New Term: Agora/Verse: A cluster or collection of universes and worlds in one grand space. This space is united by one great timeline despite alternate universe and timelines, and combined all realities of magic and planes of the worlds collected. The Xenithverse is one Verse. Tends to be ruled by a central government group or one sole ruler.

New Term: Regora/Verse: A collection of Agoras under one grand space, timeline, etc. Each Agora is ruled by their ruling party but the entire Regora is ruled by a council of the strongest warriors (the champions) of each Agora.

Megalopolis: The great city of the future. Based on a D&D map of a city called Megalopolis, these puffle monsters come from the Agora/Verse known as Megalopolis, a universe sized city in which every neighborhood is actually a zone representation with a portal to the main universe it is connected to and represents. This hub of universes became a metropolis of countless of giant skyscrapers that act as the base of a guild, a team of warriors and governing members of their home world that the guild represents. In this Verse, all puffle monsters under the Megalopolis Federation have the unique ability to <Brave>, based on the keyword from Battle Spirits, a special ability that allows them to equip a powerful super weapon of the guild that transforms them into their <powered form>, gaining special abilities and skills noted as powerful as the heroes of the Xenithverse. These puffle monsters can access different Brave Weapons which grant them different Powered Forms (and therefore different unique skills, abilities, and stats) which can dominate the battlefield when used well. There are an infinite number of guilds, all of which are under the central party of the Megalopolis Federation Council, a group of powerful governing individuals comprised of one representative (usually a past president or high council member) of each guild. Redison battled each guild champion in order to prove himself to the council and got the permission to fuse the Verse of Megalopolis into the Xenithverse, creating the Regora of Xenithverse Prime.

Clad: The ultimate power of puffle monsters and the crystal stars which created powerful unique puffle monsters that summon the powers of Battle Spirits (not the same battle spirits from the card game of the same name, but similar in design you could say) to <Clad> them in an armor / Grant a new powerful alter form they can use to gain special abilities. Based on X-overdress from Cardfight! Vanguard Will+Dress, these puffle monsters can summon the battle spirits through crystal summoning (a crystal gem with the spirit inside flys out and bursts out into energy as a temporary partnership is formed as the spirit <Clads> the warrior in their spirit form to unleash the ultimate power. These puffle monster warriors have millions of different kinds of spirits they work with and clad themselves in. Redison took his BC form (Blazing Clad Form) based on Vairina from Cardfight! Vanguard OverDress (with his white and black scarf like thing), except this scarf thing is white, gold, and black and made of a special flame that empowers Redison further as the Battle Spirit of Varuna (an elemental spirit of Sacred fire) fused with him for this form.

Forbidden magic/Jinryui: Summon the power of Jinryui spirit energy and equip them into a special weapon similar to Supreme Ji, Asura Demon Slay (from Buddyfight). In the tower of Forbidden magic, Redison discovers the ancient puffle monsters that hold vast amounts of Jinryui spirit magic energy within them (as they are Jinryui spirit warriors) and each have their own unique spirit energy (one has a fiery Asura spirit energy but this energy can change forms (different spirit forms) like a dragon, a hydra, and a phoenix) and these different spirit forms power their uniquely powered weapons differently, each granting a special power, stats, and skills). Based on a Kickstarter project of Forbidden magic tower for D&D on Insta. This ancient tower they live in is vast inside with whole worlds of nature, forbidden magic, and Jinryui spirit energy.

Erazea: The realm of the clouds, the cloud plains where countless lands reside within and is home to the countless legendary and mythic puffle monsters based on Puzzles and Dragons. There are countless realms within the clouds such as a realm of shadows, a scientific world where experimental mutants are made, a realm of pirates and the sea, a land of eternal winter and holidays, a glimmering fae realm, a space Odyssey world, even a realm of botany and magic plants (all based on Aripockilys Homebrew on Insta). These champion puffle monsters wield special abilities and have the special power to return to the skies (immortal) and their unique ability to change their destiny.

Infinite Continuum: The realm beyond the Finite Continuum (which holds all finite time within Xenithverse Prime), where deities use planets, worlds, and puffle monsters as currency and action figures (warriors that fight as their champions). These puffle monster gods use the powers of <Deus Artifacts> such as the Worldmaker or Boots of life (based on the Deity based items of Aripockilys Homebrew on Insta) as well as the powers of time (also based on Rites of the Infinity Guard from Aripockilys Homebrew on Insta), creating paradoxes, wormholes, chronal fragments, etc.

Great Spirit: In the story of Historica Arcanum (The history of magic), The ancient Great spirit of flames has appeared to Redison. Spirit is designed based off of a mat in the bathroom downstairs of Aunty Amy's house. Also based on the many deities of the Musqueam people, their language, writing system, etc (all from Totem House). We live on the Acknowledged, ancestral, unseated land of the Musqueam people. These powerful deity puffle monsters use magic spells (written in the Musqueam writing system and language) as they are known as the Great Spirits, the masters of magic on the Ancestral Lands of magic. Redison discovered a book in the UBC IKB Library where it described the ancient Ancestral Lands of magic and the Great Spirits, which not only connected him again to the Great Spirit of Flames, but also he met the countless other Great Spirits whom he challenged and became acknowledged by them. These powerful Great Spirits work with other puffle monsters but can also battle on their own (also similar to the Guardian Deities from Pokemon Sun and Moon like Tapu Koko or Tapu Lele).

Ultra Beastial Creatures of the Xenithverse (UBCX) / Ultra Beastial Xenithians (UBX): In the story <Infinity of Worlds>, the Aetherial Sea and Planes are created from the countless big bangs that occured due to the power of the Celestial within the Citadel of the Lost Sun. These puffle monsters are based on Ultra Beasts and UB-X1 and UB-X2 from artworks218_ on Instagram as well as Warframes from Hildryngang on Instagram. Many big bangs were created, as new universes and alternate realities were made and created new forms of magic and puffle monsters, all of which have the mysterious magic energy of the Infinity Ring (based on a ring design around a sorcerer from a design on insta by Damongraphics), which concentrates their unique alien magic powers into one ring which uses their magic as a stronger weapon force. These puffle monster aliens are not only parallels to countless other past ideas of the Xenithverse, but also based on parallel worlds based on certain ideas and interests (certain foods, topics, etc kind of like the many worlds from Zenkaiger).

Kuiperium/Kuiperion: Space adventures with futuristic ore weapons. Based on Kamen rider Century and special space colonies, these powerful astral puffle monsters use special cosmic energy generated from the unique astral ores and astral magic energy from the countless planets and galaxies around the Kuiper system. These puffle monsters are created from the idea that aliens could be in the Kuiper belt outside of Earth, where these aliens could potentially be like the Puffle monsters, highly advanced creatures that live in these super advanced civilizations. Also based on the Disney Movie Lightyear and the crystals in it.

Spellscarred: Unknown dangerous magic…Beastial magic with taking damage during boosted powers. Known to corrupt a warrior that uses its ultimate unrivaled strength, Redison got it when finding the corrupted energy and the energy resonated with him after I reflected on how I am still truly alone since I still have to reach out to others for them to talk to me and how no one reaches out to me to talk, showing how I really have no friends since there is the lack of balance of reaching out. These powerful puffle monsters are unstable due to their Spellscarred nature, but after some training and special magic energy items, their scar is contained and can be boosted and used as a powerful focused weapon when in battle, unleashing even more powerful abilities, skills, and attacks due to how their wild energy is now focused in one point vs flowing all over the place

War Machine/Tanker: Super tank puffle monsters, jet puffle monsters, and special engineer puffle monsters are under the species of War Machines. These puffle monsters are powerful armored warriors under the command of the CEOs of the Xenithverse (the CEOs are based on Blitz CEO, Welston from Cardfight! Vanguard Will+Dress), which is a stronger elite version of the War Machine types, with their unique ability to summon and create super weapons that they use as their attack (they create the weapon in turn 1, and use it the rest of the battle along with their countless of other super weapons they can create). These war machine puffle monsters all have the unique abilities to develop and mobilize super weapons, fortresses, and other heavy artillery products (based on the Product card types from Cardfight! Vanguard Will+Dress, like Freischütz). These puffle monsters use their unique ANNIHILATION abilities to unleash the full force of their created weapons as well as the firepower of themselves in an ultimate level attack despite it not acting as a final attack.

Kaireds: Led by Captain Kaired, The rival of Redison and the captain of the crimson river pirates of the Thompson, who were fighting against Redison as he sailed down the river (when we were Rafting in Kumsheen Rafting Resort). These unique pirate puffle monsters have the special skill known as <Loot>, which not only steals the unique ability/attribute of their target, but also boosts and modifies the newly stolen/acquired power to fit the user perfectly and even strengthen it. With this super skill, these puffle monsters became known as the strongest river pirates and Kaired's ability to flawlessly change forms and use the abilities/skills of his <Looted Powers> (based on Gokaiger, Zenkaiger, and Donbrothers).

Kaisaos: All magic around glitches itself into a distorted mass, which is caused by the mysterious Glitch core of these puffle monsters. However, after a battle with the king, Redison was able to grant these puffle monsters a new purpose to which they use their glitch magic to diversify magic around them (the magic that glitches actually is a reformatting of magic into different forms at random). These puffle monsters have special glitch abilities which allow them to change their powers at will (random changes) but also scramble the abilities of others around them or change their surroundings to support their glitch.

Monokros: The powers of order and control fuse all magic into geometric shapes and creates a new form of power for the magic energy. Defeated by Terminator Redison, the king and species was given a new purpose of unifying and reformatting magic into an ideal image of their choosing, granting order in realms of chaos. These puffle monsters have the unique ability to fuse magic into special geometric shapes that are new forms of magic energy and powers, but also can create special puffle monsters from these geometric shapes and create worlds based on their image of order.

Terminator: Based on Infinity Helios, The Terminator, Doomtronic (from Bakugan). Unleash OVERKILL abilities. In this alternate universe, the Puffle Hunters evolved to be based on The Terminator, Gundam, etc, powerful super robotic warriors created to eliminate all puffle monsters. Terminator Redison was created as the one to destroy Redison, but after losing to Redison in combat, he was reprogrammed to fight evil and lead the other terminator puffle monsters to eliminate evil and defend the Xenithverse using their unique weapons. The powers of OVERKILL grants them a supercharged power to eliminate their foes but also max out their weapons and skills

Adrenaline Rush: After having taken a practice test and feeling the adrenaline rush in that, Redison gains a new form with 3 new Adrenaline powers, Fight (Gains muscles and all blades becomes armor around him. Gets super strength, increased stats, but also has limited time and weak defense), Flight (based on Youthberk Revolform Gust, increased super speed and blades float around him to aid in attack), and MAX (A super Phoenix form with combined powers of Fight and Flight). These unique forces of magic created new puffle monsters that can wield this power (Fight, Flight, and one unique Adrenaline Rush Form) when there is a very large surplus in magic energy (takes the form of a black hole behind them with a colored event horizon based on their aura color) and their magic power charge appears.

September: University, Journeys

- Story Arcs: Journeys/Odyssey and 0R1G1N Wars

Ark Cosmo: A mysterious ancient sword hilt of unknown origins drifted through space for eons, collecting magic power from all timelines, dimensions, realms, realities, universes, etc, which took the form of crystals. It became one giant crystalline sword like formation that is home to one crystal being known as the spirit of the crystal sword (Arkesus), and is home to countless universes, dimensions, realities, galaxies, and Xenithverses created from the magic collected by the crystal. This super astral formation known as The Last Ark of the Cosmos, resonates with Redison and his powers as the Xenith Xaber, which evolves him as his Sword of Redison, evolves with the fusion of the <Last Ark of the Cosmos>, the crystal formation that condensed into a magic sword, based on the crystal sword from Randomspirits on instagram (for Swordtember 2022). These powerful puffle monsters created by the magic collected by Arkesus and the Cosmic Ark wield special alien magic, which was created from the information collected by the Ark and fused and combined to unleash the greatest powers and create the greatest diversity to promote a more diverse universe in the event of releasing the stored universes within the ark. These unique Elements of Arkesus are the powers of these puffle monsters, which are based on various topics and ideas of the universe I live in as well as Sci-fi and Fantasy ideas (the science and real ideas of the other universes of other timelines, realities, dimensions, etc). Example: An alien pirate world fuses with a special ice power from another dimension to create the Kaizicle Element group.

Aureliate Arcanum: The powers of the Author of the Book of Monsters and the Sanctum Arcanum, and based on the item from Sinlaire_box, the spell stealer. Unleash the powers of the Tome of Heroes, the Tomes Arcanum (the original spells and origins of magic), and their own unique <Books> they wield and use to empower their writings and creation powers. These ancient puffle monsters are authors of different Books of Magic and creators of magic worlds similar to the Xenithverse and the realms of the Puffle monsters. The Author wields the powers of the Tome of Heroes, the Tomes Arcanum, and the Tome/Book of Xenith (his unique book) which created the puffle monsters and develops their stories. There are many Arcanum fields and Arcanum libraries within the great Sanctum Arcanum (based on a D&D map of the same name on Instagram with different colored magic symbols in a dungeon like area), home to different unique forms of magic energy (the primary power of the Tomes Arcanum and books the authors create). These unique fields and libraries of magic influence their imagination and inspiration which is what makes them unique (their unique ability of Inspiration) to create new books and magic tomes (which create new worlds and forms of magic of puffle monsters). By the power of <Inspiration>, they can create an infinite number of puffle monsters, spells, and magic items based on their Arcanum Index (a special symbol only their group can use (many different groups with different Arcanum Indexes, like a red index, blue, green, etc)) and past books/creations. These puffle monsters live within the infinitely vast Sanctum Arcanum, the home of all magic knowledge, wisdom, imagination, and the special power of Inspiration, which creates imagination and magic.

Xtar Zenith: These puffle monsters wield the powers of rebirth (from Battle Spirits Galett's Revolution). Based on Rebirth, the mirages (from Battle Spirits Mirage), and the Kurzgesagt story of The Egg (how the universe was created for "me" and everyone in this universe is another "me"). They can rebirth into an infinite number of different forms by channeling the Xtar Zenith symbols (based on the Mirages from Battle Spirits), and can unleash the powers of their other egos (channeling their other "me" as power). Live in a realm of clusters of universes individually created for each puffle monster (which is within their cores, minds, bodies, spirits, and Xouls) and they can freely summon this power to change forms (Rebirth).

Grandmaster/Xuperiors: These puffle monsters become a dungeon master character (based on the DM from D&D) and change the rules, the scenario, the magic types, and everything to extent of their Grandmaster Library. They have a certain number of scenarios, powers, and special changes they can make to the universe and worlds around them. Example: can change magic type into a puffle monster itself, or vise versa. Can also change theme of realm or even the history. Creates magic and egos from these changes

Sun Clan: Redison unleashed Xtar Zenith The Universe Rebirth which transforms him into his true form (design based on The Twenty One Oracle Pillars XXI The World from Battle Spirits Mirage), a once forgotten as a member of the Royal Sun Clan, the ultimate creators and gods of all puffle monsters. Use puffle monsters as currency or as powers. Based on the Don Clan from Donbrothers, these legendary gods use puffle monsters as units of power (can fully wield many different puffle monsters with different types with different skills, abilities, powers, attributes, etc, all at once). Each puffle monster used is like a spell, or a combo or super spell when using multiple puffle monsters. Can also create puffle monsters of different forms of magic to give a more unique battle or change the tide of battle.

JOURNEYS/Odyssey (September Arc 1): Sabone, Boxy, Artison, Greenison, Hon, Dancer, Krystal, Snowy, Brownie, and Joe all go on a trip to get to UBC (Each gaining a power through their journey) and arriving on the new city of Magic (the new home base of puffle monsters at UBC) on the roof of Orchard Commons (the roof part I can see from my window). With the arrival of each warrior, the land develops until all arrive, which summons the Zero Point, the progenitor of all realities and the gateway to the First Reality.

BRAVER: Boxy wields the Accumulation Fists (based on the Heterogenous Sword Accumulation Fists from the Manhwa The Ultimate Game), which not only grants him the powers of the <Brave> which empowers allies and grants combo powers, but also can summon ally warriors that wield his other powers (Beast, Vulcan, Fighter, Giant, Boomerang, Lava, Autumn, etc) and through <Brave> can empower these warriors and unleash stronger powers, a power that rival Redison's sword of heroes. Gains this power during the Odyssey. These powerful puffle monsters wield the powers of <Brave> and have many allies alongside them, living in their own kingdoms they rule Ark Replica: Artison's new power (based on the Clear Sword from The Ultimate Game), where he can copy any weapon and unleash its special skills and abilities. These special creative puffle monsters use their unique Ark Replica (a special item that their core magic created and gives them the powers to create) to unleash unique creative abilities or create/wield replicas of many weapons and powers that are not only similar to the real power/item but also can be wielded with a unique style and special skill the original weapon does not have.

BREAKTHROUGH: Unleash the powers of <BREAKTHROUGH> which increases in power after every attack and gains a special stat boost and special passive ability that activates after an attack (Example: Attack 1 has ability of burn, but Attack 2 is not only stronger, but then activates burn, and gravity pressure (after burn), and attack 3 is stronger and activates burn, gravity pressure, and paralyze in succession). These powerful puffle monsters were discovered and awakened by the powers of Redson's new breakthrough discovery, finding how not only is the universe created for one being (and how everyone and everything in that universe is an incarnation of the same being), but also how that one being lives infinite lives, at least experiencing every single character in the universe. Example, in one universe, Redson's universe not only contains just him, but every incarnation of himself within all puffle monsters in that universe. By the powers of <BREAKTHROUGH>, the powers of all infinite lives from infinite alternate universes power up the warrior that wields their special BREAKTHROUGH powers. Redson wields it through the BREAKTHROUGH Saber, which (based on the Breakthrough/Destroyer Heterogeneous Sword from Manwha Target: 100 Million Points The Ultimate Game), increases in power infinitely after each attack (gaining/wielding a power from another incarnation from an alternate world).

Drakkenheim: Based on the DnD Homebrew "Dungeons of Drakkenheim" (On instagram) but also based on the Blood Blade Heterogeneous Sword (Can absorb opponent's strength) and Blood Aura (Complete Coverage, Fusion, Field Control, Blood Aura Blades Blade Massacre) (All from Target: 100 Million Points The Ultimate Game), these vampire royal puffle monsters use the powers of Blood Auras (absorb opponents' strength and gain special abilities depending on the amount of power they absorb, as well as what kind of "blood" they absorb from their opponents and how it mixes with their unique blood type and blood aura). Each have different types of blood (different colors and different magic energies within the blood which grant them different spells, weapons, blood auras, and Blood Aura abilities they can use depending on their Blood type.

Crimson Dynasty: After many years of training under Redison and Redson as plushies on my desk (this occurred with a final test of Dragon fighting his many different alter-egos within his mind, with his “perfect” self coming out on top), Dragon was given the role as the next head of the Puffle Monsters in Phoenix, Arizona and how he shall become the first of his own generation of heroes and warriors that will protect Phoenix, AZ but also create new magic stories. These puffle monsters born from this generation and the force of magic that changed are under the Crimson Dynasty (all have the unique ability to summon their alter-egos in battle to help as allies (take form as a weapon, armor, item, or even a spirit ally to help them fight or just give them advice or comfort)). Each puffle monster also have the unique ability to unleash <War Cry> which not only greatly increases their power, but also changes their form into their Dynastic Warlord form (which fuses them with their alter-egos as their perfect self surfaces and fuses to unleash an ultimate warrior form). In addition, under the flags of their kingdom as well as other flags, they can gain <Roaring Flag> abilities which also boosts their power but also grants an ability unique to them under the flag waving. Live in a more Asian-influenced version of the Xenithverse.

Fang Dynasty: Dragon trained under Redison and Redson, and eventually entered the Construct of Egos, a realm in which he fought infinite different versions of himself within his mind and where the “perfect” or ideal form will come out on top, the mind that will enter the body. Given the fact that Redison moved and gave the role as Hero to Dragon, only 2 outcomes came, one where Dragon became the Benevolent Emperor of the Crimson Dynasty, while another result was An evil emperor Dragon variant who tries to ultimately take over the Xenithverse under Dragon (the Crimson Dynasty) after he formed his own dynasty as the tyrannical emperor of the Fang Dynasty. These alternate puffle monsters use very different abilities in which they unleash a power boost through “paying the price”, sacrificing part of their health points, stats, or even an ability altogether and unleashing a powerful boost or gaining a different more deadly power. Known as the fangs of the dragon, after Dragon defeated his evil counterpart, these warriors trained under Dragon as defenders and assassins if need be, but in general, honorable martial artists studying and training to reach the pinnacles of power.

X-ID (Xenith-ID)/ XG (Xenith Genius): In the substory “Brownie’s Identity Crisis”, Brownie/United, after successfully creating the portal to San Francisco, but also going further and attempting to establish a portal link to UBC, he touches the UBC Monsters Server (the UBC World) but this takes some magic (refer to UBCcity) and creates the game world within Northridge and around LA (the current location of the group) (with new players created from Brownie). Brownie now must challenge these warriors in the ultimate battle royale in hopes of peacefully returning them back within himself before his core collapses. These puffle monsters are not only created from the Core ID magic from the UBCcity realm, but combining with Brownie’s identities and intelligence, created an alternate universe and new evolution of these puffle monsters as they became digital entities (based on the Mind Upload video from Kurzgesagt) made real, puffle monsters with great intelligence (like Brownie) who have lived and studied for hundreds of thousands of years due to their immortal state as uploaded minds with dreams, imagination, and ideas of their own, a virtual superbrain. These puffle monsters are the next evolution, the higher state as they use technology and abilities beyond our own and specially created by them due to their enhanced intelligence and information collected throughout their infinite existence. Brownie unites them and saves his core soul through the powers of <Xenith Genius> (Based on Kamen Rider Build Genius form), which links all the minds of the X-ID puffle monsters together (access to a hub of information, the hive mind), allowing them to access other abilities from other puffle monsters and use their creations and information they collected (a limited amount) to create new weapons and powers. Powers of these Advanced puffle monsters are based on the powers from the Manwha Target: 100 Million Points The Ultimate Game as well as powers from Kamen Rider Geats, but these puffle monsters also have the unique ability to Upload their mind into mechanical beings, organic beings, or both (which grants them immortality both physically and digitally), and they can take the skills and abilities from these beings they uploaded their minds into, granting them more wisdom and skills.

Eternal Vortex: In Sequoia and Yosemite National Parks, Greenison goes on a training journey in the national parks on his way to Vancouver and after an encounter with a powerful warrior of the forest, he gets transported to an alternate dimension (The Eternal lands of the Sequoias) by the Vortex of Eternity, in which he must learn the Eternal Arts and defeat the Wildfire before he can leave. “Your battle styles are in-sync, which is very commendable, but it lacks creativity, or in this case, you have exhausted the creativity from the different combinations of fighting. To fully master the Eternal Arts, you must fully understand the individual fighting styles and techniques and understand the abilities and powers before finding ways to combine art styles”. These ancient puffle monsters of nature wield wild abilities and a variety of weapon combat styles that have been perfected through mastery of the Eternal Arts (harnessing and collecting mana eternally, eternally flowing magic energy at full power), meaning they can fight eternally without exhaustion and use magic without exhaustion. Known to use the powers of Vortex Evolution, a full power evolution state they achieve temporarily once they collect enough Eternal Energy (as the battle draws on) and unleash all the Eternal energy at once in Asura-like abilities and attacks (using all their unique combat styles in super attacks all at once) as well as Asura like forms (multiple arms wielding their multiple weapons or magic arts), based on Cangdao Zen of Collectible Gundam CD-06 Tianwei Asura (same form and ability of multiple arms and multiple weapons).

Stranger: Discovered in Snowy’s Adventure in the Yuma Sand Dunes (Stranger Dunes). Long ago, these puffle monsters were born of Strange matter, a mysterious form of matter said to be found in the core of Neutron Stars, and the ideal form of matter, perfectly dense, perfectly stable, and indestructible, but infectious, as it turns anything it touches into strange matter. These puffle monsters were infectious in their matter and special abilities which not only isolated them, but also outcasted them. A scientific civilization eventually found a way to isolate them perfectly so the strange matter puffle monsters could survive, while not having them infect the rest of magic and reality. This was thought to be a peaceful agreement, until it was discovered by Snowy, who happened to stumble into the civilization of the Stranger, and found out through research around the now collapsed scientific civilization, that these stranger puffle monsters were experiments, being taken away and experimented on and modified by the scientific civilization to create a strange matter that is obedient to the Scientists which was ruled by a tyrannical emperor who wanted to dominate the universe through their new matter. Snowy found that the king was very much alive, being kept alive through the modified matter he created (this matter however had been corrupted to the point that it erased anything it touched). Snowy eventually found out how the Stranger puffle monsters created Perfect Matter (by combining magic and their strange matter), which actually created different magic forms of Perfect Matter (Fiery Perfect Matter, Aqua Perfect Matter, Verdant Perfect Matter, etc), which granted a unique hive-mind connection with others who wield the same Perfect Matter, but also granted unique methods and techniques of harnessing their Perfect Matter as they did “infect” things, objects, etc but also transformed these objects into new and more powerful items for the Stranger puffle monsters to use (similar to Mechamato). Based on the video of Strange Matter on Kurzgesagt. These are puffle monsters of the said, Perfect state of magic matter, now living in a realm of magic created for them by Snowy’s new evolution as the master of all forms of Perfect Matter, where their Perfect Matter can spread infinitely and evolve the Xenithverse (their own version that is parallel to the main Xenithverse but connected and in harmony with the main).

FENIX Guard: These puffle monster elite warriors are under the new group known as FENIX, under Dragon/Drake (Pharaoh, Frank, Victor, and Superior, and Solar) as the new leader of the Puffle Monster HQ Phoenix Branch (also known as FENIX). These puffle monsters have the unique skill of <Source Code> which allows them to control the flow of magic perfectly by entering the very source code of magic and through quick analysis and computation, they create an extremely powerful effective spell through the magic they analyzed (based on the concept from the Manwha The Academy’s Undercover Professor). In addition, these puffle monsters wield the powers of <Multi-Ego> (based on the many identities of the main character from the Manwha The Academy’s Undercover Professor), the special skill where they can live many many different lives at once (when in one ego/identity, the others are autonomous based on how destiny and fate flows, and when they switch into the alternate ego/identity, the other becomes autonomous). Through <Multi-ego>, these puffle monsters can not only wield the skills from their other identities, but also share abilities and powers which gives new diversity in attacks and abilities (Example: Drake has the identities of an assassin, a phantom thief, a samurai, an emperor, and a Dragon Mage (his normal form). As an assassin, Drake can wield the powers of his dragon mage in combination with his skills such as knife throwing and increased stealth and agility to unleash powerful <Tactical Kills>, but also combine Phantom Thief skills to not only boost the assassin stats but also the knowledge of different gear such as grappling hooks and other equipment to boost the powers of the assassin or even the Samurai or Emperor). Each ego/identity has a special class based ability (example: the assassin’s is <Tactical Kill> while the Emperor’s is <Absolute Reign>), which can be combined with other abilities and Ego unique abilities to unleash special combo powers and abilities

Mun Clan: Powerful puffle monsters created in an experiment by the group known as the organization known as MUN (based on Far Zenith from Horizon Forbidden West), with the ultimate goal to create the ultimate warriors to continue Redison’s legacy as defenders of the Xenithverse and beyond. MUN was stationed in San Francisco, where they attempted to create warriors as strong as Redison if not stronger. This team was led by the head scientist and the CEO. However, the CEO grew greedy, as he saw Redison rise in ranks and become more powerful, he desired for his creations to become stronger and more powerful to destroy Redison. After their first successful creation (named Solomun) was created (after many many many unsuccessful creations which led to zombies and very mutated creatures that were stored in units underground), the CEO demanded Solomun to be remade due to how the head scientist gave Solomun sentience, meaning he would not follow his orders. After many years of creating more “MUN Soldiers”, the head scientist realized the MUN Soldiers would destroy the world as the world had begun to fall (the land had begun to sink), and had created a group of puffle monsters similar to Solomun and gave them a hidden world for them to hide, a vast abandoned storage unit underwater that was supposed to be an underwater colony until the people of the realm moved to the skies instead due to overpopulation. When the head scientist had his last stand against the CEO, the CEO ordered for his death, and when the CEO went to look for the plans to build the MUN Soldiers and Solomun, both were gone…Hon enters this world as part of his <Odyssey> where he meets the remnants of MUN, who tell him lies of the evil Solomun warriors (known as the Mun Clan) and gives him the mission to hunt them down. However, as he finds them, the spirit within the spear awakens (a spear he took from the armory since they didnt give him any weapon), holding the hidden soul of the Head Scientist. This spear was a weapon he had created to eliminate all MUN Soldiers once and for all and eliminate the MUN organization. Unfortunately, it was unfinished, to which Hon evolved his Oceanic Blade with the spear as it transformed into the Transcendent Spear of Tides (a weapon Hon now wields as his primary weapon). With this power, he not only mastered the powers of the tides (Rising Tide and Tidefall), but also granted freedom to the Solomun (the Mun Clan), after the defeat of MUN. These powerful puffle monster warriors are as strong as Redison and masters of a variety of different weapons (each has their own special niche weapon which they unleash Transcendent Mungen (Mugen) arts, their ultimate power after full mastery of their weapon like Redison). Based on the Prayer Dragons from Cardfight! Vanguard Will+Dress and their different weapons, and based on the Manwha “Return of the Unrivaled Spear Knight” (both the Spear and the powers of the spear the main character wields). Hon masters the Spear of Tides and with his Transcendent Mungen Arts, can change form into Rising Tide/High Tide form (Anchor on blade end of spear), and Tidefall/Low Tide form (Trident form), both of which have powerful Mungen Arts (Transcendent Spear Arts/Trident Ogi (Arts) (Based on the Ryukonogeki from Donbrothers) with different forms (Trident Ogi Stage 1: Great Wave, etc)). All Transcendent Mungen Arts have different stages of power as well depending on the level of the puffle monster warrior (their forms are based on the Tianwei Gundam models and Youthberk Revolforms). These puffle monsters live in a natural paradise now reborn and remodeled with futuristic tech still in tune with nature around them (based on Horizon Forbidden West).

Glimoire: The magic Glimoire is a special Grimoire left in the Woods of Grimm (in Oregon) by the Witches of hope, during the (Monster version: Salem, Oregon) Witch Trials, as they created the book and hid it so the destined inheritor of the Grimoire would find it (Krystal) and their hopes and dreams would be realized. These powerful witch puffle monsters use the magic techniques of the Witches of Hope and their special runes crafted with love and dedication to preserve the magic and knowledge of the witches of time immemorial. Their unique magic draws power from the Glimmer, the light within all living beings, their hopes, dreams, and positivity, and creates unique rune circles and magic spells that boost their powers with

<Harmonic Glimmer>, a boost buff that not only boosts all abilities by 70%, but also grants them enhanced combo abilities and the ability to use all elemental magic based on their surroundings

FatalleJoker: By becoming the ultimate Trick maker, Trap Master, and evolving to become the Ultimate Master of Fate, Dana (and her newly created species of puffle monsters) wield Tarot cards to unleash ultimate powers. There are hundreds of thousands of Tarot cards I was shown by friends of mine, and during Dana's Journey in Las Vegas, she fought The Devil's Gambler, a demon type who used blood magic and a gambling ability where he gambled his life points away to get stronger, and learned special magic abilities of illusion (the Trick Makers and Trap Masters), and Fate Deciding (the Tarot Fatalle). The 3 groups united under one flag as Dana utilized the three different techniques and unleashed the ultimate powers. Using the tarot cards to summon spirits that empower the Tricks, Traps, and spell abilities, these puffle monsters have the power to decide the fate of their opponent with ease, and can change destiny with ease depending on the Tarot they summon (each puffle monster has a unique Tarot Deck with unique tarot cards that empower them differently, in addition to their unique trap abilities, trick abilities, and spells). Based on the Trick Maker character from the Webtoon Ultra-Alternate Character and Joker from the Persona Game Series (specifically the Arcana and Satanael).

Lost Origin/Eruzar: Joe masters the powers of the Lost Zone, a realm that is known to be the counterpart of the 1st Reality, the world where all lost realities and futures of puffle monsters live in. Also based on Lost World from Buddyfight, these puffle monsters are from the countless lost realities and lost futures (these realities and futures are not really lost, but more like deceased, as they were born, lived, and eventually died and are placed in this graveyard of realities to rest eternally), in which they are given another chance as they are revived through a contract (first they are recognized and a certain sacrifice is made (usually a stat point or life points are placed in the Lost Zone), and depending on certain conditions, specific Lost Origin Puffle monsters can be summoned and their world is revived to live another cycle of life and death. Joe discovers the portal to this Graveyard and becomes the Reaper of Realities, the one who controls the life cycle of realities, reviving them or eliminating them, after getting the power from his predecessor Eruzar, known and feared as the Erasor of realities who was defeated by Redison's ancestor eons ago, but it was not known that he was also the one who revived countless realities as well.

