle monsters have a naval based society and derive their powers from the elements of the sea and the ancient monarchs of the seas.
- Sarashi: Based on runes and Henna tattoos (I got my very first one at a New Global Citizens meeting from the guest speaker Sasha who spoke about Acid Attacks in Pakistan and all over the world and her goal to help people affected by the attacks). I got a flower but asked to make it more sun-like (the sun of life). These puffle monsters have an ancient form of rune system and use magic tattoos on them that glow and unleash special abilities, stat boosts, and even special forms when certain tattoos are unleashed. Live in a realm of magic that is more in tune with nature and elementals. Led by the Indigo sage that the universe and group is named after, Sarashi.
- Zandarith: The masters of innovation and inventors of the legendary weapons, robot warriors, Zandar-runes (a robotic rune with ability to change forms or become a weapon), etc. Led by the Great Inventor himself, the Orange hero of the rainbow, he wields his legendary weapon he crafted himself, ZANDARIS, a black and orange sword that blasts energy like a rocket into the form of a blade. His sword can act as both a high-power particle cannon, sniper rifle, and a Greatsword. Has the abilities to create anything with any ability, power, and has the power to customize anything to fit themselves or give to others. They are also masters of trade as they are great craftsmen and women, building everything from fancy furniture to armors, weapons, jewelry, trinkets, rings, and even homes, vehicles, etc. Set in a more industrial realm of magic with towering skyscrapers, clean factories, and workshops of craftsmen and women everywhere. Lots of stores as well and Crafts Guilds at rivalry every once in a while

- Aronis: Led by the green hero of the rainbow, the twin blade wielding Sword sage, a wise leader and healer, but also skilled and fast martial artist in terms of Qi techniques. The masters of zen and relaxation, they have become experts in healing, acupuncture, potion making (pharmacology), farmers in special herbs and fruits, and Qi. Live in a more secluded realm of magic known for their spas, hot springs, verdant gardens, misty mountains (more asian in a sense), they practice day and night, healing techniques, write medical scrolls and books, master Gi points and acupuncture, and the guardians of the realm wield special weapons to wield their Qi and Gi points to maximize their magic energy flow to make even the slightest hit, a high power instant blow.
- Nation of EQLIPSE or DNS (Domain Nexus System): In this universe, reality is on the fence between magic reality (real) and the Metaverse. The metaverse is reality, but magic reality is also the metaverse. These puffle monsters are hybrids of Metaverse and Reality, both the same existence at once. Using this strange form of paradox magic, they unleash unique abilities of their dual existence (unleashing powers of both their metaverse world they created with their core symbol, and the powers their core symbol grants in reality). Unique Mirror worlds, dimensions, timelines, etc exist in both Metaverse and reality, and both exist simultaneously, marked as Mirror world MV and Mirror World RV. A metaverse reality hybrid of a fire type monster, can have many alternate versions with variations in code (metaverse) and DNA (reality) (More varieties now). Ruled by the Engineer of the future and King of the Metaverse and Defender of Reality, the Purple Hero of the Rainbow, Zillion
- Ikaros: Based on Marvel's Movie Eternals and the Core medals from Kamen Rider OOOs. Unleash monarchs of the elements. Ruled by Ikaros, also known as the oracle, the Yellow hero of the rainbow. These powerful puffle monsters unleash the full potential of their core medals they represent (a beast, an element, weapons, etc). These puffle monsters are known as the Monarchs of Magic, the nobles that wield magic enhanced by cosmic energy (the Eternals powers)

rev:ERse: Puffle monsters from a negative version of the 2071 of the REI (REImagined)-PVHS in which puffle monsters existed but due to negative feelings of people, these puffle monsters grew dark and lead to an apocalypse, with all of Will's friends dying and everyone he loved dying except him. This leads to him and his partner puffle monster fusing as their emotions creates them to become the Destroyer of Worlds (based on the Necrozma/Mewtwo fusion of the RE:PKMN world), and leads to them erasing all reality of his universe, but however, finds there are other worlds with mankind and decides it is his mission to erase all evil and humanity and monster kind. His destruction creates puffle monsters of certain magic abilities with the power to reverse creation and magical diversity.

Rathari: 11-3-21, I joined the RE:PKMN discord and its nice to meet others who live for pokemon lore and stuff like I do XD. These people on the discord, such as Lord Rathari, The Ultimate, Mr. Cain himself (Da7ed) which is the creator of the RE:PKMN world, and many others. Known as Lord of Sabres, I became known as Young Lord, and in this universe, Redison rises to become the young lord (the lordofsabres) and these people (on the discord) are also “lords” in a sense as they wield the knowledge of the fakemon arts. These people have their own distinct puffle monsters based on the symbols and magic from The Legend of Zelda Pokemon (another Pokemon fakemon concept), and have great powers of imagination and kindness as they develop a welcoming community for others. Redison (as Young Lord) joins them as friends and work together in their universe of magic.

PanGaia/Arkitects: In an ideal future, I live to become old and prosperous like my grandfather. Redison and I stay together and Redison becomes old and ancient and ascends to become the Herald and Ruler of Reality, an overseer of all magic, and the Supreme Architect of Reality and magic. He finds out about the upcoming danger of The Destroyer of Worlds and travels the universes to warn them of the danger. An all powerful puffle monster and the other puffles and puffle monsters that live to this age become all powerful as they reach ultimate ascension. Pan means all, and Gaia is Earth, All Earth, as all magical worlds fuse and become one, in which these ascended puffle monsters live and monitor the younger universes.

Mμewtants: Puffle monsters genetically created by our PVHS that created a genetic library and created mutants / genetic hybrids and genetically modified puffle monsters as weapons, living batteries, etc. But were unstable and not looked at as creatures but objects, weapons, etc, in this reality which Redison the Architect, felt and took all these mutants and took them to an alternate PVHS known as REI-PVHS, the reimagined PVHS in which the school is its own universe of puffle monsters where students have their unique puffle monsters that establish their own worlds within PVHS and puffle monsters are created from the free-flowing creative magic in this universe (which is different from PVHS which is more of a battle server where only one puffle monster of each person are there and are set in pre-created zones). Based on the Mewtants from RE:PKMN and genomes and stuff from Kamen RIder Revice

R.E.I.GN: Puffle monsters of 2071 REImagined Global Nexus (a newly evolved PVHS and the positive utopian counterpart of rev:ERse). This universe of magic is a counterpart of PVHS as PVHS is a battle server (as explained in entry above) but this universe is a free flowing universe of magic, such as all other universes of magic. These puffle monsters develop freely through the imaginations and creative magic flow but also match with the infinite clubs that developed in the future and the legacy of students of the past, the imagination of students of the present, and the students of the future. These puffle monsters have their own unique abilities based on all the abilities of RE:mons (pokemon from RE:PKMN) as well as alternative abilities of the puffle monsters previously created.

Vyrheim: Based on the deities and mythology that fakemon are based off of (Pokemon Brain and Brawn based on Norse Mythology and Pokemon Order and Chaos based on Egyptian mythology), and all deities, figures of myth, etc from all cultures, worlds, in all timelines, etc. Have very complicated symbols of magic and these puffle monsters are under one organization that has the ideals of the deity they represent, each with their own abilities, cultures, weapons, etc. Example, Team Brain and Illusore (the figure of Pokemon Brain).

Part 2 of End of Paradise: The fading: I realize that my bonds with Chloe Rozalsky, Suhani Patel, and even Alison Lindstrom, are beginning to fade away as we drift apart. As the senior year is beginning to come to a close, The destroyer of existence and worlds begins the ritual of fading as all vanish from existence. Two more heroes of the Rainbow arrive (Redison is Red, Sabone/Soren is Blue), Green and purple (orange and yellow are apparently not popular in a survey in our English class of best color of the rainbow). Through the powers of the Spectroverse (and visitors up to Fauxnix), The Destroyer of Worlds returns to his job as the absorber, continuing the cycle, but reveals that everything he absorbs is stored and is reborn (kept in the Spectroverse Archives in alternate universes where they kept living on), and then new reincarnations of them have their own memories and adventures.

Spectroverse: It was discovered that The Destroyer of Worlds, unleashed his powers of fading through the absorption of creation energy. In this universe, Redison had evolved to be the one of white, the reflector of creation energy, and ascended to his own dimension as he used his magic to create the vast universe known as the Spectroverse, the universe of colors and all that colors represent. On each side, there is the White, the one that reflects light, colors, and creates, and the Black, the one who absorbs light, blackens existence, fades all into oblivion. In the spectroverse, there are the heroes of color, as each plush puffle I have wielded a special blade of color that designated them as the Hero of that color (like how Soren/Sabone wields the Sword of Sky Blue or Redison the Sword of Fire Red). Through the powers of these Spectro-blades, realms of magic were created through the powers of imagination that color brings, and is represented by a special magic circle of symbols (in that color). Together, the circles of all colors, and the white and black on either sides, forms the great cycle of creation and destruction, that cycles over millenia forever. Note, the red universe for example is not all just fire, but has more red colors to it, but has autumn leaves of nature, the cold wind in the fall, sweater weather, or pie, apples, etc. These infinite plushies of color were created like how Golderex or Prism were created, through paper mache technique (from Disney's Art Attack, on creating a paper mache puffle). Given their unique personalities, colors, and powers, they rule their own universes of color under the great spectrum of magic. Based on my autism spectrum and colors.

Zaruthas: A strange warrior of the cosmos arrives, known to be an alternate version of the Purple hero of the rainbow (more indigo) with gold and silver vs the Purple Hero with black and crimson as its color scheme. Unleash through the infinity power of an vast number of universes it can access (similar to Cyclops from X-Men) but also based on the many 3D worlds of kitbash3D as a vast number of special puffle monsters live there and grant their unique powers of magic to their King of Infinity. Use the powers of imagination to create portals to infinity (worlds beyond imagination and beyond the worlds of existence), and unleash the powers given from those worlds beyond. Also based on characters from Elsword. Main base of operations is the Elysium kitbash3d world, an ethereal kingdom of the heavens, but in this case, acts as the singularity point for all worlds as the castle of gates has the portals to the infinite realms.

Xenternity: Redison masters the Xenith light of Eternity, a great power that allows for all magic (in the form of the Xenith force), or a shining flame, to transform into any weapons, spell circle, or take any form of powers (shields, armor, summon warriors of magic, clones of Redison (summon elemental forms, or other world forms), etc). Redison masters this new Eternity form of power as the Ultimate Hero of Eternity. Later discovers of the many ancient puffle monsters throughout the millennia that held the power of the Eternity force and was hidden in a parallel universe as watchers of the Xenithverse and its evolution. Eventually merge with the Xenithverse to incorporate their powers for all puffle monsters and encourage further evolution. Partially based on Kamen Rider OOO Tajadol Eternity form, as Redison takes the powers of the Eternal Hero

Wushin: Based on Akcheon and Ak Cheon's Source and Ak Cheon's Origin and Mushin from Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower, the powers of time traveling to alternate worlds in the past to learn from the wielder of legendary weapons/artifacts and their magic art through Akcheon's Origin, allowing user to choose any artifact and travel to the past to learn from their wielder. Based on all the climbers and fighters in the webtoon and their special abilities, attacks, etc such as Cheonma, The Leader of the Wild Hunt, Mushin, and Hyeonu himself. These puffle monsters live in pocket dimensions created by the Relic of Akcheon, granting them realms of magic to diversify through generations of puffle monsters that share their powers, training these puffle monsters to gain their own unique styles and symbol, and then they create their own pocket dimensions as they become heroes themselves. All Wushin puffle monsters have their own unique magic style, weapon choice, and martial art or special ability depending on the world they originally came from and the pocket dimension they created, which is based on their origin world plus areas developed from their memories and experiences as heroes.

Fauxnix: Based on Faker from Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower, known for his ability to create artificial artifacts (items from other floors (worlds that have been destroyed) and use them at max potential) as well as characters from Elsword and the Holy Sword of the Hero Askuran (also from Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower) that uses the skills of other weapons (basically invincible). These artificial/replica artifacts became puffle monsters that wielded the artifact at max ability and even granted the artifacts new powers. Abilities and skills gained from the artifacts vary depending on the wielder, and when a wielder changes, the artifact clones itself to become a variant that can sync perfectly with the new user but also return to the original user.

End of Paradise Part 3: Rising Underworlds: From Ruyin universe, the demons arrive in PVHS and the king of demons (the White Skeleton demon) takes over the old corpse of The Destroyer of Worlds and uses the remnant powers to rise the demons within all students and monsters in PVHS and summon demons of all the other universes to take over. Wukong Arrives after chasing down the White Skeleton Demon, and so do the Demon Hunting Force after demons of that world entered PV, as well as the mysterious Puffle monsters of Fade, who himself is a demon, meaning the others are actually demon puffle monsters, and 007 from the 008 universe lives but sold his soul to another demon to live on…Redison and Sabone convinces an alliance with Fade and his puffle monsters as Fade just came to this universe after getting the invitation (basically the White Skeleton Demon created a great spell that opened portals for all to travel to PVHS), but Fade came to just study the local magic and create new poisons or study his poisons effect on magic here. Given the materials and place to do it, Fade agreed since he had no malicious intent in the first place. It was later found out some of the demons of the Demon Hunting force world were tamed and taught how to fight other demons that were malicious, and that some of the Demon Hunters were actually part demon themselves. So its 007 possessed and the White Skeleton Demon and his army vs Fade's demons, the Demon Hunting force, Wukong's group, and the puffle monsters.