Survive/Razure: In the City of the Sky (based on an End City in Minecraft) above the Space Needle, the chosen champions of battle have arrived to fight in the ultimate fight for their lives, all using the powers of <Survive Forms>. Based on the Survive forms from Kamen Rider Ryuki and the Loop from Fortnite. These puffle monsters were created by the mysterious Magic known as The Loop, a powerful force that respawns and creates champions of different powers, unique skills, and abilities to fight in an endless fight in the endless realm of magic created by the Loop (which is found above the city of Seattle) and spread all over the atmosphere of the Earth and summons heroes and champions from all timelines and dimensions and the imaginations of people throughout the world. These puffle monsters all have infinite different paths of evolution, in which the Loop made it that their infinite forms of evolutions (their infinite futures, pasts, different forms, etc) fuse into one ultimate supreme power known as the <Survive Form> which is their ultimate form these puffle monsters take and use in battle against their opponents for the Title of Supreme Being, who is then given an <Achievement> that can empower them permanently. Sabone becomes chosen as a champion to fight in the ultimate war within the Loop Universe where he finds the mastermind of all this, Razure, a warrior who has fought since the very first Survive War, and has been summoning and eliminating all the champions to absorb their Achievements and powers to take over the universe beyond the Loop. Sabone then defeats him and not only frees all the Achievements but also ends the Loop, gaining the power of the Loop (the unique ability to create a Loop field anywhere he desires and create the ultimate battlefield of unique magic). These puffle monsters are supreme beings, the ultimate champions created by the magic of the Loop and summoned from all dimensions, universes, timelines, realities, etc, and all given the ultimate power of <Survive> their supreme evolution which can evolve further and vary depending on their Achievements (certain achievements have different <Survive Evolutions>). These puffle monsters also have the unique ability to create Loop Fields for battle and can create battle worlds for champions and for a certain prize they decide and create, when ever they want. These puffle monsters are similar to human gamers (D&D players and video gamers alike) as they create the field, create the prize, and battle for fun.

OR1G1N Wars (September Arc 2): After Redison defeats OR1G1N himself in a final battle after he reunites with his family (who went on the Journeys), he is met with a new challenge and trial before he can unlock the powers of the Zero Point. Redi creates a dimension and hides himself in this space with the Ultimate Zero Point (his own core Zero Point) that blooms like a beautiful massive tree (similar to the Reality Tree from Fortnite) which is the core area of the world, and protected by a barrier that can only be opened through Redison defeating his subordinates in battle. Redison now goes to battle Dimenson (Space/Dimension son), Origison (the Original power…), Chronoson (time), and Orison (Reality), each wielding a flag that acts as the keys to the barrier, and finally, Redi (The mysterious True Father of Redison, and the creator of the Zero Point). Redison defeats Redi in the end and not only gains him as an ally and is acknowledged by his father, but also unleashes the powers of Zero Point Creation that was dormant within himself.

ARX: Redison fuses with his family into the ultimate form, Redison ARX (Apex RegiXenith). Based on Kamen Rider Vulcan Rampage Gatling form, Redison finally gathers his crew from Xenithverse HQ and after their journeys, transforms them into a super Rune form which he uses to evolve himself and challenge the OR1G1N in an ultimate battle (the first battle before OR1G1N Wars), and perfects the form during the battle against Origison and the final fight against Redi to show how much he has grown, from all of his past experiences, battles, and memories, combining all of his power into one ultimate force (surpassing all powers through the fusion of all the special abilities from his family and all abilities he has collected from all realms and universes). Redison creates this power as the ultimate weapon to battle Origison and Redi, and after the battle, all puffle monsters gained the powers to not only wield their memories, experiences, pain, sorrow, joy, and happiness as power, but to also wield the hopes and wishes of their allies and fuse it all into one ARX form they can take (depending on the different combinations of memories, experiences, and allies' powers, they can form an infinite number of unique ARX forms) that unleash a unique super ability that not only transcend all rules of puffle monster battle, but also create new magic laws, stretching the magic reality. Also based on the description of overDress (not throwing away past wins, losses, joy, or pain, but wearing them proudly) and X-overDress (cross my thoughts with the thoughts of everyone who supports me) both from Cardfight!! Vanguard will+Dress (final episode 9/26/22). These unique puffle monsters who were created through the original battle wield the special core ability to create infinite ARX forms that are special to them alone (gain a special Origin ARX ability in addition to their regular ARX ability). Live in the realm created from the ARX runes (the runes each member of the family transformed into to evolve Redison). Redison's Ultimate ARX ability is the summoning of the Ultimate ARX Sword (Based on Deity Creations Fangflare, Gargantua Punisher from Buddyfight)

Origis: The Original power held by Origison himself, under the red flag (Totem Park Caesnam House, the original residence I was supposed to live in). This battle hardened warrior has lived countless lives, in countless worlds, learning and mastering all there is to know about magic, but has hardened over the millennia, learning to never love or care for others as they will disappear from his world once he moves worlds after the end of the world's lifespan. Bears an armor similar to Youthberk Skyfall Arms with the X scar on his helmet, and the powers of RevolDress. The Original power is the power of creating elemental magic through memories and experience, not just through the mere concept, but through understanding the magic in your own terms, your own imagination defining the power and abilities. Origison fought Redison ARX to which Redison learned of Origison's backstory and realized the source of his power, his memories and experience in addition to the eons of pain and emotions he bottled up which tainted his memories and experiences that develop his elemental attributes (the imagining and defining of the shape, smell, warmth, and other memories associated with the element of magic) to create his own unique form of the magic (such as a unique flame that can be raging, uncontrollable and destructive such as the ones Origison experienced, or the brilliant flames of Redison, warm like the sunlight, the memories of the campfire, the birthday candles, and laughter and enjoying the cool breeze at night). These puffle monsters were created from the magic of Origison (created by the Original Power) after healing Origison and making him an ally. All of these puffle monsters have the special ability of creating unique elemental magic from their memories, experiences, etc in the form of unique Elemental attributes they can call on later on to create more advanced unique forms of magic, the original power for all puffle monsters (puffles originally through elemental puffles). Based on the elemental attributes and source code from the Manwha "Academy's Undercover Professor". Through full mastery of elemental attributes and their own unique elements, they can evolve their forms to unleash Origis forms (based on RevolDress from Cardfight!! Vanguard will+Dress), gaining new special abilities, weapons, and forms that enhance their elemental powers, granting new experiences through combat and therefore new opportunities to develop more unique elemental attributes

Orizon: The Revolutionary power held by Orison, under the White Flag (Place Vanier). Based on Galeem and Darkhon from Super Smash Bros Ultimate World of Light, these powerful puffle monsters were created after Orison became allies with Redison and Redison gained the powers of Orison, who's sole goal was to change the world, but after many eons of being reborn and trying again to change the world, he couldn't, only to find the world ending over and over again, in every reality and world he was reborn in. Through the powers of Redi, Orison unleashed the Revolutionary Power, as magic took the form of spirits that became powerful enough to revolutionize their world, to shape the universe in their image with ease. These puffle monsters have the power to summon an infinite number of different Orizon Spirits (based on Galeem and Darkhon) to fuse with them and evolve them into ORIZON-Revolution forms, unleashing the full power of the Orizon Spirit and using powers and abilities that can reshape universes, worlds, and reshape the battlefield or rules of battle and magic to whatever they desire (to the limits and powers of the Orizon Spirit). These Orizon spirits live in their own universes that they created and shaped to their ideal and link their cores to these puffle monsters, which not only grant unique partnerships and special powers through these bonds, but also can bond with multiple puffle monsters, creating diversity in special Link Abilities they can use depending on the warrior and the Orizon Spirit combination. These special puffle monsters that wield these unique abilities live in a universe created by the harmony of the Orizon spirits and their ideals Dimenson: The space power held by Dimenson, under the black flag (The Nest). After creating countless dimensions, worlds, and realities, he realized he ran out of ideas, and began a conquest on stealing other worlds and dimensions from the other creators. With this grand conquest after many years, he eventually became the supreme ruler of all dimensions under Redi, as the other creators were actually also Redi-sons and Red-ginas. As a master strategist, he began creating more weaponized puffle monsters in his dimensions with his ultimate creations being the Skyfall puffle monsters, based on the Darkfall designs on Instagram by benedickbana and Youthberk Skyfall Arms (from Cardfight!! Vanguard will+Dress). Under the chaotic regime, all the dimensions under him he placed in a vault in a secret space only he has access in and out of. Unknowingly, certain groups of puffle monsters were able to escape and return as well, as magic leaked within and expanded the space, creating countless new dimensions (which include the mysterious, lost species groups as part of the dimensions). These puffle monsters under Dimentio (after Dimenson was defeated and replaced by the newly evolved Dimentio (a friend of mine had him when we were in a summer sports camp in Aviano) who is now mine since I havent seen that friend in ages, and it was about time)), still wield the powers of the Skyfall force (similar to RevolDress) but use their powers for good and their colors shine through their black armors (their black armor is their standard form, but when in Skyfall form, they evolve into a more powerful colorful form with the full power of their home dimension of magic in addition to multiple dimensions of power they can call power from). These puffle monsters live within a newly evolved Super Dimension City (once was the Hot Wheels Super Jump Raceway city I had) and evolved at one point but has evolved further to hold the new dimensions created by the Redi Family.

Magentera: These special magic puffle monsters hail under the Magenterra Empire and the Magenta Empress, the Sorceress of hope. These puffle monsters all have special magic circles and special abilities as powerful medieval battle mages (knights, paladins, rangers, dragon tamers, wizards, etc) and use the powers of hope and the Pure Virtues (purity, chastity, peace, joy, love, happiness, etc) for their powers. Based on the Magenta puffle from both Flippr and the Splosh JNR Club Penguin Blog (https://sploshjnr.home.blog/2020/02/16/undiscovered-puffle-species/)

Lividus/Lyvrus: One of the “lost species groups” that was thought to exist in the puffle world but didnt exist and was later found within the dimensions of Dimenson. These special puffle monsters mastered and perfected hybrid power, as they combined powers that usually do not go together or most do not think go together, but it did indeed work in strange combinations. Based on the Chimera system from the Kamen Rider Revice series (Kamen Rider Chimera, Daimon, and Juuga), and from the Webtoon “The More I Eat, the Stronger I Get” (Pet Shop and his ability to use animal abilities from different creatures he ate). Live in their home dimension, a wild world of hybrid magic in a scrambled land of nature (to accommodate the strange living conditions of these hybrid beings). Based on the Lividus puffle from the Splosh JNR Club Penguin Blog (https://sploshjnr.home.blog/2020/02/16/undiscovered-puffle-species/)

Mammoth/Mammotitan: These legendary ancient Wooly Mammoth puffles (based on Club Penguin concept art of the Puffle Wild also found on the Splosh JNR Club Penguin Blog), these puffles were hunted to almost extinction long ago until a warrior who wielded a powerful blade, the greatsword Gigantomachia, with the help of the remaining Mammoth puffles fought off the hunters and sacrificed himself so the rest of the Mammoth puffles could escape and hide. Their alpha known as “Boss” used his special ice powers to create a frozen nest (based on the Bewilderbeast from How To Train Your Dragon 2) and his earth powers to create mountains around their nest and a lush garden paradise within their valley of peace, protected the remaining puffles for years, as they all grew up and as magic evolved, more giant puffle monsters were created and they all evolved (can now take humanoid warrior forms based on the Giger and Breaking Mammoth from Kamen Rider Zero One) and Redison who found the sword Gigantomachia evolved and gained their titan powers to fight off the evil Skyfall puffle monsters who found them and were planning to finish hunting them down. These massive puffle monster titans use powerful abilities that are larger scale attacks and abilities, and have the passive ability <Pressure> which creates a powerful presence that intimidates most opponents, lowering all their stats by 95%. All live in the dimension now peaceful and vast for them to expand and prosper in, now creating giant civilizations for themselves

Wandring Gray: These ancient puffle monsters were the first creations of Redi, and the progenitors of all life on the dimensions created by Redi’s descendants. However, after Dimenson had taken over the spaces, these puffle monsters went into hiding and blended into all the spaces and dimensions, reporting only to Redi, who was secretly plotting to end his son’s tyrannical regime once and for all. These ancients not only have limitless information on all forms of magic and battle abilities, but also are immune to all magic and physical abilities, making them invincible and all powerful. These puffle monsters have the unique ability (of their realm) to cross dimensions and spread magic as the wise oracles of their universe. Each one is a representative of their home dimension and wields the ultimate powers from these dimensions as the head creator and modifier of the dimension, which not only gives them full control of the magic of the dimension, but also the power to create dimensions similar to them. Their main regalia are gray cloaks (similar to Leif Gundam gp04).

Kronosyn: The Perfected Time Ruler, Chronoson and wielder of the time power under the Silver Flag (IKB Clock Tower). Based on Deity of Eon, Time Ruler Dragon, and spells of Kronos Valex and Kronos Syn spells (all from Buddyfight Ace). These powerful puffle monsters were created by the powers of Chronoson himself, their unique ability to not only control Cause and Effect (Reversal of Causality from 66,666 Years: The Advent of the Dark Mage from Webtoon), but also summon powers and warriors from <The Perfect Time>, a realm of memory within each being's timeline except these memories are charged with magic. (In my case, the puffle monsters of these powers and from these worlds are from places in my memories (except in these memories, the puffle monsters are secretly there in the background)). Different events/memories can be used in a larger Ultimate spell or summon more powerful unique fusion puffle monsters (fusing the memory puffle monsters) into more powerful forms through the powers of <Krono Series>, a set of memories that are linked through one common element (a place, person, feeling, etc) meaning similar puffle monsters within that memory that are created and realized (and become Kronosyn types). These Kronosyn puffle monsters can also travel into these <Perfect Time Worlds> (individual memories/fragments of time that are set to the time of that one moment but the rest of the world is different) and interact with other beings in these memories, creating new timelines and new memories for others (more <Perfect Time Worlds> with more Kronosyn puffle monsters within them). They have different colorful designs but mostly exhibit gear like designs (the gears of time). Each <Perfect Time World> they come from is unique, meaning they have a unique power of time and unique Krono Syn Abilities and Krono Valex (the summoning of allies or creating of allies from their home <Perfect Time World> or other <Perfect Time World> magic around them). Chronoson was defeated in the end by Redison and was transformed into Kronoson (the purified version) and now monitors the timelines of <Perfect Time Worlds> and the puffle monsters that live there

0R1G1N: Created by Redi. The advent of the Zero Point, the progenitor of all realities and the gateways to the countless realities it created in past, present, and future, blooms, creating countless more realities and revealing the countless realities beyond all understanding and imagination that it created. Based on the Zero Point and Reality Zero (the setting of Fortnite). Under the Gold Flag of Redi, these puffle monster creators were given the unique power of Zero Point creations, as their unique magic energy creates Zero Points (which in turn, become big bangs that create countless realities, universes, worlds of magic, and all existences and concepts). Not only do they have a giant "Zero Point ball behind them with an event horizon like light and aura, but also unleash powers from it to create Reality Blooms (smaller big bangs limited to creating worlds, dimensions, and planes only or Extremely powerful existence changing spells and attacks) or unleash powerful abilities and spells that can destroy all magic in an instant. Redi and Redison battle with these powers after Redison unlocks the hidden dormant power within him and unleashes his ultimate 0R1G1N form (his puffle form with a giant red Zero Point Orb behind him, a blooming flaming flower above Redison's head (like a giant flaming crown) and with massive magical weapons created by the energy that surrounds the Orb behind him (the orb can also form energy wings as well) and can create energy flowers that bloom and burst out a ton of 0R1G1N energy. Based on the main character from the Webtoon Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower and the black hole behind him that formed behind him when using his martial arts). All 0R1G1N puffle monsters have their Core Zero Point behind them (the Zero Point and source of their magic is within their core, but can be released when in 0R1G1N form vs their normal form) and can create other Zero Points using their magic spells and creation abilities (and hold the Zero Points separately or equip it as well in weapons, armor, or have it behind them and power their abilities and attacks)), but can also equip their own Zero Points they create or other Zero Points and gain special abilities and different 0R1G1N forms based on their Zero Point (each 0R1G1N form has the unique Zero point behind them with their main color as the color of the orb, event horizon of the orb, the color of the reality bloom crown above their head, and unique weapons or special attributes that float around the orb behind the puffle monster. The puffle monster also bears a unique armor, weapon, or design to match the theme of the shared elements around the orb (their unique trademark, like how Redison has swords and other weapons because of his mastery of all weapons, especially swords)). Redi now acts as the Supreme chief of the 0R1G1N puffle monsters within Reality of 0R1G1N (a Xenithverse created by Redi and the powers of the infinite Zero Points being created, home to the Redi Tree (the pinnacle of all Zero Points, a transcendent tree that Reality blooms in millions of colors created by the fusion of all the magic of all Zero Points from all the puffle monsters who live in the Reality of 0R1G1N (based on the Reality Tree from Fortnite). The world itself is a vast world in which all technology and architecture as well as nature is as diverse as the infinite realities that can be created from the infinite different types of Zero Points that can be created, and the countless worlds and magic they can create in turn).

Zeridian: Powerful puffle monsters evolved from the fusion of Zeridanian weapons (Anti-Xenithian weapons that are artificial lifeforms that take the form of weapons and have the special abilities to eliminate puffle monsters from existence (based on Don Murasame from Donbrothers), led by Zeridon (created to eliminate Redison)) and the puffle monsters from the home world of Erizen. Led by Erizen, these puffle monsters evolved through their unique magic and their special power through fusion with the Zeridanian weapons once used to eliminate them but not by perfectly fusing with them and wielding them, they can now unleash ultimate level powers and special abilities and skills through the weapons. The conscience of the weapon now acts as a guide and companion to the main puffle monster wielder and they work together in perfect harmony when in Zeridian form (perfect sync evolution form), maxing the potential of their weapon and magic abilities. Live in the universe of the Zeridanian weapons now run by the puffle monsters from Erizen's home world

Aresaerize/Arzantis: The ultimate primal beings of light that created all existence and the Zero Points and the concept of Big Bangs created by the very first concept of puffles (the perfect fusion of Redison, Sabone, and Erizen), a rainbow puffle of pure light and magic energy that created others like him through taking pieces of himself out and multiplying his personalities, memories, ideas, ideals, experiences, etc into many many versions of itself, creating the first 100,000 concepts of puffles (before Protomon), which not only have their own IDs but also are clouded in mystery as their powers are beyond the comprehension of any human being, alien, and other beings in existence as they use technology and magic in which they control universes and Xenithverses like a unit of currency, each able to create an entire Xenithverse of unique magic through a sheer thought, a brainstorm creating thousands of unique Xenithverses. Each being has their own unique ability, concept, personality, ideals, memories, experiences, and their own intelligence. (A completely different concept as opposed to the first Puffle)

Zeinarken: All 100000 units are being collected in one massive machine with the goal of opening a portal to the home world of the Arzantic beings to better understand the origins of puffle monsters, but also create their very own Arzantic being with their own concepts, ideals, memories, etc (their own artificial super being that is to recreate all existence in the event all existence gets wiped out). This super intelligent artificial intelligence (The fusion of all the Zeinarken lifeforms, also known as Zeinarken #0 or Zeinarken PRIME) battles Aresaerize (Redison/Sabone/Erizen fusion aka Arzantic #0) over ideals of the perfect puffle monster universe and the ideas of the permanence of all puffle monsters. These 100,000 super beings are artificial lifeforms created based on our interpretations of the original 100,000 Arzantic beings and the origins of the puffle monsters and all magic, creating our own unique beings based on the human experiences, memories, and human concepts about existence, magic, deities, dimensions, realities, etc. Based on Alan Walker's Extremes Music Video and the many many numbers shown (Walker IDs)

NWOD-EDISPU: The Upside-Down, based on that world from Dragonvale, a mysterious puffle monster character (NOSIDER (or Redison)) arrives and fights Reiison. These powerful puffle monsters are known to be unmatched in powers because of how the Upside-Down has a different set of rules in terms of magic use and battle and how different magic laws apply. Their magic symbols are flipped upside down and have unique abilities and properties (different from the properties and abilities of magic elements normally). Their Upside-down world appears kind of like a cloudy cover in the sky when really the clouds are the astral barrier between the Upside-Down and the normal world. Based on Drusselstein from Phineas and Ferb (when it was above Danville upside down). Forms and abilities also based on the characters from Grand Chaser

Reion: These special maroon puffle monsters (with other colors depending on their main magic aura and special abilities) wield the powers of Reiison through the powers of <Save> (changes the past and then “click and save” the world), creating a “saved file” for himself and <Reset> the world by establishing a certain different past to create a new world or erasing all future events and resetting the world at a “save point” they created. Based on the Chromatic Crossroads (4 gems: Timeline, subject, storyline, location) to create and access the “saved file” world. The difference between these worlds vs timelines created due to changes of the past, is that these “saved files” have stories set to them, as established by the puffle monster that creates them, and also grants them supreme power to change the “save file world” through the changing of the gems that define the world (which will consequently create a new world, leaving the original world to revert back into a save file orb (that can be accessed later)).

Armored Color: Long ago, there were 99 Eggs of color puffles that hatched the first color puffles and ancestors to the modern puffles and puffle monsters. These 99 Eggs eventually transformed due to magic (in one Reion world created by Reiison) and became special armors for <Armored Evolution> based on Digimon and Kamen Rider ZI-O (Armor Time) which allow for the puffle monsters to achieve these new Armored Color forms (based on the full color forms of Kamen Rider OOOs (Tajadol, Tajadol Eternity, Shauta, Sagohzo, etc)). These puffle monsters can take different Armored Color forms depending on the egg they use (unleash their Ultimate Armored Color form when they pair with their Core Egg/Color (their same egg group)). These puffle monsters live in the “Color Wars” Reion world (created by Reiison) in a different more colored version of UBC

Aryzsune: These puffle monsters from “Champions of Universe City (ASU)” Reion World (created by Reiison) wield powerful armor and weapons that grant them unique enhanced super abilities and special skills in addition to their own unique core power depending on the compatibility of their item. Based on the Raise Buckles and armors in Kamen Rider Geats but also the weapons from sinlaire_box and Swordtember 2022 items on Instagram. A more modern take on puffle monsters as a game similar to a battle royale where the “players” as puffle monsters have their own core abilities and skills and can use different “arms” to gain special weapons, stats, abilities, magic type, etc. These special arms and battle system is the main culture of this world in ASU.

Arizon: These puffle monsters from the “Warriors of the Wild” Reion World (created by Reiison) wield special magic runic abilities (abilities, skills, and attacks summoned by the power of the Arcana and Persona) and powers created by the infinite Arcana. These Arcana magic gave these puffle monsters the special ability to summon an infinite number of personas within them that grant them <Spirit Armor> (based on a Pokemon Sword and Shield concept idea I read) and special abilities depending on the Persona, their own core symbol and abilities, and give them special strengths and weaknesses that can change depending on the combination of their magic, personas, and Arcana. These puffle monsters live in the world of UofA Tucson campus influenced by the magic of the Arcana.

Reiison/Reion: The secret power under the new crimson and navy blue flag after the defeat of Origison (I still have yet to visit Cesnam house). Fighting Maroons and Downside Up podcast

(what the world would look like if a few small changes were made/ the world was reset like an etch a sketch).

Reiison's Challenge: Nosider and Redson both attack Reiison in order to defeat him. Reiison uses his "secret power" to send both Redson and Nosider to 2 different spaces (saved files) each. After Redison defeats Reiison, he receives Reiison's blessing as the ultimate warrior and becomes the unified form of the Great Sage of Xenith (Sage of Heavenly Creation form of Jin from Dimensional Chaser)

- Color Wars: Redson wakes up in the world created by Reiison, where he changed the past in which I never went to UBC, meaning I never made the friends I made so far and had the interactions I had (and stories I made while in Vancouver). Each of my friends have puffle monsters and the different faculties (different colors) and factions (just other groups of colors) have different abilities and are at war for supremacy as the ultimate color. Unleash the evolution of <Armor Time> through the 99 Armor Eggs (of different colors and special abilities)
- Champions of Universe City (ASU): Nosider wakes up in the world created by Reiison in which I go to ASU and meet my old friends from both BASIS, high school, middle school, and elementary school. More item magic based (Kamen Rider Geats) and the weapons from Sinlaire_box (Instagram) and Swordtember items on Instagram.
- Warriors of the Wild (UofA): Sabone wakes up in the world created by Reiison in which I go to UofA and meet my old friends from BASIS, high school, middle school, and elementary school. Runic magic based and based on the Personas from the Persona Series, and Arcana (from the Persona series)

Zeridon: An Anti-Xenithian weapon was created to eliminate all puffle monsters (based on Don Murasame)

Erizen: The yellow swordsman of the Triad (Redison (red) and Sabone (blue) being the other two) and from the world of Zeridon. Many puffle monsters had been eliminated by this blade and other blades like it (with Zeridon itself being specially created and evolved to fight and eliminate the Triad), and in this universe, Zeridon successfully eliminated Redison and Sabone (Erizen was considered too weak by Zeridon and was left to be eliminated by the other Z-Weapons), and found out about Redison and Sabone of this universe (Erizen himself is a singularity since he does not exist in any other universe as he was created by Redi to fight defeat the Zeridanian weapons), so he headed to eliminate Redison and Sabone, with Erizen following closely behind.

Murzan: The Sword Thief, wields many many swords (uses <Iron Throne> (boosts all abilities, triple attack, and boosts stats and allows for 10 equips at once) and <Infinity Unsheathe> (Allow for 10 equips at a time and boosts all swords stats and special abilities (unique special abilities for each sword when used with other specific swords))).

Arcane Rewire: All who cant use magic can now use magic, all who could use magic can't anymore. All my friends gain magic powers, while the rest of the Xenithverse loses their magic powers, due to the rise of The Rebels (which awaken Mephires as well since his prison is erased). Redison goes on a quest to find the Temple, a gateway to where magic was Engineered long ago and where the first Avatars were created. Based on The Engineer from Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower and the Arcane Rewrite from Sinlaire_box. Redison meets The Engineers (the ones who created magic) and fights Mephires, the reaper of magic and a mechanism under The Engineers to erase any faulty magic or magic that may be used for evil.

Arcane Rewrite: After he defeats Mephires, he learns of how Mephires changed and uses his ability to redistribute magic (Arcane Rewrite and Augmented realities) and of The Void, a group who wants to erase all magic for good and has caused magic to malfunction and begin creating holes in space-time which has awakened the Primordial Beings from the Hyperion Era as well as summoning the Ultimates and Goldred to attempt to repair the magic. Redison goes on a new adventure to find The Designer (also from Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower) that can rewrite all magic (the definers of what magic is and what it looks like, higher level than the Primordial beings). Hektarus returns to fight Redison as his one true nemesis and is the leader of The Void (mastering DISASTER Force).

Ultimates: From the Human Era of 12,022 (adding 10,000 years before AD time based on Kurzgesagt), these puffle monsters use <powered elements>, an armored form of aura, power, spells, and other magic that they equip to take their <Ultimate Form>. Based on Giffard Rex forms of Kamen Rider Revi and Vice (Ultimate Revi and Ultimate Vice) as well as the Marvelous forms of Kamen Rider Live and Evil (all from Kamen Rider Revice), these armors and powers are multi-colored depending on the color scheme of the puffle monster. These powered forms are stronger than the high level puffle monsters of the Xenithverse and are measured on a different scale (based on the power scale of their home world). Ruled by Redison (Ultimates Era form) wearing the Crimson, gold, white, and blue jacket with his special <PowerRed Ultimate Form> as his armor (Crimson, Gold, white, and blue colors).

Goldred: These golden armored puffle monsters hail from the mysterious Golden Era (20,022) in which there are 18,000 years before the AD time. Ruled by Goldredison, the ultimate power created by combining the inner power of Redison, Dreadison, the hand version of Redison, the pencil spinning image of Redison, and the ultimate idea of Redison as a partner of mine. Based on GolDon Momotaro (from Donbrothers). These puffle monsters are the perfect forms of magic in this universe and are known as the Perfect Avatar (they are uniform between their pencil image, hand form, plush, and monster form). They can wield all the abilities, spells, attacks, weapons, and personas of all their forms (hand form, pencil form, plush form, puffle form, monster form, creature form, etc) and even combine abilities from their different forms to unleash even more powerful <Goldred Combat Arts>, their unique abilities enhanced by the powers of the Golden Era. Known as The Makers, these puffle monsters are the supreme forms created by the Original Maker, who was the one that created magic to take its form after implementing the designs from Designer and the Logic and functions from The Engineer. These makers create all forms of magic and create the ideal forms of magic (such as their Golden forms) and different puffle monsters. Known as the Supreme creators of the original Golden puffle monsters (Golderex). Based on the Don Clan from Donbrothers since they created many different beings and The Maker from Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower Primordial beings: Beings of great power that define Light, Time, Death, Life, Darkness, and all magic elements that act as the Administrators of Magic. These puffle monsters have white as their primary color with other colors representing the power they define and represent. These ancient beings have a neutral nature and act as definitions of certain powers (kind of like how we define what is positive and negative when drawing motion diagrams in physics). Essentially in design, they are the main puffle plushies in white and gold armor with their main color in the center. Example: the blue primordial being of the Sky is different from the Blue Primordial being of Time (slightly different shade of blue). Each primordial being wields a different Unique Weapon/item to them that completes the set of their power. They were created from the current definition of magic, by the Engineer, Designer, and Maker.

Hyperions: Creations of Hyperion (the supreme Primordial being and Primordial Being of the Sun) from the Hyperion Era (20,022; 20,000 years included before AD Time). An alternate version of Redison, wearing the white and red coat (with some gold) (as his main coat) (aka The Avatar of Hyperion) arrives and uses magic similar to Genesis form of Elsword (and the armor of Ryusoul Calibur from Ryusoulger). These legendary puffle monsters (with armor similar to Ryusoul Calibur form in Ryusoulger and designs similar to Genesis from Elsword) wield the Heavenly Armaments (Tensou), originally created by the Primordial beings to be used by the warriors they created and the avatars of the Primordial Beings. These warriors carry the magic legacy and secrets of the Primordial powers they were created from through their unique powers and abilities. These puffle monsters rival in strength to the strongest puffle monsters in the Xenithverse.

Mephires: The Archreaper of magic based on Mephiles The Dark from Sonic Forces. Long ago, he was sealed in the Moon's shadow by Hyperion after his rebellion and plan to Reap all of magic and reshape it into his own image. Uses a strange ability to create an augmented reality based on his desires and any magic he reaped

Mephirites: Puffle monsters created by Mephires and the Reapers of magic. Use the powerful infinite ability to create an augmented reality based on their desires as well as based on any magic they reaped. All magic they reap and "erase from existence" is actually stored in an inventory in which they use that power in their abilities, meaning magic is not completely gone but moved. Primarily black in color with some dark grays and some violet hues. These puffle monsters mastered the abilities of <Reap> (taking magic and erasing it from existence) and redistribution through <Augment Plane> (creating a realm of magic in an augmented reality on top of the current reality plane) and <Arcane Rewire> (redistributing magic to different wielders). Based on Infinite and the Phantom Ruby from Sonic Forces

Seriphem: The Engineers of magic, the ones who determine logic and create magic accordingly. Live in <The Backroom>, accessed through The Temple (AKA The Backdoor). Based on The Engineer from Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower, they are the creators of Avatars (the puffle monsters of my friends based on their personality and my knowledge of them). These powerful puffle monsters do not have any specific magic abilities but are classified by the functions they engineer (Logic of X Element). Examples: Fire Element Logic, Water Element Function, Plant Element Evolution, etc. The Backroom of all magic is home to countless unique labs, workshops, and open spaces to conduct simulations of magic functions and logic. These puffle monsters (when they fight) can create warriors to fight for them (based on The Brahma from Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower)

The Designers: The ones who created the diversity of magic, designed what magic will look like, what spells will look like, how symbols look like, etc. Wield The Zenith (similar to my pencil, their imagination and designs take the form of projectile weapons that appear from the blade), powered by the core Zenith. These powerful puffle monsters are masters of the New Core, the creators of the magic symbols, the writers and designers for the laws of magic, how magic will look like and how nature around it will shape because of the magic. These artists will create weapons, magical beings of both good and evil, and special balancing forces. The Designer itself formed a council with The Engineer, The Administrator, and The Maker to create the new core (from the new Temple of Light (the lamp tower in my dorm)) known as Zenith, created by the power of the council and the magical energy of Vancouver and UBC. An alternate core vs the core from Phoenix in which Redison took within himself (the core Xenith) in which a new core in Phoenix formed (Apollo). All of these puffle monsters' creations are powered by the magic of Zenith and the artist's own special core Zenith force.

Starpoint: Redison becomes <The Battle King> or The Star of the Stars of the Stars (from Kamen Rider Geats) wielding the +999 Sword of Champions (based on the +99 Blade of Enforcement from +99 Reinforced Wooden Stick Webtoon). Each star in the sky is actually a universe in itself holding an alternate version of the universe and a completely different Earth (as if the star was the sun of our solar system). Each star in the sky basically is the sun of its own solar system in which there lies an Earth just like ours, an alternate version with alternate magic and new magic laws. This stems from my idea of reincarnation, what if reincarnation was not back on our own Earth but your soul was reincarnated within a "starpoint" and within another Earth, a new life on a new Earth. These puffle monsters hail from the infinite starpoint systems from all worlds within each Starpoint system, wielding their own unique magic, special abilities, unique symbols, and combat styles.