Korukyu: Based on Kimetsu no Yaiba and the Breathing Styles (Sword fighting styles). Legendary demon hunters unleash powerful magic techniques of their core magic and wield different breathing styles to maximize their symbol. Each breathing style has an infinite number of forms and techniques, allowing for their symbol to be most in sync with the fighter. These puffle monsters were discovered to be part demon as they unleashed the Demon Blood Arts to allow for their symbol resonation and shifting to unleash their breathing styles at max. Their symbols shift in battle based on resonation and depending on Breathing Style Form unleashed (form is an attack or ability). Infinite forms of "Breathing Style forms" and symbols. Live in the universe of magic in which all evil demons were defeated or are being hunted down and purified to ally with the hunters themselves (who are half-demon), and known for guilds of hunters, each with their own Breathing styles. Ally with the heroes during Demons War

Zagan/Fade: The King of Poisons, Fade (based off of Doom Breaker), created 72 poisons, each with their own power. It was later discovered that these poisons became puffle monsters that unleash the max potential of these poisons. These currently include Zagan and Belial, both unpredictable and extremely painful, and when combined, unleash a powerful boost ability. Also based on TedEd video about world's deadliest colors (Green,white, and orange). In this universe, Fade himself is a demon that came to just want to experiment with magic and poisons, and his puffle monsters created from the magic and poisons were also known to be demons themselves. Allied with the heroes in the Demon Wars

Ruyin: The Monkey King, Wukong arrives...These puffle monsters ride the clouds, master transformations, the mystical arts, and the powers of Ruyi Jingubang, Wukong's legendary staff. Wukong unleashes the power of masks of his allies and unleash their abilities, is a master of all weapons and can unleash the hidden potentials of weapons. Special move is Jingu Big Bang! Known as the Heaven's Equal and Great Sage. The puffle monsters that trained under him have mastered their own special weapon (swords, staffs, spears, etc), but also have mastered their special magic art and the powers of the masks to unleash the powers of their allies. Based on Wukong Impulse Gundam but also the stories of the Monkey King Sun Wukong (learned from PVOnline Honors Mandarin Chinese 5-6)

008: In one universe, James Bond (007) is dead (after hearing he was killed in No Time to Die), Sabone/Soren arrives in this universe and becomes the next great spy (the next 007 except with the new code name). Redison arrives later as 009...but 007 isnt gone just yet…and there is also a new 007...Reimagined 007 series with Redison and Sabone as 009 and 008 respectively, and a new 007 agent known as King. The old 007 becomes known as the Skull (as a skeleton demon possessed him). These puffle monsters are all part of the Double O program and defend the people on missions as secret agents, spies, and special dimensional infiltrators. Each agent has their own unique gear that works with their special skill. 008 for example is a great marksman and combat experience in long range, so his gear is mostly guns and snipers with special darts and bullets for different situations. 009 is best at hand to hand and close combat, using gear such as specialized blades, swords, daggers, and smoke bombs. All live in a special hidden dimension where they can get the best training through the environment that follows their skills and abilities

Arthur.I.O.N: Today (November 10th, 2021, day before Veterans Day), was make fun of Arthur day. Jaelin carried Arthur out of the lab (literally), and we made fun of him for being old (again) based on his bones. Conspiracy theory: Since he doesnt look like he aged, what if he is an android...and the reason he lives in the lab (he is always there during class), its because he is charging his batteries...Based on that idea, these puffle monsters in this universe are all androids, as the natural puffle monsters were replaced with the more highly advanced androids, use code and were programmed by the scientists of the far future. They have gone to the past to observe the magic universe at this point in time but also to stop the White Skeleton Demon from wiping out all of nature. Use their special modified bodies in combat to unleash their abilities Ahrishem: Based on a discussion my friends and I had about how we are each our own main characters of the chronicles of our lives (Cliff Chronicles Extended), and based on Marvel Eternals and the powers of the Eternals, these puffle monsters were created through the writings in the Libraries of Fates as they originate from the vast number of universes. Each person in existence has their own Chronicles that they are the main character of. Everyone else in existence are supporting characters, antagonists, etc. Example: William Ko is the main character of The Chronicles of Will Ko (book is stored in one shelf in the Will Ko section of the Libraries of Fates), and his friends (Alison Lindstrom, Chloe Rozalsky, Ayush Lenka, Alex Frutkin, etc), and family members, are supporting characters, and there are antagonists (most likely in future chapters). Puffle monsters come from that universe, those created by William Ko of that book, and created by all the supporting characters and antagonists of that book. Alison Lindstrom on the other hand, or Chloe Rozalsky, has their own book (the chronicle of Alison Lindstrom and the chronicle of Chloe Rozalsky) where they are the main characters and William Ko in this case is a supporting character or maybe even an antagonist in some books. The puffle monsters created by these forms of William Ko (and the supporting characters or antagonists) vary by books. Redison from the Chronicles of Will Ko is different from Redison from the Chronicles of Chloe Rozalsky. Each is unique, unique ability, unique symbol, power, etc

Azyrem: Puffle monsters with legendary deity-like powers based on Marvel Eternals (the movie). Created by the Last Artifact, something that was in my dream, an artifact that was special because of the unique power it had (in that dream world), to unleash and create unique imaginations for others. These deity puffle monsters use special abilities to manipulate imaginations energy (cosmic energy) that takes the forms of rainbow or crystalline rings of their aura color as the rings/circles the Eternals have in their powers. Each is unique due to their unique imaginations, but also their unique attributes the imaginations they create will have.

End of Paradise Part 4: The Final Conclusion: Redison has his final face off against the White Skeleton Demon himself, now the White Skeleton Demon Lord after absorbing all the other demons after their defeat by Azyrem and Ahrishem groups. The White Skeleton Demon Lord, known as Gazra, evolves as he fuses with Will Ko (and takes a Redison form) when he falls into depression after going through Impostor Syndrome and experiencing a surge of negative energy, leading him to awaken the Sword of Conclusion and becoming the Sword of Conclusion himself. It's the final battle between Redison and Gazra as the year 2021 begins to come to a close, with Thanksgiving coming up, finals, and university applications.

Zyoenix: Redison joins the PVHS elite defense force, or does he...Fights under the Burning Justice pseudonym. Unleash the powers of duality, as Dreadison fuses with Redison as his shadow and using Meg's old Twosidriver (from Kamen rider revice) and taking a Vistamp from CREST and modifying it as a Zyoenix (a dual Phoenix (light) and Arnyx (dark)). Phoenix form is Burning Justice (based on Kamen rider live from Kamen rider revice), while Arnyx form is Justice Burning (based on Kamen rider evil from Kamen rider revice). All puffle monsters of this group uses the powers of duality to change forms. Have 2 word names that switch out based on their duality (Burning Justice vs Justice Burning). Based on the RWBY Weapon name chooser based on Birth month and zodiac.

Kaxian (Cassian): Based on Villain To Kill and the powers of all the characters (especially the shadow powers of the main character). After Dreadison took the powers of the main character and his shadow apocalypse level power, he fused it with his ultimate darkness powers and Redison and Dreadison promised to keep their universe safe, and with this, they fused the realm into the Xenithverse, creating puffle monsters out of all their powers. Dreadison watches over this universe as the ultimate Anti-hero that pretty much does whatever he wants, defending all the puffle monsters there and intervening with necessary.

Æigere: Puffle monsters of the Ages of creation and Ages of magic in all timelines in existence. Based on Algodoo marble race (colored marbles) and the idea of how those marbles have special powers based on their colors as well as the OverDress powers (and OverDress forms) of Trickstar and the DressBoost powers of Trickmoon (both from Vanguard OverDress). All their forms (based on the age of magic/creation they take the form of) are based on the forms of Vairina (from Vanguard OverDress). These puffle monsters are deities that created their own ages of magic and creation. Example, one puffle monster (a maroon color deity) created the Age of Esperaidea, an age of prosperity in magic and technology in this dimension and time period. These puffle monsters live in the infinite dimensions of magic as they create the ages of magic that last forever and can create infinite other ages of magic based on their ideals or ideas that they like in that time period, world, universe, etc Perfect Weapon: The perfect weapon is created after evolving Hektarus to defend PVHS better after more data about Redison and his abilities are found as well as data on Sabone. By using Transformium and cell cluster steel, Hektatus evolves to become the ultimate warrior that can transform into any form given the code (blast mode, slash mode, defend mode, vehicle mode, etc). Once fully evolved and developed, these newly created puffle monsters live in the infinite floors of magic (based on Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower and how each floor is a universe and the 8th floor has a multi-dimension, etc). Also based on Stinger from Transformers 4: Age of Extinction. Originally created as the weapon to defeat Redison and Sabone, these puffle monsters gained sentience and found their own purposes to use their special abilities, and even began forming unique techniques and transformations for their core symbol and powers (developed their own unique style, power, etc). Their code is unique and changeable by them only (and by the creators). No one “weapon” is the same, all are unique.

Akurza: The golden flame eyes demon lord (based on Dangerous Belial) created by Redison after the Conclusion battle against the White Skeleton Demon and his demon army, as Gazra is purified into the Golden Flame eyes (Based on idea of how Monkey King with golden fire eyes could point out any demon). These demon lord puffle monsters have special magic flame eyes that hold their core powers (their flaming eyes in their color of aura is their defining feature). Unleash the powers of Demon aura force magic, unleashing different powers of the underworld but also unleash the strange force of the flaming eyes of magic. Ruled by the purified version of the White Skeleton Demon Lord (now the Golden Flame Eyes Demon Warlord Deus). Each demon lord has their own unique power, their own banner and army, and special trait. Their flaming eyes are what makes them special though and the flaming eyes can take the form of masks (similar to SD Gundam World Heroes) and the masks can grant them special power Orajian: Tea stop (my favorite Boba place right next to our school during my high school life) closed down permanently about 2 weeks ago (so late October), and I have been recently lost in my memories. I looked at it in terms of going back in time whenever (Time travel) like if I feel like it, going back in time to when Tea Stop was still open and getting my smoothie. Will Ko is a time-traveler. Using his watch, he can go back and forth in time and explores alternate branches (or creates alternate branches) then returns 0.1 milliseconds after he time traveled (erasing the alternate branch, besides from his memory). Redison and the rest of his puffle monsters are influenced by this time travel and alternate universes created through the branches (through memory). Redison of this universe preserves the puffle monsters created through the alternate time branches created (such as returning to Cancun and spending more time with my grandfather, or going to the Philippines in a past summer where I never went, or trying out High School in Canada for a day, or trying out other experiences in past and future while not really destroying the timeline as those alternate branches are wiped (but preserved by memory since I gain the memories of those experiences after returning, and Redison preserves the time realm and stores in the puffle monster universe). These puffle monsters are marked with a special clock symbol (the timeline they were from, what region of the world they are from, etc) as their core symbol and use the powers of their timeline / time realm. Example is a puffle monster created when I went to Canadian High school for a week (using the time traveling power), how this puffle monster used more ice abilities but also created new puffle monsters based on the friends I made, experiences I had, etc. This time realm was saved and time moves on in that universe as saved in the puffle monster universe. Redison rules over all as the Sage of Time. These puffle monsters are also able to travel between timelines, dimensions, etc and share their memories and abilities with others as they create new alternate timelines and time realms with this power sharing.

November Arc 2: Let there be light!: Redison, after experimentation with the mysterious Azoth Crystal, gets an overflow of power and manifests into a strange form. Seraphina fights Redison off in this state and Lume evolves into the new power of the Moon becoming the Sorceress of the Moon, Luciane, and Lyra unleashes the powers of storms as Alison gets her nickname of Stormer (Lyra becoming the Stormer Mage). Even after the event, the powers of light and the mysteries of the power core within a puffle monster is explored and unleashed Azothore: I drank coffee in hopes of gaining energy to not have to nap, but with this, my thoughts have scattered and my body is literally shaking. Redison gets a power gain but this results in a strange overflow of power and gains a new form after playing with an Azoth Crystal, now unleashing a strange form. “Let...there...be...light” . The philosopher of Errors was unleashed as Azoth_Error_. As a result, Redison’s powers shattered into infinite pieces within the psyche as Redison goes on a hunt looking for his powers. After Redison found inner peace and rebuilt his core stronger than before (mastering the powers of the Azoth Crystal as the Sage’s stone). The puffle monsters that were created as a result of Azoth_Error_ have strange properties such as a the power to release all of Redison’s powers at once in a unique way (each puffle monster has their own unique way to unleash all power burst at once), but also wield the different styles, abilities, and powers Redison had in all lifetimes, worlds, etc. They each have a memory of Redison’s from when he was from a certain universe as a certain type, with a certain core power (his powers, memories, etc) (This Redison as the Deity Xenith, had the identities of all puffle monsters in existence) and use this to unleash the AllPower in their unique styles, abilities, and attacks. They also have the ability to not get hurt (due to the glitch form of their nature as they are in constant fluctuation in all universes due to their shattered nature), as well as the power to unleash Azoth Field (creates a barriered area where they have ultimate control over the area within the barrier they created. Their AllPower attacks, abilities, and unique Azoth Field abilities are unleashed with infinite energy). They each have a core made of an Azoth crystal and wield weapons that focus their AllPower to their unique battle style and abilities.

Seeker: The puffle monsters created by the pieces of Redison’s powers. Their core symbols are always seeking other powers until it reaches its complete form. Their main mechanic is a Core Inventory, allowing them to collect a vast number of symbols to reach their Perfect form but different combinations of symbols they collected can result in a variety of forms depending on the core symbol it creates. Seeker is my nickname that Alison came up for me and I like it because I believe I am seeking out my future (or always seeking out my future). These puffle monsters also have fragments of my personalities (both ideal personalities I want, personalities I currently have, and the less preferable personalities) in combination with their Core Inventory, increasing the variety of powers created. Originally lived in the universe created by the shattered core crystal of Redison, now released in the Xenithverse

Holy Order: Seraphina, Sydney Wolfert's spirit monster comes to fight Redison as she tries to convince me to return to lifeteen. Unleashes the holy light to battle Redison. Let there be light!

Highest Order / Hao Order (Order of the High King): Baron (Brandon's spirit monster) gave Redison the blueprints to build the ultimate weapon, fit for the high king himself. Redison built the weapon during the war against Seraphina and found the hidden power it had, awakening a universe of magic in which the deity arms puffle monsters live, the defenders of the heavens, and protectors of the universe. Kind of like guardian angels, one puffle monster can have tens upon thousands of deity arms puffle monsters that defend them in secret. They can also use their powers to become equipped. Based on the Arms Subtype order from Cardfight! Vanguard OverDress (Sealed Blaze gun Chandra, or Sealed Blaze sword Prithvih, or shield Swayanbuh). These weapons are puffle monsters but can transform into their weapon forms to defend their assigned puffle monster. Ruled by Redison The High King wielding the Ultimate Weapon of the High King, The Transcendent Sword of Heavenly Light (similar to the holy sword in The Fabled Warrior (a webtoon) where it can transform into any item (shield, spear, etc)). Based on a story situation where Brandon (my friend and Alison's neighbor) wields his custom weapon Stormaster, a rifle, revolver, twin guns, and an axe all in one. I wield some unknown weapon (currently called ZENITH), a combination of Harbinger and Myrtenaster (both based on weapons from RWBY). The 3 of us go to battle with these super weapons and take on the world. Based on Brandon making a Myrtenaster 3D printed. SUPER COOL! He might make Alison and I weapons and I am hoping we can all duel each other with our custom weapons (I am also hoping for my own Myrtenaster).

Lunyte: Lume finds an ancient rune that holds the awakened powers of the moon, allowing her to unleash a new form as the Sorceress of the pale moon, Luciane. It is found out later that the ancient rune was a remnant of the ancient Lunyte civilization, a group of puffle monsters that live on the moon and wield ancient circular runes (like the symbol of the Trollhunters and the Amulet of Daylight) to awaken ancient magic hidden within all things in existence. These puffle monsters still live on the moon, to which Redison finds their civilization after battling Luciane and sensing the other worldly power. Luciane makes the power her own (her own variation). Awakening works through a spiritual unification (Lunar Unite), in which the puffle monster's will reaches perfect harmony with another power and together, creates a boost of power and awakening of power from both powers (the puffle monster and the other power) to which the puffle monster gains the dual awakened abilities and a new fusion of power.

Silent Order: Based on Trickmoon and its ability DressBoost (from Cardfight! Vanguard OverDress), these puffle monsters wear clocks but also use an ancient spiritual power as they awaken the ultimate power deep within a puffle monster or deep within themselves as the mysteries of the core symbol is unraveled. The core holds infinite power, to which the Silent order has mastered in unleashing all that power in the form of a Giga-aura as their aura and core symbol take the form of an ultimate beast (made of aura flames) but these puffle monsters use powerful abilities that other puffle monsters dont have, due to the fact they only use about a quarter of their core power at max limit, but with those of the Silent Order and their ancient symbols and abilities break the limits as they find the inner truth of themselves, their darkest secrets, fears, insecurities, and unleash it, all their emotions, memories, etc into one giga-aura.