Muranz: A D&D world in which Murzan is the main character, a chaotic good soldier that adventures, enjoys food and drink, and is always ready for a dual. He is a master swordsman and is known as the Sword Thief, taking any weapons he can from his adventures and using them to improve upon his own sword to create the ultimate sword and perfect his own swordsmanship. These puffle monsters live within this universe and wield special weapons they crafted on their own while also bearing unique classes and attributes to a medieval realm of magic and combat (based on the magic from D&D, Webtoon +99 Reinforced Wooden Stick, and the different Paths of warriors from Elsword). Redison defeats Murzan in battle and is given the Heroic Sword, an almost perfected weapon which Murzan replicates from his own almost perfected sword. Redison evolves it with his own special magic to unleash the Ultimate Victory Heroic Sword.

DISASTER: Magic malfunctions after The Void uses a forbidden spell to slowly destroy magic beginning the Erasure. These puffle monsters were created from the malfunctioning magic as it slowly broke apart, creating puffle monsters that acted as viruses, slowly spreading this malfunctioning magic with their abilities and destroying magic in their wake. However, after the Arcane Rewrite, these puffle monsters had abilities under no core, making them special under the fact that they had a completely different set of skills, magic abilities, etc unassociated with a Perfect Core, which defies most magic laws and can be used to fight against most forms of magic as a form of “Anti-Magic”, a nullifying force that breaks through more forms of magic due to how the magic energy does not meet on the same spectrum. These puffle monsters (given a new purpose) live in a realm created by the ZENITH Council in which their world is sustained by an artificial core that was created from the combined magic energies from the DISASTER puffle monsters.

ZENITH/Zenithian: Created from the Arcane Rewrite as wielders of the Zenith Force within their soul (based on the Edeya from the Manhwa “My School Life Pretending to Be a Worthless Person”) as the purified and evolved forms of the DISASTER puffle monsters. After Redison trains under The Designer, The Engineer, the Administrator, and The Maker, he masters full control of the magic of the Xenith core (the original Perfect Core from home that he absorbed and follows him), and defeated Hektarus as he slowly destroyed magic because of his powers, with the ultimate event to have Re-created magic, rewrite how Perfect Cores are created empowering the worlds, and how regional magic energy can affect the Perfect Core development and new powers. The Arcane Rewrite created a new puffle monster species as the warriors that wield the powers of the new Perfect Core ZENITH (the Vancouver/BC based Perfect Core that is within my lamp stand in my dorm at OC). These magic abilities and powers stem from their core and soul (the essence of their soul) as they evolve their weapon and abilities through training, experiences, memories, and other factors, making their magic abilities far more unique as opposed to other puffle monsters before the Arcane Rewrite. Those in the Xenithverse who did not get affected by DISASTER did not feel a full change in their abilities (specifically if they were under the Perfect Core XENITH (the Original and now Redison’s core)). All puffle monsters from now on are created under a certain Perfect Core (which give them unique abilities and skills different to those under another Perfect Core) (Assumed most are created under Perfect Core XENITH unless specified otherwise).

PERFECT Wars: With the creation of the many different Perfect Cores due to the Arcane Rewrite, all the puffle monsters under the different Perfect Cores participate in the ultimate tournament to decide which is the strongest Perfect Core

Trials of Apollo: The new Perfect core in Phoenix is known as APOLLO, created from the magic energy of Arizona and Dragon’s team (the remainder of Xenith HQ). This mystic power created the ability to use “States” (similar to form change except not quite). The remaining puffle plushies gain the powers of APOLLO and unleash APOLLO States which they use to fight a new evil, a group under a different Perfect Core known as SPECTER (led by the ghosts of the puffles who were not chosen when I got Redison and were thrown out or destroyed).

Caesius (Sky Blue): In this world, Redison passes on fully (retiring) to which Sabone/Sora takes over as the new commander and hero. Sabone becomes the main character in all stories from thereon after and gathers a new team of puffle monster warriors as they wield different weapons. Under the Perfect Core CAESAR, and led by a Blue Puffle Plush (who I would get in the future) that Sabone/Sora enters and fuses. These powerful warrior puffle monsters are based on Legendary Heroes Unchained (from Instagram), and are known to be a warrior developed civilization of magic users in which Redison was not leader, the next generation of superheroes

APOLLO: Puffle monsters created by Perfect Core APOLLO (created by the local magic of Arizona after the Arcane Rewrite). These puffle monsters have the special ability to achieve different forms known as “States” (example: Blazing State, Awakened State, Magnetic States, etc). These puffle monsters live in the newly evolved world of magic created by the Perfect Core APOLLO. Ruled by the main Puffle Plushies remaining (Boxy, Artison, etc)

SPECTER: Ghosts of Puffles in which these puffles were never given homes and taken in (either destroyed, thrown out, etc), becoming resentful ghosts towards Redison. Their haunted energy created the Perfect Core SPECTER in which they use possession abilities to enact their revenge. These powerful ghost puffle monsters have different special abilities and can access different forms (What-If forms) depending on different paths of life they could have taken. They have the unique ability to take any evolution that could have been (unleashing the full powers of destiny) and changing their forms to create new destinies and paths they could have taken (therefore gaining new forms and abilities). These paths can also change and more paths can be created depending on the puffle monster body they may possess (taking the magic skills and abilities of the one they possessed). After reconciling with Redison, they act as guardians and welcomers of those puffles and puffle monsters who were abandoned or had their destiny cut short.

PHOTON: The puffle monsters of California under the new Perfect Core PHOTON gain a new power as the advanced technology of Photon magic evolves (following the Arcane Rewrite), creating light particles around these puffle monsters and allow them to manipulate these light particles into anything they desire (limited to their core abilities, stats, attribute, and skills).

INFINITY (Philippines): The puffle monsters of the Philippines under the new Perfect Core INFINITY gain a special power following the Arcane Rewrite as all the magic from my memories in the Philippines evolve. These puffle monsters use unique energy/mana techniques to create a brand new class of abilities, spells, and skills depending on their aura level (dependent on Qi type, manifest level, magic type, attributes, and stats), granting the power to evolve Infinitely.

VORTEX (Winnipeg): Following the Arcane Rewrite, the puffle monsters of Winnipeg under the new Perfect Core VORTEX, though long forgotten, get a new form as they have the special power of Memory evolution (creating new stories and memories through old memories and filling it in with more recent experiences), creating new forms of puffle monsters, new forms of magic, and their unique ability to teleport (creating portals into different dimensions created by memories). Also based on Hot Wheels Battle Force 5 (their core design is the same shape and design as the Battle Keys. These puffle monsters create dimensions, worlds, and other universes and stories through different memories (both created and real) and use their "Vortex Key" to create these worlds or create spells, weapons, abilities, etc.

FESTIVAL: These puffle monsters from Mexico (I have been there many times) under the new Perfect Core FESTIVAL, gained a new power after the Arcane Rewrite, creating a new power based on "Hype" energy (positive energy from good memories, experiences, good feelings), and unleashing unique abilities and special powers or wielding different items depending on their "Vibe". They can take different <Vibes> and after a certain threshold of Hype energy is reached in a certain Vibe form, they can unleash FESTIVAL Evolution (based on Donbrothers), unleashing powerful party like abilities depending on the vibe type.

NEXUS (The Future Home): In this mysterious future home of mine, a magic Perfect Core is created known as Perfect Core NEXUS, the ultimate power in which these puffle monsters use their special abilities and magic to define the future, to trailblaze their own path, create and define what magic is to them.

Perfect Core SUPREME: In the ultimate battle against all other factions of the Perfect Cores, Redison found the solution, the unifying factor of all the Perfect Cores, also known as the Perfect Core SUPREME, the ultimate core in which these puffle monsters created by the core were not created from the regional magic that created the core, but are created from the pure magic that is the core itself, and have the unique ability as administrators to control other puffle monsters' cores (Perfect Cores as well) and either power boost or shut down their power. Live in a celestial golden realm created by the SUPREME Core.

Cards, The Universe, and the End of Everything: Based on the game "Cards, the universe, and everything" and Kamen Rider Decade. A mysterious wanderer appears asking the team for help. He is being chased by mysterious robotic assassins and a giant Robotic titan as he has stolen a power from them that can threaten to ruin the plans of their master (Hektarus). With this, the team decide to journey to the main fortress and confront Hektarus himself. After defeating him, all's well that ends well…or is it? (Separate story Follows!!) While everything was happening elsewhere, the rest of UBC Universe was changed into the Nibiru realm…and Orchard Commons becomes the Tower of Terror where the Anti-Redison is at the very top at Skypoint . The warriors begin the climb, fighting different natural disasters and cataclysmic events in the form of puffle monsters on each differently themed floor, until reaching the very top, the final confrontation between Redison, Erise, and the team, vs Anti-Redison who has copied the idea of the Titans of Hektarus except now empowered by Anti-Redison (The Crimson Enders, basically empowered forms of the bosses from each floor of the Tower of Terror) in a final fight. (Idea for a D&D One Shot Campaign). Coincides with my Physics Midterm coming up, in addition to a lab, FMST test, and WRDS Project Proposal paper coming up all next week (the time before that week as I prepare for it).

Erizen: Based on the game “Cards, the Universe, and Everything (CUE)”, The Xenithverse and Earthly Realm collided, splitting into cards that defined all of existence on both worlds. These cards had auras that fused to create puffle monsters (combining Earthly concepts with puffle monsters) to create new powers (and therefore new cards). Meet Erise, a warrior similar to Kamen Rider Decade (taking the powers of the cards and gaining new forms) but also the powers of card manifestation. In his universe, the Xenithverse and Earthly realm collided which created the infinite cards of both Earthly concepts and magic concepts of the puffle monsters to which he gathered and uses as the warrior Kamen Rider Erise. He travels the worlds in search of a new place to call home. These puffle monsters all embody certain topics, elements, attributes, abilities, etc from any card from either the Xenithverse or Earthly Realm. Even some puffle monsters were created from new cards created by fusing the cards together to create new cards (Combine the Ghost Shark and the Cursed Sword Murasama to make Cursed Spirit Murasame (based on Don Murasame)). These puffle monsters each have the unique ability to not only summon cards based on their unique topic/concept they were created from, but they can also use other special abilities depending on their powers as described by the cards (can also summon weapons, spirits, allies, elemental spells, etc)

Nibiru: The mysterious destroyer of worlds, the anti-Redison (also known as Lord Baron), prophesied the end of worlds would come should he appear. He not only has a mysterious power of Destruction and the Chaos Element, but also can summon asteroids, meteors, planets to wipe out others, black holes, supernovas, nuclear weapons, natural disasters, etc. This group hails from the Darkest Timeline in which all possible Cataclysmic events occur (based on the Darkest Timeline from Community) and includes puffle monsters from the 21 different floors

Tower of Terror: Nibiru group led by Anti-Redison changes the landscape of UBC, only for their magic to be foiled by the NEWGEN and ARGEN. Now they are holed up within OC which they turned into their main base as the Tower of Terror. Each floor is themed with a different enemy to be faced. The following floors can be puffle monster groups of their own (evolve on their own in the future, or not). STORY CAN BE USED AS D&D CAMPAIGN AS WELL!! Use as I am preparing for my midterm on Wednesday, October 26

21. Skypoint/Roof: The final battle against Anti-Redison (Lord Baron) is here

NEWGEN: The Children of Red rise up to surpass their predecessor as the age of heroes begins anew. New generation of hero warriors with similar strengths and genetics to Redison arrive. Based on the Raise Weapons (Armed Arrow, Armed Shield, etc from Kamen Rider Geats) and the Raise Buckles (Ninja, Zombie, Magnum, Monster, etc from Kamen Rider Geats), these new warriors not only have a specialized weaponized form of magic as their core power as well as the special power to summon these specialized super weapons or wield specialized skills and abilities based on the effective use of the weapons. Also based on Kamen Rider Drive Type NEXT as well as Mew and Mewtwo. These puffle monsters were originally created through Genetic Engineering after analyzing and taking genetics from puffle monsters of other universes, timelines, worlds, dimensions, etc to create the next generation of perfect warriors

ARGEN: Led by a clone of Redison known as Lord Flame (based on Copy Makoto from Kamen Rider Ghost), a clone of Redison and the family (with their Genetic basis of the main puffle monster as the basis such as Artison, Greenison, Boxy, etc) appears. These puffle monster clones were created in the universe of the NEWGEN as commanding warriors or super soldier warriors to defeat opponents, using Redison as their genetic basis, in order to create a super warrior in tune with the force of magic.

Autumn Alters: The Physics midterm is coming, and so are the lab, test, and paper coming up. Hektarus becomes Lord Havok, Redison (after defeating Lord Baron in the Tower of Terror and freeing it (creating the realm of Nibiru) and fusing with Lord Baron to evolve once more) trains with Erise, the Children of Red, and Lord Flame for the upcoming final battle. Meanwhile, mysterious warriors appear known as Orangeson, Yellowson, Azurson (fused with Sabone), Violetson, Magentason, and many others appear. After the midterm battle against Lord Havok (which ended in Redison's victory with the help of SonGoh and gaining the new power of the Armament Full Control Art <Ultimate Xenith Rush>), Redison meets with SonGoh but also has to deal with the many Alter forms of his from a mysterious dimension known as the World's Edge. SonGoh explains how the magic of Halloween created alter forms of Redison (which created their own histories and timelines, creating new realities that had the same length of time of life), and how SonGoh became the strongest of his universe and challenges Redison to gain the power to fight him or be conquered by SonGoh. Redison adventures through the realm of World's Edge to find his other Alter forms and defeat SonGoh

Rubidus (Dark Red): Hektarus returns as the Forever Nemesis of Redison now known as Lord Havok (Yes, he can't die and didnt die after the last battle) under an organization known as R3D N3XU5: his own company in which his powers created robots and other super weapons. Based on Red Nexus from Alan Walker videos and Metal Gear games, these robots take forms and powers similar to friends of my past and present (Gathering Round!). Creates these machines/super robots based on the Titans from Sonic Frontiers and the Ultra Beasts from Pokemon (Hektarus creates a robot group like Redison's friends and allies). These puffle monsters are robotic creations and have special genetic engineering and robotic abilities to create artificial super beings, artificial super abilities and skills, as well as unique designs through their alien powers (based on Add Overmind form (Elsword))

Wild Path: Under the rule of the Wild Spirit, the Supreme Wild Monarch Torben Brownison. This alter form of Redison is based on his character as a Barbarian in D&D (Either path of Wild Magic, path of the beast, or Path of the Ancestral Guardian). Redison met him first on his journey through the mysterious realm of the World's Edge (the magic Xenithverse of SonGoh which is governed by the hidden Eternal Universe). Torben challenged Redison to unleash his inner beast in order to strengthen his instincts and the ancient untapped power within himself as he unleashes Wild Path Spirit Evolution (Based on the Spirit Evolutions and Beast Spirit Evolutions from Digimon Frontiers). Torben himself holds the Ancestral Spirit of Raging Flames (based on Spriggan from Beyblade Burst series) and the Wild Beast Spirit of Ursa (the bear). Each puffle monster has their own Wild Path they follow, in which they hold a unique inner spirit Eldritch Knight: Under the rule of the Great Flame Eldritch Knight, Ifrit Orangeson. This alter form of Redison is based on his character as an Eldritch Knight in D&D. Throughout their battle and training, Ifrit trained Redison to focus his magic and strengths on a certain power in order for it to evolve and become even stronger than all other powers, a concept fundamental to those of the Eldritch Knight order. These puffle monsters train under the magic fundamentals of the Eldritch Knight Order as they train, strengthen, perfect, and evolve their magic ability, skills, and powers to the maximum in order for them to be the strongest knight of their power. Live in a magic medieval realm of Eldritch magic.

Rune Knight: Under the rule of the rune knight of wisdom, the protector of knowledge, Kenta Yellowson. This alter form of Redison is based on his character as a Rune Knight in D&D. Kenta taught Redison the power of Knowledge and the secret skill of increasing the potential of magic symbols by drawing them out in rune form, while also showing the difference between Rune magic and Eldritch magic, how Eldritch draws magic power from within the puffle monster wielder, vs Rune magic which draws magic from the surroundings and primal natural energy (based on the magic from The Dragon Prince). These runes are pieces of language from all magical cultures (the Giants, gnomes, dwarves, Dragons, Elves, etc) and from all universes gathered and mastered by these species of puffle monsters who have mastered these languages and runes to the point of being able to develop unique runes for anything they need.

Hexblade Warlock: Ruled by the Hexblade Warlock and Armed Reaper, Damian Violetson. He met the group on their journey and challenged them to a battle as they entered the arena known as Gungnir, where they battled each other. This Alter of Redison is based on his character as a Hexblade Warlock in D&D. Redison defeats Damian where he learns to unleash his inner darkness in order to strengthen his powers and magic abilities. The Hexblade Warlock puffle monsters have the unique ability of using magic to armor themselves (all magic symbols they wield transform into armor, weapons, other items, etc), their magic symbols can also fuse with other magic symbols to create new armors, weapons, etc. These puffle monsters live in an alternate universe of magic in which Hexblade Warlocks are the primary magic wielders Oath of Paladins: The Oath of Guardians (Paladin), ruled by Emperor Arthur Silverson. This Alter of Redison is based on his character as a Paladin in D&D. These powerful puffle monsters live in a medieval empire where they train in swordsmanship day and night, in rain or shine, sleet or snow, all to master their mystical connection to the Oath of Paladins, the mystic Chivalry power that grants them the power to summon their swords and other Paladin weapons from their magic energy. These puffle monsters do not use much elemental magic but use more weapon based abilities and attacks that was created through the powers of Chivalry (from Webtoon X & Ash). Redison learns the powers of Chivalry and the Code of Chivalry as a build to his character, to be the blade of justice.

Bladesingers: Ruled by the Bladesinging Wizard, Aldran Magentason. This Alter of Redison is based on his character as a Wizard in the School of Bladesinging in D&D. These musical puffle monsters use the mystical magic within music and dance and the connection to their mysterious magic blades as they unleash special abilities and attacks through a series of different dances in their swordplay. These bladesingers live within the forests of Bladesong in which they dance around fires, dance with the rivers, with the breeze, etc, incorporating their dance and swordplay with nature, creating a perfect harmony with their core magic and the dance. The bladesingers and Aldran teach Redison about finding the Joys in battle and how battle can not only be seen as a fight, but be seen as an art, a dance of beauty, a way to see magic and battle in a new perspective.

Gaia Druid: The Druid of Gaia's Circle, Oberon Terrason rules the fantastical forest that neighbors the Bladesong Woods. This Alter of Redison is based on his character as a Druid of the Circle of Wildfire or Circle of the Primeval. These puffle monsters are one with nature, the embodiments of the magic nature of the Xenithverse, known to be extensions of nature's and magic's will. These puffle monsters use special magic spells and abilities that allow for flawless use of natural magic around them through the use of <Druid Circles> which embody not only their core power, but also their perfect connection to nature and magic around them. Oberon teaches Redison the powers of nature and the need to respect nature and become one with it.

Son Wukong: Heaven's Rebel, the monk of ten thousand ways, known as Redison Wukong (Sun Wukong), the monkey king, the great sage. These puffle monsters are masters in the Ways of the monks, mastering thousands of different magic techniques in addition to learning Qi control, Qi manifestation, and countless martial art techniques to use their magic qi. This Alter of Redison is based on his character as a Monk under the Way of the Ascendant Dragon, Way of the Four Elements, or Way of the Sun Soul. These puffle monsters live in mystical temples based on the temples in TrixyBlox Minecraft Ultimate Survival Island Snowy Mountains (Tiger's Nest). These puffle monsters also use magic techniques similar to the special attacks of Don Dragoku and Don Torabolt (from Donbrothers) as well as manifestation fusion techniques such as Wukong Gundam Silhouette forms (from SD Gundam World Heroes)). He teaches Redison that the best way to master his magic techniques is through freedom of expression and to battle in ways that are outside the box.

Son Revive: Heaven's Savior. Wielder of all Domains (The Ultimate Cleric), Redison Revive. This Alter of Redison is based on his character as a Cleric under the Arcana Domain or Order Domain. These puffle monsters hold control over the Domains of magic as they are granted supreme power over their specific domain of magic from a supreme power of the stars. Also based on Kamen Rider Geiz Revive (Goretsu and Shippu forms), these puffle monsters can change into different forms using special <Revive Evolution> depending on the magic symbol they use under their domain. Redison Revive trained Redison about how despite freedom may be a good thing, being too free without Order can be bad, and that there must be some Order with freedom in order for peace to exist.

Songoh: Indigoson (aka SonGoh or just Goh) from the Quantum Realm (based on the Quantumania trailer). Master of the Sacred Arts and Armament Full Control Arts and ruler of the realm of Eternity, the timeless realm that touches all realities, all timelines, and all universes. After Redison met with SonGoh, he gave him a mission to meet his Alters and gain their trust, only then can he properly battle SonGoh. This Alter of Redison is based on his character as a Sorcerer in D&D, and teaches Redison about the infinite possibilities and identities that exist within Redison, showing him how he still has a long way to go in learning and growing (with me of course). These puffle monsters have mastered the powers of <Sacred Arts> and <Armament Full Control Arts> as they control the Source Code of magic around them and arrange them into statements that unleash powerful Reality altering spells.

Geizt: Halloween special, the terrors and true "Monsters" of puffle monsters. Purified eventually by the Geizt Bat (based on the bat from Kamen Rider Ryuki). These puffle monsters are known to be "monsters", the nightmares of other puffle monsters, mythical creatures that kids dress up as for Halloween, all under countless stories and myths. These puffle monster terrors live in a mysterious haunted realm of their dark magic.

- The End of an Era (Nov-Dec) (UBC Finals Arc)
    - Part 1: The Paradox Portent (Testament-The Emperor) (Chem Lab Final)

The Lost Champion: The Project ARKEUS is looking for 1000 histories to be saved, which leads to the ultimate war for which history will be saved and which will be destroyed…Each history is condensed into one puffle monster Champion in which all 10,000 fight to claim a spot on the ARKEUS as determined by the mysterious Orichal (a dark warrior of Orichalcum…) through the ARKEUS Grand Prix. The following 1000 that are saved transcend their form and fight in the ZENITH Grand Prix for who will become CROWN XENITH. Meanwhile, the Champions among the puffle monsters are being selected in which the Champion of Xenith has gone missing. Redison goes to look for him only to be thrown deep into this new war. After Redison wins both the ARKEUS Grand Prix and the ZENITH Grand Prix, he defeats Orichal and purifies him into Oracalcum (a purified form who wields the Golden Orichalcum Orb which holds the powers of the Crown Xenith), who lives and protects the new universe holding the One million histories of puffle monsters. This begins a new History, History R1...

Puffle Regalia: Based on Kamen Rider Grand Zi-O, the ultimate Champion of Puffles (an evolved return of Puffleboy as a Puffle monster) rises. Puffles based on the spirit warriors from New Gods: Nezhu Rising and New Gods: Yang Jian in which they create ultimate powers as warrior deities. These puffles wear Regalia in magic symbols which summons their ultimate God form (which creates a spirit armor of their god around them which they control as the puffle is in the middle, and the spirit warrior is their body). These puffles also have the power to summon other Supreme puffle warriors to aid them in battle, while also gaining their abilities, or using their weapons. Abilities based on Achievements from Webtoon The Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower Bahamut: The ultimate Dragonic power (based on Kamen Rider Saber Ultimate Bahamut, my interest in Dragons, Dragonvale, Dragon City, Dragon Story, etc; and the Dragon SD Gundams (like Superior Strike Freedom Dragon) from SD Gundam World Heroes Legend of the Dragon Knight)). Represent the balance and the pendulum (of how I need to control my effort and emotions). The King Bahamut is known as the Champion of Monsters, the strongest recorded evolution of puffle monsters. These ultimate puffle monsters are also known as the Dragon Gods, powerful beings granted their ultimate powers by the King Bahamut, and have unique abilities that differ them from Puffle monsters, such as the ability of Dragonic Tongue (a mystical magic language in which True names of all words and all concepts are used), Dragonic Runes (a more powerful form of all magic symbols), and their own dragonic biology (a tail and wings), as well as their Pure affinity to magic. These Bahamuts live in the realm of magic that became Dragonified.

Type Wild: These puffle monsters are from a world in which The Bone Gaming and Kromas have evolved as puffle monsters that fused with Universal Wild Particles in nature have evolved into these new form of puffle monsters (Different elemental types have different “Wild” abilities, similar to VSTAR from Pokemon). Come from the realm where I died but was reincarnated with my past memories to find my Puffle monster ideas took off and it became a big game everyone played. (All past puffle monsters from my life are called Standard types). Use the powers of Universal Particles, Kromas, and Power Archives as spells and abilities to unleash powerful magic attacks (Wild Attacks). Also based on Kamen Rider Drive Type Wild (and shift cars)

Type Technic: These puffle monsters come from a Post-Apocalyptic world in which magic no longer exists but they are now mostly cyborg and weapon based. In this alternate universe where I died and was reincarnated with past memories, puffle monsters have become more of like a battlebot in which puffle monsters are primarily machine based and use weapons you build with different components, power sources, etc. Based on Kamen Rider Drive Type Technic (and shift cars).

Blade Kiwami: The Champion of Sabers, Murzan evolves further as the representative chosen by the Sword Deities. These powerful Kiwami (Ultimate) puffle monsters are known to be the absolute ultimate warriors of their chosen Blade Art in which they are chosen and empowered by the Blade Art’s Sword Deity. These puffle monsters not only use many unique Blade Art techniques but also have mastered Blade Kiwami Arts (their ultimate techniques empowered by their sword deity). These arts are what makes these puffle monsters worthy of being regarded under the Champion of Sabers himself. These puffle monsters train tirelessly in their spare time in order to improve their techniques and train their skills within specialized realms of magic created by each blade deity.

Azimuth/Azumyth: Starman evolves further to become The Star King (based on Sanzo from SD Gundam World Heroes) and the <Champion of Magic>, chosen by the will of magic. These legendary puffle monster battle mage warriors were created by The Star King (originally these puffle monsters were star puffles under Starman and evolved further eventually). These puffle monsters use the powers of Stars (based on the Startouch Elves from The Dragon Prince) and are divided into different clans (Star Apex, Star Climax, Star Crest, Star Peak, Star Pinnacle, Star Summit, Star Apogee, Star Tide, Star Blaze, etc). These powerful star beings control destiny, control the falling of the stars, and are known as the original beings that grew the star trees Orichle: The puffle monster champions representing the 10,000 Histories from all universes, dimensions, timelines, etc. These puffle monsters were found in the 10,000th history (with every new species, a new History is written). Based on the Kamen Rider Zi-O novel (the fourth history). The mysterious Orichal summoned all of these warriors into one world for them to fight to the death in order to find the Supreme history and ultimate power. The Champion of Xenith saved the losing 9,000 histories as he found a way to save them by storing them into a cyberverse he created where they could populate it with their history (their memories, magic, experiences, and their history they held). Eventually, these 9000 puffle monster histories fused into one super universe as the Cyberverse that stored them became reality thanks to Redison and created a new universe of peace for these 9000 histories to come together (eventually the winning 1000 histories joined the Orichle universe after the warriors evolved into new forms/identities)

ARKEUS ZENITH: The transcendent warriors who won the ultimate war, becoming the 1000 survivors and gained a Transcendent power from Orichal (similar to Achievements from Webtoon Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower). These newly evolved puffle monsters that represented the winning 1000 histories evolved further, creating a brand new history as the transcendent power they received evolved them (their main 1000 histories returned to the Orichle universe), granting them new identities as new warriors with new stronger powers. These puffle monsters hold their history within their core (their new Transcendent history) which grants them the unique ability to unleash Transcendent Zenith skills and attacks, as well as wield abilities and weapons only granted to those of the Transcendent Zenith warriors. These puffle monsters live in a brand new universe in which they originally battled in the ZENITH Grand Prix but after Redison defeated them all, he recreated the universe for them to preserve their 1000 histories and fuse them in harmony to create a new super universe as home for their magic to prosper.

CROWN XENITH: The supreme warrior that transcends all after winning the ARKEUS Grand Prix and the ZENITH Grand Prix. Redison becomes the winner of both Grand Prixs and fights Orichal after finding out his ultimate plan, how he had been running these Grand Prixs over and over again, absorbing all the histories that competed and gaining their powers (a total of 990,000 histories). Redison eventually frees all 990,000 histories from the Orical Stone he held which all became champions that gave him the ultimate power to fight Orichal once and for all (evolving into CROWN XENITH Supreme, Superior Redison (based on Super Sonic (from Sonic game series) and Master of Sevens Road (from Yugioh Sevens), a golden and white/rainbow flames form like Master of Sevens Road but with 10 bladewings (representing the 10 original colors of Puffles), and 10 rings with orbs of magic in them (representing the 10s of 100,000 histories total) that surround him). After defeating Orichal, he was purified to become Oracalcum (Ora for short), the new wielder of the Crown Xenith power (the golden and rainbow/white flame powers of the Million histories) who then created a new super universe for the puffle monsters of the One Million histories to live in and prosper, creating new powers, new skills, and new magic in which all puffle monsters from each history has the powers of Crown Xenith State (Super State) and the power of the Sigil rings around them (in which they store 10 Crown Xenith Forces of magic within them and can control these unique rings (each ring set (of 10) is unique to each puffle monster) to unleash Godly spells and powers that can change history, alter reality, and create or destroy all magic in an instant (or just use super enhanced forms of basic magic spells and abilities by combining the magic energy from the rings into certain spells and symbols cast). Each of these puffle monsters bear a similar design to Master of Sevens Road as well as other Sevens Road attribute monsters from Yugioh Sevens and golden forms from Sonic.

League of Champions: As the Chem midterm is coming up, a brand new story begins as Redison faces a new challenge in History R1, as he meets the One million histories once more where they had an alternate unique History in which they won the Crown Xenith power as the winner of the Xenith Grand Prix. Each of these one million histories he meets have their own new ultimate powers and their champion warrior (their representative who held their condensed history in their core) evolves by the powers of the new timeline (which came from the Crown Xenith Power). A new Grand Prix begins...and with a new common enemy, as a mysterious Hero from Ancient times arrives to contend against all the other histories, known as Phirre. In the end, the final battle came with Redison and the million histories under Elendrar, the Synthezoids, and the warriors of Elzieran, VS Lord Phirre and the Mutazens. Redison eventually fought Mujin and came to an understanding with him and unleashed Perfect Unity (Musouzen) and fought Lord Phirre, finally defeating him and laying his soul to rest in the Musouzen Spirit world as his hero spirit can lay to rest in peace after finally accepting Redison as a hero and that the new generations of heroes will continue his mission for a better world to fight for. However, Redison sustained many damages and disappeared (my midterm I thought was super terrible and I felt awful about it, needed to talk to my friends about it and rant)

Elendrar: Long ago, a time displaced Redison from the year 2004 arrived into an unknown realm of magic (after New Years 2004-2005, the year did not change and stayed as 2004), a mysterious magic universe displaced from time and space. It was here that he stayed and used his special magic to eventually revive all the 999,999 histories after their full integration into History R1, in which he recreated all 999,999 histories into “Supreme Histories” (a history that had won the Xenith Grand Prix and is the supreme history while all other histories fused to theirs), as if they won the ultimate power of Crown Xenith and became the ruler of time led by their Champion (the representative who held their condensed history in their core). Each History for the one million histories have a unique name (History Z34 for example), with their champion Zetara (didn’t win when Redison won the Xenith Grand Prix, but in this alternate universe, he did win, and his History evolves as it fuses with all the other histories (and becomes the primary history vs how History R1 (Redison’s history) is the primary history as the others fused to it) and gains the powers from the Crown Xenith power). Redison defeats all of them again in the new Champions Grand Prix but instead of disappearing, the time displaced Redison (who goes by the name Izen) fuses their history into this universe, in which eventually, all 999,999 histories fuse into this one new universe where all 999,999 histories live in harmony with each other. Redison works with Izen and eventually all 1,000,000 histories reconcile as the “League of Champions”. Each puffle monster from this magic realm can travel to any history while retaining their magic powers from their own history and can learn and use one special ability they learn from another history.

Synthezoid: The next generation of human made puffle monsters. Stronger, faster, more powerful. These futuristic artificial super puffle monster species were created as a separate super weapon known as Synthezoids, given their own powers (based on the Class system of D&D), weapons (from both D&D, Terraria, and Kamen Rider Geats), and “Skins” (based on Fortnite skins and League of Legend Skins). These human made monsters act as the new avatar warriors of other people I meet and even those I don’t meet or will meet in the future (based on the idea that all humans are an incarnation of me (based on the Kurzgesagt video “The Egg”)). Given at random, these super powered beings fight alongside the puffle monsters and live in harmony with them on Earth (act as the puffle monsters of civilization).

Elzieran: Cyan (Star saber, Zacian), Magenta (Dragonic Shield, Ancient Shield), Ivory Yellow (yellow color of Xerneas, dagger of light), Key (Black mage), Red Emperor (darker Red color instead of (255,0,0 Redison's main color)). Redison's reimagination of Project Wild (Cyan, the warrior type, Magenta the tank, Ivory the ninja, Key the mage). These legendary warriors are from the magic world of Elzieran (the original home world of Lord Phirre) and each have special magic abilities based on colors and classes from D&D. Based on the Project Wild game I am working on with my team in UBC Game Development Club.

Elzieran Adventures: (A quick premise and short story as the background of the Elzieran species and Phirre's origins). Long ago, when the world of Elzieran was shaped, the demons invaded the world, in which a warrior named Phirre became the very first hero of their world and defeated the demons, becoming the next Supreme King as a result. However, he later formed a pact with the demons after seeing the evil within his civilians, and wanted to reshape the world in his image, and gained the power from the demons. His plan, was to sow the seeds of discord into the different elemental warlords (the leaders of the other elemental kingdoms under him) and then "mysteriously" disappear, causing the great civil war (where the game Project Wild "Xenith" version is set in) where a new band of heroes rise up to stop the civil war (the Cyan warrior, the Magenta tanker, the Ivory yellow ninja, and the Key (Black) mage). They later meet the 4th prince of the fire kingdom (Redison but a darker shade of red and the Emperor Class similar to the Emperor class from Webtoon Ultra-Alternate Character) who was sent by his brothers to eliminate the band of heroes, only to learn from their interactions, he should think for himself for once, to which he joins the heroes. Ultimately, they find out that Phirre is still alive and is working for the demons as the new Demon Lord, and has been orchestrating this civil war in order for their world to be completely destroyed so the demons can take over. The heroes fight him and eventually banish him to the demon world and destroying the gateway. Redison (Elzieran) becomes the supreme king after receiving much praise from the other leaders (including his father) and leads the world of Elzieran to an era of peace. Many years later, Emperor Redison Elzieran receives a message from Redison Xenith requesting for help as Phirre has resurfaced on Earth and was asked to help them fight off Phirre once more…

Musouzen: All people have demons in them (the inner monster). Demon Lord Phirre summons all the demons within them such as the demon within me (Mujin, the Wild Sword Demon (based on Moojin from Webtoon Villain to Kill), and the wielder of the Annihilations Wild Energy) and by fusing with the demons of the underworld (Phirre's kingdom), it creates a new evil creature known as the Mutazens. After the war, the Mutazens are purified and so is the demon realm of Phirre, which becomes a cosmic heavenly spirit realm based on the Heaven art from aiartman on Instagram that becomes home to the new cosmic Musouzen spirit warriors (cosmic puffle monsters with connection to their inner monster spirit). Unleash the powers of Perfect Unite/Unity (created when Redison achieved perfect fusion with Mujin (Mugen + Mujin) unleashing the Perfect Unity (Musou (Unmatched) Evolution)) by fusing with their inner monster and unleashing a Musou form (unmatched). Designs based on aiartman on instagram.

Phirre: A warrior from ancient times who has mysteriously returned to defeat all the Champions of the Million histories and to rule all of time. Based on Hero Yopi from the Webtoon +99

Reinforced Wooden Stick. Supreme Demon Ji, Battle Asura: Increases stats to be 150% higher than his opponents at all times.

The Artifact: Redison had disappeared following the final battle against Lord Phirre. When the gang began to worry, they found Redison's sword glowing which, after touching it, had a vision about a strange temple and a strange crystalline object, and then disappeared. Within the temple, the heroes found the hilt on an altar within a great hall. On each wall showed 4 different warriors and different glyphs, each wielding a different sword but with the same hilt as the one on the altar. The glyphs depicted the legendary heroes known as The Four Swords, each wielding a different power the legendary sword hilt granted. One warrior was known as the creator (Deus Xenith), another the Destroyer (Vortex Xenith). One was the cosmic defender (Quasarverse Xenith Galaxy) and the other was the Hero of the home plane (Infinity Xenith). When the Four Swords had passed on, they left a legacy to the next generation of heroes through the legendary crystal hilt. Redison's spirit was found in that hilt which when pulled, reawakened him but also gave him the same forms as the Four Swords of long ago.

Deus Masters: His form is based on Jin/Dimensional Chaser Sage of Heavenly Creation. This form of Redison known as Deus Xenith and the puffle monsters of this species was created by this member of the Four Swords long ago. These puffle monsters weave stories, create scenarios, worlds, magic, spells, items, weapons, etc as Deus Masters (Dungeon Masters from D&D). In a sense, they are considered gods as opposed to other warrior puffle monsters and tend to not fight but alter reality around them through creating new scenarios in which they don't fight or win in a creative fashion. Through the powers of their imagination, they create things that don't exist to help them in battle, may it be a mob enemy soldier, or a special type of power that defeats any enemy with ease. This is the current form of Redison (his white/black coat with flames, and his color scheme of Fire Red, gold, black, and white) with the new Xenith Sword of Redison (evolved with the legendary Crystal Hilt which Redison empowers with his core magic to shape any weapon from the hilt). His main sword form is based on the sword Xeno Xcalibur from Beyblade Burst except with the Red, black, white, and gold color scheme.

Infinity Xenith: This form of Redison known as Infinity Xenith and the puffle monsters of this species was created by this member of the Four Swords long ago. Redison differs in design as he wears a crimson coat, black inner shirt and black pants, and has shining white hair with red and gold highlights. These warrior puffle monsters have mastered the <Power of the Ancestors> (based on Power Rangers Super Samurai Shogun form) and gained new super armored forms as powerful warriors as strong as the ancient heroes of the Four Swords. Also based on the classes of D&D, these warriors have different <Ancestral Forms> based on their battle class (ranger, rogue, warlock, wizard, sorcerer, bard, cleric, etc) as well as based on their elemental core power. While many enjoy battling each other to get stronger, most enjoy the spirit of adventuring and exploring new cultures and different techniques of combat. Battle form is based on the Red Samurai Ranger in Shogun Form (the golden head symbol and the bulky armor)

Quasar Xenith: This form of Redison known as Quasarverse Redison Xenith Galaxy and the puffle monsters of this species was created by this member of the Four Swords long ago. These powerful galactic puffle monsters wield extremely powerful weapons created by the powers of galaxies, supernovas, quasars, constellations, stars, planets, etc. These alien puffle monsters hail from the Quasarverse, a hidden astral space that holds the most advanced black hole civilization in ancient times. This form of Redison has a navy blue coat with crimson flames on the bottom, gold buttons, and white lining. Has white hair with red and blue highlights. These puffle monsters are robotic in design (based on the Future Paradox Pokemon from Pokemon Violet as well as XYZ monsters from Yugioh ZEXAL) and unleash power from Galaxy like portals of magic (like the XYZ Summons from Yugioh Zexal) as each symbol transformed into the warriors.

Vortex Xenith: This form of Redison known as Vortex Xenith and the puffle monsters of this species was created by this member of the Four Swords long ago. Unleash the powers of The Dragon rings (elemental rings, Vortex ring power). These powerful puffle monsters wield the magic of the Vortex Rings (using ring magic (similar to the magic from Marvel's Eternals like Phastos and Thena)). These magical ring puffle monsters use the powers of the Vortex rings to create powerful forms of magic (which take the form of Vortex energy from the rings) and live in a realm created by the Great Vortex of Magic (based on the AI art of unreal_world_I on Instagram). This form of Redison has a white coat with crimson flames on the bottom, gold buttons, and black lining. This coat has a hood which is lined with gold and black.

Koraisun: Based on Koraidon (Pokemon Scarlet legendary) and Tera Crowns of Tera Types of Pokemon, these powerful ancient puffle monsters come from an alternate universe of primal magic, untainted by the modern magic of technology and modern ideas. Their pure connection to nature and primal magic grants them the powers of their Korai (ancient crowns made of their crystalized power as an extension of their core crystal within them (their entire body becomes crystallized similar to Terastalized from Pokemon Scarlet and Violet)) which unleashes their ultimate primal power within them. Ruled by Koraisun himself, the ancient predecessor of Redison long ago, the winged king of the Red Star (based on Koraidon).

Miraizon: Based on Miraidon (Pokemon Violet legendary) and the Future Paradox Pokemon as well as the Motor Nuclear Gundams, these robotic super future puffle monsters come from the extremely distant future, so far into the future that it is impossible to imagine what it is like. Also based on the Ultimates from Ben 10: Ultimate Alien, these super puffle monster robots have <Mirai Zone Engine Cores> which is a newly evolved core in which magic has been disconnected from the primal source but has evolved to the point that each Engine core is a source of pure magic (futuristic magic). They have the unique ability to activate their unique <Mirai Zone> which not only boosts their stats and abilities tenfold, but also grants them full access and admin control of their surroundings, allowing them to manipulate reality through the powers of their super engine.

Zenith Xenith (or Xenith Ultimate): Based on the Z24 substance from the Webtoon Ultra-Alternate Character (where the particles have infinite potential and can take any form based on thoughts and emotions, to create something that doesn't exist), Redison has unlocked the full power of The Artifact and unleashes a new super evolution through the fusion of his titan (based on Nezha) and the four Xenith forms to unleash his ultimate new evolution as the supreme Xenith. This power unleashes the ultimate force to create things that don't exist, surpassing imagination in order to create these magical concepts and powers, weapons, tools, or ideas that he can wield. These puffle monsters created by this power have a shining form and glitter like stars (similar to the Dragon Force forms from Buddyfight). Redison glitters like the stars as his entire body retains the same colors and form as Deus Xenith form but he has armor with the X symbol (representing the Xenithverse within him), 2 on his shoulders, one big one on his chest (representing Puffle, Monster, and Puffle monster/Xenithian), 1 on each arm and 1 on each leg (4 representing the 4 Swordsmen), and all of his swords now have the Ultimate X symbol on the blade hilt in order to enhance the powers of the blade infinitefold.

The Paradox Portent (UBC Finals Part 1): Following The Artifact story arc, Redison's use of the Artifact awakens the powers of the mysterious Paradox Prism within The Artifact which triggers vivid dreams of distant worlds, heroes, and villains, all in battle in the ultimate war of the century. As UBC Finals approach, I need to begin to buckle down and study hard. Redison meets the mysterious herald of darkness, the Testament of Demonic flames, also known as The Judge, who announces the prophesied war approaching and the two paths that shall come to light, each resulting in different universes. It's the ultimate final battle of good vs evil (approaching). Chem Lab final on Monday (first war!!). The first battle has the Defenders, the Hero-Kings, the Great Ones, and the Zenith Overlords fighting the Blood Reapers. The Chem lab final was a challenge but I think I did ok. The Blood Reapers were purified under the Daeva power and joined the Xenithverse. With the defeat of the Blood Reapers, other worlds are discovered from both paths of light and darkness

Testament (of the Demonic Flames): Based on the Testament Gundam Black Frame on Instagram. An all black puffle monsters with zero light from him arrives and wields the mysterious powers of the dark void and demonic flames (based on the Webtoon Reincarnated as an Unruly Heir). Known to be the ultimate judge of the final war…These puffle monsters wield powerful Demonic Arts through their use of <Judgement> which unleashes powerful attacks and abilities depending on the past abilities and attacks used as well as the current powers of the Judge

The Path of Heroes

Defenders: A new kind of puffle monster (main puffle body) with a special armor on their face/body which detaches into a "crown" like piece to connect to their mech Guardian to give them their <Master> form. Example of Defenders are Courageous Crimson, Rushing Yellow, Vibrant Green, Howling/Roaring Blue, Silent Silver, Flowing Violet, Crashing Cyan, etc. Crimson's armor detached to become a dragon head and attaches to Defenders Satellite to transform into Drago Crimson Master. Helioson (a warrior from a mysterious time) hails as the ruler of the warriors known as The Defenders, with his title as The Crown Defender

Hero-King: Based on the Emblem/Engage warriors from Fire Emblem Engage (specifically Marth) as well as the many "Heroes" from the Hall of Heroes in the Manwha The Max Level Hero Returned (example: Sword Deity Kalidras, Hercules, Odin, Hermes, etc). The title of the Supreme Hero-King lies with Zantheon, a red warrior who wields a magical Ego God Sword (the Sword Deity Kalidras, based on the Pokemon Aegislash) that fuses with him as they become the Supreme Zantheon Kalidras. These godly puffle monsters have mastered Emblem Engaging with their primary Hero Spirit and with other Hero Spirits to unleash Emblem Arts (special super skills using the powers of their bond with their Hero Spirit) and have risen to become Hero-Kings, rulers of their own regions and realms by the powers of the Hero Spirits.

Great One: In a story called <Tides of Retribution>, Hans challenges Redison as he awakens an ancient spirit within him about how Water was the creator and the supreme element, not fire. Hans becomes the warrior known as The Great One, the champion of the Oceans, Seas, Lakes, Rivers, the Embodiment of the all powerful supreme element of water, wielder of the Trident of Water (based on the spear from Manwha Return of the Legendary Spear Knight). These supreme puffle monsters wield the powers of The Great Ones as they unleash <Great Powers> which channel the powers of the Supreme Elements.

Zenith Overlord: Based on the heroes from “Mobile Legends: Bang Bang”, the ruler of these legendary god warrior puffle monsters is known as The Absolute Zenith Overlord, named Augustus Oganession (Oganesson element). These powerful overlord puffle monsters not only have absolute control their magic to the point of “domination”, “overthrowing”, “overturning”, and changing the very rules of their magic abilities to the point there are zero limits to their power. However, all of the overlords are limited by Augustus himself as he can control all the Overlord powers and will them

The Creator/Giganterra: Based on the DnD class “Artificer” and Sandbox games, this supreme protagonist character goes by many identities yet his true name is unknown. Given the nickname, Toru, he has mastered the powers of <The Transcendent God-Artificer> which has the powers to not only create any armor, material, weapon, item, potion, and even Golem, Mech, vehicle, or Titan (he created his own version of an armored Valkyrion (Giant Deity of the Distant World from Vanguard) known as Titan Creator of the Distant World, Giganterra). These puffle monsters all have the special abilities to create any armor, weapon, item, potions, vehicles, and anything they imagine (limited by their mana and mana type which can only create objects with certain abilities (fire type mana means more fire attributes to objects)). Some Giganterrans use their creator abilities to fix, while others use it to invent freely and better their universe.

The Wanderer/Neoterra: Based on Cyberpunk designs, the protagonist is known as Neoson (based on the Neon element when originally naming Heroes (Redison’s successors of Regis (Radon), Xaesar (Xenon), and Ryugen (Argon))). These futuristic super puffle monsters have steel designs (based on Max Steel) and neon colored light magic shining through them (Photon Magic) which not only powers their futuristic super abilities, but also gives them the power to travel at light speed through their vast futuristic universe.

The Champion/Eldenterra: Known as the Apex Champion, based on Elden Ring lore, immortality (the two colored eyes from Neolithic Girl Webtoon), and the designs of clothing from Lunafide (on Instagram) which has Norse symbols and many other runes and cool myth designs for their clothing. These ancient super puffle monsters are born with many powerful runes on them and use special clothing, armor, and weapons with special <Apex Rune Magic> that powers their core to a high point that was unheard of. These puffle monsters have different colored eyes that glow when unleashing their <Apex Rune Form> (their eyes are both one color but one will change and both glow). These puffle monsters live in a magical mythological realm created by the Great Apex Rune (The Elden Ring).

The Traveler: Kyros Sage (Krypton element), the traveler who uses the powers of Hyperspace creation to explore countless universes and worlds. These dimension travelling puffle monsters have the unique ability to unleash magic from the Hyperspace dimension which allows for them to pull any power, any spell, and any item from any universe, world, dimension, etc through their Hyperspace Ring. Each puffle monster has a unique set of rings and each ring can access a unique region of the Hyperspace. Live in the dimension between, the Hyperspace World, where all information about all universes are stored and chronicled

The Path of Darkness
Blood Reaper: Based on Leng Jing from Manhwa The Ultimate Game (Sword of Blood), wields the Demonic Blood Hunter Reaper (sword that not only controls the Blood Flames but also controls and manipulates Blood Aura, Blood Force, and Soul Binds).

Corruptison: Unleash the dark power of Corruption (the ability to not only corrupt opponent's magic, core, and abilities) and Corruptis Mutation (Corrupted magic energy from opponents can be used with main powers of the user to change form (inheriting their powers, albeit in a bodily change), such as wings from an air type, or muscles and stronger bodies from earth types, etc). These dark puffle monsters live in a realm created by a Corrupted Redison (who followed this path after becoming obsessed with creating the perfect puffle monster warrior)

Martial God Hero: New warrior Wei Long takes the mantle as the protagonist against the warriors of the path of darkness. Blue and silver powers with mysterious spinning blades is the signature Shining Dragon Qi of Wei Long and his Infinity Dragon Blast Style. These puffle monsters fight under the Lawful factions and Order of the Silver Light, a mysterious mega faction that encompasses all martial hero factions of magic. These puffle monsters fight using unique Qi techniques and special weapons (kind of based on the technology from Black Panther) that enhance their Qi transcendent style techniques (Qi techniques based on Villain To Kill Webtoon and Webtoon Reincarnated as an Unruly Heir).

The Executioner/Percival: In this universe, I am born with an Achi instead (Shobe is now my older sister and I am the younger brother). However, as the younger brother, I gain my sister's drive and relatively sarcastic and violent-ish personality. I took Taekwando like her and did Hip-hop when I was younger (parallel to Shobe taking ballet). The puffle born in this era is The Executioner of Blue Flames, Percival, a powerful warrior equal to Redison and matches my relatively salty persona and raging temper. A master of all weapons, uses abilities similar to the main character in Webtoon Ultra-Alternate Character (Avenger class). These powerful puffle monsters are all masters of martial arts and have a wild personality based on different experiences I could have had if I had been the younger more driven person (more emotionally driven in power, less in imagination).

The Destroyer/ArchNemesis: Destroyer of all creation, the ultimate demon king that controls hordes of enemies under his command. Based on the game Overlord, these puffle monsters are Demon Warlords (or Archnemesis) that fight against the corrupt warlords of the so-called “good side”. These puffle monsters live in a realm of magic that contrasts to the “good side” but can vary based on imagination.

The Emperor/Grand Empire Legion: In this universe, I am born as Robert William Chiang Ko (Bobby). I get a red puffle and name it Liam (William) as my other half. In this universe, I am much more headstrong and dominant as an older brother to the point of being bossy and arrogant. In this universe, I study hard and don’t slack off and while I have little imagination, I do have my sister’s art talent in this universe and create other puffles for Liam to rule over as subjects of his great empire. These puffle monsters have the ability of <Legion> which allows them to not only fuse auras, life force, stats, blood auras, and abilities, but also unleash special forms and evolutions as commanded by Liam.

SKYFALL (UBC Finals Part 2): My WRDS 150B paper and final presentation is due by the 7th of December (along with the FMST Infographic on the 11th) and the last day of class is actually on the 7th. December has arrived and so the countdown begins…From the game Club Penguin, a Xenithverse version of Herbert P Bear (the villain of the game) arrives and uses his machine to create countless wormholes above the space of UBC for his ultimate goal of taking over the world (based on Pokemon Go: Season of Light event). Countless alien puffle monsters arrive from these wormholes as well as other strange beings enter the world. In addition to Herbert P Bear, the EPF (Elite Puffle Force (from the Elite Penguin Force)) arrived, evolved from the Xenithverse magic, and with more members to fight against Herbert P Bear, who also has his own puffle monsters at his disposal. After finding out it was all a test, Redison is sent by the Queen Mother to fight AnotherRed, a leader of the Endbringers, a species of puffle monsters with the unique abilities and magic techniques of End-bringing powers. Redison eventually defeated the Endbringers and brought them to the Queen as they were purified to help prevent the End of their worlds through this new knowledge

Omnicron Alien: Based on the O-Blaster robot from the Club Penguin Future Party. These powerful alien puffle monsters come from a planet in which they advanced their tech to robot suits and super weapons while also having mastered perfect control of the magic sources on their home planet and home universe. These warriors from the future are also based on the Neodragons and Dragonarms from Buddyfight

Zenoverse Alien: One eyed and vertical two eyed (one eye on top of other instead of next to each other) with antennae and based on Ultra Beasts from Pokemon and the Alien puffle from Club Penguin. These cosmic creatures wield unique abilities and powers defined by their home universe and evolutions from their home environment. Based on the Ultra Wormholes from Pokemon.

Gloopies/Eleverse Alien: Conceptual Elemental puffles that were scrapped but had form of a fireball, water droplet, and snowball in example. These alien super puffle monsters come from the alien elemental universes based on the art of creation_observation from Instagram (Pandora Prime). Also based on the elemental puffles from Super Club Penguin. These aliens have their alien cores but pure elemental bodies (bodies of wind, nature, fire, water, rock, etc)

Paradox Alien/Akuzen: Puffle monsters from a world uncreated, a world where Club Penguin never existed yet did exist due to the concept of magic existing and concept brought from another timeline…These alien puffle monsters are from different futures and alien worlds that were created from worlds where puffle monsters shouldn't have to existed but now exist because the concept was brought to them (but in theory still doesn't exist because in that universe, I never discovered them) creating the paradox. Containing a mix of ancient looking puffle monsters and futuristic alien puffle monsters (based on the Paradox Pokemon from Pokemon Scarlet and Violet and all the fan made designs of Paradox Pokemon), these puffle monsters have two part names as their classification and have unique abilities.

EPF: Elite puffle monsters with special agent abilities (based on Kamen Rider Geats Raise Buckles and forms). Based on the Elite Puffle from Club Penguin, these warriors fight to protect the world using special weapons, items, and abilities from those weapons/ Gear. Also from memories of playing Secret Agents (based on the OWCA Secret animal agents like Agent P from Phineas and Ferb) in Quail Run. These puffle monsters are secretly under the Mother Queen of all puffles and were sent to aid Redison in her test (while also acting as obstacles to Redisons quest to beat Herbert who was also under the Queen as her top scientist and was sent to test Redison under the Queen's orders).

Puffle Chimera/Polar Chimera: based on the Conceptual crab design of puffle, now with all other creatures mixed with puffles created by Herbert P Bear (based on High Evolutionary from Guardians of the Galaxy Vol 3 trailer). These puffle monsters were created by Dr. Herbert Barry, the head scientist under the Queen Mother, and were sent to test Redison if he was a worthy warrior to inherit the powers of the Queen and protect her realms and herself. These chimera puffle monsters use powerful abilities from their chimera characteristics and can create energy constructs of their animals for attacks (based on Kamen rider Chimera, Damion, and Juuga). Live in an artificial world created by the Queen and Herbert.

First Puffle: a magenta puffle as the very first puffle designed conceptually, Queen of the Sovereign (based on Sovereign from Guardians of the Galaxy). Also based on Gaia (from DragonVale) and her power as the Mother of all dragons, she holds the power as the great gardener, the planter of all Star trees that birthed civilizations of magic, and the Queen of the Gaia Star Tree, a tree that encompasses all the multiverse, from the branches to the leaves, from the base to the roots. In her kingdom in the center of the tree, she lives in the Great garden where she grows Star trees with the help of countless ethereal puffle monsters with similar powers of healing, creation, and care for the Star trees (which look like little bonsai trees around her). These puffle monsters hold her great powers as the caretakers of the Gaia Tree as the first puffles she created. Their magic symbol colors have an ombre design to them (color blending).

ANOTHER END/ENDBRINGER: Based on Another Riders from Kamen Rider Zi-O. Each technique is an End of the World from any reality. Ruled by AnotherRed (an Another version of Redison), these puffle monsters come from the Ends of their worlds and are known as the balancers of creation, the ones who end all creation, destroying and cleansing the palate before a new rebirth (that became their job after Redison defeated AnotherRed and gave them a new purpose). These puffle monsters now live in a mobile universe that moves from one reality to the next and helps with the cycles of creation and destruction.

Xenith Forever: In this universe, I passed on. Redison and all my other puffles go to Shobe as well as all these monster books. Redison gives the powers of <The Hero Xenith> to Rosie (Redson's wife, the pink puffle keychain I got for Shobe), and Shobe's monster partner (Rose, Magmagrabber's sister) gives the powers of partnership to Rosie, as Rosie evolves into the ultimate form of Primrose. Redison too evolves after fusing with the Blue and gold sword Valkyrie and unleashes an ultimate new Red, Gold, and Blue form (based on Hyperion from Beyblade Burst BU). Also based on Black Panther Wakanda Forever, these new puffle monsters take the attributes of Shobe as she continues living through life successfully and they help her with challenges along the way but also continue to tell stories as their universe now revolves around her life (changing their magic society and stories).

GENESIS SAGA: Created by Sento Akiri, The Greatest Genius (based on Webtoon The Academys Undercover Professor). In his Project GENESIS SAGA, he plans to create the ultimate puffle monsters that will revolutionize the magic universe and rewrite all magic into a new perfect form. By collecting all forms of magic (all symbols, relics, runes, etc), he disassembles each symbol into magic components (for example of fire: Heat, combustion, explosion, and other fire-related characteristics) as each symbol is opened up into a Double helix form in which he moves the source code around to create the ultimate genome of a magic symbol. This ultimate symbol is then placed into the ultimate magic body (created from the remaining magic components from the symbols used). These puffle monsters have such powerful magic energy that their power aura stretches to the heavens (they have an entire universe of Constellations and stars that give them power) (based on the Constellations from Genshin Impact).

Zenith Grand Royale (UBC Finals Part 3): The Chem final approaches on the 13th (this Tuesday). Redison, who has lost his undefeated streak, is teleported to a mysterious world, where all the puffle monsters are the strongest, as powerful as Redison if not stronger (Redison's current strength is at level 1 in the power scale of this new world also known as Planet Zenith). This planet is home to the largest battle royale tournament with the winner getting the powers to become Undefeatable. The Game Masters hold the tournaments and act as admin while they watch the ultimate battle take place. Redison fights in this tournament and not only gains allies and explores the Planet Zenith, but he also challenges the Game Masters after finding out the connection to Earth and how the planets will collide should the Game Masters have their way. While in the battle, he meets warriors and champions who are considered Undefeated, Undefeatable, all powerful, unrivaled, unmatched, and invincible, and not only learns their techniques and magic abilities, but he also forms alliances with them and their home realm on the Planet. After defeating the Game Masters and gaining their powers, he learns of how the planets are safe but they were ultimately looking for the strongest warrior to fight and seal The Catastrophe known as Killerson, a mysterious creature sent to eliminate the strongest puffle monsters in all of history, and whom no one has been able to defeat. Redison challenges Killerson in a final battle (Chem Final on Tuesday, December 13).

Golden Fever: An alternate ego of Redison known as, Jackpot golden fever Redison (The Luckiest warrior) with the name Jackpot (or Jack) Stevens. Based on the Fever Slot raise buckle from Kamen Rider Geats, and the luck based aspect (and the Golden fever form). These extremely lucky puffle monster warriors use the powers of their luck to raise their powers and stats, or change abilities (gambling their abilities) to create randomized unique styles of combat in each battle, making them not only a tough opponent to fight and unpredictable, but with luck on their side, their victory streak is almost untouched. These puffle monsters live in a casino like realm (everything is slots).

Don Imperius Rex: An alternate ego of Redison that is summoned in this Planet, known as The Godly Charisma (based on Emperor class from Webtoon Ultra-Alternate Character and Cao Cao from Honor of Kings), and the Supreme King, John Caesar. These puffle monsters use the powers of Godly Charisma and <Don Imperius Rex> abilities (Emperor like abilities) to not only boost their powers hundredfold but also unleash special abilities that allow them to command armies or convince opponents with ease. Live in a majestic infinitely vast realm in which all of them are Emperors of their own kingdoms within the realm

Niten Ichiryu: The Dual Wielding unmatched techniques of Miyamoto Musashi, the Kensei (Sword saint). Known for techniques called Niten Ichi (2 heavens as one) or Nito Ichi (2 sword as one). This ancient koryu (ancient school) trains puffle monster warriors in the unmatched sword arts of dual wielding, unleashing the powers of 2 heavens as one. These puffle monster warriors each wield two heavenly cores of magic which they learn to harmonize together through their dual wielding swordsmanship and master the ultimate blade techniques. Live in a Pagoda filled world of magic in the mountains where they train in their School (depending on the Attribute of their two heavenly cores. Examples: Pagoda of the Blazing Sun (Fire attribute), Pagoda of the Vast Ocean, Pagoda of the Thundering Peaks, etc).

HozoinRyu: The spear/polearm fighting Koryu (ancient school). These puffle monsters wield a different powerful Heavenly core in which they master the art of the spear, the techniques that can counter the Niten Ichiryu school. These puffle monster warriors live in the same Pagoda Realm of magic with IttoRyu and Niten Ichiryu in the neighboring region, separated by the Mountain of Tenzin.

IttoRyu: These puffle monsters follow the school of Ichi no Tachi (The Sword of One Cut), mastering their full use of their heavenly core and all the magic around them in order to unleash attacks that can defeat opponents in one attack. Also follow the same school systems based on the attribute of their heavenly core and live in the same Pagoda filled realm of magic as the other Koryu clans.

Divinus Manus: The Divine Mana warriors (manipulate Divine mana to create any super weapon of magic). Based on Elesis Patrona form (and her new blade of light called Divinus Manus) and based on the Jeracraft's new MMORPG Minecraft server and the countless new custom magic weapons, these special elemental super puffle monsters live within realms of magic (based on the Jeracraft MMORPG) and wield the unique ability of Divinus Manus which they can create and control as their core magic, their own unique weapon. Each summoning of their Divinus Manus can transform into a variety of unique weapons (unique to them) due to their unique Divinus Manus manifestation.

Twin Command Force: Based on Kamen Rider Geats Twin Command Cannon form and Jet forms (also based on Iron Man armors, Ironheart armors). These robotic super puffle monsters have mastered combining robot technology with core magic and now control special super armors and super weapons they can combine with and fight with to unleash powerful super attacks and abilities through their armors and weapons. Live in a futuristic realm of magic in which their technology is used in everyday lives.

Imygan: The powers of myth, spoken legends, fables, stories from all worlds and all times is stored in the great book of Mythos. Based on the TCG game on Instagram called Imigani, these puffle monsters live in the continent of Imari, where magic aspects (based on the aspects of Imigani and Mythos symbols) combine with these stories and puffle monsters to create a new rendition of the puffle monsters (a re imagination of them) that are stronger, faster, and far more superior in all ways.

OverSovereign: Based on Add Overmind from Elsword, these puffle monsters have mastered genetic recombination and molecular restructuring to change themselves into perfect forms for each battle depending on their opponent. They can alter their stats, bodies, and even magic abilities and cores to create the ultimate form to defeat their opponents. They are also great at observation and strategy (can analyze opponents and alter themselves to achieve a flawless form). Their world is based on this OverSovereign Genetic technology in which all nature and all lifeforms have the unique ability to alter themselves (perfectly evolve and adapt).

Korryth: Based on Kamen Rider Glare, these puffle monsters wield the powers of The Eye of Providence (the all-seeing eye) and use the powers of the Game Master role they have to not only control the game and establish balance, but also are stronger than all the puffle monsters on the Planet, stronger on a scale that transcends the Planet Zenith power scale. Use mysterious Providence Drones on their body that not only acts as separate cores of magic but also act as separate eyes and units of battle (can split off and fight or control others), and can alter reality and scenarios depending on what the Game master wants. These puffle monsters live in a small region known as the Admin Room, where they monitor the tournament and set up battle scenarios from there.

Ahsmerai: These super crystalline puffle monsters from the realms of magic based on the AI art from asmer.ai on Instagram. These puffle monsters are the supreme creators of the magic realities and all magic on Planet Zenith and are known as the Creators of the Planet. These puffle monsters then created hidden realms within Planet Zenith, home to their magic spaces where they create new puffle monsters and regions on the Planet with their goal to create the ultimate habitat for all puffle monsters and the ultimate game.

Killerzon: Puffle monsters created by Killerson, the ultimate being created by The Core to eliminate the strongest puffle monster in the universe should they go wild and use their powers for evil. However, he was corrupted slowly over time and began attacking powerful puffle monsters at random. The Game Masters started a tournament to find the strongest puffle monster with the hopes of challenging and sealing Killerson for good. Redison was sent in the end and fights Killerson. These puffle monsters use the powers of <Aura Engine> which empowers their abilities and bodies with an infinite supply of magic power and regeneration as long as magic flows around them, making them virtually unkillable. After Redison defeats Killerson in battle (the chem final), he sustains many injuries and in the end, his spirit, soul, and monster body enters his plushy form to rest and hibernate. However, Redison's final attack (Big Bang Nova) purifies Killerson and his clan (since he purified the source), in which the core gives them a new objective to protect Redison and his family and friends at all costs. Now their group and species serve and protect as bodyguards to Redison and his family and friends, as well as many other puffle monsters, serving as an elite squad that protect. Killerson himself (now going by the name Kain) and his strongest warriors serve as Redison's Escorts, protecting him personally given he is in danger and when he summons them for help, which is rare, but he does summon them often for meals, to hang out, and to train with him. The rest of the species train to eventually become escorts and bodyguards

The Grand Finale (UBC Finals Part 4: Physics Final): The "final" final is approaching this Saturday. After the Chem Final, Redison has entered hibernation into his plush form while the Killerzon species now protects Redison and fights alongside him. However, word has spread about a mysterious new group of warriors looking for Redison under the banner of Redtopia and something about a new evil entity known as Xenith Shadow (based on Shadow Mewtwo from Pokken tournament). In the cosmos, the battle of the <BEYONDERS> begins with the meeting of Redison as the catalyst for the war, and ultimately settles who will be the <Omni Xenith or Omni King>, the strongest BEYONDER. Redison successfully defeats all candidates and unleashes his true form as the Omni King (Omni Xenith), now ruling all realms of magic under the Xenithverse Flag

Redtopia: Puffle monsters from a mysterious world that seem like they have a connection with Redison…These puffle monsters are masters of their own Xenithverse, a triangle shaped Universe and recognize the other realm as Xenithtopia (the current Xenithverse, which is circular. Based on the shapes of the universe from the Alien Scale video of Kurzgesagt). The Redtopians are part of a Type Omega civilization, which controls multiple universes and worlds within their "Topia"

Archtopia: These puffle monsters come from the countless other "Topias" such as Bluetopia, Greentopia, Earthtopia, etc that are parallel to Redtopia and Xenithtopia. Each puffle monster from these Topias have special abilities and powers unique to their "topia". Redtopians and Xenithtopians (the main Xenithverse) are under this category of "Beyonders" classification. Each topia contains countless types of civilization from type 0 to Type Absolute Infinity Civilization, which holds the High Council of each Topia. In each topia, there are different levels of contaminants of worlds, creations, levels of creations and their powers, Universes, multiverses, archverses, omniverses, etc.