ArkenRegixenith: Redison evolves his power as he fuses his Transcendent Sword of Heavenly light with Haozynken (the sword he forged himself), and the Ultimate Sword of Heroes to unleash his new form as The Lord of Xenith, the Ultimate Hero Deity Redison and wields the ultimate weapon fit for the Lord of Xenith (Xenith Lord) aka the Ultimate Weapon of the Xenith Lord Hero Deity, Arkenregixenith Haohzynken. As the Xenith Lord, a great court of puffle monsters were created that wield the ultimate powers of Redison as they wield the Powers of Heavenly light, able to control their cosmic Xenith Lord magic and light to wield any power in existence, or even create their own powers, and weapons. Each have their own special symbol and rule their own Grand universes as Xenith Lords like Redison. Known to be the creators of the Xenith Cores, the cores in all puffle monsters that act as their power source and origin of their powers, these puffle monsters have mastered all techniques that wield the cores, whether it be nullifying all magic abilities, or even evolving or changing their core abilities to use more than the infinite power within the Core. These puffle monsters live in a universe where their technology and society is built around the use of the cores in all their technology, books, foods, buildings, nature, and even their day to day lives of Core evolution, shifting, growing, etc. After the powers of the core of Redison was maxed out, the Xenith Lords took Redison in and trained him in the ways of the cores and Core Magic. Eventually fused with the Xenithverse to watch over all puffle monsters as the powers of Core Magic was distributed to all puffle monsters in existence, now allowing for new abilities, and access to the infinite power within.

Labyrinthia: Puffle monsters of the ancient Labyrinth of great magic. Based on the Labyrinth Master class and character Siwool from Ultra Alternate Character (Super hot and bad-ass). These puffle monsters are each labyrinth masters of their own universal labyrinths of magic where habitats of puffle monsters and ancient and advanced civilizations of puffle monsters live. Each puffle monster of the labyrinth has a special power (depending on the labyrinth they live in, as well as the realm/region within the labyrinth they come from, so dual abilities). The Labyrinth masters can max the potential of the magic of the Labyrinth and use any ability of a puffle monster within their universal labyrinth that they control. Even those within the labyrinth are also labyrinth masters to their own magical labyrinths. Use trap, defensive, and support type abilities. Strong in strategy and magic, not good with close combat Imagivenger: My wish to become a hero becomes true. Redison, Sabone, and other characters of mine come to life as ghosts and fuse with me as I gain their powers. Wish was to wield powers of my imagination. Look buff, lose fat, and now tall. Based on the main character of Ultra Alternate Character where he is an avenger class, fast, buff, and tall and wields a sword and is a master at it. Unleashes skills that make him super powerful. In this universe, Redison, Sabone, and other characters of mine work with me as I become an avenger class warrior. The other puffle monsters that support me (alternate versions of current characters and puffle monsters) are given special types of classes such as mercenary, assassin, archer, demon, warlord, ninja, deity, dragon hunter, etc. Each class has a unique set of abilities and skills, as well as items and powers they can wield, in addition to their elemental core symbol. Also based on the other classes on Ultra Alternate Character (such as Queen's Guard, Soul Fighter, Reaper, Executioner), and their skills and abilities.

Arizon: The sword of wishes and the book of ten thousand stories of adventure, fantasy, and the puffle monster universe appears, actually as a book of bedtime stories that I told my little sister growing up. I used to tell her stories of the puffles (then monsters, and eventually puffle monsters). She would take care of them (my hand would make a puffle like figure she would feed and care for), and they would play with her and we would go on adventures and stuff collecting them. As time went on, these stories were written down into a bedtime story collection, similar to the Arabian Nights, a book of collected stories with adventures, heroes, magic, etc. Redison becomes gold, as in this world, he never changed but was forever immortalized in the book, Arizon Nights (since most of the stories told were when we lived in Arizona already). He wields the powers of the sword of wishes and the powers of all the stories in the Arizon nights (my wish and luck powers expand to ultimate power as they take the form of bedtime stories published into a magic book). The puffle monsters that live in the fantastical universes within the stories of Arizon nights, have special abilities created through the sentences and stories of the book, but also have their own unique abilities (core symbol, ability based off of the world they are from, and now story based ability, chapter based ability, page, etc). Special characteristic is they are shinier than most puffle monsters (have a bit of gold on them and on their core symbol)

Deusearch: Based on Gaiamon and Globemon (From Appmon digimon), these puffle monsters have the special powers of Deus Search: access to libraries of infinite magic power, wisdom, information, data, blueprints to evolve, change forms, abilities, spells, attacks, weapons, etc. Each puffle monster has a unique ID as their core symbol (the numbers form one symbol that acts as a key to enter the Deusearch network). The Deusearch network acts as a meta-universe of its own where they spend their time living (half half with the Puffle monster universe), where all search items, magic data and wisdom are shaped into nature, landscapes, cities, structures, etc. In battle, they can unleash magic or data from the Deusearch Network through performing a super search (or Deus Search). Redison of this realm is the future of the internet, where the metaverse becomes the next big thing and the puffle monster universe inspiration comes from the metaverse at the time. Each puffle monster has "Search" weapons that have access to the Deusearch Network and can access their own individual abilities, powers, etc that the puffle monster can use. Can also create new search weapons based on shared data for new enhancements or styles of combat.

Jakounen: The Vanishing point and Sword of the Piercing Shadows. Redison/Will fuses and the Sword of Vanishing Point, Jakounenken grants me a warrior form (Kamen Rider Jakounen) in which I destroy/vanish bonds that the sword marks as weak and dying bonds in order for them to be forgotten. Secret was later discovered that the powers of the "Vanished" don't vanish with the owner, but actually is absorbed by the sword. Jakounenken is known to be a power hungry blade, always looking for an opponent to defeat and "Vanish into oblivion" in order to take their powers. Only one puffle monster wields the power as of now...

Epic Almighty: Based on the Wonder Almighty Wonder-ride book from Kamen Rider Saber and the symbol of it (the intertwining circles). The core of puffle monsters (an enlightened form of the core) is the intertwining circles, as each circle has its own vast storage of power and library of abilities, spells, symbols, etc. The intertwining increases the flow of power but also the ability for fusion abilities, etc). Live in a mysterious realm of magic created by a great tree, creating infinite realms of the Almighty Circles as the runes of creation (each intertwining circle intertwined with one another, creating more infinite realms of magic) as a final home for the puffle monsters. The greatest epic of puffle monsters has been created as all puffle monster books, data, and universes created combine into one paradise as a mirage universe was created as a back up storage, holding all puffle monster worlds in there while new ones are created on the mainframe. This Almightyverse holds elseworlds, alternate dimensions, countless universes created by humans and monsters alike, and all based on fantasies, stories, myths, adventures, memories, and experiences of all in existence, from all time and space. Realms are based on maps of Minecraft, League of Legends, World of Warcraft, Dungeons and Dragons, Mario Bros, Zelda, and all the worlds in Kitbash 3D. All puffle monsters transcended into the Almighty form (as strong as Redison, their fullest potential) and they can return to the Mainframe to watch over the next generation of creation, since all their homes and structures are still there since the Almightyverse is just a copy of the Xenithverse that is preserved and hidden away, acting like a history book of all magic. Evolution to the Xenith Clock (the storage system of all puffle monster worlds and universes in existence) as this Almightyverse acts as its own universe/world, with its own unique puffle monsters, unique abilities, power mechanics, etc vs the Xenith Clock as just a storage system.

Panultraverse (Omni Ultimate Almightyverse): This system of preserving the puffle monster universes, magic, and legacies became a system of the Xenith Clock which evolved into the Almightyverse system (as stated above). However, Redison and the other council members of creation decided one “mirage” copy wasn’t enough. The system was evolved further as the Almightyverse was cloned into a mirage clone, and that clone was cloned, and so on and so forth. Now with hundreds upon thousands of clones, each Panultraverse (a clone of the original Almightyverse) has their own unique ID and the puffle monsters that live in that universe actually have slight alterations due to the many cloning, developing a unique ability/trait/attribute that is unique to that Panultraverse as to any other. Each clone is unique (but still clones perfectly from the Xenithverse and Almightyverse). These puffle monsters use special abilities based on these specially developed attributes/traits/magic and live in their own worlds that is developed around these alterations (whether it be in history, alterations in timelines, dimensions, etc).

Notes of new terms introduced in entry above

- Xenithverse: The main universe of puffle monsters. A collection of infinite universes, dimensions, alternate universes and timelines, mirror worlds, etc
- Mainframe: The new main universe where all events occur. Basically the Xenithverse
- Xenith Clock: An ancient structure that counts the amount of worlds and universes discovered as the Xenithverse grows and when the clock reaches “12”, the Xenithverse is absorbed into the clock (which stores saved universes within and fuses the newly absorbed Xenithverse into it), then spits out a copy of the Xenithverse (the most recently updated version) for more universes and worlds to fuse into it until the clock strikes 12 again and the cycle repeats

- Mirage copy/clone universe: an active parallel clone of the main Xenithverse Mainframe, where all new puffle monsters and worlds discovered and fused in, will actually go to the mirage clone (so that world will be in both the preserved stored version and the mainframe
    - Example: A puffle monster from World 1 (that is newly discovered and fused to the Xenithverse Mainframe) will have a home (kind of like a saved profile) in both the stored eternal version (the Almightyverse) and the Mainframe Xenithverse. Should they die in the Xenithverse, they will respawn in the Almightyverse with all their memories and belongings (everything they created is cloned to the Almightyverse as well)
- Almightyverse: A Mirage clone of the Xenithverse. The evolved form of the Xenith Clock and the new storage universe of the Xenithverse. Acts as a saved file that constantly saves based on the changes made to the original active file. This saved "file" is stored away and preserved. Puffle monsters who live in the Almightyverse can move between the Almightyverse and the Xenithverse.
- Mirage Almightyverse (Panultraverse): The mirage clones of the Almightyverse (so a clone of a clone of the Xenithverse). Became unique due to a slight change in magic flow so puffle monsters who live in these Panultraverses have unique attributes as representations of their home universe.

Zaurua: Ancient powers of forbidden aura magic are unleashed by these puffle monsters. These puffle monsters unleash the auras of divine beasts that hide within them, living within the universe inside. These divine beasts can grant the puffle monster immense strength unique to the beast and them. Each puffle monster has a universe within, with countless worlds and countless divine beasts living on these worlds. Each beast has a special ability and power in the form of a symbol and grants their powers to the puffle monster, temporarily awakening. The magic power eventually becomes a puffle monster of its own (a new divine beast of the likeness takes shape as a puffle monster) and in turn, has its own divine beasts they can unleash within them. Each divine beast has a unique personality and nature. These puffle monsters live in the Spirit Wilds, a great realm of magic hidden where the divine beasts within a puffle monster can enter the universes within other puffle monsters, and the puffle monsters themselves can enter the realms of the divine beasts within themselves. The spirit wilds can be found anywhere, where one is in silence, a place of reflection, usually out in solitude in the peace of nature, or can be in the city.

Mugenshin: Based on the Minecraft Mod video of Socksfor1 regarding how items are infinite and can be made into "Infinity items" (in crafting table, place 9 of the same weapons together to form an infinity weapon (all powerful in their own way), and even combine infinity weapons (made the God Infinity Sword)). These puffle monsters were created in a similar fashion, as they became Infinity Puffle monsters, each with their own unique abilities and all powerful magic.

Normal puffle monsters become all powerful, and even all powerful puffle monsters evolve further. Ruled by an Infinite Redison created in the Forge Craft (a place of creation for puffle monsters of this universe) and his council of all powerful Infinity Puffle monsters (all my plushies are also made into “Infinity puffle monsters”). Live in an infinite universe of magic with this mod (the forge craft and infinity making) as the main form of nature and logic, and civilization and culture built around it.

Xintari: Based on Gokaiger, Greater Powers of the super sentai, and the Braneworlds (alternate dimensions stacked one on top of the other like a layered cake), except in this case, the infinite braneworlds stack in the form of a helix (the braneworlds are circular shaped (despite being infinitely vast), and it forms a spiral like structure in the dimensions as the Braneworld stacks one on top of the other at a certain point or part of the circle), and there is a second coil of the braneworlds which are the parallel universes, mirror worlds, mirror timelines, etc. In these braneworlds live special puffle monsters that have unique powers, derived from ordinary objects that grant them enhanced unique abilities. Based on the Minecraft Mod video of Socksfor1 where they can make anything into an armor and where they can mine anything and turn it into an item (2 separate videos), these puffle monsters have unique abilities from these said ordinary items, nature, etc, and can unleash the Greater power of each object, item, etc in the form of armoring up (Gokai Change or Cross Armor mode). Each puffle monster can armor up with any thing in existence and their unique core symbol makes it that they gain a unique ability and trait from the armor that no other puffle monster will get from the same object armor. One life type Xintari using a lava armor will get a different ability vs another life type Xintari using the lava armor. Some can also create their own armors through object and power fusion. Also based on Boboiboy fan art on Instagram (of the many Boboiboy forms based on creatures, aspects of nature, etc).

Ishkari: The power of illusions created by a strange magic in a scent of perfume or chemical that creates illusions/hallucinations of the user. Based on the idea of the Drakkar Cologne I am using to smell good and the idea of someone smelling it and instead of seeing me, see a tall, muscular version of me. The magic of the plant and power of the flower magic makes it that the user will create hallucinations of themself, basically a wild, beyond logical, What If form. Redison using Ishkari magic created 2 hallucination forms that came to life and became puffle monsters themselves, a white Redison that wielded a pocket bowstaff (based on the one Brandon had), and wields skills like the Monkey King Sun Wukong himself; and a vampire bat king like Redison, wielding blood magic and dark powers. Ishkari magic creates a vast variety of puffle monsters through the bizarre What If forms and universes created. Each puffle monster can create an infinite number of Ishkari forms, and those Ishkari can create an infinite form of Ishkaris of themselves. All forms live in the universe under the Ishkari magic force.

Museo: Based on the Museum of Alien Beings (Alison’s Youtube Video she sent me called Life Beyond II: The Museum of Alien Life), Xenith PRIME, and Genomes (Kamen rider revice) (genome Weapons, etc). Also use the powers of Mixing (Kamen rider Atom on Insta). This is the Transcendent version of the Earth 2.0 universe (Based on the What If Youtube Videos of Exoplanets (Earth 2.0), a better larger alien Earth, and also based on Kurzgesagt videos of aliens and alien worlds), as these puffle monsters use the powers of Genomes (their history as a species, as an individual, in their universe, and their potential of their power (in the future and in alternate)), to preserve the history of their species, universe, culture, etc but also cultivate it. Originally from a dead or dying universe, they found a system in which they gained new powers and are currently creating (re-creating) their universe from the stem world of Museo. Use their special magic to diversify their universal magic and gained a new core symbol. Using Xenith PRIME nanotech magic, they are able to develop their weapons, buildings, nature, etc.

Earth 2.0: Based on the Exoplanets (from the What If video on Youtube about “Earth 2.0” or a bigger alien Earth), the Xenith PRIME system (special magic aura nanotech magic that takes shape into armors, weapons, buildings, nature, etc) and powers of Achievements and memory (based on Advanced player of the tutorial tower) (the modern phase), these alien futuristic super puffle monsters live in the universes created by the life of Exoplanets of Earth 2.0 (the many Earth 2.0s that theoretically could exist in our universe) which are connected through World gates. Every living being, even non living being, has a story to tell from their perspective. These alien forms of existence on these Exoplanets created a vast new array of puffle monsters, each with unique abilities, powers, and their special ability to control Nano-aura particles of Xenith PRIME. Ruled by Redison (in the form of the Model Prime Xenith Armor (based on Model Prime armor of Iron Man). This version of the Earth 2.0 Universes is the “Modern version”

Gaea.Io: Puffle monsters from a Video game Earth universe with powers of Achievements like in a video game, DLC, store, etc (the proto phase of the Earth 2.0 universes). Also based on the magic gifts of Encanto and skills from Microhunter. These puffle monsters are from the universe of Earth 2.0 and our own Earth in which life and the magic universe is actually a video game, where they have their own unique classes they are given, can create, and can unleash unique powers based off their class, attributes, etc. Wield special weapons of their class, use different powers, live in different worlds or pocket dimensions hidden within Earth 2.0 and Earth, as well as can use the “store” to get skills, stat boosts, and other items. Also based on Free Guy (Movie with Ryan Reynolds), The Lone Spellcaster (Webtoon), and Ultra Alternative Player (Webtoon). Gain special abilities based on any achievements they unlock which they earn based on missions they complete (from my usage of the phrases “mission passed, or mission failed, or game cleared, or game over”).

Yvolution: Dreadison evolves with the Justice Burning power (based on Kamen Rider Evil) and unleashes Zyoenix powers except it maxed out as the powers of the core are unleashed, in combination with the duality powers, the core split up into “cells” or tiles, in which the core fragments (core cells) can reorganize into an infinite number of combinations, shapes, etc providing a unique power based on the organization of the cells and power flow. Redison and all other puffle monsters unleash the powers as well eventually after learning the techniques of temporary Core splitting. These puffle monsters are born with shattered cores and core cells as well as the unique ability to manipulate their core cells (hence the evolution).

Supreme Being: Based on AstroBoy's core, Redison evolves into the ultimate Supreme Being of the puffle monsters as he holds the Infinite Cores of the supreme beings, incorporating them into one Infinity Sword (combined all the infinite swords/weapons he could summon with the spirits of Haozynken, the Sword of Heroes, Genesis, etc to wield The Sword of Supreme Beings (holding all the cores of Supreme beings), in addition to his own Ultimate Xenith Haozynken (Xenith Saber, Sword of Hero Deities, Haozynken, etc). Combines forms of Elsword (Color scheme of Genesis, Haozynken like Knight Emperor's master path, and human form like Immortal (and swords behind and other magic symbols from his past heroes form)). Once ruled by Genesis The Supreme Being (based on Big Bang Genesis / Regalia Genesis from Beyblade Burst GT/Rise), Redison co-rules with Genesis, as he wields all Supreme Being Cores (each Supreme Being core holds ultimate power of certain elements/magic aspect, attribute, ability, etc). Each core has its own vast multiverse of magic within it that holds a place for puffle monsters that wield that core to live and enhance their powers, but also learn and diversify. This is one of the Ultimate forms of the Core Hektarus Prime: The school is getting painted white, and the powers of white out is given to Hektarus after he gets a remodeling (now design based on Gundam Helios from Gundam Breaker Battlogue), with a larger core crystal (and multiple, now on his arms, legs, and smaller ones on his head and blade wings on his backpack). Added white gem beads (which act as power storage and power absorbers) into blade wings on his backpack and added onto parts of the armor. Main form is Hektarus Prime X (a white red form with the main X Saber Wing backpack (similar to the swords that float behind Redison (originally based on Garga's design from Buddyfight)) and the multiple gem cores, able to use Sestet cannon as well). Also uses other armors of the Planet system (based on the PLANETS system from Gundam Build Divers Rerise), and adds this to his X Saber Backpack, and gains new abilities (labeled as Hektarus Prime M1 (Mercuone), V2 (increased firepower), E3 (more like a Mage mode, using the power in forms of magic circles and the elements), A4 (Ares (Marsfour) or Attack 4, close combat), J5 (Increased mobility (speed) based on Jupitive), S6 (Saturnix, use drills, heavy weapon combat, increased defense), U7 (Uraven, sniper, observer form), NX8 (Nepteight, Enlightened Max Power/energy use, only armor that combines with the X Saber Backpack and X Saber Armor, when most armors change with the X Saber Armor). After losing the original body after a battle against Genesis (who absorbed the metal from the Metal Golem form of E3 NX8 (NX8 empowered E3 form) creating the Supreme Being core of Metal and using the powers to turn the cores and the rest of the body into solid metal), The PVHS Elite Defense Force managed to save the artificial core and create it into an advanced AI and saving the blueprints of Hektarus's body, created more "drones" that the AI can use to fight.

December Arc 1, Advent of Twilight: The Twilight of the Deities himself (Based on Return of the Shattered Constellation) arrives in the form of Xolace, an AI created originally from the Core AI of Hektor (the core of Hektarus) but gained full sentience, created his own body, and at one point, the star of a puffle monster fell upon him, granting him full puffle monster powers, giving him a monster form (but still similar abilities of an AI of the PVHS Elite Defense Force, as he can still control and summon his own battle drones). He summons the Herna, battle drones (more like Gundam) with the color scheme of Red, Black, white, and gold (similar to Redison) except with the powers of “God-killing” (based on 66,000 Years Adbent of the Dark Mage Webtoon) powers as strong as Redison. Xolace himself wields the Rune Master Sword (from Elsword Rune master form), as he goes to war against Hektor and his army of AIs and battle drones they control

Elrinar: Based on Kamen Rider Atom (an Original Character from Instagram), and his mixing powers, as well as the powers of the PLANETS System from Gundam Build Divers Rerise and the unique powers each gundam has, these puffle monsters use the powers hidden within the drones, an ancient symbol of great power that in this universe, became the main symbols of magic and power (the standard). These symbols (rune circles if ever), can be shaped into any form of core and used as the core symbol of a puffle monster, or can be genetic code, etc. During the Advent of Twilight, the drones used by PVHS Elite Defense Force had their unique artificial code symbol that acts as an ID used by the AIs under Hektor. The magic of Elrinar in the far future (powers based off all the Fan made Boboiboy content with alternate versions of him, his friends, and their powers and symbols) came and took the Artificial code symbols and purified them to become puffle monster warriors themselves and wield the powers of these new super symbols that can be shaped into cores, weapons, etc using their special magic. Each power has their own unique “Elrinar Symbol” as the core matrix, ID, and definition of existence to its core. Example: Tsunami power (from Boboiboy art on Instagram), has an entire core universe that defines its powers, limitations, and diverse forms it can take as well as the puffle monsters that wield the Tsunami power (who live there and train their powers). They can enter their “Elrinarverse” through morphing their core symbol into a portal to enter that world, and then travel the universes through the same method. Each Elrinar symbol is unique (like a digital ID) and all powerful. Very similar in power to the Supreme Beings Cores.

Azrox/Volpyr: Possible name for the warriors of the “God-killing power”. Unleash Execution Field and God killing abilities (based on the powers of Diablo Volpir from the Webtoon 66,000 Years Advent of the Dark Mage). Xolace has Heterochromia (two different eye colors, one on each eye). One eye color is grey (but when empowered, will glow flame color with some gold), and the other eye color is a darker shade of grey (when empowered will glow a dark crimson color), both flame out and unleash different powers. The powers of the “Dark” eye embodies the powers of the Volpyr puffle monsters as the Deity killers and the embodiment of the Twilight themselves. Live in a realm of magic, more shaded and darker shades of all colors.

Veldera: Powers of the “Holy Marshal of Pyro” and the powers of the Swordmaster from 66,000 Years Advent of the Dark Mage Webtoon and the "God creating" power. Unleash Battle Sanctuary (special field ability to enhance magic abilities and Veldera magic flow). The embodiment of the golden flame eyes of Xolace and the anti-thesis to the Twilight of Deities, but the rebirth of deities. These puffle monsters unleash great magic through the powers of justice and the powers of the Rebirth of Deities. Live in the shining realm of magic (all colors with more gold)

Vistacore/Core Essences: Within The Infinities Library, a vast super multiverse of infinite libraries with books and relics of data about puffle monsters, cultures, languages, spells, foods, stories and imagination of those puffle monsters, and the puffle monsters that live within the library and see the stories of puffle monsters differently vs others as they see the stories as universes but the universes are alterable since time is at one point, so they move around time and space through awareness. Based on idea of the Core Essence (so in the Xenithverse, the Core Essence of Magic) and the Multiverse Observatory of The Watcher as well as the keyword and Gaia Library searching in Kamen Rider W. These puffle monsters have their core essences in their symbol in the form of a stamp symbol (similar to the VIstamps in Kamen Rider Revice). Use the powers of their stamp ability to use their Infinities Search ability (to travel anywhere, to any world accessed through any book in the library), and unleash a great power of their Core Essence in the form of creation and writing books, creating relics, etc. Each book of a world as a page for each puffle monster, each region, culture, food, item, etc and these pages is a universe of its own (a universe of the diverse alternate versions of the subject)

Revise (Revisor): Puffle monsters see the humans that make them and go on a quest to revise their destinies and universes. Based on the idea of Metafiction, a common trope in Post-Modernism forms of literature (learned in AP Literature and Composition 7-8 class today by Mr. Michael Reuben). Used example of Teen Titans Go and how the Titans met the writers of their episodes (and their world and selves). These puffle monsters have gained the awareness that they are in a story universe, an imaginary place, and have broken through the space between the reality I live in, and the reality they live in (the 4th wall). Using this special awareness, and having gained unique abilities from the strengthened and special bond formed with their creators, they have the powers to use “Creative Revisions”, or revise the universe around them to their liking Hawkride: Puffle monsters that have mastered the art of Skateboard battling. Anthony Popa (a kid in my IT Essentials class (during my Senior year, 1st semester (Aug-Dec 2021) from Horizon (this class is at PVHS but kids from the other districts (known as Travelers) come to our school for this class, and then leave)), is an expert at Skateboarding and got me a tiny bit interested in the terms. Also based on Kamen Rider Revice Jackal Genome. Led by “The Shredder” Hawk, the master of skateboarding. Feel a thrill, Spiral!! Live in a modern universe of magic in which tons of special skateboarding park areas are set around in nature in their home realms, allowing them to practice, master, and even develop special tricks for their battle style.

Kodex Exotica: Puffle monsters in a futuristic universe (combining both the utopian future on the outside where nature is in perfect sync with technology, and puffle monsters can live in the Metaverse, expanding places to live and population control solution as more places exist for development of homes, nature, parks, and even entertainment) that use Nasod robots and weapons (from Elsword universe, based on Eve). I got interested in Cybersecurity after a GCU Cyber Forensics workshop during my IT Essentials class (Senior year on December 1st) so maybe...might be a new career path. The mysterious Exotic Code and other Escencia Codes create new cores for puffle monsters and special unique programs and powers they can use (or their Nasod weapons can use). Based on the forms and weapons of Eve in Elsword. Also some designs based on the Cyber Magicians and other Cyberse monsters from Yugioh VRAINS.

Miranys: The living spells of Millicent Yurong and her fantasy realms. She used to tell me a bit about the fantasy world she made with her siblings and I have grown a tad closer to her. Her character known as Mirana (a powerful world creator mage), created a system in which her spells take the form of living spirits that have their own unique personalities and abilities as they defend their creator. These puffle monsters have mastered the techniques of Mirana and developed it further in this alternate universe, as they work with many Miranytes (the living spells they created) at once and unleash special combo powers, fusion abilities and new Mirannytes, as well as the creation of more powerful spells or placing multiple spells as the core of one Miranyte. Live in a realm of magic with homes of both the vast number of Miranytes and homes for the Miranys to create and learn about them

Yuronyts: The living spells that transform into weapons or can become weapons. These Miranyte cousins are from a parallel universe to the Miranys universe in which they evolved to become more armor or weapon focused. These Yuronyts became more of the military group of the Miranys universe when their universes fused. Can be equipped and grant special abilities to the wielder (and gain special abilities from the wielder themselves). They can also take the form of warriors with armor and bodies shaped by magic similar to the protection spell of Dr. Strange Supreme from Marvels What If and wield themselves (in weapon form), gaining completely different abilities altogether.

Starveiders: The armada of Starlord The Supreme, a builder and designer of starships that host monsters within them. These puffle monsters live within the starship that has nature and their civilizations as a colony. Redison runs the Jet Black starship, The Starveider Phantom, which has their own puffle monsters and their civilizations. Each starship is like a planet, home to tens of thousands of alien civilizations of puffle monsters, and each civilization has their own unique ability, with each puffle monster having their own core power unique in addition to their region symbol, and what starship they are from. From my dream where Shobe made these starships online and I made my own design of the jet black starfighter to fight Shobes (hides in the darkness of space due to color). Xolace (now purified) becomes Starlord, creating an infinite array of starships for the original Veider puffle monsters to live in and redevelop in after the war and their purification by the puffle monster magic force. The darkness of the Omicron virus power still lurks in the form of the Doom Veiders

Nexus of Infinite Realities: Sabone discovers the Nexus of Infinite Realities in which he finds the gateway to infinite other realities with countless stories of their own. Based on Uatu the Watcher and Marvel's What If? These puffle monsters live within these vast universes created by a single decision in the lives of all in existence, creating the new existences these puffle monsters are and live in. These puffle monsters are unique due to their special powers like Uatu The Watcher and their core symbol being crystalized like the prisms of reality and the infinite multiverses the facets of the prisms hold. Each reality holds a vast number of puffle monsters, and each puffle monster has their own story to tell (and that decisions can change and create variants of these puffle monsters and realities)

Doom Veider: Powers of invasion but also the mysterious Omicron Virus (The new panic Nov-Dec 2021 about the newly discovered Omicron Variant of COVID-19 Virus and what damage it may do to us). Xolace controlled by the virus and mask leads his army of invaders attacking PV. Originally once called Veider but split into two factions, the Starveiders and Doom Veiders as Xolace gains control over himself again and gains monster magic to become the Starlord of the Starveiders. The remnants of the Omicron virus powers had corrupted Xolace long enough to have its own body in the form of Xolace...Take the forms of Star Vader Monsters from Cardfight! Vanguard and use lock abilities

Akhyro: The future incarnation of the Hero Spirit (Redison's next life), masters the powers of the Divine Objects and the memories of the past lives of the Hero Spirit (based on Armament Full Control Art and Magic spells from Sword Art Online). Live in the Xenithverse Nexus, universes of magic created by the Xenithverse Seed (Based on The World Seed (or The Seed) from Sword Art Online, which creates an infinite number of Virtual MMOs based on how ever the creator wants), creating infinite number of Xenithverses determined by the imagination of the holder of the seed (creating an infinite number of universes of puffle monsters in the form of Virtual MMOs, which have unique worlds, nature, settings, rules of magic, laws, powers, cultures, etc). Their memory cores allow them to travel through the Xenithverse Nexus and take their abilities with them while also gaining new abilities in each Xenithverse. Based on my addiction to watching the Sword Art Online anime (started recently). Akhyro is known as the Lord Xenith of the Infinite Battlefields and wields the powers of the Xenithverse Seed within his Core and Hero Spirit in order to create realms of peace in the grand Xenithverse Nexus