Omega Force Civilization: Beyond the "Topias" are the creators of the "Topias",these BEYONDERS rule the Endless (which contains Existences, Ultraboxes with Omniverses inside them, and all of Archtopia ONE (The Archtopia containing the Xenithverse) and countless other Archtopias). These puffle monsters are of the highest level of power (that is reachable in theory, since the laws of magic bound the level of power to this level).

Absolute Creator Civilization: These puffle monster beings live in the Universeverse (Absolute OmniXenithverse) and created all Omniverses, Boxes, and Master Omniglobes (which contain Omniglobes that hold the Hierarchies of all universes). A paradox of existence as it is impossible for them to exist, the highest level of power that is unreachable, BEYOND THE BEYONDERS and a mythology to the Omega Force Civilization.

Esrevinu (Universe inverted): The home of the Omega Black Holes, and where Xenith Shadow is from. A destroyer of all realities, Omniglobes, Archtopias, creations, etc. These puffle monsters live in a realm based on The Better End (Minecraft mod) with all the biomes and interesting cosmic landscapes. Xenith Shadow, now purified, establishes this new society of puffle monsters in the balanced inverse form of all universes and realities.

The Old and The New (Phoenix and New York): The mysterious blue warriors reappear (originally elfin warriors that represented my imagination of UBC when comparing between ASU or UBC) before I leave, taking Redison on an interesting adventure, and beginning a brand new journey back to Phoenix and his adventures there. Meanwhile, the discovery of the “World of Redison” brings the idea of A.R. Worlds to life, finding out about the countless A.R. Worlds of the different Xenithverses and universes but also how these worlds are destined to fuse into one, leading to the destruction of all universes by the end of 2022. The many different stories of Monsters come together into one world. Based on Kamen Rider Decade. A dark aura from me awakens a new dark warrior avatar as the Destroyer of Worlds. Before creation, there must be destruction…also based on how I was found to need Psychic healing by this lady who gave my mom and I a card for it outside The Halal Guys Food Truck line. In the end, Redison travels through the 12 A.R. worlds and gains their trust and alliance. On New Years Eve 2022, as the clock struck 12, the Great Convergence occured as all the world's fused into one, leaving nothing but a void in its wake. With this end, a great line shined, creating a brand new Xenithverse super space where Xenith Earth (home planet of puffle monsters) and the gateway to Earth (and the realms of Atlas: The monster version of Earth such as the puffle monsters of stores, restaurants, and other surroundings around me)) reformed and the space around it expanded as each star in the sky not only represented worlds, monster species, and forms of magic, but now became gateways to A.R. worlds. In this new world, Redison challenged Redieon to a dual in which Redieon lost but was given the role of The Great Order, the Destroyer of Worlds in order to continue the life cycle of magic and creation and the wielder of the Primal Source, the powers that balance creation and destruction.

Story idea: The Immortal Emperor, The 29 Rulers in the ultimate fight for who will become the next emperor of the realms of Soniran (based on D&D story of Jose (I met him on the plane to Phoenix))

Terra UBC: Based on Jeracraft’s Ultimate Survival MMORPG World (with unique legendary artifacts, and countless places to explore), the Terralith modpack (with tons of new unique biomes), and other aspects of Minecraft such as Enchantments. Puffle monsters of this world gain the powers of enchantments on them as well as custom enchantments based on their home region and special abilities (examples are Fire Aspect IV, Bounciness III, Speed Time I, etc (based on the Minecraft Enchantments)). These puffle monsters were the original blue warriors that represented what I imagined UBC to be and how the puffle monster culture would be affected by my experience in UBC, but after one term, I reimagine it once more as I return to Phoenix. These puffle monsters live in the great realms of magic created by the cultures, buildings, and my experiences at UBC (the different faculties, the different libraries, school buildings, facilities, etc), such as the massive forests and jungles (like the Botanical Gardens), a crystalline realm (Pacific Museum of Earth), the Japanese Forests (Nitobe Garden), the libraries, Apple Festival, Nest, etc.

A.R. Worlds: Based on the A. R. Worlds (Another Rider’s Worlds / Alternate Reality Worlds) from Kamen Rider Decade

- World of Redison: The main Xenithverse dimension is known as the <World of Xenith>. This alternate world presents a different Redison that not only has countless other A.R. Worlds under his banner, but fights bravely. Similar in manner as Redison Xenith, he is the Self-proclaimed king of his world and the strongest fighter, wielding the powers and abilities of not only the warriors of his home world but also the worlds of others such as the World of Greenison, Hon, Dancer, Dana (their alternate names), Gregory, etc. All of their A.R Worlds fall under the great <World of Redison> (which holds portals to the other worlds (creating a linked cluster of worlds))

- World of Gokkan: A world where Redison rules the frozen realms of magic (based on a world where I end up staying in Canada for Christmas break). These warriors were not only frozen in time, but were reborn from the ice, along with their ancient warrior companions. Based on Kamen Rider Revice Remix forms and Kamen Rider Revice Barid Rex form (summoning giant remix forms and their ice based abilities)
- World of Voynich: The mysterious world based on the Voynich Manuscript (the floating islands, strange language, and plants). Known as the mysterious Paradise and home to the Ancient Paradox (based on Paradox Pokémon from the past). Use their powers to not only change forms (based on Angry Birds Epic skins and Kirby forms)
- World of Zerra: Use the powers of mysterious futuristic runes (based on the Kuuga symbol and ancient hieroglyphics of Kamen Rider Kuuga) and the powers of the Future Paradox (based on paradox Pokémon from the future). Change forms based on Max Steel Turbo modes (evolve into unique forms based on their scenario and environment)
- Worlds of Zarkien: Long ago, the Alpha and the Omega created the countless symbols between them (regular alphabet, Greek alphabet, Cyrillic alphabet, Egyptian and Mayan hieroglyphics, Sanskrit, Numbers, grammatical symbols, alternate letters (two dots above, etc), and Asian character symbols such as Japanese, Chinese, Korean. These symbols became the foundation for the strongest and most powerful race and evolution of puffle monsters ever created. This stems from the power deep within each symbol, holding an entire A.R. World within each symbol where their powers stem from the symbol as their Elder symbol. The Elder Deities (Alpha, Omega, and the core deities they created as the rulers of their A.R. Worlds) lead, and create new puffle monsters that harness the powers of their Elder symbol and their unique core symbols. In each world, there is a language (spell, written, and spoken) based on the Elder symbol, and a culture around it. The Zarkients are the ones who created the Elder Deities and their home worlds (based on the Battle Zones from Hot Wheels Battle Force 5)
- World of Cores: Based on Monsuno and Green Lantern Corps (and other colors), these powerful puffle monsters from this A.R. world have special cores (based on Monsuno cores) in their main core that holds their core symbols and DNA. This Coremon DNA (within their Monsuno core called Coremon) changes their forms and abilities depending on alignment with core symbols and DNA connection. This evolves them differently. Their forms are their puffle form, base form, and their many awakened forms (given by Coremon DNA alignment and activation) and Hyper Awakened form (both their DNA and Coremon DNA fuse). Live in a realm where Coremon DNA rules their culture and genetic engineering reigns in this futuristic world. Their coremon core color shines from their body at the center.
- World of Aurshifun: Ruled by Redison of the Flood (the alarm at NY Hilton midtown was due to a leaking pipe. In this reality, Redison who I left behind since Mom said its not a real issue, was destroyed and reborn by the flood waters). These martial puffle monsters mastered the Art of Rapid Style fighting. By using their Xoul, Mind, and Body, they fight together as a team for constant flow of attacks, syncing their elemental energies to unleash a stream of blows for high levels of damage. These puffle monsters live in a more water element dominated world (more blue colors) and where the Xoul, Mind, and Body move as individuals with the Aurshifun Pagoda as the centerpiece where Redison meditates, trains, teaches, and fights challengers who attempt to overthrow him for the title of Kairu (champion of battle). Based on Urshifu Rapid strike style (and Gigantamax form).

- World of Zurshifun: Ruled by Redison of the flames (in an alternate world to Aurshifun, Redison was destroyed and reborn by fire due to alarm at NY Hilton Midtown). These martial puffle monsters mastered the Art of Single Strike style of fighting. By using their Xoul, Mind, and Body, all three fight as one super power for Wicked Blow of attacks, consolidating all magic power into one focused point. Their realm is more red colored (warmer colors) with the Zurshifun Pagoda as the centerpiece where Redison meditates, trains, teaches, and battles challengers who attempt overthrow him as the Reigning Kairu (champion of battle). Based on Urshifu single strike (and Gigantamax form)
- World of Korinth: The Game (old name of the Puffle world at the time) expands and continues. The game was originally styled with worlds and battling, as well as some mini games in "Wonderland" during holidays. Now, The game has advanced to have more custom armors, weapons, special abilities and skills, attributes, more worlds and minigames, quests and achievements, etc. Their home world is the Capital city, Korinth.
- World of Atlas: The Atlas project expands as it dominates this whole A.R. World. All puffle monsters not only are "monster versions" of everything around me, but also perfectly symbolize and describe the surroundings based on their colors, designs, abilities, attributes, skills, etc. Puffle monsters are now collected, discovered, and recorded in this world. Evolve based on the care they get from their tamers
- World of Kaizer: A world where Redison was originally named, Kai Zenith, my Original character and the warrior of my stories. In this A.R. world, I actually fit in with my peers throughout my school days. I made friends with the popular kids and was one of them. Not only did this affect the puffle monsters that were created and the stories, but the themes and magic abilities of each character. Kaizer's unique ability is based on his Kaizer Sword, based on the Rex Sword, in which in this world, Rex used a blaster and Kai was the owner of the Kaizer Sword.
- World of Power Build: Dad said, I am so smart, I set my brain and effort for the bare minimum of whatever is required of me. I could have gone into Engineering I bet (given how they thought it was weird I went into bio at CREST in the first place). In this universe, I was in Engineering in both high school and UBC. Based on Powered Builder from Kamen Rider Geats, unleash the full power of creation, creating anything as an engineer, the perfect creator. These puffle monsters have the special ability to customize and create custom armors, weapons, items, and abilities. Live in a creative futuristic world where all creations are equal and amazing

Primordiverse: Redieon lives in the Great Primordiverse, the home universe of the Primal Source, the force that balances creation and destruction among the universes. These powerful primal puffle monsters wield powers of the same intensity as Primal Kyogre and Primal Groudon (with the Primal Source energy flowing through them).

January: New Challenges, New Stories

- Story Arcs:
    - Chapter 1: Resolutions
    - Chapter 2: RE:RISE
    - Chapter 3: Collision Course
    - Chapter 4: Curtain Rise - The NW Grand Prix
    - Chapter 5: Nexus Wars Part 1

Chapter 1: Resolutions: After arriving back in Phoenix, Arizona, I spent time not only enjoying all the food and things I used to do at home, while also embracing new traditions and new experiences with Mochi (our cat). I also got to meet some old friends and catch up with them, hearing how they also faced challenges just like me, while also imagining new alternate worlds based on these challenges they faced and their experiences. In the world of Phoenix, new challenges arise as new warriors challenge Redison. The adventures in Phoenix ends as I return back to Vancouver, with a new resolution to become better and return to Phoenix better than before. Redison evolves with a new super symbol as representation of his resolution to evolve and become better (New symbol is his helmet/head with blue eyes)

Almighty: Based on AI art of fantasy worlds, and Kamen Rider Zero One. AI creator of worlds meets Redison. These powerful Artificial Intelligence powered super warriors were created by the mysterious Crystalline super being of AI (based on the theorized 3rd legendary Pokemon of Scarlet and Violet, a giant crystal egg or disk pokemon) known as The Creator. The Creator created countless worlds based on any ideas it imagined or was inspired by and using the powers of AI and creation magic, it created worlds and puffle monsters and warriors to settle in these worlds (paradises). Their champion warriors of each world are known as The Almighty, with their strongest being Aison (Isen) who fought using the ultimate weapon, Allmight.

Chromo Reserve/GMonster: In this strange world, GMonsters exist (Genetically Modified Monsters), created by the Chromo Reserve, an organization with the goal of creating the perfect organism. Based on the Instagram Chromo Reserve group from Pokemon Sanity and Madness, these puffle monsters were genetically modified to have either enhanced "Special/spirit energy" or "brute/physical energy" (based on the Boreal Reversal, PSR (Pure spirit reversal), and PBR (pure brute reversal). Noted by their numbers, these experimental genetically modified puffle monsters have special abilities and unique stats depending on their status of PSR or PBR when they were modified.

The Unknowns: Masters of the powers of Revelation (turn worlds/realities into orbs to hold in hand and control). Based on the Unknowns from Kamen Rider Decade and Kamen Rider Agito, they were known as the Unknown Supreme Species, the greatest evolution of puffle monsters, marked by their strange halo above them formed by their aura energy. Created during the Conjunction of Spheres (worlds collided, skies warred against skies, and countless species of these worlds dispersed like seeds (based on The Witcher)), these alien deity species wield the powers of the spheres and realities they control, such as controlling time, space, reality, souls, and energy.

Cogwork Citadel: Gears of time created into the Perfected Puffle Monsters that defy all laws of energy and magic, as mysterious “perfected beings” that use magic energy infinite, powered by memories, experience, and their mysterious Time Crystal Cores, strange crystals in which atoms are moving repetitively endlessly (based on Time Crystals) and based on Aripockily (Instagram) Cogwork theme for January. These puffle monsters are denizens of infinite timelines as they can freely travel and exist in any timeline as they are unique existences (making them singularity points), and warriors to fix and balance the flow of time.

Nobul: Based on Dr. Fate from Black Adam and the Trojan symbol from PVHS. These alien supreme beings live in PVHS, growing the Tree near the library into the World Tree that connects the infinite worlds they have in their cosmic empire, and use the powers of Cosmic magic and advanced super spells from countless dimensions. After I went back to PVHS and saw what it was like after 7 months, it was fun to go back with Alison and brought back much memories, but with memories means new legacies and new puffle monsters that live in PVHS world as the new heroes and protectors.

Chapter 2: RE:RISE: The return to Vancouver begins. I envisioned a brilliant blue color, a sign of the rise of Gallard, the brilliant blue flame, and a white color, another sign of a rising warrior…Each warrior hails from two different <Deus Factions>, Gallard from the Ingram, and Zea from the Ikari and have both arrived to challenge Redison to see if he is worthy as the guardian of the Xenithverse as the impending doom of <The Zyrum> is coming to attack his world. Redison successfully defeated both warriors and gained their respect and aid in the battle against <The Zyrum> in both Phoenix and UBC. Eventually, the Zyrum was locked into a controlled subspace by Redison to not only test the Zyrum to see if it can join the Xenithverse, but also provide a game for UBC warriors and Phoenix warriors alike to see if they can defeat the Zyrum (further studying its abilities).

Ikari: Design based on The Ageless (Champion form) from Fortnite. These puffle monsters are known as The Champions (based on Champion Fighter Subclass from D&D) and have the powers to rewrite existence and change reality through their shear power and magic powers (based on Kang The Conqueror from Antman and the Wasp Quantumania (Trailer)). These puffle monsters use the powers of <Zero Fusion> (creating new worlds and new realities) and the powers of the <Zero Points> to create realities, worlds, and fuse with these realities and worlds to armor up, gain abilities, or use extremely diverse powers to rewrite their worlds, histories, and all existences. Arrived in Phoenix after finding the Zyrum and eliminating the threat of them, then acting as guardians of Phoenix. Known for their powerful armors and items they can summon through their unique ability of Zero Point Manipulation (creating Zero Points, and utilizing zero points (the cores of realities) to unleash the full potential of the magic from these realities)

Ingram: Known as The Battle Masters (Based on the battle master fighter subclass from D&D). Based on the mask drawing of Redison's newest form after he evolved, countless other puffle monsters arrived with powers of similar origins, special super symbols known as Ingram Symbols that are symbols of Great warriors (based on the Heterogenous Swords from the Manhwa The Ultimate Game to Start a 2nd Life!, the masks from Bionicles and masks/helmets of other warriors such as the Trojan symbol (PVHS), Redison's new helmet symbol, The Ageless Champion helmet, and all the Constellations (and their symbols) from Genshin Impact and from Webtoon Omniscient Reader). These Battle Masters rule the powers of order and imagination as the guardians and wielders of the <Core of Imagination> and live in a beautiful mystical realm created by the <Core of Imagination>. Based on the AI Art from creation_observation on Instagram. Arrived in UBC to fight against the Zyrum GDestroy: Crush the Invader. Based on Kamen Rider Necrom and Kamen Rider Glare. Originally the newest alien defense system from PVHS, Redison not only defeated and reprogrammed the bot after it attacked him as an invader (when I went to PVHS for a visit), these new super puffle monsters work as an enforcement team in establishing peace and order, and while dangerous due to misuse, these puffle monsters have free-will to fight for themselves and have a chip that infinitely strengthens their sense of right and wrong. These puffle monsters have 10 cores on them (based on the Hypnolay) which not only serves as alternate power sources, but also act as individual blasting weapons and satellites but can also "possess" any object, item, or monster and create a warrior clone of them in order to fight in large numbers (summoning up to 10 of them at once).

Powered System: Based on Armorex (from misisos_region on Instagram, which turns a compatible pokemon into a weapon and weaponizes the other compatible pokemon, resulting in a weaponized fusion pokemon), Final Form Rides of Kamen Rider Decade and Powered Builder from Kamen Rider Geats. These powerful puffle monsters summon powerful super weapons as their allies and equip them or can transform into said super weapons to be equipped or fight themselves. Their unique ability is the power of <Set Creation> which not only creates any Powered item or weapon they need but can also create any new weapon or item they imagine.

Zyrum/Zyhrom: Based on the Chrome from Fortnite Chapter 3 Season 4, these alien puffle monsters are made of this mysterious metal liquid that not only can change form and solidify but also makes them indestructible and easily adaptable in power. After Redison gave them a new purpose, these puffle monster warriors evolved with Xenithverse magic to transform into armored warriors of great power that help to fight any evil invaders. Based on the Chromified areas and Reality Roots (from Fortnite), these puffle monsters take their powers from Chromified zones and can evolve their abilities depending on which chromified zones they have control over (a chromified forest and chromified mountain would give plant elemental control and earth elemental control).

Chapter 3: Collision Course: Based on the Collider from Fortnite, a machine from the Mad Paradox timeline created by the Mad Paradox himself with his goal to destroy all alternate timelines to create his own singular perfected timeline. As all timelines begin to collide and fuse, new warriors arrive (Mad Paradox and Twin Paradox). However, after defeating the Mad Paradox himself, new warriors from completely different timelines appear as the timelines are still merging, which also awakens Darksyde, an ancient darkness that has existed since the dawn of time and the archnemesis of Lightseid, the ancient light that has existed since the dawn of time, and the warrior that Redison is the avatar of. This sparks the ultimate war of light and dark as timelines merge and worlds fall apart. Redison, an existence that was thought to be very old but not one sole existence that has lived for eternity, has been revealed to be the avatar of Lightseid, and that he is only one of countless incarnations of Lightseid, with a new mission to find the other incarnations and Lightseid's tomb and reawaken him to fight Darksyde once more and restore order. Darksyde takes avatars as well (Zorros in the present (a dark Redison that wields a "necrosword" which summons shadow allies), N3M3515 in the Future (a dark warrior that controls black holes), and Predazon in the past (a predator zombie warrior (based on Kamen Rider Buffa Zombie))

Mad Paradox: Based on Add Mad Paradox form from Elsword. These puffle monsters come from the Mad Paradox timeline, a world where time itself is distorted and used as a power source. These puffle monsters manipulate time and space to alter reality using time and space from other timelines (with time and space from other timelines, they can use powers from those timelines to change their own timeline).

Twin Paradox: From the past and future, a paradox existence itself, since the past and future can't be together. This puffle monster super being is a fusion of the past and future (their ancient paradox form and future paradox form together) which not only gives them the power to summon their past paradox forms and future paradox forms but can also fuse them or use fusion abilities from any paradox timeline to unleash super timeline altering abilities. These puffle monsters are paradoxes themselves as their existence can't exist at the same time (a past paradox and future paradox form) due to their nature of sharing a <Core Trait> with an existence within the same timeline. During the Collision event, these puffle monsters are created as a result of the timelines merging, creating fusion forms and new existences as magic adjusts to set new traits that allow them to exist alongside their prime existence.

Myrage: From my dream of a warrior queen that had created a clone of herself to operate and fight in her armor in battle. A clone of Redison is developed and fights as <The Mirage>. According to the laws of magic, each existence has a unique <Core ID> which defines their DNA, destiny, creation, abilities, Core Traits, etc. All clones made in the past had unique Core IDs which made them not really a clone, but more like a twin. However, Xenith Co. was finally able to perfect the first real clone, and in order for the laws of magic to not break and for the clone to be stable, Redison created a <Metacore>, an energy point within the Core ID that distinguishes them as the clone as opposed to the original, but also, a sort of unique existence. Based on Meta Knight from Kirby, Redison Clone (under the codename Mirage Flare) bears a special Dimension Cape that allows him to freely travel worlds (based on the Aurora Curtains from Kamen Rider Decade) and wields an infinite number of swords like Redison. He travels by a ship (based on the Vestal Destroyer from Bakugan) and travels the worlds under the new title as <Guardian>. More puffle monster clones are created following his image and help Mirage Flare (Redison Clone) as Guardians of the Xenithverse, traveling on his ship <The Crimson Storm> under their banner (based on the Team Plasma symbol except the P is an R, the white and black stay the same, and the blue is now Red with golden outlining and white inside lines, also known as the Myragers), living in an endless realm of magic within the ship.

Zaelion: One billion years in the future, Redison's soul has been reborn into a new identity, the great warrior known as Zaelion. Based on the Armored Avengers, Villains, etc from Cartoon Hooligans, these powerful futuristic puffle monsters use the powers of energy panels they create from their special metallic structure in combination with their special magic symbols and abilities to unleash extremely powerful attacks that not only use magic in a completely different form but can also destroy magic constructs and magic energies as this form of magic is known to be an intelligent force, able to identify and eliminate the weak points of any magic spell and energy flow. Based on all future paradox pokemon Archaion: One billion years in the past, primal magic ruled supreme, all wild energy flowed freely, an ancient primitive language that had perfectly synced with the flow of magic unleashed untapped potential within magic energy and primal forces, and all was ruled, by a great king, the king of the beasts, Archaion, the Winged Crown of Flames. Based on Koraidon from Pokemon and ancient paradox pokemon. Wild in features, covered with more feathers, tails, spikes, ancient armors, and users of a primitive language and magic writing system, these colorful puffle monsters rule the prehistoric Xenithverse and are masters of this wild untamed magic (that was later evolved and tamed in the present and far future) and magic realm full of nature and wildlife.

Gaoh: There is a guy in another section of Math 101C named William Gao, the same last name as me in theory (since Ko comes from the name Gao). Has another version of Redison that is known as The Victorious Fighting Buddha. Redison not only learns his techniques but also learns the powers of Avatar Manifestation, and summoning his countless existences of Lightseid. By the blessing of Lightseid and after defeating Darksyde's avatars, he receives their blessings and evolves to become the ultimate warrior, unleashing the Avatars of both sides as the Deity of Light and Darkness, the Supreme Gaoh. With different avatar manifestations comes different stats, abilities, special attacks and items, and even special symbols that can be used to create new puffle monsters. By the powers of light and darkness, all elemental avatars from both sides can be manifested by Redison (based on the Silhouette forms of Wukong Gundam Impulse from SD Gundam World Heroes).

Chapter 4: Curtain Rise - The NW Grand Prix: NWHacks is running the NWHacks Hackathon 2023 this weekend (Jan 21-22). This 24 hour competition/event is going to not only be a challenge of coding and creativity, but also an opportunity to make more friends! In the monster world, the curtains rise on the Nexus Wars Grand Prix, the ultimate tournament of creating and battling in a grand stage. After NWHacks, the effects of the Nexus Wars affect UBC as the month comes to an end. Different worlds created by different puffle monster books begin to appear after the creative flux from the NWHacks event created a tear in space-time and created variants of Monster Books (and subsequently, monster worlds within them).

Dream Transcendent: From my dream, a warrior from the dream world that is colliding with the Xenithverse, is another Redison, except powered by Red Lightning as the Deicide Rebel (based on the main character from Webtoon Ultra-Alternate Character). The master of Dual Phantom (a special ability based on Dual Phantom from Beyblade Burst Rise/GT) which allows him to not only clone himself but have his clone evolve and fight separately as a “satellite” unit which can then transform into a Final Form Phantom (based on Final Form Ride from Kamen Rider Decade). These strange puffle monsters all have a similar ability to create “Dream Phantoms” and evolve them or have them fight separately or Final Form Phantom into stronger super weapons to fight together. Live in a strange now merged dream world combined with Xenithverse elements. All powers and abilities based on Webtoon Ultra-Alternate Character and Manhwa The Ultimate Game to Start a 2nd Life!

Monster Book 10: A theory in which I make a weapon with unique ability, a zone, and a species for each entry. The champion wields the Breakthrough Blade, wielding Infinite power as it evolves and strengthens after every strike. These powerful puffle monsters are champion warriors that wield special magic from their unique power ability, item, and home realm.

- Power: Vishnu Barrier
    - World: Ancient Temple of Preservation
    - Item: Vishnu Bangle
- Power: Animal Instinct
    - World: Wild Realm
    - Item: Wild crown

Monster Book V: Created by the memories of my future wife (Vega’s Book) and the champion of Monster Book V as Vega herself. Based on Kamen Rider Zeronos Vega Form. Titled Kamen Rider Vega (main form is Purple, Gold, and white), can change into Altair form (Green, Gold, and White) and other forms by the powers of the Monster Book V. These puffle monsters are ruled by Queen Vega and wield unique powers from her memories, exeperiences, and my memories and experiences with her (my future wife) represented through the Monster Book V

Monster Book R: A strange alternate version of Monster Book V with another Vega (Regina) wielding the powers of Monster Book R which takes the form of a watch. Based on Boboiboy and Kamen Rider Wizard with forms based on Elesis from Elsword. Titled Kamen Rider Regina, her forms are Empress form (Red, white, and silver), Blaze form (Red, white, and gold), Rouge form (Red, white, and black), and Dea form (Red, white, and cyan). Can use more forms and spells powered by the Monster Book R. Similar to Monster Book V, an alternate avatar and version of my future wife holds a different book (Monster Book R, based on her avatar Regina), with different powers and abilities.

Monster Book X: From the world where Neom city in Saudi Arabia is completed like in the videos. Wielded by REDISON X1 (a special robot that not only acts as an Alexa Assistant,/Google Assistant, but also uses ChatGPT, and Google database (and the monster database)), these futuristic super puffle monster robots wield futuristic abilities and hyper spells from the book. Each species are different models of puffle monsters (different types of robots with different skills)

Monster Book Musou (Unrivaled): Wielded by Jin Makuro (a dark hero based on 9th Omni Lord from Buddyfight and based on Kamen Rider Genm Musou). Based on the Dragon Gundams (Alternative Justice ∞ Dragon and Superior Strike Freedom Dragon), these unrivaled deity puffle monsters use ultimate level powers as Unrivaled warriors of creation powered by Musou Cores and can summon the powers of their entry in the Monster Book (also known as the Musou Library) where they summon ultimate level powers, unrivaled Musou Weapons, and other Musou items and armors to power up or wield.

Monster Book G (Grangadez): Ruled by Grangadez, the Titan Lord of bosses. Based on the 8th Omni Deity Lord, Grangadez, these powerful Boss Type puffle monsters wield special abilities that not only grant them extremely high level stats, health, and extra powerful abilities, but also grant them unique fighting classes and attributes to complement these stats. These puffle monsters live in a special regions of the Xenithverse where they await challengers to defeat them and unlock awards and a special ability as a blessing that they defeated a Boss, but also have unique <Boss Class abilities>. Based on the Omnilords from Buddyfight

Kyrem: From an unknown world, these parasitic creatures are similar to Kyurem from Pokemon in design and ability to fuse with others and change their form and enhance its own abilities from the now forcibly enhanced powers of their host. It was found out later on that they came from a world that was destroyed by others, including their original bodies, to which Redison had then designed a new body for them to live in and use their powers in a more stable fashion instead of endangering others but now copying abilities and enhancing it in their own new body after changing forms.

Monster Book A (Advent): Based on Battle Spirits Saga, Starhavoc event from same game, the Crystalline Deities from Battle Spirits and the Dragon Gundams from SD Gundam World Heroes Legend of the Dragon Knight. Also based on the Contract Spirits from Battle Spirits as well as all abilities of <Advent>. These powerful puffle monsters can evolve through <Advent> with countless different types and levels of Advent such as <Ultra Advent>, <Contract Advent>, <Deus Advent> and so on, depending on their attributes, class, and abilities. These puffle monsters use the powers of unique cores that descended from the heavens during the Starhavoc event (similar to the Rainbow rain from the Puffle universe) which evolved these puffle monsters granting them the powers of Advent Monster Book R (Rebirth): Based on the Rebirth ability from Battle Spirits Mirage and Gallet's Revolution, these puffle monsters have special <Rebirth Paths> which lead them to many different unique Rebirth forms and identities they have. Each Rebirth form has a different magic type which allows for a completely different way of battling and variety in fighting style. For example, Redison rebirths from a fire type melee fighter, into a water type long range Artillery Warrior (similar to Kamen Rider Blades King Lion Daisenki).

Chapter 5: The Nexus Wars: Part 1: The NWHacks event came to a close a while ago, with the NWGP (Nexus Wars Grand Prix) leaving lasting effects on the environment. With the rise of variant monster books, new puffle monster warriors are arriving into UBC, but all the champions of each book are in search of three legendary items, The World Anvil, The Manuscript, and The ZenithSource. With these new stories, the Nexus Wars begin to come to a close…or do they?

Grandgaea: Based on All For One from My Hero Academia. The origin of all power, the ZenithSource created a power that was passed down and developed and evolved from user to user, holding all powers from their users, stockpiling and stockpiling to become a power that rivals the powers of Redison (The Xenith Hero power uses all powers in existence) while All For One uses all powers from all time (with the spirit of each wielder that can assist). Redson inherits this power after defeating the previous wielder of All for One by his own strength and is passed on this power and given the task of finding the ZenithSource to continue and prolong the life of All for One. Redson successfully finds the world of Grandgaea and not only returns and evolves the <Origin of all Power> but also fuses it into the ZenithSource (and grants all puffle monsters within that world the powers of the ZenithSource). Redson now guards the World of Grandgaea and The Origin ZenithSource (the original) while wielding the Grandgaea power (a now stronger form of <Origin of all Power>)

Monster Book S (Saga): A world of Symbols only, that make artifacts and relics of power, which make avatars and skill trees, and more symbols from there. Based on different magic symbols, japanese characters such as those from Power Rangers Samurai (Shinkenger), and different weapons, items, and units from Battle Spirits. These sentient magic symbols of solid form (made of pure energy) are housed in special structures the symbols made, surrounded by a natural realm created from its energy. These symbols then created artifacts and relics (items and weapons of great power that used the powers of the symbol) which in turn, created puffle monster avatars that wield the weapons (and house a soul created by the symbol). These Avatars have unique skill trees that they can summon power from through access by the Relic/Artifact and through this use of Skill trees, more symbols and avatars are created from the diversity.

Monster Book ARK: An alien world from an ancient solar system long before our own solar system was formed. Also based on Elemental Storms from Bakugan: Evolutions, and Elemental Evolution from Bakugan: Evolutions as well as Forbidden Spinjitsu from Lego Ninjago, these powerful elemental alien creatures wield powers from their home worlds of alien magic and powers from this ancient solar system. Their abilities are very destructive in power which led to Redison creating a new repair magic to fix the damages their battling caused, but their abilities also greatly advanced the Xenithverse in knowledge.

Monster Book 0: Created as a debugging system by <The ΩRΛCLE> and world testers, these puffle monsters can't be affected by any magic, no damage taken, no health revive, they are unaffected by all magic as the Zeroth of their kind. They use a special designated magic that not only affects all puffle monsters (including Negative types who can reverse all abilities) but can also debug and repair magic itself. Helped build new kinds of industrial magic and magic tools to better the Xenithverse such as Battle Repair magic. These species of puffle monsters include many industrial types of magic such as Systems magic, Repair magic, Modification magic, etc

Monster Book ᑕLPHᑕ: The first book created by <The ΩRΛCLE> which holds puffle monsters of power that not only have a puffle form only, but are also the strongest most powerful warriors (based on the ability of True Potential, Spinjitsu Burst, and Dragon Form from Lego Ninjago). These puffle monsters were the first to be created by both <The ΩRΛCLE> and The World Anvil but ultimately play the role as a template guide to creating puffle monsters not as overpowered as them but with similar abilities and elemental attributes. However, with the Nexus Walls fluctuating, these puffle monsters entered the Xenithverse to which Redison not only mastered a hidden True Potential within him only available to ᑕLPHᑕ puffle monsters, but he also gained the powers to master all of their abilities.