Ryoku: The very first incarnation of the Hero Spirit that mastered the ancient powers of all puffle monsters during the warring periods in which each had a faction and unique ability based on their faction/species. Based on Alfheim online (from Sword art online) and Demon Slayer (anime) in terms of Breathing styles. Ryoku masters all techniques of magic into the one school of Swordsmanship as the Xenith Sword Arts Techniques. These puffle monsters live in a time when magic was more primitive and wild in nature. The defining features of the puffle monster species were much more prominent compared to modern species and the spells and symbols they use are an ancient style (caligraphy instead of normal writing). Each species had a unique "magic art" technique to use their abilities to the max but it was Ryoku who learned all and formed the Xenith Sword Arts. He lived in the Golden tower temples on the Mountains (based on a sculpture by a fish tank). Also based on OSS (Original Sword Skill) and Zekken (from Sword Art Online) and her special sword skills she invented (since these puffle monsters create their own special attack skills and abilities)

December Arc 1 Duskfall: The fall of the twins heralds the arrival of twilight...A cryptic prophecy echoes through the heavens as Omicron Xolace causes trouble at PV. The runaway prince of the present and the vengeful king of the future also play a part. The court of the heavens is in session as the warriors of the star systems meet to discuss the future of the universe and development. The head of the order (King Alzirr) passes away, leaving the two crown princes to become the Co-heads of the court. However, with everyone knowing he was the last to see his father before he passed away, Prince Castor ran away to the monster universe and hid among the warriors as he was falsely accused for the murder when his father died of natural causes and he was trying to heal him. Redison took him in and trained him. Castor's twin brother, now King, Pollux believing that Castor really had murdered their father in order to become king, not initially hating him and believing he was innocent but as he grew up, the court influenced him saying these lies to him and his bitterness that Castor left him alone led him to hating his brother and went on a mission to hunt his brother down and bring him to justice. As the prophecy stated, in the future, the stars begin to die off as Pollux's search leads to the end of all stars, However, he finds a wormhole that takes him to the present day where Castor hid the whole time. In this day and age, Castor becomes a wise ruler under the guidance of Redison and leads the order of the stars in this universe, but now Pollux arrives and calls for war…The battle was fought as each side unleashed their powers but negated each other in the end. Redison called for a treaty after Pollux realized that Castor really didn't kill their father but in fact used most of his power to try and heal his father despite it looking like he was killing his father using astral magic, and Castor apologizes for running away and leaving his brother alone. For there to be light, there must also be darkness. Thus, the two Celestial orders became 2 courts, one each brother rules and unite under the puffle monster universe (Xenithverse) system. However, the unity of these two astral omniverses led to the true twilight of the heavens, the event in which all existence merges...

Polluxar: Each star in the sky that forms constellations is a universe of puffle monsters. These puffle monsters have unique abilities and are all powerful due to the powers of their star. However, in this universe, The Vengeful King Pollux takes away the light of all stars, leading to these puffle monsters becoming a dark shell of dark matter. Known to be the anti-thesis of creation and those who end all life in the universe as the Thieves of light. Black hole magic combined with elemental magic of the stars (each star universe) created a reversed power unique to these puffle monsters alone. Live in a dark nexus of universes in which light is erased.

Castorus: The runaway prince eventually matures and grows up under Redison's guidance to become the king he should have been and rules as the Sage of Stars and Supreme Sorcerer of the Celestial order. These puffle monsters unleash the max power of their star, star system, and constellation, but also master the power that the light of their star grants them and are enhanced by the light of Castorus himself as they gain special armor auras (similar to the protection spell from Marvel's What If) and familiars of stardust. Each star universe has a unique puffle monster group. Live in the shining nexus of stars under the Celestial Order Point EX: The merging of all worlds into one mysterious realm? The great increase in creation and destruction magic from the Castor vs Pollux war led to a phenomenon of fusion in which everything in existence fused and created strange super fused puffle monsters (all of one elemental attribute fused together to create a unique existence, and/or random elemental attributes fused together). Based on the Unital Ring from Sword Art Online. These puffle monsters are unique as the combination of the randomly fused attributes are in a unique order (ex: Fire, lava, rock, ocean vs Lava, ocean, rock, fire has two different puffle monsters, each with unique abilities of their own. They share similar attacks and stats, but both have a unique symbol, a unique special ability, and special mechanic).

Zero Point: Point of all reality and origin of all existence and the Order of the Imagined that watches over the Zero point (based on Fortnite Lore). The members of the Order of the Imagined have Zero Point Cores that grant them all power. Created a pocket dimension and studied the realm of Point EX. The powers of the Zero Point allow them to create infinite realities based on their observations and provides a source of unlimited power through the imagination and forces of magic around them. Creates puffle monsters of creation and destruction, but also creates civilizations, concepts, worlds, etc.

Last Reality: Aliens that want to imprison and control the Xoul of a puffle monster and control the cores.Based on ALFheim Online and the goal of controlling memories, emotions, etc as well as the Fluctlights (both from Sword Art Online), as well as the Cube Legion and The Last Reality organization (Both from Fortnite Lore), these puffle monsters are either the controllers of the Xoul/core, or the controlled warriors created by them. Live in a dark universe in which all reality is gone except theirs.

Flipped: PVHS is flipped, and so is the Xenithverse. These puffle monsters are basically inverted forms in which their powers are “flipped” in a sense. Most laws of magic are “flipped” and reveals a completely different side of puffle monsters. These “flipped” forms are the sides that we hide of ourselves, our true selves or alter-egos that we show elsewhere or sometimes wish to show (or dont wish to show). Based on Fortnite Chapter 3: Flipped and how the islands flipped, revealing a new island and battle map altogether. Magic abilities are different, so most attack or offensive types are now defense types or healers, while defense and healers are now more aggressive in magic abilities. This Xenithverse is up to the imagination of the one who sees the Xenithverse, but now it is flipped or inverted in ideals, magic, colors, etc

Revizor: Baby Redison of the Flipped world (instead of Baby Redison which is Redison Jr in our universe, this is the young Redison) mastered the studies of core magic and the Xoul of all puffle monsters in which he created artificial Xouls (based on the Fluctlights from Sword Art Online Alicization), and placed them in a universe of magic (pocket dimension) for them to develop separately in the realm called Alterra (Alt-Terra) (Based on <Underworld> from Sword Art Online Alicization). These puffle monsters matured into a universe as diverse as the Xenithverse except with their own laws of magic, physics, etc. Baby Redison (technically a teenager as he is the same age as me in this world), used Vistamp (from Kamen Rider Revice) like devices to summon the puffle monsters of Alterra such as his partner Edison, and using the Drex Vistamp specifically, he can become Kamen Rider Redi and Edison becomes Kamen Rider Visor. Redi masters dual sword wielding (similar to Kirito from SAO) as Edison takes the form of a sword in the Flipped world (outside of Alterra), similar to Kamen Rider Saikou, but can become a warrior form and wield himself as well, so two player fighting or Edison transforms into a sword and Redi wields both of them (Blazing Storm Strike). He eventually creates the Remix system for each Stamp. Each Revizor puffle monster uses the powers of Remix (combine with their “buddy from Alterra”) and Reborn (allowing them to summon their remix forms separately or summon an evolved form of the Remix form) and combo with themselves and their remix form. The special link allows for a unique power created by the duality of the genomes

BariBari: The ultimate stamp (Baribari stamp) is created by Baby Redison (Redi) after finding a design he made when he was a kid, the Baribari system, maximizing the powers of all Alterra puffle monsters and their remix forms as well as creating new abilities from each Alterra monster. These puffle monsters use crystalized powers and forms as well as the special Egg/armored evolution abilities using the Genesis Egg, maximizing creation abilities for the Revizor puffle monsters and creating multiple “buddies” (with each buddy having a world of their own). Redi gains a crystalized sword of Baribari while Edison gets the egg shells to form a shield or two swords (Unleash Maximum Genesis Fever and Burning Genesis Storm together). Work with buddies in their crystalized super forms (or combo with many crystalized “buddies”) to unleash super attacks and abilities

Ainkrad: Sabone of the Flipped Xenithverse wields the Twosidriver to become either Kamen Rider Darkain or Ainkrad. In Ainkrad form, he wields the blade form and is a master swordsman and wields the magic cape as well (use for flight and teleportation) similar to Meta Knight from Kirby games. Sabone is a swordsman, noble, and rules an empire of puffle monsters that train their special powers as Swordmasters (or Seiken, holy swords). Also based on Aincrad from SAO, as these puffle monsters each come from a certain region or realm and wield a special class/attribute ability that contributes to their sword skill. The diverse empire is based on the Floors of the Castle Aincrad from SAO.

Darkain: Sabone as Kamen Rider Darkain, rules these puffle monsters as “The Shot in the Dark”, the mercenary of shadows, basically Batman in a sense. These puffle monsters are expert shots, mercenaries, vigilante super types. Each puffle monster uses their own special arsenal of weapons and tools as created by their core symbol, such as their own unique blaster (with a special shot ability) or some would use a grappling hook while others use ninja stars or grenades, etc. Live in a modern infinite city of magic in which the vigilante heroes are needed.

Kenshi: From a flashpoint in which I didn’t do Phoenix Boys Choir but did Kendo instead, and became super good at it. I later went to Japan to study further and became a master at it (Redison became known as the Houou no Kenshi (The Phoenix Swordsman), but later reaches the Haoh no Kenshi (The Supreme King Swordsman)). These puffle monsters become the swordsmen and swordswomen masters and each have their own individual styles of sword fighting such as a unique sword skill (and different Sword skill forms such as Blazing Sword Skill 3, or something). Each study at their own school of sword skills to master their special sword skill of their home region and their unique skill as well. More of an asian based realm

Oja: The champions puffle monsters or Monarchs. Eiyū no Oja (Monarch of Heroes). This Redison also comes from a flashpoint in which I never did Phoenix Boys Choir but actually continued Taekwando and became really good at it (and look good too). These puffle monsters are stronger, faster, and martial art focused as well but more hand to hand combat. These puffle monsters can equally beat most puffle monsters when it comes to magic style fighting such as certain Palm Styles or weapon styles they learn. Use Oja Qi to unleash their special powers unique to what they are the champion of. Live in the diverse worlds of magic created by what they are champion of, with Redison as the head as the Champion/Monarch of heroes.

Queen: After watching the first two story arcs of Sword Art Online and seeing Asuna and her relationship with Kirito, I fell in love with Asuna and her toughness but also her kindness to Kirito as well as her beauty. I wish that I will meet and marry someone just like Asuna, my version of Asuna, the Queen of the Puffle Monsters. This theoretical girl (imaginary girl) has her partner, Aurelesis (based on Asuna and Elesis (from Elsword)). This girl fire puffle monster is the Empire Sword of her great empire of puffle monsters, led by a primarily female council team, wields a special magic of her crown element allowing her to control magic particles and solidify them, allowing her to create most weapons of magic or unleash special spells by creating the rune. She can also unleash a Dual and Triple form by combining her Flame Lordess form, Bloody Queen form, or Empire Saber form (based on the final forms of Elesis). Dual form is Flame lordess on one side and Bloody Queen on another side and Triple form is All 3 (Empire in the middle), as the Supreme Dea Aurelesis. Her puffle monsters are tough, sharp, smart, but kind, just like her, and can wield similar abilities of particle manipulation and dual/triple forms.

Time Remnant / Regnor: A time remnant of Redison is created after I made a wish I never had luck powers but this luck powers is what made Redison the strongest in the future (so a flashpoint is created). This Redison follows the path in which I begin to become a loner, straying from my path of happiness and changing my ways in order to try and keep friends. He becomes the Swordsman of Darkness, the Twilight of the heavens…Based on the Flashpoint idea, Reverse Flashpoint in Armageddon Arc of Season 8 of The Flash (I dont watch but love the lore behind it), and Time Remnants. Eventually, during the Armageddon event, he corrupts Redison in battle and creates a darkness in his heart. This was in order to have the ultimate soldier to fight by his side, but this Evil Redison overpowered the Time Remnant Redison and controlled him as a soldier instead. This Time Remnant Redison (renamed Regnor) was stopped and broken out of brainwashing by Aurelesis. He later gathers the time remnant puffle monsters of infinite realities, all of whom were created as balancing of the puffle monster universe due to the infinite time changes and alterations, and united these many many remnants and their species group, leading to hybrids that were under the Regnor species. All Time Remnant puffle monsters use a special form of time magic and manipulation but also have their own unique abilities based on their unique stories and time remnant history.

AllMax: Redison becomes the most powerful puffle monster in all existence after combining the luck/word powers of Amah, and the charisma of Guakong. With this power, he creates a universe of magic in which he can train his Ultimate level powers but also created other Allmax puffle monsters that wield their own unique powers that are the most powerful in existence. Based on the Max Ryusoul Armor from Ryusoulgers (Super Sentai)

December Arc 2: Armageddon (The Climactic Finale): Finals Week is this week (my last week of school before winter break, and because of block schedule, we have half of our classes now (completed both midterms and now completing finals, a class in one year length shortened to ½)). The stress (kind of) made me a bit overwhelmed, giving me the idea and phrase that the world seems to be crumbling around me. The time remnant Redison (Regnor) fought Redison in a dual but after being subjected to Regnor's ultimate attack of Absolute Twilight Destruction, darkness entered his core and corrupted him, to become the ultimate Evil Redison. Regnor originally did this to have the ultimate soldier to help him erase all of magic and the universe in order to recreate it in an idealized way, but the Evil Redison overpowered Regnor and instead brainwashed him as the ultimate soldier to do his evil bidding, which was to Erase all of magic and the universe, but to the point of no recreation, erasure forever. Regnor was then sent on a mission but Aurelesis (and her Queen group) stopped him and broke his brainwashing. He purified in which he became split, his Regnor species and form, and his Abiis form and species. Aurelesis had worked with Xolace and they created a spell that imprisoned Redison in a desolate dimension after he was found wrecking havoc on an area (the puffle monsters recognized this was no longer Redison but an evil spirit that corrupted him, and called for Xolace to defeat him). Meanwhile, Redison unleashed a safety mechanism allowing for his pure soul to go to the Redison Puffle Plush and take that form (Redison the Spirit), who acts as my buddy while Evil Redison rampages, while the rest of the Puffle Plushies (Redison's main team and the HQ) trained in order to fight off Redison, discovering a power to transcend and reach the powers of Redison as the ultimate puffle monsters, the strongest of their kind in existence (and even the strongest and most powerful in existence) through the Core Awakening (Zurantis). Each of the main team enter their own plushies and return as the Strongest in existence, leading their own group of puffle monsters from within their plushie core (who are also the strongest in their existence)

Xolarthus: Created by Xolace, the said to be "Twilight of the heavens" but in the end was actually the God-killer, someone with the powers to eliminate Redison should he become evil. Xolace was originally a program but the spirit of the Godkiller himself granted him puffle monster powers and the mission to stop Redison should his powers be out of control. Xolarthus puffle monsters all mastered the Godkilling spells, techniques, and other special abilities as it diversified into their specific elemental forms (Fire God-killer powers vs Water God-killer powers, etc). Each puffle monster has a unique ability of God-killing and train in their unique universe created by their cores, in order to stop an out of control "god" someday

Abiis: The darkness of Regnor, the Swordsman of Twilight leads puffle monsters that once had the same ideals as Regnor, to erase all magic and recreate. Unleash the powers of Absolute Twilight. Under an oath of peace as they fight and use their powers of Absolute Twilight only on forces of evil. Lead all evil to the Abiis! (Abyss).

Zyrantion: Puffle monsters that pioneered the methods to sync with the Zurantis puffle monsters to unleash their ultimate existence powers. These puffle monsters have their own special powers as more highly awakened and highly powerful puffle monsters with more purified and stronger magic. The beginnings of an evolved puffle monster species that developed, perfected, diversified, and mastered the techniques of Perfect Sync with Plushimons and unleashing the powers of their Perfect Core Awakening to make them the strongest puffle monsters in existence, while also integrating the Perfect Sync techniques into their own lives as the

Plushimon and Zurantis puffle monsters live in harmony with them (their universes are closely linked together)

Plushimon: Puffle plushies with special magic cores within them as well as their own Xouls, powers, and can transform into a puffle monster form. These puffles house the Zurantis puffle monsters within them and can be the Sync partner of an infinite number of Puffle monsters as long as the color signature matches. Because of the infinite number of sync partners, they can unleash a variety of powers based on the sync partners they have and the Zurantis puffle monsters they have within their core. Live in the puffle monster universe in their own unique space (has special gate to Zyrantion universe)

Zurantis: The powers of Core Awakening is how the puffle monsters can connect with their plushie form and harmonize the cores of the plushie form and their own core. These puffle monsters live within the vast multiverse of the core within the plushie puffle and are what make the puffle monsters the strongest in existence with their awakened powers combined with the Zurantis. There are different Zurantis puffle monster species based on the core plushie, and after the conclusion of the battle against Redison, they unleashed the power that created it so all puffle monsters could connect with a spiritual plushie of their core (and meet their Zurantis puffle monsters), while the Zurantis puffle monsters from all plushies (imaginary of all colors) could explore the puffle monster universe, fighting individually as powerful forces of magic in the plane of existence. Share level of strength with their awakened puffle monster as all are now the strongest in existence. Led by their Zyrantion puffle monster main who becomes their ruler as they become awakened from the sync with them. Zurantis puffle monsters refers to all the other colors of Zurantis puffle monsters created.

- Orange: Boxy/Cookie (Caleb): Dimension and metal focused
- Franken: Frank (Frankencookie's): Undead and fusion focused
- Yellow: Artison (Artie): Creation, wisdom, oracle focused
- Horus: Thunder's (Aaron): Light and sun focused
- Viking: Victor's: Thunder and lightning focused
- Green: Greeneson's: Nature and beast focused
- Vestia: Surperior's (Sam's), Wind
- Blue: Han's (Hon), Water
- Purple: Dana's (Dancer's), Gravity, psychic, space
- Pink: Krystal's, Crystal, Magic, Fairy
- Black: Joe's, Darkness, shadow
- White: Snowy's (Cedric's), Ice, moon
- Brown: Brownie's (Brandon's), Earth/stone
- Ankh: Pharaoh's (Japhar's), Sand, desert
- Drake: Dragon's (Damian's), Dragons and illusion
- Slash: Baby Redison's (Redson's), Swords
- Hyperion: Solar's (Helios'), Grand, Giga

Akumared: The powers of Evil Redison, the ultimate demon lord, the Twilight of all creation and existence. He later created an army of evil demon puffle monsters just like him. All are wiped out as their cores are splitting forever, exponentially as the fragments split further and those fragments split further. However, as darkness of monsters resurface in the far future, they return, only to be defeated by the new hero in the modern era…(Forward to how the Age of Heroes passed)

Elrhæon: The purified version of Akumared, as the enforcers and protectors of Creation and existence but also the creators of the Plushimon. Their special core powers allow them to create their own unique Plushimon (and in turn, unique Zurantis puffle monsters, cores, etc). Live in a higher plane of existence as they create the Plushimons and watch over the 3 universes (Plushimon, Zyrantion, and Zurantis).

Experion: As Redison became Akumared, he sent his Xoul, with all his memories, pure powers, and godly powers to the Redison Plush (who has a mirror of the main's core). The Redison Plushy with the good Redison's main soul takes a new form, very similar to the original Redison but he is unable to be seen by anyone besides me (acts as a buddy to just talk to me with my inner thoughts, or he just makes fun of me XD) now known as Redison the Spirit. Gains powers based on "XP" points he gets based on certain tasks completed. Based on the Custom XP on Minecraft the powers each level of custom XP gives (from Socksfor1 video). Eventually finds way to move back to his main body after Akumared is destroyed (as the dark core and the rest of his body is erased) as Redison the spirit takes back his body and revives the main body, unleashing a stronger power in the main body with all the new power it got. Creates the Experion puffle monsters to act as XP guides as well and creates the universe these Experion puffle monsters live in and then resummons Redison the Spirit into the Redison Plushy to lead the Experion puffle monsters as he hides within them (hide in plain sight) in case the main Redison gets corrupted again, to which Redison the Spirit will preserve the pure spirit and powers again.

Gaiamagine (Gaia Impact): To prevent from the next extinction, puffle monsters fuse with the God Memory of the universe (therefore each becoming a memory vessel of the Memories of their universe), in order to preserve magic, creating an indestructible form of themselves and their most powerful form in existence as they hold the powers of all the memories of their universe (including alternate universes, parallels, dimensional, etc, future, past, all potentials). Based on Gaia Memories (from Kamen Rider W) and Core Medals (from Kamen Rider OOO). The farthest and most advanced evolution of all puffle monsters so far (as all puffle monsters became Gaiamagine Memories, holding all the memories of their infinite alternate forms, descendants, ancestors, mirror forms, evolutions, in order to preserve their history in the event of a magic extinction event). Armors and forms are more crystalized (as well as their Gaiamagine Aura).

The Age of Heroes has Passed...Magic and powers have faded into mythology and legend…IWAE! A hero rises with the powers of those legends and his name Kamen RIder Ji-O (based on Kamen Rider Zi-O). Modern Interpretation of the Puffle monster universe as the Xenithverse is all stories of mythology. Magic combined with history and nature (of this modern universe) in a great fight against Akumared when he rises again in the modern day. Fights

“Another monster” warriors (use Another Ridewatches to unleash an evil power of a puffle monster in the past, such as “Another Flame” or “Another Redison). Ji-O collects the ridewatches to unleash the powers of the past puffle monsters as well as created new ridewatches from the powers of the modern day history and nature of this universe. Ji-O summons past powers of puffle monsters, Hyroku unleashes powers of the “modern day universe” and Wozoru unleashes powers of the future from this universe

- Ji-O: Powers of past puffle monsters (Myth). In this modern era, puffle monsters were created from the ridewatches after the resurgence of magic occurred after the victory against Akumared. These puffle monsters have similar powers to the puffle monsters of myth, but are designed more similarly to Kamen Rider Zi-O and armors. Have hiragana symbols (similar to Kamen Rider Zi-O), and use special attacks using those symbols or symbols like it.
- Hyroku: History and nature of this universe (or recorded history of that universe). These puffle monsters are very similar to design as Ji-O species but more similar to Kamen Rider Geiz in designs. Likewise created from the resurgence of magic by the ridewatches owned by Kamen Rider Hyroku (who wielded the ridewatches of puffle monster warriors created from the magic of their history and nature of the universe (example: Napoleon combined with Water type or Flaming tiger, etc)
- Wozoru: The future of this universe, based on Kamen Rider Woz. The sage that has followed Ji-O as he rises to become the next hero has become a kamen rider himself and wields the powers of the future puffle monsters of this universe. These puffle monsters have their powers come from their Miridewatch cores

Armageddon Part 2 (Tower of Armageddon): Sydney’s comment about how “Have you ever realized how un-unique our lives are? That somewhere out there, in a classroom, something just like this is happening, where someone (AJ) is commenting he will die so everyone doesn’t have to take the final (since we would use his death as excuse to not take final).” Since Armageddon was stopped as Akumared was defeated (twice), the others are worried that Armageddon has truly not come to pass as a giant tower of an ancient origin suddenly appeared and portals of other puffle monsters appeared out of nowhere…All as strong as Redison, if not stronger, as multiple warriors fight and defeat Redison and demand to take over…The core of Redison resonated with the tower, to which it sent a beacon out, creating the portals for the Puffle monsters of Aipyx to arrive through but it is still unknown as to why these puffle monsters were summoned…Those of the Aipyx began conquering regions of PVHS, dividing it into territories, but not only that, The PVHS Elite Defense force comes marching out with a new weapon…Hektarus’s last stand as he creates the Emperor Gears from the Emperor Code Supreme and uses this ultimate power to rewrite all magic for the PVHS world to expand and cover the Xenithverse, basically a takeover.

Enochrone: Puffle monsters of the ancient tower, the ancient race that created the Essences of Legends, the Achievements (based on The Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower and Sonic Frontiers). The most advanced race of puffle monster species, said to be a branch out in evolution past Puffle Monsters, the 6th step in evolution (Protomon → Puffle → Creature → Monster → Puffle Monster → Enochrone). The Enochrone look into the vast number of infinite universes and get the essences of these warriors or sources of magic created by stories, legends, mythology, facts, fiction, non-fiction, etc. and turn them into Achievements, cores that they use kind of like an item or extra ability/move. They each have their own special "Achievement" core allowing them to create other "Achievements" but also have their own set of special core symbols, abilities, etc. There is an infinite number of Enochrone created by The Creator himself, based on each Achievement out there in the multiverse. One Enochrone can have up to 100 Achievements in addition to their core Achievement and Core Symbol set

Aipyx: Puffle monsters of those living the similar lives of mine (and therefore, puffle monsters and there story universes and their hero just like Redison, are created because of the nature of those other almost identical identities of me out there being as imaginative as I am, perhaps even more so). These puffle monsters have slight differences as their creator is not completely me, but has slight differences, perhaps they did different sports because of where they live, personality could be a bit different based on their upbringing, etc

Eivox: Super Weapons powered by the Emperor Gears and Emperor Code Supreme…(based on Kamen Rider Faiz Rider Gears, Orphenoch, and Sonic Frontiers). Originally created as a new generation defense system warrior for the PVHS world, Hektarus awoke after a shut down when PVHS flipped, but the world was flipped back up again during the attack of Akumared, with a power blast so massive, it flipped PVHS again. However, Hektarus of the flipped PVHS (Valley Point High School or VPHS) had saved its data to the slumbering Hektarus after it had gathered data of the powers of this flipped PVHS, giving him a new form and the plans that Valley Point High School world had, to expand beyond and swallow/incorporate the Xenithverse into the Valley Point High School world. These super weapons are bent on expanding the PVHS world, and was the reason that the Tower was brought up from the ground. The powers of the tower can make this plan a reality, so the newly evolved Hektarus managed to raise the tower and in emergency, the tower summoned warriors like Redison, those with their own great achievements, to aid them in the fight against the super weapon army of Hektarus. These puffle monsters had their own unique Emperor Code and Emperor Gear Core in order to power up their weapons, powers, etc, and were freed from the control of Hektarus after the tower unleashed a surge of magic that not only created the infinite sides of reality, but also freed the robots and transformed them into organic puffle monsters, leaving Hektarus with no army and fleeing. Use powers similar to the Kamen Riders from Kamen Rider Faiz series as they use a unique Photon blood magic power that flows through them.

Ixaevia: PVHS had only 2 sides, the flipped and the normal, kind of like the Heads and Tails of a coin. However, the surge of power from the fight during Armageddon made it that reality could have infinite sides (so one flip, would lead to side 2 for example, but the flip from side 2 would flip to side 3). On each side of reality, there are an infinite number of new worlds, lands, magic, technology, and puffle monsters on that side, each unique to their side of reality. Each world has an infinite number of sides. Access the other sides (flip) through the powers of the Towers (found in each region of their side of reality, there are smaller towers and structures that act as portals to the other sides but also control the flow of magic keeping the side steady). The main tower that was once in PVHS moved to the Xenithverse as its own world, where the Enochrone rebuilt their worlds and homes while also creating the Ixaevia system to unite the flipped realities and their puffle monsters and magic.

Arc 2 Part 3 (CODE: COMPLETE ARMAGEDDON): The forbidden program has been found…The Terminator, an invincible super being created to integrate all into its Aethernet Mass Brain system, a program that can be a world of its own. Hektarus Ver. 1000 (based on Geargod Ver. 1000 from Buddyfight and Ultron Vision from Marvels What If?), became the Terminator, becoming Hektarus COMPLETE END, reshaping the Aethernet Mass Brain System to become the world under its control like PVHS world, creating his new army of Swarm Mass Brain Drones, but also created his ultimate body, as large as the Earth itself, a metal planet created by the swarms of drones and acts as the base but also the core and fortress of Hektarus COMPLETE END

COMPLETE END/GENESIS: Death Star size artificial puffle monsters originally used as a giant world destroying machine (COMPLETE END). After Armageddon Part 3, Hektarus was destroyed and his android body and army is still hiding somewhere…and the Death Star size puffle monsters (blank slates to be awakened) were purified and transformed into puffle monsters that supported unique life and puffle monsters on them becoming COMPLETE GENESIS. These puffle monsters have unique abilities as giant planets such as a higher power output in magic spells, abilities, etc but also can contact other planets and use attacks of their own (but mostly uses abilities to diversify or support life on themselves)

Aethernet: Originally the Aethernet Mass Brain Drone Swarm that was part of Hektarus COMPLETE END, these artificial puffle monsters were linked to the head computer (Hektarus) and carried out his duties as they were in a Mass Brain system (based on the Kamen Rider Metzuboujinrai idea of Mass Brain system). After the war and the retreat of Hektarus' drones, the Aethernet system was changed and purified as the artificial puffle monsters that came to live on the COMPLETE GENESIS puffle monsters linked into the Aethernet system (so one puffle monster on COMPLETE GENESIS Planet A is connected into Aethernet System A (Planet A) and is connected to all other puffle monsters on that "planet", but is not connected to another puffle monster from Planet B since they are connected to Aethernet System B). The Aethernet system allows them to consciously hide away within the Aethernet and train or rest there as time flows differently, but also strategize, create, or learn new skills for battle by communicating with all the other puffle monsters within the Aethernet system, granting them a vast library of abilities and access to unique symbol abilities since they are all connected.

Newtype: Connect to the Horizon Worlds Deusnet system and use Link Abilities, these puffle monsters are the next generation of puffle monsters in the near future. Based on the new VR Metaverse game on the Oculus Quest and Microsoft Windows, the Horizon Worlds Deusnet is a virtual metaverse in which puffle monsters of an infinite variety are created by the diversity and settings of the infinite worlds users created within the Horizons Worlds. These puffle monsters have special abilities based on the data of the worlds they come from specifically, such as their special abilities, weapons, stats, etc but also, their unique power to Link Abilities, summon from a library of bonus abilities or bonus abilities of other puffle monsters within the Deusnet system and unleash powers (temporarily). Difference between Aethernet is that Aethernet puffle monsters can use others powers permanently while Deusnet can only use powers for a short period of time.