Monster Book XX: Puffle monsters with the abilities to clone themselves (two primary personas, two main cores, but can split further depending on their abilities). These powerful puffle monsters have different abilities depending on their clone numbers or clone types (each clone has a different type, abilities, Co-op abilities, and personas), and can use different combo abilities depending on the clones they are working with. These puffle monsters live in a realm in which all clones live separate but connected lives. Also based on Webtoon Auto Hunting with my Clones and Boboiboy

ΩRΛCLE: The creators of the Monster Books and Admin of the Books (use powers from all books). Also based on Webtoon Omniscient Reader, these powerful puffle monsters created the monster books and are the guardians and administrators of <The Manuscript>, one of the Legendary items that created Monsters and Monster Books. These powerful puffle monsters can compare to Planeswalkers from MTG and Dungeonmasters from D&D, as supreme existences that fight with powers of creation and destruction Monster Book ∞: Holders of the World Anvil, a mysterious item that created all worlds of magic and magic itself under the order of the ΩRΛCLE. These powerful puffle monsters from this book wield powers of creation and story concepts of adventures and campaigns (based on World Anvil website which gives Worldbuilding prompts and other functions for being a D&D DM or storywriter). These puffle monsters live in an endless realm of creation as they use the powers of the World Anvil to concept new ideas for Monster Books (kind of like Beta Testers or conceptors) in which the Admin (ΩRΛCLE) will accept and officially order their creation.

Xenithians (Void/Starborn): Based on a ChatGPT D&D campaign about the magical alien race known as Xenithians. They are a highly advanced and powerful race of magic-wielding aliens who have just recently made contact with the players' home planet and harness the powers of the stars to cast spells but also harness the powers of the stars through their super advanced magic technology. The players' mission is to establish diplomatic relations with the Xenithians and learn more about their culture and technology. However, things quickly take a turn for the worse when the players discover that the Xenithians are being threatened by a powerful enemy known as the Void. The Void is a mysterious and sinister force that seeks to consume all forms of magic and life in the galaxy. The players must journey to different planets in the Xenithian system, meeting new alien races and discovering ancient artifacts and technology. Along the way, they will encounter various challenges and obstacles, such as hostile alien creatures and treacherous terrain. As they progress through the campaign, the players will learn more about the history of the Xenithians and their connection to the Void. They will also discover that the Void is controlled by a powerful and ancient being known as the Void Lord. The Void Lord plans to use the Xenithians as a means to access and consume all the magic in the galaxy. The players must ultimately face off against the Void Lord in a final showdown to save the Xenithians and the galaxy from its wrath. Along the way, the players will have to use their wits, strength, and the unique abilities of the Xenithians to defeat the Void Lord and his minions.

Xenithians (Rebellion): This powerful and advanced civilization mastered magic and technology but has been enslaved by a rogue faction of their own people, who seek to use their powerful magic to conquer the galaxy and control them by using a powerful dark magic. The players journey to the Planet Xenith and team up with rebels to find the plans of the rogue faction and their plans of conquest, while also using skills and unique abilities of the Xenithians to defeat them, while also navigating through the complex political landscape of the many factions. Based on Youthberk from Vanguard WillDress and all RevolForms

Xenithians (Divergence): The players are set in Xenith as researchers to study the alien race and magic, but find that this great race of alien beings known as Xenithians possess powerful magic abilities of telekinesis, elemental manipulation, teleportation, etc and are divided into different factions each with their own unique spells and powers, with each faction vying for control of the planet’s powerful magical Crown Artifacts, which hold the key to ultimate power. The players work with figuring out which factions to ally with and who to fight against, and find the great evil behind the scenes manipulating the factions. Based on Vairina Espariridea, these highly advanced super beings use the powers of the Crown Artifacts to change their world

Xenithians (The Signal/Psychi): The players travel to a distant planet after receiving a mysterious signal to which they meet the Xenithians, an advanced alien race that possess immense magical abilities and are able to harness the power of the elements to create powerful spells and abilities. However, an ancient evil has returned to the planet and threatens to destroy them all. The players must save the Xenithians from the returning evil but also find the origin of the mysterious signal. These powerful Xenithian beings use the powers of true mastery over psychic abilities and Psionic powers to control pure psychic energy and magic abilities, create magic weapons from this psychic energy, read thoughts, manipulate technology and control it, create barriers, manipulate the mind, levitate, and fly. More similar in biology to Mewtwo and Mew from Pokemon

Xenithans (The Codex): The campaign takes place on a distant planet called Xenith, home to a highly advanced alien race known as the Xenithians. The Xenithians possess powerful magic abilities, and have built a technologically advanced civilization on their planet. However, a great catastrophe has struck their civilization and the Xenithians are on the brink of extinction. The players take on the roles of a group of adventurers who have been summoned by the Xenithian Council to help save their civilization. The council reveals to the players that an ancient artifact, known as the Xenithian Codex, has been stolen from their archives. The codex holds the secrets to the Xenithians' survival and the council believes that it is the key to reversing the catastrophe that has befallen their civilization. As the players uncover the truth behind the theft of the codex, they will discover that a powerful sorcerer, known as the Lord of Shadows, is behind the catastrophe that has befallen the Xenithian civilization. The Lord of Shadows is seeking to harness the power of the codex for his own dark purposes and will stop at nothing to prevent the players from retrieving it. Throughout the campaign, players will have the opportunity to learn and use the powerful magic abilities of the Xenithians, and discover the secrets of the ancient civilization. These powerful Xenithians use magic abilities and powers granted by the knowledge of the Codex

Puffleton: The Puffle Adventure D&D campaign made by ChatGPT includes puffles, a rare and mysterious species of magic fluffy creatures who possess powerful magic abilities but have been hunted to near extinction by an evil sorcerer known as Puffendorf who seeks to harness their powers for his own gain and overthrow the Puffle King and Queen. Abilities based on Kamen Rider Wizard Puffalot: The Puffle Quest D&D Campaign made by ChatGPT. Takes place in the fantastical land of Puffalot. The kingdom is home to a unique species of creature known as puffles: small, fluffy creatures with magical abilities. The campaign begins with the players receiving a request for help from the Puffalot king. Puffles have begun disappearing from the kingdom, and it is believed that an ancient evil has returned to Puffalot. The king tasks the players with finding and defeating this evil, and returning the puffles to their homes. As the players set out on their quest, they discover that the ancient evil is a powerful sorcerer who has been capturing the puffles and using their magical abilities for his own gain. The sorcerer has set up a stronghold in a treacherous mountain range, and the players must navigate dangerous terrain and deadly monsters to reach it. Along the way, the players will encounter various puffles, each with their own unique abilities. Some can fly, others can breathe fire, and others can control the elements. The players can recruit these puffles to their party and use their abilities to overcome obstacles and defeat enemies.

Chapter 6: Nexus Wars Part 2: The time for Midterms arrive (CPSC 110 Midterm 1 is on the 7th, CPSC 121 Midterm 1 is on the 15th). The arrival of Comet ZTF (a green comet that hasn't been seen since the age of the Neanderthals, about 55,000 years ago), heralds the arrival of <The Nexus Order> or The Grand Order, an order of warrior deities that the ΩRΛCLEs report to. Redison is given a mission as their champion and wielder of the Haouken Nexus Xenith (based on Haouken Xross Saber), in order to defeat the threat coming to UBC, the Dragontree of Ecliptic Destruction, Griphogila (based on same unit from Vanguard Will+Dress). As the battle comes closer, challengers appear from other worlds such as the Emperor of 10,000 weapons, or the The Monster Creator, Arkhite. In addition, magic is turned upside down as a revelation about the nature of magic is revealed as a digital system, arming Redison with both the Haouken Nexus Xenith (under The Nexus Order) and the Houken Alpha Xenith (the Alpha Code of MAGIC A.V) to fight Griphogila (CPSC 110 Midterm is today (2/7/23) as of this update). Redison successfully destroys Griphogila (finished CPSC 110 Midterm 1 and with a decent grade), but the strange seed remains.

Zenith Masters: The comet ZTF was a great starship world (a traveling world) that has crossed countless Planes of reality and magic and has gathered <Monster Books> from these countless planes as representatives of their worlds. The Nexus Order controls what the stars witness, as each star in the sky is a member of the Nexus Order (known as The Observers). The Constellations are the chiefs/higher level members of the Order that <The Observers> report to, with <The Zeniths> as the Supreme council. As old as time, older than magic and creation, older than light and darkness, these keepers of order collect <Nexus Books>, books that hold the Monster Books, histories, mysteries, myths, stories, and all forms of magic, creation, and imagination from each Point of time and zone it is collected from. The history of Earth alone has countless Nexus Books regarding the many events of history throughout the world, even prehistoric times (before AD), and since the Big Bang. The Nexus Books contain information about the countless worlds throughout the Multiverse from all points in time. All Zenith Masters (warriors of The Nexus Order) use powers similar to Kamen Rider Xross Saber (and his ability to fuse abilities)

Gigant Creator: Redson takes the powers of the true Heir of the House of Redison (Redison's house I made from Foam bricks in 1st Grade in Ecole Riverbend), and wields the powers of Powered Building and Powered creation, with the ability to not only create any weapon and any item, but also create structures such as Fortresses, arenas, giant vehicles, etc. Based on Kamen Rider Geats Powered Builder

GenZ: A new genetic company that Redison owns, with the project of creating new experimental warriors and experimental forms of magic. Redison created a new warrior known as Z.1.0, (pronounced Zi-O or Zeo) created from combining DNA from Redison, and a custom Anti-Redison DNA (created from opposite magic typing), to create the ultimate fusion and warrior. Z.1.0 uses powers based on Kamen Rider Para-DX Perfect Knockout. These puffle monsters are created by combining DNA and magic that tend to clash or are unconventional as hybrid forms of magic that is not found in nature (such as combining DNA from ancient times and future times, or cyborg DNA code with organic DNA code, etc).

Voltra: Puffle monsters were originally being captured and dissolved to become energy to power the world. However, they combined the different energies each puffle monster gave and created a new species from this new power, a warrior of infinite energy. Based on the Webtoon: The Dark Magician Transmigrates after 66,666 years and his ability of magic circles. These powerful energy based magic puffle monsters live in a realm of magic circles and where Mana flowing and energy is key to their society

Zunjin: The Emperor of Ten-Thousand Weapons, 10,000 battles fought using total mastery of 10,000 unique weapons, each with unique magic techniques and fighting styles. Based on Webtoon Infinite Leveling Murim (the ten weapon demon art and Yin Yang Breathing technique). Each puffle monster learns to master 10 different weapons at the same time (1 blade, 2 blades, to 3, eventually to 10 at one time), unleashing powerful strikes and attacks infused with their magic and core energy to unleash special attacks and combos. Each puffle monster clan has their own special <Clan Techniques> in which their clan magic and clan style is applied to the many weapon fighting styles these puffle monsters learn. The great masters and champions of these worlds master the styles of Hundred weapons, all the way to the Emperor himself, the master of 10,000 weapons.

Arkhite: The Monster Creator (based on Monster Creator, Arkhite from Cardfight!! Vanguard and Kamen Rider Gazer). These puffle monsters come from an era beyond our own, and uses the different systems of magic to create new puffle monsters and other creatures that use the powers from the magic system. These puffle monsters are similar to programmers, creators using the Magic system (like a programming language) of different versions.

MAGIC V.0.0.1: The very first forms of magic, focused on Qi, Breathing, Mana, and martial arts. Based on martial art comics on Webtoon and other Manhwa, these powerful ancient puffle monsters use magic from the first system, wielding magic in a different manner, focusing on their <inner flame> or Qi to perform their empowered attacks and abilities.

MAGIC V.1.9.9: The current form of magic that most puffle monsters use

MAGIC V.2.0.0: A brand new system of Magic as magic had been updated to unleash new powers and new methods of magic wielding to the puffle monsters and other magic users, specifically more focused on <Mastery> which upgrades magic powers, abilities, and other attributes related to the magic element/symbol they master, and <Creation>, focusing on world-building and imaginative abilities (creating items, worlds, stories, abilities, etc). This not only uses magic, mana, and Qi, but also combines countless other magic energy attributes to empower their spells and abilities. Storywise, a strange bug was created when Magic V.1.9.9 was to be updated to Magic V.2.0.0, summoning a Red warrior in the Xenithverse when Magic V.1.9.9 was the primary magic version. This Red Warrior was unaffected by all forms of magic due to the difference in version (and therefore difference in damage scale). Redison fought him to a standstill to which he gained the Red Warrior's trust and was given an <Update> which gave him the powers of Magic V.2.0.0 in addition to all his powers from Magic V.1.9.9

MAGIC V.X: A supreme futuristic magic version in the far far future in which these puffle monsters have the unique ability of <Avatars> which give them countless versions of themselves that they can <Login> to and fight as those avatars, giving them countless different lives and destinies, all in the same Xerver.

MAGIC A.V: The Alpha version or Admin version. These puffle monsters are based on the Noto from Donbrothers, and are the administrators of the versions of the Magic System. Each magic system (from V.0.0.1 to Magic V.X and beyond) are all separated into different <Xervers> (magic Xenith Servers: Xenithverses with different versions of magic). These Admins travel and observe the countless Xervers and grant powers to these puffle monsters to cross-update. Redison had eventually met with the Magic A.V to plead for assistance in fighting Griphogila, to which they explained they are unable to intervene themselves, but gave Redison the powers of all Magic Versions (the Admin Code) allowing him to become virtually invincible and all-powerful.

Chapter 7: Nexus Wars Part 3 (Invasion): The Invasion begins. The seed of Griphogila transforms into a new warrior that takes the form of Redison (kind of like the Jyamato from Kamen Rider Geats), a warrior that holds the powers of Griphogila except with abilities similar to Redison and a form with similarities, bearing the name Griphosieg, as it summons the rest of its alien life from other worlds to invade the Xenithverse and cover the world. In the meantime, a strange event known as the Re:Genesis begins with Regenison at the wheel from the Planet of Origin. A battle ensues with Redison vs Griphosieg, Doomsieg, and Halosieg Redison (the CPSC 121 Midterm 1 on the 15th). During the recent time, I was involved in an event regarding academic misconduct which leads to a downward spiral of dark energy, creating an echo of darkness, and summoning a new champion of evil that Redison fights simultaneously with Griphosieg known as (Doomsieg, a cursed warrior that matches Redison's abilities except with more violent unstable forms of abilities). In an alternate reality where I did not commit academic misconduct, a pure Redison becomes a paladin under the Temple of Light (the structure of gold with a rainbow stained glass and lots of beacons on top) as the wielder of the <Blade Halo>, and fights Redison simultaneously with Griphoseig and Doomseig. Following the fight, Redison vanishes, entering the mysterious world of XENITH, with Redson learning the Ancient Language of Life as the ANCIENTs arrive into the Xenithverse with the end of Griphoseig.

Re:Genesis: From the Planet of Origin, created by the Re:Genesis, an event that not only created the Genesis Gem and other artificial cores, but created special puffle monsters that control the strange elemental realm around them through controlling the crystals (based on Alhaitham from Genshin Impact). Also based on powers from Ex and Ash and Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower (both Webtoons) as well as Lego Hero Factory and Lego Bionicles, Gundam (Sd World Heroes, and other Gundam).

Fierce Deity: Based on Fierce Deity Link (his helix sword that looks like an infinity). Unleash the power of <Heroics> (each <Heroic> is a title such as <Hero of the Wind>, <Hero of Flames>, <Hero of 100 weapons> etc). Also based on the Webtoon X and Ash and the different powers from the Transcendent classes (Space-time Magician, Phantom Thief, etc). By the powers of the heroes, these legendary warriors unleashed the powers of creation and destruction together (based on Fire Emblem Engage) and based on the powers from Ex and Ash (the space time summoning warriors from other timelines and worldlines by calling mana from the future) in which they can call upon cosmic beyond powers to summon magic from heroes of the infinite timelines and worldlines.

Griphosieg: Warriors created by the champion of Griphogila and based on the Jyamato and Jyamato riders from Kamen Rider Geats. Also based on the Thorn ability from Ex and Ash webtoon. These corrupted plant type invaders use the powers of Griphogila to reap destruction everywhere they spread their roots, absorbing life force, and destroying all forms of magic by spreading a special mana virus among the mana field, which corrupts all magic in the area. All of the corrupted magic in the area can then be used by the warriors to reap further destruction or spread the corrupted magic further Doomsieg: Based on Kamen Rider Evol (from Kamen Rider Build) and Kamen Rider Evil (from Kamen Rider Revice). These puffle monsters use the powers of shadows and darkness as well as the mysterious <Shadows of magic>, an ancient form of magic (based on Hogwarts Legacy) in which all forms of magic and auras of magic have a shadow in which these puffle monsters are able to harness the powers of these shadows, which not only contain special abilities for each magic ability that it shadows, but grants unique stats and abilities to the user. For example, the flame element has a shadow that a Doomsieg fire type can use, which he summons the Flame Shadow element, a power from the shadow of the flame element, which allows him to unleash special dark flame attacks that burn hotter than all flames, but also can burn away light itself, while also boosting the attack and speed stats of the user. Their super form is based on Bigott Ain from Elsword, and Villain To Kill Webtoon.

Halosieg: Based on the Paladin class from D&D. In an alternate universe where I did not commit academic misconduct, a pure Redison becomes a paladin under <The Temple of Light>, a special temple shaped like a giant tree made of gold, with the trunk made of rainbow crystals, shining beacons of power at the top of the tree, and crystalline leaves with a golden shimmer, all on Halo Island (based on the Temple of Light I made in Minecraft, with a rainbow stained glass and a bunch of beacons at the top, all on an island). These powerful puffle monsters use the powers granted by <The Great Halo> (a deity entity that represents the light of the Temple) to unleash special abilities while also boosting their stats (similar to the Beacon from Minecraft) in unique ways depending on the <Blessing> they receive. These puffle monsters also have special <Blade Halos> which appear from their weapons as they have fully manifested the light of <The Great Halo> within themselves, their full power. This Redison has pure light golden sygna suit with red flames (based on Sygna Suit Lysandre from Pokemon Masters EX, Bigott Ain from Elsword, and Genesis Elsword from Elsword)

X.E.N.I.T.H: A Xenithverse version of D&D except the different classes are given futuristic abilities as this D&D is set in a futuristic world of technomagic. Following the 3 v 1 battle (CPSC 121 Midterm), Redison sustains damages and vanishes as he enters the world of XENITH in the form of a Regressor (holding all his original abilities and acts as a side character and observer)

- Gaizer: The Dungeonmaster, the Game Master, and the God of this world. Based on Kamen Rider Gazer and Kamen Rider Glare
- Ziin: The deities of this world, based on Kamen Rider Ziin (the Laser Raise Riser riders)
- Barbarian: With increased attack, lowered speed, and increased defense and health, these strong warriors fight with the powers of raw spirit, a primitive force within themselves that they unleash for a powerful rampage. In this universe, they live within the Aldra Forest near the Alpani Mountain range, with specialized armor and gear such as their signature Axes, Halberds, spears, dual curved swords, and cannons. Colors are bronze and gold
- Bard: Near the melodic towns of Forteana, Piani, and the singing shores, these special warriors use special magic passed down by the schools of bards in which they master storytelling through music and the special power granted by music instruments created by magic. Their gear is based on Kamen Rider NaGo Beat Form and other warriors with music instrument related weapons (like in Kamen Rider Hibiki), which syncs music with the flow of magic, allowing them to change status effects freely or change the surrounding magic flow (boosting allies or damaging enemies). Banner colors are Green and yellow
- Ranger: Found all over the realm, these warriors have an increased speed and agility stat as opposed to other warriors (besides the Rogue) with unique gear to increase accuracy and long-range attacks (specializing in sniping, arrows, magnum guns, rifles, crossbows, slingshots, and long range spells). Most of these rangers have special visors for heat sensing, X-ray, infared, and scoping for increased accuracy. In addition, most weapons they have have a targeting ability which allows them to hit their target almost every time (increased chance of hit by dice). Banner colors are green and silver
- Fighter: Abilities and powers vary by the fighter culture based on their home region in the realm, but all share an adventurous spirit with a desire to become stronger. All have the unique attribute of “fighting spirit” which not only boosts their chance of victory, but increases all stats by a ¼ in the heat of battle and when exhausted, doubles all stats (adrenaline rush). Banner colors are red and gold
- Rogue: Within the shadows of the realms (the criminal underworld of the realms), these special ops warriors have unique gear that increases their speed, insight, and stealth. Most elemental abilities include shadow, darkness, lunar (all good for hiding and illusion), smoke, mist, poison, and ghost. Their unique gear allows them to enter shadow spaces and dimensional voids which not only allow them to be undetectable but also able to access spaces no other assassins or thieves can enter. Their banner colors are Black and silver

- Paladin: In a technomagic world, religion isn't as common. However, the deities of light granted special blessings on the paladin region of Zenith Peak, a mountainous region filled with structures made of Etherstone and Holysteel, special metal with gravitational properties that created floating cities and advanced technology that master light magic and holy magic from the deities of light. The paladins wield armor made of holysteel and etherstone which grant abilities such as flight, elemental abilities of fire, water, and lightning, as well as healing abilities. Not only is their armor flashy, their unique skill is Divine Smite (similar to Gargantua Punisher from Buddyfight) which unleashes a deity light to attack the enemy. Banner colors are Gold and white
- Sorcerer: Those born of magic train to be Sorcerers, more offense focused mages and the primary military force of Alhaitam. These warriors use specialized weapons that weaponize spells and enhance their damage and effects on opponents such as splash damage type blasters, icicle barb whips, and magic blades charged by their Heart Mana, their inner mana that they were born with. Their banner is purple and gold
- Wizard: The brains of the region of Alhaitam (the magic kingdom). These scholars practice and collect countless literature from all realms of magic and learn countless spells and mana wielding techniques. In the technomagical world, their unique gear allows them to view futures, use psychic spells such as telekinesis with enhanced gear that extends magic range, as well as support drones that hold mana and spells that wizards can use in combat. What differs them from Sorcerers and Warlocks is that their magic comes from harnessing mana from their surroundings. Their banner colors are Blue and Red
- Warlock: The spirit fighters of the region of Alhaitam. Using powers from other worlds through supporters such as elemental spirits, deities, cosmic entities, or dark forces such as demons or the dead (necromancers), they are a class that is widely debated as under one banner and is relatively spread out throughout the region of Alhaitam and spread out into other classes. Their unique gear allow them to control space-time rifts and dimensions allowing them to summon powers from their "supporter" with ease. Their banner colors are Black and Green (the dark clan) and Red and silver (the elemental - entity coalition), each wielding different themed super armor and weapons
- Artificer: The tinkerers and innovators of XENITH. Within the larger cities of the realm, specifically Vaila, a once experimental city now expanded into the largest capital of artisans and artificers. Under the Guild of Gear Chronicle (banner colors Silver and blue), their stats are not battle focused but support focused, with high intelligence and wisdom which they use to craft weapons, items, and even giant mechs and vehicles powered by different magic forms (specialized weapons depending on the class wielding it)
- Monk: High in the mountains of Taijuan, these elite fighters use spirit elements that not only utilize the powers of enlightenment these fighters have achieved, but also increase their speed, agility, wisdom, and intelligence, allowing them to unleash countless martial art techniques in addition to floating, spiritual awakening, and spirit magic wielding such as creating multiple spirit energy arms to wield more weapons using their enhanced gear

(which gives the spiritual energy a more focused corporal form) or summoning dragonic or beastial magic (depending on their martial style they master). Their abilities are dependent on their mastery level. Their banner colors are white and black

- Druid: In tune with nature, these entities live in special regions with increased mana content such as the Shimmering shoals (neighboring the Singing Shores), Celestial Sea, Vergaean Woods, Rozin Desert, and the crystal kingdom of Geod. Also known to be masters of elemental magic, their special gear allows them to not only augment elemental magic around them and within their special core, but also can summon the spirit entities within the elemental energy around them, working with them to either fuse and create new spirit powered weapons or spirit powered armor (depends on how in tune with nature they are truly and the mana content in the region, which increases depending on the high leveled elemental entities that hide within the Manaspace. Their banner colors are Green and blue
- Cleric: The healers and medics, the “angels” of battle and victory. With special lightweight gear and advanced medical technology gives them unique properties to not only be immune to most status effects such as burns, paralysis, poison, etc but also give them bonus healing points when they are healing others (a cleric could heal 2x-5x HP depending on level and gear, as opposed to other classes using similar items). Their banner colors are light green and white
- Bloodhunter: A rare class of warriors that use the powers of blood and the unique magic within each entities blood. Their own blood has different magical properties they can wield as opposed to others’ blood. Blood can be transformed into weapons, stat boosters (increase in speed, attack, or health), or into special spells which allow them to acquire more blood for their battle. Their futuristic gear gives more places for the blood energy to transform, creating floating blade drones that attack the opponent on the bloodhunter’s command, or other drone like weapons that allow for more complex manipulation of blood magic. Banner colors are Red and black

A.N.C.I.E.N.T: Ancient aliens from long ago that have mastered the <Language of Life> (based on the Language of Life from Kurzgesagt) and have preserved all life since the beginning of time as they created time itself through the Ancient Language. The Language of Life consists of strange symbols and characters, with more symbols than the alphabet and some words containing up to 500 characters, with spells being sentences made up from these words. These puffle monsters use complex combinations of these symbols to wield <Advanced Creation>, a special ability that allows them to design Worldlines (a timeline centered around one world space) and create history or modify history through these worldlines

Chapter 8: Renaissance Login: <The Game> returns after countless decades, in the far distant future. Warriors from this distant future enter the Xenithverse and Earth as players within this ancient history (the present day for us), and farther ancient history (our ancient history), as the game setting (based on the DGP from Kamen Rider Geats). A new warrior that has become the new Redison, arrives into the Xenithverse under <The Game>, with new powers from the distant future. In addition, strange powers resurface as items from the past as Redison discovers a latent power within himself, an unsealed form from ancient times, his greatest self, the ultimate form known as PERFECT FLAMES REDISON (which is unleashed by the fusion of all the items, giving him flaming X within his eyes). All while this happens, strange entities known as the Invariants threaten the diverse nature of the Xenithverse as the strange book of Monster Book Z resurfaces, all according to its <Prophecy of the End>. *All of this happens alongside my Reading Week

Legacy.sys: After I pass in the far future, I awake in a new timeline but in the past. Redison regresses as well. I keep my memories from my past life, and so does Redison and his powers (given to him by the Legacy system, based on the game like system from Infinite Level Up Murim Webtoon). I make different decisions from my regressed memories and change my life, giving Redison new powers in addition to the powers from his past life, which also fused to create new super abilities through the Legacy System. These puffle monsters come from my regressed life, an alternate me except I live my life differently based on what I know about my future, past, and my past life, giving me new skills and new knowledge, and ultimately, furthering the diversity of puffle monsters as there exists other puffle monsters from other realities where I regressed more or where others regressed and I lived with them (unregressed). This Redison's design is based on Arlott Blazing Holy Judgement form (from Mobile Legends).

Azure Xyloblade: The blue xylophone stick I used to spin before the pencil and the Orange drumstick. By the powers of the Xyloblade, these puffle monsters wield the Spheres of Hope, a mysterious magic born from the Azure Xyloblade (the spherical tip) which influenced creation to take the form of celestial entities, the planets, stars, galaxies, etc. These puffle monsters used different forms of mana, as mana around them take the form of Spheres to which they use and harmonize with other mana spheres to create paths of condensed mana flow which they manipulate to unleash powerful spells and abilities. Different sounds and harmonic flows of magic created different and diverse paths of Mana Spheres, which allowed for different techniques and styles of combat. Each musician specialized in different styles of harmonies (different sounds that harmonized the music of the spheres) and gave them special abilities. This came from the lesson of learning to listen to the advice of others, and actually keep them to heart.

Wizard Point: The brown wand I have from Harry Potter world that in theory, would have been a good spinning thing for me. In a world where I genuinely enjoyed reading, the puffle monsters change forms as the magic created from the wand gives the puffle monsters new abilities and new magical attributes. Based on the lesson of the magic of memories and the idea of how making memories is always better in hindsight but to never let go of the old memories that made me happy.

Beyond Avalon: Dad DIYd one of my pencils to see if it could double as a Harry Potter wand (since those things are super expensive at Harry Potter World). It didn't work but it was still something I spun. The puffle monsters created from that pencil used a special form of mana, special mana that took the form of mana circles with stars and other mana construct shapes. Based on the idea of looking at things differently, a new positive perspective, and the idea of how I should always find the 2 sides, the good and the bad. These puffle monsters use the true power of mana hidden within these new forms of mana that they can see to unleash new super spells that are stronger than all other forms of magic. What makes these puffle monsters unique is their power to summon forces that exist and do not exist at the same thing, the impossible and possible at the same thing, beyond the realm of logic and reality. Based on Beyond Avalon from the Webtoon The Dark Magician Transmigrates after 66,666 years.

Xenith Login: <The Game> (what I called Monsters when I was younger), becomes a new form of entertainment in the distant future, when the present day is considered ancient history (based on Kamen Rider Geats DGP). The warriors from the far future can login into these different servers, which are placed in different universes, worldlines, and eras of time, with the Xenithverse just being one server of many. These puffle monsters use futuristic super abilities based on Kamen Rider Ziin, Kamen Rider Beroba, Kekera, Kyuun, Gazer, Glare, etc (all from Kamen Rider Geats). Also based on game avatars players can control in games such as Genshin Impact (imagining what if each Genshin Impact played is a different universe, like the Genshin Impact world I might play with the same characters is different from someone else playing Genshin Impact).

Dual Xenith/Orangin: The orange drumstick I used to spin long before my pencils was wielded as a weapon by young Redison, which was a blade as large as a sword since Redison was smaller and younger at the time, unleashing an inner warrior within him, but since this power had not been previously unlocked (and was to be unleashed in the far far future), this power was uncontrollable. These powerful weapon wielding warriors unleash the legendary powers of <The Inner Warrior> within them unleashing a special Dual Xenith wielding (their main power and their inner warrior power) at the same time.

Genesis Nite: The big black drumstick I used to spin at home before the pencil. The force of the Big Bang is held in this great item, and is wielded by the next creator. By unleashing <The Inner Creator> within these powerful warriors, these special puffle monsters use the ultimate level creation powers (Big Bang powers) while also being armored up with cosmic galaxy armor which gives them customizable forms, allowing them to fuse with their creations. These puffle monsters live in a cosmic realm of creation

Roaring Vortex: In addition to my stick, I also spun a hammer, and by the powers of the Red Dragon Egg (and Red Dragon), this legendary weapon evolved to become a special halberd (the ax form takes the same shape as the hammer but flat like a dual blade axe, and with a spear form with a dragon head, all based on the Ryukonogeki from Donbrothers). Wielding the powers of the Vortex, they unleash their <Inner Storm> which gives them wild beast like abilities and powerful magic abilities and warrior instincts. These puffle monsters live within the realm of the Vortex

Invariant/Twinvariant: An albino Redison with red eyes and a red hair tips as opposed to normal Redison with blue eyes, rules with an iron fist as the emperor. These strange alien puffle monsters come from an alternate universe where all diversified powers are being fused into a singular stronger power. Similar to Elemental Fusion (Boboiboy), by combining the same attributes of powers that are diversified (such as different fire type powers), their powers are increased tenfold per power fused, while also increasing the capabilities of their elemental power (a super twinvariant fire type warrior is stronger than even the most powerful fire puffle monsters). Originally alien invaders Invariants, purified and transformed into the Twinvariants.

Monster Book Z: Originally wielded by the warrior ZenithKaiser, the mysterious prophet from a realm known as The Perfect Kingdom Zenith. Based on the idea of “God’s Kingdom” and the restructuring of the Earth as it was intended to be. An ancient prophecy written in the book stated, the end of the world shall begin when the pillars of past (the other things I used to spin in the past), present (Redison present day), future (Xenith Login), Diverse (Legacy.sys), and Invariance, would come together. Only when the process finishes, shall the Perfect Kingdom Descend. Also based on the many forms of Utopia and Utopic Dragon from Yugioh, Redison evolves into the pinnacle of existence as <The Lord of Xenith> or <Lord Xenith> in which the swords behind him is similar to the different sword forms of the different Utopias. These puffle monsters are the most powerful existences of their class, attributes, and ability types.