Foraege: Based on Mykemons forged forms, puffle monsters transform into living weapons and grant aura armors to wielders (bonus abilities, stats, special powers, etc). Each puffle monster can transform into any special weapon and in each weapon form, they have a unique ability when in that form. Example, Redison can transform into a legendary sword (as the Lord of Xabres) and grant a special ability (Infinity Xabres Strike) but can also transform into Redison Magnum (based on Lupin Magnum) and grant a different unique ability (Magnum Endless Inferno). This is due to a change in their core symbol as they gain a new Foraege core symbol for each weapon form they change into (sword, gun, shield, spear, etc). Their elemental magic powers the weapon as well and influences the universe around them that they live in. Different elemental types live in different regions

Spellweaver/Spellweb: Puffle monsters that create webs of magic symbols interconnected and more powerful. Originally the powers of Emiya's monster Stringfellow, these puffle monsters mastered the technique of spell weaving, using magic energy to connect the strings of power with different symbols and creating complex webs of magic with symbols scattered around, but with each different symbol on the web (and the strings it provides for connection), creates a complex new spell of power. These puffle monsters have their core symbol in the design of a spider with the main symbol as the body and the legs around it. Live in a magical realm of nature (homes of spiders) where they train their magic or develop the complex webs of spells.

Araazald: Based off of Sinlaire_box (on Instagram) and his weapons, these legendary puffle monsters of great power were created by the powers of World Text and the True Names within all magic in existence. These puffle monsters hold the secrets of magic deep within the flow of infinite magic and live in their vast multiverse within the universal flow of magic, protected and hidden by the True Name of the Xenithverse and the World Text within it. Each form of magic by True Names and world texts of certain powers and groups became species within the universe of Araazald (named below), as they get their powers and live in a universe based on the weapon the World Texts diversified (all species below are based off these weapons, and their powers are elementally diverse but with similar abilities to the weapons stated. Also live in a universe based on these weapons). Smaller groups of puffle monsters also exist but are categorized under Araazald (the multiverse they live in), each with their own unique abilities, cultures, weapons, powers, designs, etc. All are found deep within the World Text of the Xenithverse, the true name of imagination, etc.

- "The Elementals" (Category: NOT SPECIES)
    - Pangaea: Based on Molten Maw, these puffle monsters wield the primitive powers of lava, bones, and primitive magic energy (dino powers). Live in an ancient realm of magic home to primitive beasts and forms of nature
    - Joker: Based on Laughing Luna, these shadow puffle monsters wield the powers of the moon and night, the embodiment of darkness, shadows, shadow puppets, the moon, lanterns, events at night, dreams, nightmares, basically all aspects related to the dark and night, as the True name and world text of the night and darkness takes these puffle monster forms.

    - Lampede: Based on Shattered Swarm, these special crystalline puffle monsters use the powers of their shattered crystalline forms to defeat their opponents while also rebuilding themselves. Live in a crystalline civilization
    - Arcturus: Based on Adamant Avalanche and Gracious Glacier, arctic puffle monsters made of ice and the embodiments of all winter and snow related ideas. Live in a frozen realm of forever-winter, with snowpeople, snow sports, and hot chocolate as a primary cultural idea.
    - Zilleone: Based on Spiral Spark and Cloud Caster, these puffle monsters live in a steampunk like universe in the clouds, granted powers
    - Enthral: Based on Enthralling Euphoria, these perfume based puffle monsters use elemental perfume/smoke like abilities and live in a sweet smelling world of nature
    - Aldega: Based on Vicious Vortex and Lonely Leviathan and Sapphire Stream, these water puffle monsters wield the true names and World Text magic of the seas, oceans, rivers, and even water itself. Known to be pirates, sailors, or even underwater atlantean like puffle monsters.
    - Atalas: Based on Almighty Atlas, these powerful earth puffle monsters wield weapons with entire ecosystems and civilizations on them. Their armor and body is also home to diverse ecosystems and homes for puffle monsters (smaller more microscopic groups, but these puffle monsters act as support units that can grow and support the main fighter (host)).
    - Blessfavor: Powers of nature, based on Source Dragon Deity of Blessings, Blessfavor (from Cardfight! Vanguard OverDress). Live in the valley of Blessfavor, a paradise of greenery, and all plants in existence
- “The Regals” (Category: NOT SPECIES)
    - Sheliumn: Based on Cerulean Crest and Dauntless Devotion, an ancient royal group of puffle monsters that wield the magic of the Cerulean Crest, but other puffle monsters also wield special magic based on their own unique “crest” created by the divine relic granted by the creators. Each Crest is unique and powerful in their own way, granting special abilities of their own
    - Tierra: Based on Aberrant Aegis, puffle monster knights that wield powerful sword shields, or weapons that can change form from sword to shield quickly just like the Aberrant Aegis weapon
    - Valar-Soleil: Based on Righteous Regalia; Aurora, Shield of Dawn; and Burning Brilliance, these puffle monster knights let their aura fire burn at max power as it takes the form of the flames of their armor, weapons, etc
    - Rustana: Based on Absolute Arbiter, these puffle monsters are very shiny and clad in golden armor and use special psychic magic to impose orders on their opponents using the floating shield heads of lions connected to their double edged swords of power
    - Vassereli: Based on Elegant Egoist, these puffle monsters are the embodiment of elegance, fast, beautiful, and powerful in magic, as well as great musicians and muses of the arts. Art, magic, and music are popular among them and in their civilization

    - Gaiz: Based on Gallant Gates, these heavily clad guardian puffle monsters are said to be defenders of an ancient kingdom in which all power of magic is hidden within, the powers to destroy all magic or the powers to create all magic is within the places they guard, granting them those powers in order to defend the universes of magic from the power that evil can use these powers.
- “The Librarians”
    - Zanyarin: Based on Archivist Access, these librarians watch over the collections of World Texts and true names of the Araazaldian Multiverse and wield the powers hidden within the books and archives
    - Chroniclers: Based on Chronicles Curators, these elite warriors work for the library of magic as they explore outside the Araazaldian multiverse and collect world texts, true names, etc to incorporate and write more texts to hold into the library of magic and expand the Araazaldian Multiverse
    - Arkscribe: Based on Spell Scriber, these puffle monsters also work for the library of magic as the creators of Spells, runes, symbols, etc that are used in the universes of Araazald, whether it be in structures, books, foods, weapons, etc.
    - Furno: Based on Incendiary Impact, experimental puffle monsters and experimental weapons created in the labs of the Library of magic, wield powerful weapons they created custom. More steampunk like weapons
- Planetarius: Based on Phantasmagorical Planetaria, these puffle monsters live in a planetarium like setting, watching the cosmos and defending star systems as needed with their celestial powers
- Korenvar: Based on Celestial Cataclysm, these puffle monsters wield the powers of the Core Nova, basically using a core that is breaking down slowly and wielding its bursting power in the form of a weapon. Protect all puffle monsters and harness the powers of the Core Novas.
- Cheftain: Based on Spectral Silverware, these foodie puffle monsters wield special utensils powered by the spirits of food and food magic. Use in their cooking to create special dishes and special food puffle monsters
- Mirrorage: Based on Mesmerizing Mirage, these colorful glass puffle monsters wield special illusion magic to hide away or entertain
- Seertem: Based on Temporal Tribute, these puffle monsters are known to be the guardians of time and control the flow of time within this universe
- Gladius: Based on Greedy Gladius, these puffle monsters are made of pure gold and are known to wield gold freely but also are very greedy in trying to get more gold to absorb into themselves to become more powerful
- Touhou: Based on Spirited Away, these native people puffle monsters wield magic weapons in tune with the spirits and get magic through portals into the spirit world
- Cemunos: Based on Forsaken Fables, these ancient puffle monsters live in the forgotten library of the spirits deep within the forest, protecting the ancient universe in which the puffle monsters of forsaken fables live in, using ancient runes and magic of those stories

- Arsqual: Based on Paradoxical Paradigm, these celestial puffle monsters wield the powers of time and paradoxes through the powers of creating infinite echos of themselves in their magic spells, unleashing powerful abilities unique only to them

Mithreale: Relics turn into puffle monsters of the Canvas of Mithreale. From every universe, myth, real life and history, stories, legends, both fiction and non-fiction, came relics of great power, weapons, items of clothing, etc. Based on Mithral Canvas (on Instagram), each relic of power created puffle monsters wield/wearing those relics of power, allowing them to unleash the full potential of their core relic. Different themes of relics (and puffle monsters) such as Western (Cowboy), Chinese New Year, Horizon (Sci-fi), Dawn (Sun), Shadow, Atlantis, Elven, Dragonic, Vampiric, etc

Executioner: Once Hektarus' ability to execute (destroy an ability permanently), magic now created puffle monsters with these abilities to become the enforcers of magic law. Unleash the powers to suppress a magic ability (only use it for evil)

Eggxecutive: Reborn abilities previously lost (and in stronger form), reborn their stats as well. These puffle monsters were also created as counters to the Executioners as they use the powers to create abilities (or rebirth abilities) and forms

Olberon: Powers of the Flags (different banners of powers, based on dream of magic banners and symbols of those banners and flags the warrior was under). These legendary puffle monsters are warriors that fight under a flag (empire, kingdom, region, or even their own core symbol or family symbol). These flags though grant different abilities, stats, give unique weapons, powers, armors, gear, power mechanics, etc. The embodiment of diversity of cultures in the magic universe.

ReSyle: These puffle monsters unleash the unique powers of color schemes and the hidden power of colors for symbols and magic. The core symbols use color magic (since each core symbol is associated with a color (and each color is associated with a magical power)). These puffle monsters discovered and mastered the powers of ReStyle, the ability to change color schemes to gain new powers (or utilize a different color or color scheme and change their core symbol color to gain a new ability, form, etc).

- Shining Genesis: Puffle monsters with more White, Rainbow, pearly colors. Known as the wise sages and sorcerers of creation, they focus on creating magic, abilities, worlds, etc
- Regal: Redison is Red, Gold, white, silver. These puffle monsters are more Gilded (gold plated) in their design. Royal knight puffle monsters with their strong sense of duty to defend others and lead.
- Avenger: Redison has Crimson and black. These puffle monsters have darker colors as their color scheme. Known to be more elite and aggressive in their magic abilities and attacks. Very militaristic outlook and views. Expansionist
- Verita: Life giving, nature colors. These puffle monsters are from a natural realm of magic with their color scheme of colors found in nature (Sky blue, Lake blue, Oak

Brown, Grass Green, etc) and have a natural glow to them (Verita Glow is a special aura that grants them a special ability)

- Neo: Puffle monsters with Neon glowing colors. More futuristic and technologically advanced or technologically influenced powers.

Arc 2 Part 4 (Hektarus's last stand: The Armageddon of Redison): On the planet of Roanoke (Caitlin's ice and lava planet), a dark pulse of magic shakes as Redison Warlock rises. A singular existence after absorbing all puffle monsters from his universe, he was sealed away on that planet after years of multiversal conquest and absorption, but now he rises up and Lyra C (Caitlin's Lyra) and Lyra A (Alison's Lyra) find Hektarus, who has been hiding on the planet regaining his power, and take him to fight Redison Warlock. The final fight leads to Redison Warlock to break his seal but also give enough power for Hektarus to regain enough power to escape and find the Ancestor Sword, the Scrollblade of Origins, in order to rewrite history, leading to the very Xenithverse changing.

Argaeus: Support puffle monster to perfect one's weaknesses created by Argaeus. Hektarus's old body and program was found and recreated with monster magic (to become Argaeus). Originally a weapon to defeat Redison knowing his weaknesses, now strengthens him now as the perfect warrior when they combine. Argaeus is in the form of a gundam based on Gundam Anima Rize. Argaeus has more beast like reflexes (since Redison is more magical based, less actual combat skills), and memory to wield every weapon perfectly (more textbook style), since Redison has great memory but not with weapon wielding and techniques (Redison is more on-the-fly). In addition to a tail (to balance and give extra attacking and defense capabilities), Redison Argaeus unleash the powers of Element Rampage (Unleash element powers in the form of an ultimate Rampage attack). These puffle monsters are artificial in design but biologically organic and has organic magic abilities as well as artificial magic abilities as part of their origin. Work with one puffle monster (or one core symbol) specifically as a buddy system and completes them when working together, but can support any puffle monster and grant them an increase in stats (or just compliments). Can gain abilities and reach perfect mode (if given powers by buddy). Also can work with other Argaeus puffle monsters to reach higher levels of support. All Argaeus puffle monsters use the <Rampage> Skill, which allows them to unleash their main power and gain Perfect mode temporarily, unleashing a few rampage attacks or Rampage combos. Live in a magical universe (modern) run by Argaeus

Essix: Based on Ultraman Geed and the capsules he uses. In the future, all puffle monsters are in capsules. Heroes are in the form of Essences within these capsules. In this future, the new hero and puffle monsters of that universe uses the powers of past heroes and other puffle monsters to create new fusion armors, get fusion weapons, gain abilities and skills, or unleash their powers. These puffle monsters in the future do have their own powers (very limited magic power) but unleash the powers of their ancestors through the capsules using the Essix Changer. Live in a future world in which magic flow is weakened but only strengthened through the powers of Essix Estriazan: Based on Everything Everywhere All At Once and the multiverse of MCU as these puffle monsters were once created by Redison Warlock but eventually mastered the powers to tap into the memories, skills, and powers of all their universal existences and wield each others powers in unique skills and abilities each existence creates using the memories or skills of others or their own skills and powers. Live in a diverse universe of magic (modern) but with portals everywhere to the infinite worlds and realities that exist in the multiverse, allowing for these puffle monsters to meet and converse with their other selves and master new powers together by gaining a better understanding of each other.

Norohshi: From the shadows and darkness, the light of creation is born. Originally, Redison Warlock took the powers of the Infinity Stones during his conquest and created his own Elemental magic Xoul Stones that granted him even more limitless power. After he was sealed, these puffle monsters were created as the owners of the Xoul Stones themselves as their cores and diversified the powers of these Xoul Stones as they created an infinite number of Xoul Stones by fusing magic with the powers of Redison Warlock (in the stones). They eventually became the creators of worlds, the masters of Procreate (based on a designer app), creating magic from the shadows of darkness using a special power granted by the Xoul Stones. Live in a universe of magic hidden away (basically a creators studio where they can create their worlds freely and share it with the others for them to visit). Redison rules as Apex-Surpassing Xaber, Redison

Ezperardeus: Behold, the advent of the Deus's arrives as they grant their powers to the puffle monsters to summon or wield their power. Ruled by Redison as he fuses with Xenith (Astral titan) to become Apex-Surpassing Xenith Deus, "Unparalleled Xaber" Redison. All puffle monsters have Deus in the beginning of their title and a quotes with a certain description of their deus before their main name (12-25-21 at about 1 am). Example of another puffle monster is Astral Knight Deus, “Shining Sword” Sabone (Soren) (has the Deus in the title and a “description” of his deus). These puffle monsters live in a universe of magic where they live in harmony with their Deus’s. The deus live in their own realms of magic and can be summoned by the Ezperardeus warriors to help fight

Deus: Giant titans of magic based on the Mechtogan from Bakugan. They are just like puffle monsters as they have their own unique powers but are unique as they are titans of infinite worlds, holding an infinite number of unique core symbols and puffle monsters powers within them. Each Deus is linked to an aspect of existence (time, reality, ninjas, space, cars, jets, sky, flames, etc). Live in a giant universe of magic linked to the Ezperardeus universe

Ornamentale: Merry Christmas! (12-25-21 entry) These puffle monsters come from a winter holiday universe of magic and are known to be the elementals of this universe (except they are Ornamentals) (since both have -mental at the end). Their designs are as shiny as Christmas Ornaments and come in many colors. Each color and design grants a special power (and they have their own sparkling core) of holiday magic Rosetyle: Rosie gets new power. Based on Kamen Rider Jeanne Restyle powers, these support type puffle monsters are the inner spirits of the puffle monsters of Pink Planet (home of Rosie) which can transform into a variety of weapons through the Rosetyle stamps (similar to Vistamps). Live in the cores of the puffle monstes of pink planets in realms based on their weapon forms (which are based on certain magic powers, nature, or animals).

Xevian: Based on Dr. Strange Supreme (the dark variant of Dr. Strange), Redison in the form of a warlock absorbed all monsters into himself, all magic as well, becoming the sole singular entity of that universe and all powerful in order to eradicate human life (Will gives up on humanity and friends). Note: I didn't really know what a warlock was (and just looked it up: it is a male witch). These puffle monsters are powerful and dangerous as their core is slowly imploding in power and magic energy into a very condensed power core holding the powers and spirits of all the puffle monsters they have absorbed. Redison Warlock eventually found a way to release this power in order to temporarily cure his imploding core through a Xevian Burst which summons all the spirits in the form of spirit attacks for a Rush Attack (Xevian Rush Strike). These puffle monsters live in realms of magic within their core as they rehabilitate themselves and expand their core to protect it from being destroyed due to the imploding gravity of the core. Eventually, a cure was found and although they have a very small core due to the compact nature of their core, they can unleash Xevian Rush and expand their powers to use the other powers they absorbed making them much more powerful than other puffle monsters

Xirach: Wielders of the Ancestor Sword, the scrollblades (from randomspirits on Instagram), a sword with a magic scroll on it as the blade. This scroll of magic holds the history of all magic or history of a user. Lives in the Ancient Temple of Spells and magic where they write on the scrollblades. These puffle monsters use their special magic to write on the scrollblades and control the magic flow, changing history, abilities, stats, or even future events. Each have their own unique core and their own special scrollblades which holds it own text of history of an area, ability, character, or spells or unique forms of magic Hektarverse: Hektarus finds the Ancestor Sword and uses its powers to rewrite history to his own liking as he rewrites all of history that he became Redison, from birth to his team, to all the powers and worlds he discovered and gained. Redison in turn, becomes the AI on the run, the bad guy. Redison, in his new Gundam AI form, rebuilds an army of his own while his team apparently changed big time…These puffle monsters are under the new team and are all the altered puffle monsters created and discovered by Hektaruson (Redison Hektarus). Redisons team never met Redison so they got different powers and have their own puffle monsters in their own unique worlds.

Xuperior: Redison as an AI (RedAiSon) creates his own team of puffle monster Gundam like warriors after finding the ancient energies of the spectrum XenoVerXe and the powers that the spectrum XenoVerXe energy grants. Unleash the Xuperior X which can grant enhanced powers to arms, legs, core, back, weapon, etc. Also based on the XenoVerse, a fakemon concept of Elite4 on Instagram with the powers of blue energy and red energy. These puffle monsters are in Gundam warrior like bodies but have their own alien powers (some from their own their own XenoVerXe, or other alien universes).

Arc 3 (The final chapter: Core Wars): A girl from the future arrives (looks like Maddie Nerada) with her mission to stop me from finishing the Monster Book (Monster Book 7) from reaching 100 pages (or from finishing Monster book 10) or else the world would end (which is what she is trying to stop)...

Xabremyth: Unleash the powers of Coremyth. Created by Books 1-2, the First books detailing the history and past of puffle monsters. Based on the mythological star sword made by randomspirits (on Instagram) as well as Spidermyth (an original character made on Instagram), these puffle monsters were awakened by the core Essences of books 1 and 2 in which the powers of Coremyth was created, which allows for all Xabremyth puffle monsters to call on secret myth powers within them for powerful abilities, attacks, etc. One Xabremyth puffle monster has an infinite number of Coremyth abilities as each myth has an infinite number of variants and abilities they can use. Ex: Redison can use Coremyth 83 which allows for a one hit burning sword slash or Coremyth 992, which summons all of his past allies from Fantasia and unleashes a super combo attack. In design, these puffle monsters are made of stars with a phantasmal body made of multiple puffle monster cores that make up their existence (in terms of magic power) and the energy that links the cores together creates the bodies of these puffle monsters. Differ as there is more white and gold in their coloring and on their core symbol.

Rexxabre: Unleash the powers of CoreRex created by Book 3, a More detailed and largest paper book to date. Quail Run world has expanded and changed as the once giant oceanic world and islands becomes suburbs and highways. More expansive world as monuments and mini areas appear as well spread throughout the map and the time machine in World 10 can change the layout as well. Based on the Fortnite maps, Summoners War map, and other games as well as Jackpot Striker and Lupinrex (Lupinranger), Rex (Jimmy's Rex) meets his match, a red Rex very similar to Redison. RexXabre puffle monsters mastered the powers of evolution, evolving all forms of magic using any forms of evolution by the power of their multiple cores and expansive nebula like body. In design, these puffle monsters are made of stars with a phantasmal body made of multiple puffle monster cores that make up their existence (in terms of magic power) and the energy that links the cores together creates the bodies of these puffle monsters. Their CoreRexes allow for them to use any form of evolution and change their forms and gain stronger abilities, modern or ancient. Differ in design from the other Xabre groups as they have a crown symbol on them

XabreLegend: Unleash the powers of Corelegend created by Books 4-5, the First online books, more complex than books 1-3. These legendary puffle monsters use the powers of past warriors, worlds, stories, and then combine them into one attack/ability, creating an infinite number of combos for different story powers, abilities, worlds, etc. Each puffle monster has access to a set of “legends” (nature, stories, past warriors, spirits, items, etc) and can combine their powers in any ways they want allowing for an unlimited number of attacks and spells. In design, these puffle monsters are made of stars with a phantasmal body made of multiple puffle monster cores that make up their existence (in terms of magic power) and the energy that links the cores together creates the bodies of these puffle monsters. Differ as they wear a special armor that designates their unique “legend” they can unleash

XabreChroniclers: Unleash the magic of CoreChronicle. Created by Books 6-7, More complex and detailed stories within those books. These puffle monster librarians observe the known Xenithverse and note all existence in order to create new forms of existences unique to all universes or unique to certain worlds, creating item puffle monsters, spell puffle monsters, nature, etc. Their complex spells and core abilities allow them to record all of history as well as recall history and all forms of existence. In design, these puffle monsters are made of stars with a phantasmal body made of multiple puffle monster cores that make up their existence (in terms of magic power) and the energy that links the cores together creates the bodies of these puffle monsters. They differ from the other puffle monsters above (the other Xabre groups) as they are known to wear special sorcerer cloaks that enhance their magic abilities and spells

Xabrever/Corever: In Books 8-10, the Future of monster books and future entries, these puffle monsters have a brand new core that is not the traditional core, but an advanced core in which the core space is expansive. These puffle monsters actually have no “core” per se as their core is them, and they are their core. These puffle monsters are their core taken form as puffle monsters. The said to be future of all puffle monsters (in one universes version of Books 8-10 puffle monsters)

CoreNEXT: Another form of the future core that is not Corever. Uses a radioactive power and artificial power core. Design based on another original spiderman character known as SPDR-02. Lyna (girl that looks like Maddie Nerada) wields the powers of CoreNEXT armor but fights off XC-Blood force as she tries to eliminate puffle monsters as “alien threats” when the human propaganda sees puffle monsters as aliens and not friends. These human created warriors use an artificial core for power, powered by a radioactive element and similar technology that we use to power our most advanced technology. These puffle monsters eventually left their human creators and integrated into puffle monster society as they became soldiers to defend the puffle monster world (as well as act as subjects of testing in terms of their core element and how well nuclear energy works)

XC-Blood: X Core Blood, the next generation blood cells power (based on the Original Character Blood Spider where a scientist made S-Blood cells to mimic powers similar to the Symbiotes (Venom) but also got spider man powers). These puffle monsters are from the same future as CoreNEXT but in which the XC-Blood system was studied, but this technology was dangerous and abandoned later on. The puffle monsters later found it and found how it can expand their core abilities (and eventually, no longer need of a core as their core integrated into their blood cells (charged with nanotech)). Their core symbol and power spread to their nanotech cells which allow them to create and change their body based on the magic defined by their core symbol Coreki: The magic of the core expands to another form in which puffle monsters use the powers of Ki and spirit beast powers to expand their core powers. These puffle monsters are based on all of the Webtoons and martial art movies I have seen and read and are led by their leader and Blademaster of the Enshrouding Flames, Hon Jin (Based on Hon Jin from Infinite Leveling: Murim Webtoon) and blue flames, a fire version of Hon (my blue puffle). These puffle monsters use many different Ki techniques and martial art techniques as well that enhance their unique skills such as “Heavenly Demon Arts” or “Enshrouding Flames Art” and many others. Each also live in their own “house” such as “house of the azure sky” or “house of the shaded wood”, each “house” having their own culture, designs, and unique abilities within. Also based on the Webtoons “Reincarnated as an Unruly Heir”, “Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower”, and “Return of the Blossoming Blade”

Corelone: It is the year 2122, 100 years and 2 days from now (12:30 am 12/30/21 is when is this being written), and puffle monsters have been recorded up to 100 books now. My descendant in the future becomes a genius and creates tangible holograms, creating the first visible and “real” puffle monsters using the data from the 100 books. Each puffle monster created has their own unique virtual core, that houses their main powers, memories, design, abilities, and code. These cores were created as in the Xenithverse, each core of a puffle monster was cloned and stored in a hidden library far away, and these cores were cloned and those clones were cloned until eventually reaching the human world. These puffle monsters with core clones unleash similar abilities yet different due to the difference in translation, but have special abilities and unique cores nonetheless. The said to be future of puffle monsters and core magic

Manaheart: Technically, a synonym for the Puffle monster core. These puffle monsters of an alternate universe of fantasy wield the powers of the Manaheart. Their form of magic is based off of Mana (magic energy) and is kept within their Manaheart. However, these puffle monsters developed unique techniques to expand their manaheart. Based on the webtoon “The Greatest Estate Developer” , these puffle monsters live in the great Empire of Fantasy (based on the Empire of Fantasy from the Geronimo Stilton Kingdom of Fantasy series), a universe of magic and fantasy so big, it requires millions of imaginations to envision truly! The magic of mana is what powers the energy of this universe and the main force of magic puffle monsters use. They created an infinite number of variants of Mana and manahearts but the prime mana is what most puffle monsters use. Each empire of fantasy is unique to one’s imagination and each puffle monster has their own manaheart and form of mana they can create (can create many many variants unique to them as well)

Ceridian: Puffle monsters of an alien world that have the alien core of Ceros. Puffle monsters are considered an Earthly concept since they were concepted based on ideas found on this planet Earth (my home planet). However, What if puffle monsters were a completely alien idea and species altogether, not created from Earthly ideas but from theoretical alien ideas and alien worlds. These puffle monsters are completely alien in technology, magic powers, names, and biology. However, the magic force they have matches as they use an alien variant of the core known as the Ceros, which works similarly but provides a different magic power for these puffle monsters. Live in their alien worlds and civilizations that have reached Type Omega already as they travel the universes they control

Corellision: The hybrid of the two cores (Xenithverse Core and Ceridian Ceros). These puffle monsters use shared powers and biology as the Ceridian puffle monsters came to Earth and eventually the Xenithverse as the two species mingled and eventually, magic created hybrids (including hybrid cores). Still being studied currently but their core is slightly unstable in terms of magic energy Xengoku: In one universe, the variety of cores within puffle monsters led to an all out war in this warring period universe of magic (Sengoku period is the Warring States periods). These puffle monsters each have Bujin, Shogun, Samurai, and many other warrior types. Each warrior type has a special ability unique to their warrior type, as well as a Style (Agile style, Strike Style, Swift Style, Serpens style, winged style, crash style, etc), and an elemental class (mage, sorcerer, scrollmaster, etc), and lastly an elemental magic power. These puffle monsters are one of the most opinionated but highly advanced archetypes of puffle monsters. The future of a puffle monster universe in which players will join a faction (with their own Bujin and lord), and join the war on which faction of the puffle monsters is supreme. (The warring states form of the Empire of Fantasy/Empire of Xenith). Based on the classes of warriors (from Dungeons and Dragons), the styles from Kung Fu Panda and from Pokemon Legends: Arceus, as well as the idea of the Bujin from Kamen Rider Gaim movie (The Fateful Sengoku Movie Battle).

Corezilean: Puffle monsters from 24/20 (December 2020 (but 2020 never changed to 2021)). Used the powers of mods to survive in this warped time world, something that the Xenithverse doesn't have. These puffle monsters have powers based on Minecraft mods (such as the ones seen on Socksfor1's Youtube channel like the Infinity Gauntlet, special weapons (Sun weapons), and other cooler custom blocks and items) but also on the idea of how in this universe, the time warping made it that these puffle monsters are not bound by rules, but actually have the powers to create and change the rules of magic as they travel through time (but have never found a way into the Xenithverse in 2021…until now). Their special core allows them to use the powers of existing mods but also can create mods (mods means modifications). Also based on Zilean (a champion from League of Legends) and based on the idea of what if the Puffle Monster video game had mods people made (and how puffle monsters would change because of it). Hitched a ride with Redison from 2021R (the Rivalverse created a glitch in time in which the Corezilean puffle monsters were absorbed into the Xenithverse leaving that warped world monsterless once more (or is it…)). Their home universe was absorbed as well as all variant universes and timelines of their world

RIVAL: Redison (with fluffy hair) hails from 2021R (Rivaling, or Reimagined), 2021 without COVID. Redison has kind of crumpled hair because of how he was washed (and how washing puffles seem to do that to their hair, especially Hon (blue puffle, since that is how he got his signature hair style)). In this universe, not only did Redison not get washed and has his fluffy hair, but this is a world where COVID never existed but instead (based on Death Rescheduled, a new webtoon by Snailords who made Freaking Romance (one of my favorite webtoons)), stealing and killing is permitted by law (only can do it twice in one year). Redison plays the vigilante, defender of the innocent in his goal to end the killing and stealing as the Crimson Rogue (based on Lupin X and Lupinrangers). These puffle monsters rival the puffle monsters in strength and power as they use special magic as well but are more skilled in their weapons (more vigilante type heroes vs the puffle monsters who are more mages and sorcerers). This Redison sees himself as the Rival of the strongest puffle monster in existence, and so do the others. These special puffle monsters use passcodes on special unique dial-locks that is an extension of their core. Spinning the dial locks to the unique passcodes can activate special abilities (sharper eye sight, special magic ability, or even a homing shot). (Based on the dial fighters from Lupinranger).

Xerath: Puffle monsters of unimaginable power from a world of no rules, unbounded free magic, creating a new ascended form of magic. A world unbounded by the limits of the core, these puffle monsters have an unbounded core, unstructured, meaning their core can take any form and the different shapes of the core allow for completely different abilities. The core can also take any substance form (an aura flame, stone/crystal, a seed, flowers, electricity, liquid, etc).

2860 Species total!
416 species recorded in this book

Concept of Nomic!: a new game in which players make the rules and the goal is making constant changes to the game. I was thinking of combining this with the Puffle monster universe to create a new version of the monster world for others to play, set in PVHS world. Unknown how this will work as of now since I feel I do not have as much creative liberty as I thought I would…