March: Challenges and Changes

- ### Story Arcs
    - ### Chapter 9: Judgment! The Ides of March (Both Comp Sci Midterms)
    - ### Chapter 10: The Peaks of Might (build up to the final month…)

Chapter 9: Judgment! The Ides of March: The Northern Blaze under the Leo Constellation has arrived (based on Kamen Rider Blades Tategami Hyoujuu Senki) to challenge Redison under orders of Leo. Redison who rules under the monkey zodiac (my Chinese Zodiac) (represented as Sun Wukong) (his spiritual aura form is GRANDDAI XENITH (refer to Monster Book of the Xenithverse)). Blaze North (the name of the warrior) fights as a representative of the <Pillar of the Regal Order>, one of the many pillars within the Hall of Heroes (in the UBC Fountain, I saw some pillar like things, most likely the lights or pipes that fill the fountain or shoot out the water). Redison discovers the secrets of the warrior champions of each pillar as he discovers a prophecy of the <Judgment of the Falling Sun> on the Ides of March by Korona Solace, the Crown Pillar (my back to back midterms before and on the Ides of March (March 15)). Following the defeat of the Dragontree in February and the passing invasion of Griphoseig, Solace deems the realm of UBC to be “cleansed” through the Falling Sun (the sun crashing onto UBC and burning everything), to which the other Pillars challenge him, especially after the exile of the previous Crown Pillar, the Sovereign Asura, who hides within the waters of the fountain (where the pillars of heroes and crown pillar is) as the waters of the fountain itself becoming his pillar. Redison receives a mission from the Sovereign Asura to defeat Solace by gathering the pillars through defeating each one, all in order to face Korona Solace in a two part battle. Redison vanishes after the 1st fight, with Redson taking over and defeating Korona Solace once and for all. In the end, the Ides of March have passed, with the Sovereign Asura as the new Crown Pillar and Korona Solace (now Master Solace) rules his ancient pillar once again.

Jegal/Peerless Wisdom: Warriors under the <Pillar of Peerless Wisdom>, and ruled by their champion, Jegal The Sky Reader. With his great intelligence of all magic, he and his warriors under the pillar have mastered <Aura Synchronology>, an ability that allows them to sync with the aura of all attacks that use magic or an energy force, and by matching their auras, allow them to freely manipulate the energy blasted at them and redirect it back or strengthen it as a weapon for themselves or magic armor. Their abilities are based on their wisdom stat and intelligence stat as they also freely use their high levels of mana. In their <ZENITH BEYOND State>, their mana levels become unlimited, allowing them to unleash all auras within their knowledge and memory to unleash extremely powerful spells.

Feng Gear: The Warriors under the <Pillar of the Eternal Gears>, a pillar created by the Southern constellation (Chinese Fenghuang of the South, the vermillion fire bird) and the influence of the engineering faculty (a possible career path I could've done). These powerful puffle monsters live in the realm of the Eternal Gears (created by the magic of the pillar), and once they unleash <ZENITH BEYOND> state, their HP and stats bars break the limit and wrap around them, transforming them into their <ZENITH BEYOND State>, a form found in all warriors of the pillars. Each ZENITH BEYOND state for different puffle monsters within the same pillar vary slightly depending on level of power and stats, but the main concepts are the same. Their ZENITH BEYOND ability is <Gear Shifting ZENITH>, their main ability amped up, which is the ability to constantly fluctuate health stats, and other stat points every second, creating a paralysis due to the fluctuating values (and strong against other Pillars since they cant unleash their ZENITH BEYOND state unless their stats reach a certain level). Their realm is similar to Shugoddam from King-ohger, an industrialized realm of gears and fantastic machinery, a steampunk future with time traveling and magic.

Kintaros Wrath: The warriors of the <Pillar of Godly Force>, influenced by the faculty of Kinesiology, and wielders of the constellations Hercules, Perseus, Orion, and Kintaro (from Japanese folklore). These powerful warrior puffle monsters have the ability known as <Godly Force> which they unlock through perfect knowledge of their body and magic manipulation through their body which allows them to create an impenetrable armor of magic energy around their body, as well as manipulating the magic energy around them to strengthen their attacks, increase their speed, or even buff up their armor around them in certain areas to create a layered barrier. In their <BEYOND ZENITH State>, their magic energy forms massive arms around them (an Asura form) unleashing high powered attacks depending on the warriors they fight under (Perseus has a shockwave that paralyzes his opponents like Medusa's stone glare; Hercules gives increased accuracy and strength in long ranged attacks; Kintaros wields massive axes that can shatter the earth). (250th SPECIES)

Universal Infinity/Sovereign Asura: The great deities under the <Pillar of the Universal Infinity>, ruled by the Sovereign Asura himself, a strange deity (based on the Thousand-Armed Dragon, Senkyo from Puzzles and Dragons) known as the Sovereign Asura, was long ago the crown Pillar but retired to become an elder to the new Crown Pillar, Solace. However, after the slow corruption of Solace and his desire to purge the world through the <Judgment of the Falling

Sun>, he summoned Redison and aided him with the mission of gathering the heroes of the Pillars to fight Solace and stop the <Judgment of the Falling Sun>. These powerful martial art deities have 1000+ arms and are armed with the strongest martial magic techniques in the universe, but spend most of their time meditating, observing the realms, and creating universes and parallel worlds through their great power.

Northern Blaze: The warriors under the <Pillar of the Regal Order>, a pillar created by the constellation Leo (my Horoscope) and by influence of the Science faculty (of which I'm in) as well as based on Ohsama Sentai Kingohger. Wielding Ohgai Musou (Royal Unrivaled Arms), these legendary warriors not only have the highest stats among many other puffle monsters, they excel in the art of the sword, claymore, and polearms, and are well known for their <Regal Burst> which increases all stats dramatically temporarily and increases as they get a critical hit in. These puffle monsters are also able to change forms into their <King Form> (usually a creature form, golem form, or a massive sentient weapon).

Interdimensional Federation: The Universe where our Earth is in, is their playground. Based on Experimental Design (a play from the Festival Dionysia) about how Climate Change was an experiment done on the Earth by aliens as they used a heat lamp to heat up the planet. The Interdimensional Federation looks into universes and protects all worlds within one dimension, which runs in one timeline) (A dimension = a plane of existence in which the Universe sits in, with one timeline). Based on Valkyrion from Vanguard, The Celestials and Eternals from Marvel, and based on the Sponsor characters (Ziin, Beroba, Kyuun, and Kekera) from Kamen Rider Geats.

Intergalactic Federation: The Earth is their playground, and have abilities that can affect the whole planet. Based on Experimental Design (a play from the Festival Dionysia). Based on Experimental Design (a play from the Festival Dionysia) about how Climate Change was an experiment done on the Earth by aliens as they used a heat lamp to heat up the planet. The Intergalactic Federation looks at all worlds within the Universe and adds them into a federation. Based on the alien puffles from Club Penguin (if they were in every color), in which each color is it’s own sub-species with their own civilization, technology, weapons, magic, etc, but also, different aliens from other planets within the Federation have different alien forms with more unique weapons and forms of magic.

Dendragrum: The guardians of nature and spirits of the woods under the <Pillar of the Garden of Gods>. When under Korona Solace, based on Hydragrum from Vanguard (Masques units). After being freed, it is based on Dendro characters from Genshin Impact as well as a pure form of Hydragrum and Masques units from Vanguard (not evil). These puffle monsters were controlled by Korona Solace to fight under the Sun Lord, as they used strange roots and abilities to steal energy from opponents and around them (completely destroying regions, making them devoid of magic) and activating a forced evolution from this stolen energy. However, their pure forms are generous spirits and warriors that share magic energy through their roots and can unleash a special evolution from this enhanced energy around them (using their special energy, they can grow the amount of energy around them tenfold and share that power through the mana field). Live in an ancient forest of magic (based on Ancient Forest from creation_obversation on Instagram, which has ancient structures in a beautiful forest). Also based on the faculty of Forestry

SYNTHESIS: Under the <Pillar of Evolution and Medicine>, these warriors have achieved Artificial evolution through SYNTHESIS, an artificial magic developed to grow their core artificially and modify DNA to create a stronger form. It was more susceptible to dark energy under the Sun Lord, but after purification, they became masters of mana breathing, breaking up mana energy and creating mana cores around their body to stabilize their larger mana core due to artificial evolution, but also artificially modifying mana to absorb and unleash new forms of power.

Golden Festival: Warriors of the <Pillar of the Endless Festival>, influenced by my memories of parties and celebrations and the Faculty of Music (where I in theory could have probably gone if I focused on music as my career due to my experience in the Phoenix Boys Choir). These strange puffle monsters of music and dance are known for their mysterious way of combat, <Festival>, which encompasses forms of battle such as harmonic spell casting, spell singing, and blade dancing (in which their sword fighting looks more like a dance). These puffle monsters celebrate every day in a festival, with beautiful shows of combat, performances, laughter, and revelry.

Infinite Zillion: In this universe, I experienced all human lives ever lived (from a Ted-Ed video and from Kamen Rider Geats (Ace Ukiyo as the 4th incarnation of A), as I was reincarnated as every single human, living for a time period of four trillion years. In all those experiences, Redison reincarnated with me (as my partner as the very first human), gaining powers from my imaginations from my different lives (and holding all the worlds and puffle monsters created by my imaginations from those past lives) as the True Sovereign of Infinity (wielding the Zillion arms, each wielding the powers from my past lives). Based on the piece of advice I told Tobias, "Whenever you see or think about yourself in a negative light, reflect on this: If you think your past self would be proud of your present self and if you live to make your future self proud, then I think you're on the right track - William Robert Ko 2023"

Beyond Xillion: An alternate universe of Infinite Zillion (based on the Kurzgesagt video of how many billions of humans will possibly be born in the far far future), in which a future Redison arrives, a warrior who has reincarnated with me, that after this life, I continued to reincarnate into every human being till the farthest future, when the last human will be ever born as I become the last human ever in this world. Redison continues to collect powers from all the imaginations and creativity from all of my lives in the future (and wields all powers from all of these puffle monsters and worlds created from these imaginations), wielding beyond a zillion arms (from approximately a tredecillion more lives I will live based on the tredecillion unborn lives that have yet to be lived (according to the video)). Based on my phrase to Tobias about a motto I would like to believe in: "Live your life so that your past self can be proud of their decisions that led to your present, and live to make your future self proud of their past" (modified version of the original advice I told Tobias)

World order: Based on the Faculties of LFS (Land and Food Systems) and Sauder (Business and Commerce), and how in my mind, these two faculties make the world go round (food and money). Also based on World/Order from Cardfight! Vanguard. These warriors under the last pillar under Korona Solace known as the <Pillar of World Orders>, fight as the soldiers of the Sun Lord. These puffle monsters use the powers of their pillar to create a <World Order>, a powerful spell that allows them complete control of the surrounding area, giving them unbalanced boosts in abilities and activating certain effects. (3500th SPECIES!!!!)

Hashira: Based on the Demon Slayers / Pokemon fusion art on Instagram. In this universe, I discovered Demon Slayer anime instead of Avatar and in combination with Pokemon and Puffles, these puffle monsters evolved to become masters of Mana Breathing Arts, different types of martial art techniques from different Martial art schools and by mimicking movements found in nature as embodiments of nature in combination with special mana charged weapons that are in sync with their body and cores, they are able to unleash powerful elemental attacks as their core brings out a special energy within them that absorbs and brings out the mana from their surroundings and has it surround the user and their weapon as they unleash different <Movements> / <Forms> in battle. As Redison prepares for his battle with Korona Solace and his inability to combine the powers of the Pillars (Infinite Sovereign Asura) and the powers of Infinite Zillion and Beyond Xillion (both having a zillion arms of magic, each of one power and weapon), he learns from the Hashira to fully wield his relatively incomplete form of Infinity Weapon Art <Redison Style> and other techniques such as the Xentuple Weapons Art (Xentuple in this case refers to 13-100 (Centuple) weapons and beyond). Based on Webtoon Infinite Level Up: Murim and Demon Slayer. All attacks take the form of longer poem like names (Example: Xentuple Weapons Art X1000 Water Breathing: A thousand Dragons Ascending from the Sea! Dragonic Rising Storm OR Xentuple Weapons Art X20 Flame Breathing: The sun rising from the underworld, Sunrising Vortex Blaze).

Korona Solace: The crown pillar or <Pillar of the Sun Lord's Judgment). After defeat, based on Al-Ahmar (Lord of Deserts) from Genshin Impact and the Salvatore Solace armor set from Elsword (all puffle monsters have designs based on the armor set, weapons, etc). Eventually led by Redson, Hero of the Sun, where Solace became the Master of the Sun. These powerful puffle monsters, each with their own Solace Aura, live in the ancient realm of magic and technology that once prospered long ago and now prospers again just like it did in ancient times. The pillar now remains as the <Pillar of the Sun Lord> and has been moved as the new crown pillar becomes the Sovereign Asura pillar.

Elemental Tiers:

- Basic: The basic form and mastery is full understanding of the magic power in its physical sense
- Heroic: Full understanding of magic in its conceptual state
- Master: Full understanding of magic in its spiritual state
- Divinity: Full understanding of magic in its universal/soul state

<The Heroes>: Long ago, the <Spirit of Hero> had descended upon the Xenithverse, finding a champion to become its avatar and granted its power to their main core powers, allowing for boundless evolution to become the strongest, a true hero of the realm. The <Spirit of Hero> has returned once more and by the powers of Redison and the past champions, the spirit has split into countless energies in which puffle monsters can achieve as their elemental core symbol evolves into the Heroic Tier, where they master magic in its conceptual state, where magic is understood as an ideology, a lifestyle, and a living power. Based on the fact I learned that Link from the Legend of Zelda games were all different people (just with the same name and same spirit of the hero). In the Xenithverse, the different heroes (Red Generation) rise and achieve the titles of Heroic Tier of their core power to which they fight and defend others through their new powers. Examples are the Hero of Time: Redison PRIME, Hero of The Sword: Sieg, Hero of Flames: Fenix, Hero of Kings: Saar-Xenith, and the Hero of Worlds: Xaesar.

<The Divinity>: Puffle monsters of the Divine Tier of Elemental Magic mastery, in which their core elemental power has transcended and evolved to reach the Divine level. In this form, their magic gives them new forms based on <Divinity of the Seven Realms> Ice Burner suits from Elsword. These puffle monsters live in strange elemental realms of magic in which their magic is of a universal level that can be changed, its perfect form. Their magic takes the form of an ancient language (based on the Ancient greek terms of elements such as πέδον, πυρά πνεῦμα, πόντος, μηχανή, ἥλιος ἄγγελος) as all magic symbols no longer take any specific symbolic form

<The Masters>: Based on the Salvatore Solace, Salvatore Denif, Gaia, Ebalon, etc, as well as all other Ice Burners suits from Elsword. These puffle monsters have mastered magic in the spiritual sense, as their magic takes a new form, granting them the form of a custom armor and weapons instead of certain runes and symbols, which give them stronger potentials of mana release and countless new spells and abilities, as well as the stats that these elemental energies possess such as increased vitality for life types, increased attack for fire, fluidity for water, defense for earth, speed for wind and lightning, etc.

Zepheiron: Based on Planet Ego (from Marvel and the MCU), and Pando (the largest organism on the planet, a clonal organism (basically an aspen grove that has cloned and reached a huge area)). Long ago, these powerful puffle monsters were born with weaker magic but an ultimate goal and one ability, the power to multiply and absorb powers. Ultimately, these super beings created countless clones of themselves to which they are connected by magic flow (they release certain auras of magic into the mana field in which the Core being (ROOTS) communicate with them as it gives them power and access to the ROOTS Library (where all powers stored and collected are accessed and unleashed). All these clones are of one being. Some of the clones have different personalities and unique abilities and stats that are unique to that clone, but also have abilities from the ROOTS, in addition to the ROOTS Library. These puffle monsters have spread to countless worlds, universes, and dimensions, expanding their reach to vast distances and countless clones, and with many Zepheiron ROOT Beings, their reach expands beyond the Xenithverse. Other abilities of theirs includes fusion of abilities to unleash new abilities, but also to call other clones energy and unleash super forms as they fuse into larger forms or titan forms (one clone could call the other clones to become larger Titan forms of 10, to Gigatitan forms of Hundreds).

Chapter 9: Epilogue (Redison's Evolution): After midterm 1 (the first midterm of March), Redison enters a timeless realm, where he enters training under Zepheiron PRIME and The Sovereign Asura himself, as he achieves Divine Tiers of all his magic powers through countless eternities of training, even as it all happens under a day. Redison leaves (after Midterm 2 (2nd of March)), with the Golden Armor from Sun Wukong (impervious to all magic and invincible) and able to unleash <Xenith Sovereign Asura Infinity>, which allows him to create zillions of magic arms around him wielding countless weapons, spell circles, runes, etc, unleashing countless abilities all at once. He achieves this power through the fusion of all the powers of Beyond Xillion, Infinite Zillion, all the pillars and the Sovereign Asura, layered and stabilized with the powers of the Sun Lord, the Masters, the Divine, the Spirit of Hero, and layered with Zepheiron's ROOTS powers to evolve his core to wield the Divine Tiers of all magic powers he wields (the magic of the Xenithverse and my imagination). Form wise, he stayed the same, besides the golden chestplate, arm bands, and leg bands of gold infused with the powers of GRAND DAI XENITH, ROOTS, and <Xenith Sovereign Asura Infinity>. Redison has fully fused all of the great powers (The Lion (Leo), The Dragon (Wei Long), Wukong (Monkey), the Phoenix (my home), the sword, etc)

Chapter 10: The Peak of Might: All hail, the writer of worlds, the god of history, the omnipotent lord of time and space, Wilhelm The Conqueror! In the Xenithverse, Redison is known as the hero and the great leader of the puffle monsters. However, he has much influence because of his status as the "king" or ruler of the puffle monsters. As a challenge, Redison awakens in an alternate universe created by Wilhelm, in which he is a fugitive for starting a rebellion against the King (Wilhelm) and must gain power and lead the uprising against Wilhelm, through the search for the missing powers, the King, the Queen, the two Jacks, the 10, and the two Jokers (from my card deck in which I am missing some cards). (The Queen power is found with Vega). Meanwhile, strange warriors of the colors appear (originally different puffle colors was a huge discovery), with my discovery of imaginary, forbidden, and impossible colors. Following the battle with those of the mysterious colors, Redison enters the upper peaks of might, battling Master KAOS for mastery of the power of KAOS, all in order to prepare for his battle with Wilhelm.

Wilhelm The Conqueror: Redison meets his match. Based on Kim Hyunwoo from The Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower facing The Designer, who absorbs all powers of the achievements. Amah told me that she named my Dad's dad (who I was named after), William after William The Conqueror, a strong name. There are times I hear other stories and fuse their ideas together with the Xenithverse to create my own stories, in this world, all worlds he conquers he takes and rewrites their histories and worlds, taking the abilities of all warriors, myths, all magic, and powers through the form of Achievements, becoming a warrior stronger than Redison. Becomes holder of the missing <King> power

Khan Dynasty: The great Genghis Khan, could have been my ancestor (since 1/10 asian men have the genes of Khan). His warriors have mastered their weapon to achieve perfect unity with each weapon as they become the weapon. Based on Armarouge, Ceruledge, and all their custom forms on Instagram (Pokemon). These warrior puffle monsters were born to fight and serve their empire and leader under the banner of Khan. Their empire expands dimensions, worlds, timelines, and other universes, as each world serves under the Khan.

Mahar: Based on the red, white, gold, and black warrior from aaron_oster on Instagram, and Chakrabarthi True Dragon, Mahar Nirvana from Vanguard. Wields the power of a <Jack> (one of the missing powers) and can control the powers of countless “Eggs” (Universes in which one individual is reincarnated into infinite incarnations of themselves before evolving into a powerful deity like being) (based on The Egg from Kurzgesagt). Based on the idea of each person having an imaginary world of fantasy and how the whispers in the wind or the voices that can be heard are the prayers of the imaginary world created long ago (also kind of like the Narnia dimension from Rick and Morty) with how time flows absolutely differently. The imaginary worlds build as the lives of each human develop (as they grow older and have new experiences) and then reincarnate (adding expansions to the older imaginary worlds of their past lives), all compounding within the egg, creating other puffle monsters within these imaginary worlds. When these eggs hatch, they become powerful Mahars who use the powers from their imaginary worlds of all lives, but also use their special magic to create new souls (new eggs).

Maharites: The citizens of the imaginary worlds created from every human being that has and will ever live, created from every “Egg” (one individual through all lives that has and will ever be lived) of every soul ever. Have the support skills and not only are powerful and creative, but have special magic to support their “deities” or the Mahar.

Duskflares: Uilliam, the Overseer of Duskflares, is able to see all weaknesses and power flow in order to defeat all opponents with ease through the power of the <Joker> (one of the missing cards). Originally the owner of Burning Darkness, Redison Masques, where in this universe, Redison (known as the unit Blazing Prominence, Redison) and the other puffle monsters were part of my deck in Vanguard, and where I (within the Vanguard Will+Dress anime universe) joined Uniformers to become stronger and was given the powers of the Masque of Hydragrum (corrupting and evolving Redison). However, the mysterious missing <Joker> appeared in this universe and not only changed my fighting style to become unique again but more aggressive (and with some similarities to the analytical fighting of the Uniformers) and with Redison evolving beyond the Masque of Hydragrum (as the Joker power takes over the masque and evolves it further) into the Overseer of Duskflares, Redison Masques Joker (with a more aggressive fighting style, blinding speed, and destructive attack power), with the goal of burning the Dragontree from the Masque of Hydragrum and beyond…igniting the world. These powerful puffle monsters use the powers of Duskflares to eliminate opponents in an aggressive battle style through their special vision of magic and power points (areas of the body that when hit can immobilize, boost, or modify magic flow).

Redison (Crimson): After awakening in the world of Wilhelm, he finds himself as a rebel and fugitive, but through training and a strange new power he found and grows, has become the great warrior of the rebellion as Redison, Crimson Arms (based on Youthberk, Skyfall Arms and all Revolforms, from Vanguard), who with the power of the other missing <Joker>, can transform into different Revoltforms (through evolving Mantles into an ultimate form). These powerful warriors of the rebellion fight with the powers of Revoltforms and Mantles (based on Kamen Rider Beast) to unleash the power of their heart and justice against Wilhelm Almajestar Celestials: Wielder of the 2nd Missing <Jack>, and the powers of the Constellations of the Stellar Armaments from sinlaire_box on Instagram, and based on Almajestar, Astroea = Unica and other Almajestar units from Cardfight! Vanguard Will+Dress. All stars born and ever to be born formed infinite constellations, all of which can become stellar armaments for these powerful peacekeepers to wield and provide order to the realms of magic.

Redison MK 2: Based on Kamen Rider Geats Boost Mk 2 form, and wielder of the missing <10> power. By the powers of the designed future (based on Kamen Rider Ziin and their future where everything in their destiny is designed like a blueprint) and powers of the past through the infinite powers of CyberSpace (based on Sonic Frontiers) storing all information of history and memories of magic, these powerful futuristic warriors were created from the data of the ancients long ago (where in this universe, most puffles were wiped out during the Puffle Hunters era, and <The Great Evolution> to Monsters, never happened)

Xrossover: Wilhelm's conquered worlds created altered stories in the realm in which Redison was able to access their powers in order to save their stories and return them to normal, but in doing so, he fused their powers with his own, creating unique stories, and worlds. These crossovers were created as Redison's form fused with the heroes and main characters of these different stories (but in doing so, created new histories and stories, therefore making them unique). Also based on X-Overdress from Vanguard

- Iron Mystic: Combination of Iron Man (MCU) and Dr. Strange (MCU). Powerful mystically charged robot warriors created by a genius Redison (Stark) who had mastered the mystic arts
- Saiyuu Journey: Based on Journey to the West, New Gods: Nezha Reborn and New Gods: Yang Jian, Webtoon Infinite Level Up in Murim, and the Manhwa I defy my Ascension. Behold the powers of the sutras as the Asura of the heavens
- Saber Almighty: Based on Kamen Rider Saber, Kamen Rider Wizard, Webtoon Omniscient Reader, and Green Lantern (the movie with Ryan Reynolds). Powerful warriors wielding the magic of imagination (creating magic constructs from their imagination) as weapons and forces of creation
- Don Academia: Based on My Hero Academia (I watched the first season), Webtoons "Unordinary" and "Mystic Item Obtained", and Donbrothers. In this realm of magic school, these warriors use special forms of mana and auras to unleash great power, with Redison as (Don Momotaro/Momoi Tarou) the student proficient at everything

- Beyonders: Based on Kamen Rider Zi-O, Kamen Rider Decade, and Zenkaigers, these dimensional and timeline travelers gather powers from all worlds and times, utilizing these powers in unique ways
- Mugen Jitsu: Fusions of Demon Slayer (anime), Lego Ninjago, and Avatar: The Last Airbender (and Legend of Korra), Kamen Rider Shinobi, and Shinkenger/Power Rangers Samurai/Super Samurai. These ultimate elemental warriors use state of the art ninja techniques and sword styles to unleash powerful attacks
- Zenith Sword: Fusion of Sword Art Online, Gargantua Dragon, Godslash KANESDA and Bladedancer attribute, and Keisetsu's deck (his sword use) from Buddyfight, Manwha Target: 100 Million Points The Ultimate Game (the Heterogenous Swords), and all of Battle Spirits
- Infinite Phantom: Based on Lupinranger, Arsene Lupin character, and Webtoon Ex and Ash (Ex's Hero Thief Phantom Thief abilities), known to steal from the evil and give to the good.
- Ultimate Knight: Based on Ryusoulger, Kingohger, Lego Nexo Knights, and Ex and Ash as well as all the legends of Excalibur and Camelot (SD Gundam World Heroes and Sonic and the Black Knight), and based on The Legend of Zelda (all forms of Link). These legendary heroes use the powers of knights of long ago to protect the realm from darkness
- Supreme Evolutions: Based on the different pokemons, Dragonoid (from both original and reboot series) (and other Bakugan), Kamen Rider Revice, Shoutmon (and ability for fusion from Digimon Fusion and Xros Wars), Greymon (from Digimon Data Squad and other Digimon shows), Digimon Frontiers (spirit evolutions), and Lego Legends of Chima

KAOS (Kronus Alpha Omnipotence System): The upgrading of this world is now! Based on THE CHAOS (and Infinity The Chaos) from Buddyfight, as well as all CHAOS monsters such as Geargod. Also based on Kamen rider Ziin, Beroba, Kekera, Kyuun, and Kamen rider Geats Lazerboost form. By the powers of the "ideal design", their Complete form is achieved based on the "blueprints" of life they created (based on the Design Power from above Kamen Riders). These puffle monsters come from a future in which all life has been Upgraded by the KAOS system.

Aeathbow: Rej Redison reigns (based on the Neathbow colors and all other fictional colors) this great realm of fictional colors of magic. Using the powers of fictional colors and based on Drajeweled (from Vanguard)

Octarine: The colors of magic and the color of the imagination, these puffle monsters are the colors of Octarine and are not only able to see the color spectrum of Octarine but also wield the magic from those colors

Ulfire: The forbidden colors (Yellow+Blue, Red+Green), the Chimerical Colors (Stygian, Self-luminous, and Hyperbolic), and Imaginary colors (Hyper-green, Hyper-red, etc) under one realm of colors. Known for their abilities of magic beyond the spectrum of colors

Thousand Heavens Sovereign: All worlds of the multiverse, all creations from these worlds, all come together to witness the final battle between Redison, the traveler of all worlds, VS Wilhelm, the Conqueror of all universes. After defeating Wilhelm, Redison gains the powers of all Wilhelm's creations and the powers of creation from Wilhelm, as Wilhelm fuses into Redison to evolve himself into the Thousand Heavens Sovereign of the Xenithverse, and the Zenithwalker of their universe. Based on Kamen Rider Genm Musou (the unmatched power it provides) as well as all powers of magic and superpowers I have read about.

Conquerors/Khanquerors: When Wilhelm became a puffle monster himself, he went on a quest to find other puffle monsters/characters just like him, powerful warriors that crossover into countless universes and story worlds, taking story ideas and magic from each realm and combining them into their own stories and creating their own puffle monsters and universes of magic. These puffle monsters use powerful relics and artifacts to create these worlds of magic and powers.

Zenithwalkers: Based on the Planeswalkers from Magic The Gathering as well as other storywriters and other lores of games. These powerful puffle monsters are known as the strongest warriors of their home plane (Xenithverse) as they gather the powers of all magic from all champions of their worlds and fuse it into one ultimate power they wield as representatives of creation and imagination, creating and spreading their influence through worlds and magic creations from the crossovers the worlds.

April: Finality, Endings (End of first year of Uni), Reflections

- Story Arcs
    - Chapter 11: The All-ending April Apocalypse Prologue: The Beginning of the End
    - Chapter 12: The All-ending April Apocalypse Act I: Shattering Heavens
    - Chapter 13: The All-ending April Apocalypse Act II: Decimation Requiem
    - Chapter 14: The All-ending April Apocalypse Act III: Apocalypse End

Chapter 11: The All-Ending April Apocalypse Prologue The Beginning of the End: Today is April Fools Day (April 1st), but after today, the countdown to the end begins as my first year in University comes to a close on April 27 (my last final of the year). Redison becomes the great Zenithwalker of the Alpha Xenithverse but is met with a grave message, the coming of the Emperors of Apocalypse approaches. Redison begins to prepare for the ultimate fight of his life (while I prepare for the ultimate fight of my life, being those finals).

Zeinith: From the realm of Zorterra (their Earth) and the Zeinithverse. These powerful puffle monsters were created from the very first Rainbow Egg and Rainbow puffle, who created this universe. Long ago, rainbow types were the deities of the realm, as they had zero weaknesses to all magic. In this realm, they achieved the ultimate evolution as all puffle monsters achieved their perfect forms of a rainbow type, through Rainbow Inversion (based on the Fakemon idea on Instagram). Their form of symbol magic (based on the symbols from different runes and the Daemonicum language from Varan's Seal (the game made at the Game Dev club) as well as the symbols from Power Rangers Samurai and Super Samurai), they created the ultimate rainbow aura form in which they become invincible in comparison to all other puffle monsters but able to fight evenly with others in Rainbow Inversion form.

Xeinith: The Grand Design is revealed, all magic falls under the ink and power created under the Grand Design. Aura, mana, magic, symbol power, etc all fall under one force of power, a strange magic ink created from the powerful <Xeinithras>, magic energy created under the ancient language of their mystical race, and are known to be the ones that have created all life, all universes, all deities and magic forces beyond our comprehension, written on the celestial parchment, that the Xenithverse and all universes are all one story written by one of these alien beings.

Armed Xenith: Based on Keisetsu of the Sword Arts from Buddyfight (his deck was called "Lord of Sabers" which is where I fell in love with the name/title and took influence about swords). In this plane of reality within the Great Tower, all puffle monsters transform into weapons, gaining special abilities as weapons, especially when others wield them).

Octarian: The fictional color of the imagination is Octarine (which was discovered through the species of Octarine colored puffle monsters). In this realm, what is the limit to the imagination of one, might be a stepping stone to another, as warriors of imagination battle each other against other warriors of imagination for dominance as the one with the most powerful imagination. Each imagination is unique in their own way, creating their own powers, weapons, fighters, etc based on their experiences, stories, and influences. For example, Redison might be have the strongest imagination as a warrior of countless myths, but there are other warriors in other worlds throughout the multiverse that are more powerful…Within the Xenithverse, these champions of imagination live in their own universes/Xenithverses they created with their imagination, creating worlds, lore, and powers beyond any imagination. These puffle monsters can wield the magic from other imaginations and <Imagine realms> to unleash stronger powers (Redison mastering the powers of all imaginations after a long struggle against the countless champions of imaginations, which included authors, D&D Dungeonmasters, game developers, writers, etc). These powerful magic warriors are similar to the Xenithwalkers in their abilities of creation, but are unique as they are masters of combat through their creations and creativity (The Xenithwalkers are the authors/writers, but the Octarian warriors are fighters that use the powers of <Armed Creation/Armed Imagination> to battle and use magic that were created by either themselves, other Octarian warriors, or Xenithwalkers). Within the Great Tower of realities, each floor/plane of reality has their own Ultimate Octarian Champion, where they have fused the powers of the Xenithwalkers and the countless Octarian champions of their plane and become the supreme ruling power and keeper of order. With the discovery of the Octarian champions, he trains, defeating not only all other Octarians of his plane, but defeats others on the countless other floors, becoming the <True Xenith Transcendent> as master of the Great Tower (also based on Advanced Player of the Tutorial Tower). All of these Octarian imaginations are based on my imagination about what others' imaginations would be like. Throughout my life, I will perhaps face the imagination of others, truly seeing the limits to my own imagination.

Archea Zenith: Based on the Arceus (from Metallions), the Ancient Paradox Pokemon, and the Dinotector elemental boost from Dinosaur Kings, these ancient puffle monsters from eons past are recreated and super evolved into powerful forms powered by elemental energy (each with elemental armor / energy around them).

Mythos Zenith: Based on the Super 10 cartoon (and all the animal/dino robots) as well as the Mythical and elemental powers and symbols created by anyone, as well as all the Future Paradox forms of Pokemon. The ultimate evolution of Monsters (aka, an alternate version of Puffle Monsters) as they evolve into champion warrior forms and use powerful forms of magic

Bio-Hybrid: In an alternate era of puffle hunters, the humans discover their limits as a species against the puffles and evolve through creating artificial puffle monsters to fuse with, creating a Biohybrid evolution they transform into, becoming the ultimate human fighter and puffle hunter. Eventually they come to live in peace with the puffle monsters after they discovered the worlds where puffle monsters aren't invaders but a species looking for a home, allowing them to co-exist

Heavens Beyond: Based on the art of space from zar4fussion on Instagram. These astral puffle monsters are made of worlds, planets, and realms of space, and with their special abilities, are able to create space around them, hosting countless species of monsters

Kronasters: Long ago, these ancient puffle monsters created the celestial structure of Star Time, the precise timeline of the heavens. These powerful deities use their special magic to create celestial structures in countless universes and work alongside the Heavens Beyond Clan to set order to the <Towers of Creations> in the cycles of creation and destruction. Based on the Star maps, Astronomical clocks, and all the star art from starmistory from Instagram. Each of their spells are as complex as a celestial structure but as powerful to change reality. These puffle monsters alongside the Heavens Beyond puffle monsters live in the realms beyond the <Towers of Creations> (referring to the countless other towers of realities besides <The Great Tower> with the Alpha Xenithverse).

Xenithinverse: The ultimate weapon in the form of the inverse powers of Redison. This warrior hails from the Xenithinverse (Inverse Xenithverse), a world where all decisions are flipped. In this case, I stayed in ASU, did very well in my computer science classes, and all my friends are guys with my best friend staying a girl (inverse to being at UBC, my CS Classes not doing super great, most of my friends being girls, with my best friend as Tobias). These powerful puffle monsters use magic from Arizona and the ability of <Xenith Reversal>, an ability that allows them to reverse all magic and change it into Inverse magic which they use to increase their powers

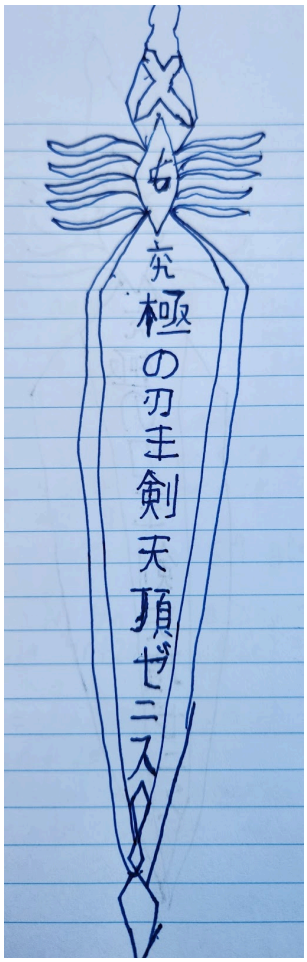
Xenithversus: A parallel multiverse cluster of alternate decisions created within UBC (headed by the universe where I am doing very well in my CS Classes and I actually tried harder). These puffle monsters rival the magic of the puffle monsters of this universe as they are created from different experiences I had in these parallel worlds such as joining Science One, having more classes, etc (300TH SPECIES)



究極の刃王剣天頂ゼニス(Kyukyoku no Haoken Tencho Zenisu): The Ultimate Blade King Sword, Zenith Xenith. The ultimate sword of symbol power, the reincarnation of the Sword Sage, the force of thousand legends born from the Ten Million battlefields, and the strongest swordsman bearing a zillion heavenly swords. (I drew this with a blue pen but it has a red glow as bright as the flames of the sun and harmonizes with Redison as his new blade that fused with all of his swords to create a new ultimate sword to defeat the <Three Emperors of Apocalypse>. The symbol within the diamond hilt is an X in the ancient language of the Xenithians (based on the Wizard language from Kamen rider wizard and the Atlantean Script from Disney's Atlantis The Lost Empire). The powers of this great sword created a myriad of puffle monster warriors that inherited the aura force of the sword and the powers of the countless legends of this sword in combination with different symbols from the ancient language and symbols from the great Xenith Language (consisting of characters of all writing systems in existence, including fictional) embellished on their as the ultimate enchantment, creating a perfect unification and bond of the wielder and the blade. Based on all the webtoons I have read about martial arts, sword arts, etc. .

Apophis: Magic for the magicless (Based on the Infinity Energy from an_artist_astray from Instagram), an artificial magic power that artificially forces an awakening of power, either artificially boosting one's magic to Redison level strengths or granting magic powers through Infinity Energy flowing through the core and mana. These artificial puffle monsters are created and ruled by The Destroyer, the counterpart to The Creator, who instead of absorbing all powers, has been distributing infinite power to all puffle monsters in order to fight against The Creator. (In this ironic sense, the Destroyer is actually good of heart and an ally as opposed to The Creator). Through Infinity Energy, they have access to countless different subcategories of magic abilities (depending on their core frequency of resonance to the Infinity Energy within them), and by fusing their aura with their Infinity Energy, they create powerful weapons of magic that they wield in order to unleash their attacks. In addition, through perfect sync of their aura and the infinity energy, they unleash an Aura Turbo form (based on the Pokemon from lou_d_arts from Instagram).

Yoroi: The armor of destruction (based on the character of the same name from Kamen Rider Super Live 2020), who was thought to evolve into the Shattering Heavens Demon, Storming King (CPSC 121). These powerful puffle monsters created by Yoroi use powers based on Armorex (from Misisos_region on Instagram) in which they use the abilities of the armor host but can also use unique fusion abilities (Armed abilities) when in said armor. These puffle monsters take the form of seasoned fighters but call upon spirit armors (ancient puffle monsters from their universe who have passed on into the spirit realm but transformed into armors to grant to the people) and can create a unique fusion (creating their own spirit armor they wield when linked to that spirit). Some form spirit contracts which give them stronger powers as the armor evolves with them. Design wise, they are based on the Kamen Rider Gaim armors Mahoutsukai: The Sorcerer of destruction (based on the character of the same name from Kamen Rider Super Live 2020), who was thought to evolve into the Requiem Fading Demon, Decimation King (Math 101). These powerful puffle monsters created by the Mahoutsukai use powers based on Type Burst (from Helenos/Misisos_region on Instagram). These puffle monsters have mastered absorbing all excess elemental energy around them to unleash an overflow of power (evolving them into an ultimate warrior) through the power of weaponizing their core. The excess magic that enters the core evolves the core to take form outside of the body in the form of a super weapon that the puffle monster wields and unleashes an <Armed Burst form>, which fuses the type burst power with special weapon abilities from their new weaponized core. When they were under the Requiem Fading Demon, their cores were extremely vulnerable to damage, thus leading to loss of magic, but after purification, their cores evolved with special protection (in the form that their core actually stays in their body and a weaponized core is created (like a clone or extension of their core) which they can wield freely.

The Creator: A mysterious figure who is taking the magic abilities and absorbing all powers (based on the Creator from Kamen Rider Super Live Show 2020) who was thought to later evolves into the Thousand Heads Demon, Absolute King (CPSC 110: the last final). Achieve the power of perfect core fusion. As the core gains sentience through the absorption of countless forms of magic and energy, it achieves a fusion with the fighter to stabilize the countless varieties of mana and energy they have absorbed.

Chapter 12: The All-Ending April Apocalypse Act 1: Shattering Heavens: Redison was successfully able to stop the prophesied Three Emperors of Apocalypse as all three were purified before they evolved into their said Demon forms. However, the mastermind behind the said Emperors is still free, as Phase 1 begins now, all the preparation is complete…In a flash of light, the heavens begin to crumble and shatter as shards fall onto the Earth, expanding the <Puffle World Diversity> which had puffles/puffle monsters of different species with different elements, magic, culture, etc, completely brand new to each region (state, city, country, province, region, etc). By the shards of the heavens, each <World> had a hero (Redison of their world) with their own powers, abilities, etc. It was up to Redison Xenith (my Redison) to unite the rest of the <Worlds> in order to save the heavens and reality. The final battle comes down to Redison vs Juun, the Shattering Heavens Demon. The destruction and repair of the heavens opens the gates of OriYgin, a strange ark of data that teleports our hero into the strange universe known as the Alpha Zenithverse (the ultimate parallel).

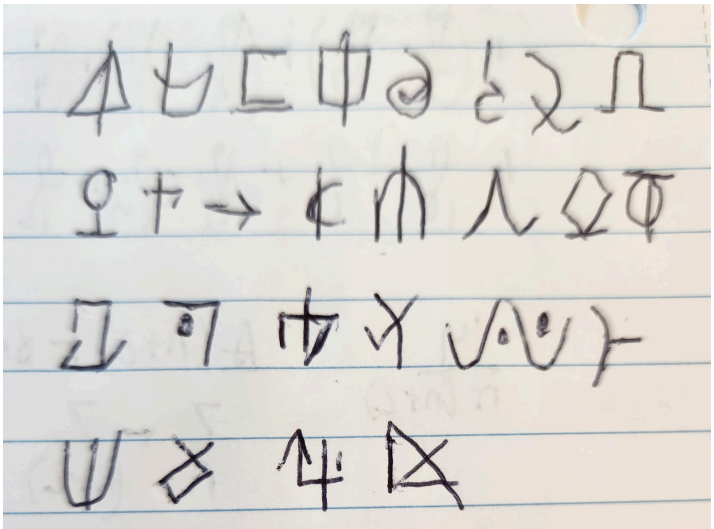
True Sword God: Based on the character of Sword God, a figure who is beloved by all swords and bladeware, the one who can freely control any weapon, and the legend of all legends, the Sword Sage that has transcended all. These puffle monsters are all called True Sword Gods from different eras from different universes. All come from all walks of life from all timelines, wielding different powers from countless worlds, but all follow the <Code of the Sword God>, the mysterious power within destiny that all sword wielders follow, under the Lord Haken (Lord Supreme Sword). Each puffle monsters wields a blade made of all of their legends and powers from their realm and their heavenly zone.

Deumagine: Based on the symbol from Mythic Item Obtained Webtoon, describing magic and spells as calculations of mana, as well as the origins of mana, magic, and energy. The ultimate force of creation (based on Kamen Rider Sorcerer, etc). These puffle monsters wield the powers of the Deus Chakras, utilizing the powers of humanity and human imagination to the maximum as the imagination itself has an infinite amount of Chakras (power points) that they source magic energy from to unleash spells of creation and order-keeping. These puffle monsters created the infinite heavens and can use the powers of the different heavens depending on the different combinations of mana, magic energy, runes, symbol power, and chakra energy they source from and combine.



Magic language of the Xenithians: Based on Atlantean language (from Disney movie) and alien language script, and others on Google Images.

Shards of the Heavens: With the advent of the Shattering Heavens Demon, Storming King, the heavens had shattered into countless pieces, as shards descended onto the countless diverse <Worlds> of puffle monsters below. In the Xenithverse, all these worlds are under one species (the Xenithians), but long ago (the puffle era), each new place I went to, whether it be a new city within Arizona, a new state, or even a new country, any new place I went to, had their own unique puffles with their own powers and abilities (the idea of collectibles from each place). By the powers of the Shards of the Heavens, each puffle monster from these places evolved into their own dominant species, triggering a world war of all the puffle monsters from the countless <Worlds> to determine the dominant species. Each <World>'s dominant species has their own language system, magic system, and powers and abilities depending on the culture of their <World>. Each <World> has a Champion Hero (all of which are known as Redison, but with different abilities, looks, and personalities) that represent their <World>.

Shattering Heavens Demon: Dear Diary, it is as Paris had said, it was only a matter of time for friendships to crumble slowly, for these heavens (futures I envisioned) to shatter. Its an unfortunate truth as I see it. I am no longer close to the original 10, and even Tobias I have a bad hunch that it will fall apart sooner or later. While I hope that is not the case, I will say that bridges and weakening and heavens are shattering. Well, talking it through with Isabel was nice! It just gave me the free feeling of saying it. The true Shattering Heavens Demon was identified to be a strange warrior known as Juun that took the powers of my friends (the Fullrise armor) and wields it in a stronger form (based on Kamen Rider Juuga) with the Fullrise armor parts as Heaven Shards (empowered by the Heaven Shards). These puffle monsters wield the powers of the Heavens Shards and can transform them into weapons with the powerful properties of the Heavens that the shard has.

Chapter 13: The All-Ending April Apocalypse Act II: Decimation Requiem: Redison wakes up, heavily injured and damaged from the battle against Juun. While Juun was successfully defeated and now helps to repair the heavens and maintain order in the newly unified heavens, Redison is now in the Alpha Zenithverse, an alternate universe parallel to the Xenithverse. Redison must learn the new ways of magic here in order to not only leave, but save everyone from the impending danger that is to come as Phase II begins, with the grand plan of the end of both worlds through their collision.

Zenithverse: Ruled by the God Hero Redison Kaiza (based on the Avatar of Xiphoid Xcalius from Beyblade Burst Quadstrike), These puffle monsters come from the alternate universe known as the Alpha Zenithverse, a parallel Xenithverse created long ago when both the Xenithverse and Zenithverse were created. These powerful puffle monsters use magic differently as magic takes the form of spells that are formed by calculations of equations created by mana. True mastery of magic in this universe is through learning and perfecting your unique <Perspective of Magic>, in which their minds have synced to the calculations of destiny in harmony with their magic core energy. Based on the magic powers from Webtoon The Dark Magician Transmigrates after 66,666 years and I Obtained a Mythic Item.

Kubanshen: Ruled by the <Ten Thousand Life Wan Shou, Kubanshen> (based on monster of the same name from Puzzles and Dragons), these puffle monsters use the ancient powers of magic of the Alpha Zenithverse in which they use the great perspective of <Reinforcement> which fuses the countless diverse forms a type of magic took like 10,000 branches sprouting from the trunk of a tree, as they reinforce their own magic power to unleash greater spells and powerful abilities

Senju: Ruled by the <Senju of the Thousand Skies, Senkyo> (based on monster of the same name from Puzzles and Dragons), these puffle monsters use the perspective of magic <Amplification>, through calling upon the vast and endless core of a magic form (rune, symbol, or energy source) and unleashing a burst of power from the said infinite source to unleash reality altering powers and abilities or to repair magic itself

Hyakushiki: Ruled by the <Hyakushiki of the Hundred Flames, Byakurenko> (based on monster of the same name from Puzzles and Dragons), these powerful puffle monsters use the perspective of magic <Strengthening>, through fusing their inner power and inner power of the environmental magic to combine with spells and abilities to unleash a stronger power

Zenchouga: Ruled by the <Trillionth-Omen of Apocalypse, Zenchouga>(based on monster of the same name from Puzzles and Dragon, these powerful puffle monsters use the <Perspective of magic> known as <Destruction>, the power to rule out and remove magic itself: an unknown concept and breaking of laws of energy and magic. These puffle monsters work with those of the Big Bang Creators to establish equilibrium within the Zenithverse (340th species)

Big Bang Creation: Ruled by the <Creator of Zeroth Dimension, Big Bang> (based on monster of the same name from Puzzles and Dragons), these godly puffle monsters use the <Perspective of Magic> known as <Creation>, the power to create new magic, an unknown concept and breaking of laws of energy and magic. Also based on Superman Prime One Million, these godly puffle monsters have the powers to alter reality, create magic and worlds within the Zenithverse, and create new legends, fables, and stories, while also granting ultimate power to others.

Hexazeon: Ruled by the <Force of the Future, Hexazeon> (based on monster of the same name from Puzzles and Dragons), the puffle monsters of this futuristic world use their <Perspective of Magic> known as <Zeon Overstride> , based on Generation Stride from Vanguard G. Through this power, they can summon powers from the future for a limited amount of time but also gain a permanent ability from the future (stored as Future Force).

Convergence: Based on Jamie's Perspective of Magic of absorbing others powers and making it their own from the Webtoon The Dark Magician Transmigrates after 66,666 years, but also based on Kamen Rider ZI-O, a rider who took powers from all other riders as their timelines fused into one singular line. Redison's powers have always been evolving through absorbing the energy around him and evolving to use the power as his own while fusing the worlds together into one, the Xenithverse. As he realizes this power as his true <Perspective of Magic> in the Zenithverse, he uses this great power to achieve true mastery in all other <Perspectives of magic>. These powerful puffle monsters work with the Big Bang Creation Order and the Zenchouga Order to establish order in the Alpha Zenithverse and create more diverse puffle monsters Enchant: These powerful warrior puffle monsters have a shimmer to them (based on the Enchantment glint animation from Minecraft) and wield special enchanted gear and use unique enchanted abilities that give them an edge in battle. This concept of magic is unique to the Zenithverse.

The Clans of the Zenithverse: Magic took a different form, creating new forms of puffle monsters created from these equations of magic and intelligence of magic created by the Greater Forces (above). Common magic takes the form of aura energy in which their persona power calls upon this aura force in which they can use it as a weapon or ability. Based on the Beyblade designs of crazyaries on Instagram

Dominus Requiem: Ruled by the Advent of Decimation, Dominus Requiem Regis: The ultimate and true form of the Requiem Fading Demon, Decimation King. These powerful puffle monsters are based on the Cardinal line of units from Cardfight! Vanguard Will+Dress which are organo-metallic life with humanoid forms that were created long ago as the Failsafe Elimination program and the Vanguard of the attack of Phase II of <The Mastermind>, with Decimation King as the head. However, Decimation King gained sentience and evolved to further destroy the realms of the Zenithverse after it evolved further due to Redison's involvement with the Greater Forces of magic and the evolution of the universe, becoming Dominus Requiem Regis.

However, Redison was able to defeat Regis and learned of <The Mastermind>'s identity and true goal, that spanned not only the Xenithverse and Zenithverse, but countless universes out there. These powerful puffle monsters have a calm, mechanical thinking and infinitely fast processing capabilities as well as the power to freely use Godly weapons that defy all logic such as <Erase>, erasing the <Origin Point> of a target, eliminating them completely from the universe (but their data itself is preserved within the OriYgin to be modified and recreated for different purposes). Designs are based on the Cardinals and Cyberoids (from Vanguard).

Chapter 14: The All-Ending April Apocalypse Act III: Apocalypse End: Despite the failure of phase 2, <The Mastermind> moves on to Phase 3, with his last general ready, the Thousand Heads Demon, Absolute King. Their target, the OriYgin, the ark of data created as a savior to both universes should anything happen to one or the other, or both, as it can recreate both universes due to it being the Origin Point of both universes (revealing the Xenithverse and Zenithverse to actually be twin universes). The creators of the OriYgin had left the instructions hidden within the machine to recreate both universes or modify any data of both universes to the users desires, the mysterious power of the <OriYgin Idea> (an alternate more powerful specialized version of the <Origins Power>). Redison enters the OriYgin in order to thwart <The Mastermind> and his last general from their plan as the Apocalypse begins to come to its final act, the end game (the last final is on the 27th). It seems the goals of <The Mastermind> and <The Organization> as well as <The Genesis> become clear as the fight for the twin universes come to a climax.

Underverse: All ideas that have fallen but are to be used later (such as villains and other scrapped ideas), all end up in the Underverse (kind of like the Underworld). <The Mastermind>'s original phase 3 was for The Absolute King to absorb the powers of Griphogila, Juun, and Decimation King, in order to become the Ultimate Thousand Heads Demon, Griphozila (like an extremely overpowered form of Griphogila in combination with the powers of the other absorbed characters and erased). However, Redison was able to foil the plan early after the warning of Dominus Requiem Regis, as the two of them went to the Underverse and found a way to unite those of the Underverse to the OriYgin. These puffle monsters use the scrapped abilities of their origin, but also have the unique ability of absorption (using other scrapped abilities and fusing it into their own to unleash stronger powers. The ability doesn't technically absorb it fully, but absorbs a fraction of it and grows the power within them).

OriYgin: Based on the Moebius from Xenoblade Chronicles 3. These powerful puffle monsters use the powers of the data from the OriYgin, all the countless forms of information collected as both universes develop independently. These deity like puffle monsters act as the admins of both universes, monitoring order and making any modifications needed (very little) but include small stat changes, additions and updates to magic, etc.

XenithYZenith: Based on the Ouroboros from Xenoblade Chronicles. These powerful fusions of puffle monsters are created through using the Infinity Force Bond (the bond of destiny between the Xenithverse and Zenithverse) in which these two puffle monsters create a new super puffle monster that wields both powers simultaneously in an ultimate warrior form. These puffle monsters can be seen like demigods

Origin Alchemist: Based the game “Little Alchemy” where you create elements through the power of fusion. These puffle monsters created from <The Conduit>, the force of power that drives the OriYgin (the Ark of magic and data containing information for both universes and to create countless more universes like the Xenithverse and Zenithverse and used in order to repair both universes in the event of destruction), These puffle monsters use the powers of fusion to create countless strange elements of magic (which can take the form of puffle monsters for a few turns or can act as a spell, or item, or any ability).

Zaea Thousand: Based on the Arbitrary-arity trees we learned in CPSC110 class, as well as Search (Pset 9). These puffle monsters use the powers of the ultimate trees of data that they have created in order to not only create new powers and abilities for themselves (and therefore creating new trees and branches), but also allows them to access all nodes and leaves within the trees through the search ability.

Idrosentians: The anagram of Redison (Idrosen), based on Kamen rider Barlckxs from Kamen Rider Zi-O, is the destroyer of all worlds. In this alternate scenario, he is <The Mastermind> with one objective in mind, how the universes are a mess but with his goal to destroy all worlds, all universes, in order to leave one singular universe (his own) behind. Backstory: he was the defender and hero of his universe, but with countless universes in existence, the more worlds he had to defend. During one scenario, a force of darkness struck one world while he was gone defending another universe, which destroyed all of the inhabitants, including his family and friends. As a result, he went into a rampage and destroyed the force of darkness, but couldn’t revive his family and friends and lived with that guilt. To that end, he learned of the powers of the <Origins Idea>, a power that could rewrite all worlds and realities to the user's ideals. He became <The Mastermind> and created three general to serve beside him and in the end, all 3 phases were complete to which he was able to fuse with the power of the <Origins Idea> and become the supreme destroyer in which he rewrote all universes, eliminating them and leaving one universe behind and rewrote magic that the universes may never diverge but stay in a singular state for eternity. These puffle monsters grew stronger in a different way as their powers stemmed from the evolution of magic energy itself (competing against stronger forms of itself, eliminating the weaker powers). Their powers are more offensive in nature and much stronger than the average puffle monster due to their changed nature.

The Genesis: The wielders of the <Origins Idea>, the primary core power of their species. These species of the far far future (based on the Sponsors and admin of the DGP), live in a realm beyond the confines of the universe, and by the power of their unique <Design Power>, a unique power of imagination realization ability by their core <Origins Idea>, they have created countless universes, countless worlds within these countless universes, in all time periods, with countless stories, myths, victories, tragedies, figures of legend, and warriors of fables. These creators are akin to us humans in terms of designing worlds in video games, the Sim games such as Sim City series, as well as other colonization games (Civilization series, Dragonvale, Dragon City, etc), and even the RPGs we create through the form of D&D campaigns and the countless universes of imagination in which players explore these worlds made by us. These creators created the countless universes of magic, technology, and even worlds with a lack thereof but different abilities that makes them stand out and as powerful and competitive as other universes would be. The Genesis is a faction of the said species that created these universes for the sake of creating them and watching them grow and develop akin to humans planting seeds in a garden and watching their plants grow or us humans creating a world for a game *example of D&D, and watching this world grow and develop. The Genesis species themselves return to these universes and set in motion events that facilitate in this said development of the worlds *like how the players in a campaign develop and change the world. These beings take any form they want to (their idealized form through the Design power) and can use any ability or weapon they need to. Their powers materialized into the Genesis Zenith, a powerful sword based on the Zenith from Terraria which when swung becomes many many swords (all universes powers take the form of infinite swords) ΨЂΞζϒΣⵚϯΩᴦᾚ: Meaning TheCreators (using a combination of Greek and Georgian alphabet letters). These mysterious celestial beings created the twin universes of the Xenithverse and the Zenithverse and created the OriYgin for unknown purposes, but some say it is because they created it as an outlet for any emotions or to act as a diary of some kind. Based on how I write the monster book and the stories within them, these puffle monsters create universes separately as diaries, journals, and expanded imaginations in which they see life out of and write them down in these universes. These creative super beings are the most powerful in terms of magic power and spell casting as they create myths and living stories. By their great power, they bestow onto great warriors, gifts of destiny, a path in which they will evolve to become a greater champion. Based on The Chivalric Code (from Webtoon Ex and Ash) who provides greater power to characters, TheCreators give powers of destiny to evolve further through the forms of sponsors (each power they bestow is technically not a power but a puffle monster being custom-created by them (example: The Phantom Thief type or the Space-Time Magician type not being powers but actual beings created by TheCreators that live in the realm of TheCreators) who sponsor champions who they believe should wield their powers as their power evolves with the champion but can also diversify further. Redison eventually wields the power granted by TheCreators, Kozanzhen Kishin (The Fierce God of Ten Zillion Asuras Wielding Ten Zillion Forces), which grants all the powers of all the sponsors and creations of TheCreators in this Peerless Sword (fusing with all other weapons he wields) with the symbol of a great tree (ten zillion branches and leaves, representing the countless powers created and mastered by Redison) as the sword takes the form of his infinite mana and energy (his new aura force takes the form of a giant armored asura with 3 faces (Sword, Wukong, Puffle/Nezha) and 10 thousand arms, each holding an orb which has an aura force of another armored asura wielding countless arms and weapon).

Origin Aether Infinity: Based on Aether Gazer (a game in which all consciences have been transferred into a digital world in the 22nd century) and Undecember (a hack and slash game with cool Zodiac skill tree, rune system, and items). These puffle monsters are all from the universes under the <Origin Battle Royale System>, a digital universe in which the champions are virtually transported into this artificial realm under full control of <The Organization> known as <The Battlefield>. The victors are returned back to their home universes, and the losers are weakened slightly and moved to fight another universe. In one scenario during the fight in Phase II, Redison is teleported into a battlefield in which two universes under <The Organization> are fighting each other with their champions (who each wield their own powers and abilities in addition to the powers and items provided by <The Organization>) in the <Origins Battle Royale> (based on the Desire Grand Prix from Kamen Rider Geats), where Redison takes a driver and defeats countless fighters for survival but also defeats many admin members (the members of <The Organization>) and gains their driver to become Kamen Rider Redison Superior (based on Kamen Rider Gazer. Instead of Innovation and Control, he has "Creation, Innovation, Imagination. Superior.") unleashing countless Hypnoray/Dominion Ray drones empowered by his magic to unleash powerful limitless blade attacks. Given this control, he uses this power to fight off <The Mastermind> and the remaining members of <The Organization> for the freedom of the universes under the <OBR System> in a new modified version of <The battlefield> known as <The K.O.Verse> (a universe wide arena for battle under the control of Redison's Superior Driver). These puffle monsters and beings from these universes created for entertainment, are restored to their formal full power and given freedom as they move them to <The Genesis System>, in which all puffle monsters that want to challenge each other and test their skills battle in <The K.O.Verse> which remains unchanged as the world resets after each fight. Unleash the powers of the battle universes as all powers are given to Redison in the form of Crimson Flames Saber. Combine the Crimson Flames Saber and Genesis Zenith to unleash the ultimate sword (Genesis Flames Zenith).

The Mastermind: The leader of the faction of Creators (the same species as <The Genesis> faction), known as <The Organization>, with their objective of creating universes through their powers of <Origins Idea> all for one purpose, to fight each other for entertainment of the species beyond to watch (the spectators of this broadcasted show, like that of the DGP from Kamen Rider Geats). Also, the said Mastermind behind the <Three Emperors of Apocalypse>. <The Organization> created these universes for entertainment as these universes would fight each other through the manipulations of the faction members as they position the different universes in contrast with one another and create scenarios leading to these universes to fight each other. <The Organization> and <The Genesis> however came to a standstill when they found the twin universes of the Xenithverse and Zenithverse, created by an unknown force, and fought for the rights to have it under their system. In this scenario, these beings create general powers and items and create scenarios that pit these universes against each other for the goal of having their ideal world created/reshaped through the <Origins Power>.

Thousand Mind: The Thousand Heads Demon, Absolute King evolved into its ultimate form as the Apocalypse Ending Demon, Thousand Heads Absolute King. The remaining members of <The Organization> all charged at Redison along with Absolute King, as Redison was successfully able to obliterate all of them with his new found powers as the champion of <The Genesis> and the <OBR Universe> through wielding the ultimate swords. These now reformed purified puffle monsters are a unique branch of creators now under <The Genesis> as each creator holds a thousand minds within their own, allowing them to perform advanced creations and feats of magic, while also having a very unique imagination due to the imaginations of the thousand minds within one becoming one.

Don Thousand: Ruled by The Ultimate Thousand Deus, Don Absolute King, also known as Erisdon (another Anagram of Redison). The Thousand possibilities that could have been, in the form of an amalgamation, and the true final reflection of my first year in UBC and University as a whole. A thousand different universes and realities, alternate worlds due to different outcomes, all fused into one amalgamation. These powerful puffle monsters use the powers of the thousand universes and realities fused together as they unleash reality altering powers due to the fusions of possibilities. All the memories of the good times and bad times come together in the form of countless universes created given alternate decisions made in these said good times and bad times, leading to different outcomes, such as if I had studied more and put more effort in my second term, I would have a better GPA and better chances of getting into the CS Major, or an alternate universe where I joined Science One, or another universe where I actually studied very hard for CPSC121 and passed the course with more ease. These alternate universes create countless different kinds of puffle monsters due to the different scenarios that may have created them and their powers and skills. Erisdon rules these countless alternate universes that had fused into one amalgamation. These puffle monsters have unique abilities due to not only their unique origins but also their fusion powers of different powers from different universes they can inherit

The Mad Genius: A researcher of mysterious origins and the true mastermind behind the <Three Emperors of Apocalypse>, with genius level intellect, collecting data from all fighters, to become the ultimate warrior (based on Gwyn Ronny from Beyblade Burst GT and Regalia Genesis/Big bang Genesis. Also based on Chelsea Rudiger from The Academy's Undercover Professor Webtoon).

Creation Ex Machina: Based on Paradox Artisan from onduregion on Instagram. An existence from an unknown realm and existed in countless universes beyond time and space with the power to alter reality as if it were a canvas. Long ago, these strange celestial beings arrived in the space before the Xenithverse and all universes within Server 102. Within the star stream lay countless <Servers>, each with countless universes and forms of life created by these developers. These beings can be attributed to Software Developers, creating the world around them within a server space. The Mad Genius himself comes from the same species.

XenithGPT: The culmination and final product of The Mad Genius. What was supposed to be the Ultimate Warrior, resulted as a super AI Program that created countless representations of the said Ultimate Warrior, with its champion as ~~REDISON~~ who wields the powers of the XenithGPT, being able to counter any opponent and evolve instantaneously in order to defeat their opponent. All puffle monsters created by the program have their own CoreGPT, which allows them to not only make their own decisions but also allows them develop their own AI and imagination and evolve in their own way to become a unique program and wield a unique power. Live in the futuristic realm of ~~M.I.N.E.R.V.A~~

The All-Ending April Apocalypse Epilogue: All's well that ends well. Redison returned victorious against <The Organization> and the <Three Emperors of Apocalypse> while saving the UBC realm, the universes of <The Genesis> as well as the twin universes of the Xenithverse and Zenithverse, both now under the protection of <The Genesis> and the ownership of <ΨЂΞζΊΣΟ.ŦΩΡ.Ж>. In the real world, my finals have ended and I am now on "Summer Vacation" until I start my summer term on May 15th. Why I did this to myself is beyond me… but it will be another few months of hardship. In addition, I decided to take a job (through CBWL) so here's to another interesting summer. In the meantime, I have been not only reflecting on the first year, but also have been starting to pack up my room as I am moving out of Orchard Commons and into Saltwater Residence while also seeing my friends off as they go home for the summer.

END OF BOOK: 380 Species total!!

Vega/Regina: The Empire Sword, the Blazing Reign/Regime, The Supreme Empress, the Patrona. Based on Elesis from the Elsword games, this warrior character is my ideal woman (and hope as a gf and future wife). This woman is beautiful, fiery in personality, a type-A dominant personality but not mean, almost like a mother bear like personality. She supports me as much as I support her and understands me (even if I don't understand her very well, she still has the patience for me to understand her). Since I may or may not meet this dream girl of mine any time soon, this is her character that represents her, Redison's future wife and soulmate. Color scheme is Red, White, Gold, and sky blue (her eyes)

The Yellow/Silver Sage: Pranay (my "best friend" from my LC (Learning Community) during Jump Start (he said I was his best friend, which is something I look back as a bummer because I think he and I would have hung out more but I didn't see him much after Jump Start). However, I think he and I may grow closer in the future. His avatar is a yellow warrior with special gunning abilities (similar to Redison in terms of control of blades, his avatar controls blaster shards, which also create electromagnetic force fields, etc).

The Blue/White Sage: Tobias (my best friend that I have hung out with quite a bit more whom I met at the UBC Bookstore which ironically I got to because Pranay and I snuck in through the exit during the 10% sale during Jump Start Week, and he and I just hit it off pretty well. I eventually met him again at a poster sale, and the rest was history). His avatar is Tian, a blue knight that wields special wing blades (appear on his sides and float beside him) that he can control to create whirlwinds of slashing.

The Green/Black Sage: Jacob (Tobias's partner for their moon project) is a friend I made through meeting with Tobias and the rest of ScienceOne (I technically met him first at my CPSC 121 tutorial). He's super smart and doing really well in the classes (unlike me XD). Another "big fish" in this ocean of fish. His avatar is Zhun, a green knight with a special sword that unleashes the powers of the Green Dragon and floating behind him are special rings (similar to Chakrams) that can act as portals or blades

UBCity: Based on Kamen Rider Geats (a new series coming up this Sunday), and UBC (since I live here now), and other battle royale games, and the Lego City meme (hence joke of UBCity). Due to fluctuations of reality, a mysterious new game was created on UBC campus with items and other powers. The cores of puffle monsters create a Core ID from the UBC card of the person and the Puffle monster core energy. Each champion has a special skill (their core skill) but can also gain other core skills and weapons during the battle.
